

The Plattsmouth Journal.

VOL. XXXIII.

PLATTSMOUTH, NEBRASKA, MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1914.

NO. 64.

THE MANLEY BASE BALL TEAM BATTLE WITH THE RED SOX

Visitors Were a Fine Bunch of Boys and Everything Passed off Harmoniously.

By playing the bunting game in the first inning of the ball game yesterday Plattsmouth secured three runs, which was enough to beat Manley. Both pitchers hurled a sterling article of ball, and Miller of Manley seemed to have the better of the deal, allowing but three hits. The umpiring was sure a change to what we have been used to, Jimmy McAndrews of Omaha acting in that capacity in perfect fairness to both sides.

Manley failed to count in their opening inning of the game. Carle, heading off for the Red Sox, walked; Parriott bunted into the pitcher's hand and Miller attempted to get Carle at second, but his throw was late and both men were safe. C. Smith followed with a bunt of exactly the same nature and the pitcher tried for the third time to get the man at third, but against his throw was late and the sacks were loaded. Herold struck out, Arries bunted into Miller's hands; Carle was easily out, but O'Brien, the catcher, dropped the throw and the runner scored. Parriott scored on a passed ball by O'Brien, Mason brought C. Smith home on a hunt and was thrown out at first. Arries was put out while attempting to reach the home plate, thereby ending the inning.

In the seventh Plattsmouth again threatened to score, but Mason was caught between third and home on a failure at the squeeze play.

During the first eight innings not a Manley had reached third base, but in the ninth Dallas opened the performance with a single. Murphy followed with a good hit to the left field fence, scoring Dallas, but Murphy was put out in attempting to stretch his hit into a three-bagger. Bryan, batting for Leeman, was hit by one of Pike's slants. L. Smith made a fine catch of Miller's drive to right field and doubled Bryan at first and ended the game, leaving the score 3 to 1 in favor of the Red Sox.

The holding of Mason for Plattsmouth and Maxwell for Manley were the features of the game. The Manley players were a very gentlemanly bunch of fellows and their conduct was all that could be asked, both on and off the field, and the fans were delighted with the splendid way in which they played the game without any rag-chewing that is the general custom of the visiting teams here. There were a large number here from Manley and they were delighted with the fast ball game. The line-up of the teams was as follows:

MANLEY.
	AB.	H.	O.	A.
Rockwell, 3d.....	4	1	1	1
O'Brien, c.....	4	0	7	3
Maxwell, 2d.....	4	0	3	2
Klepper, ss.....	3	0	2	0
Rauth, 1st.....	3	0	9	1
Dallas, cf.....	4	1	1	0
Leeman, rf.....	3	1	0	0
Murphy, lf.....	3	1	1	0
Miller, p.....	4	2	0	2
Totals.....	32	6	24	9
RED SOX.
	AB.	H.	O.	A.
Carle, cf.....	3	0	2	0
Parriott, ss.....	2	1	0	2
C. Smith, 2d.....	3	0	2	1
Herold, 1st.....	4	0	5	1
Arries, 3d.....	4	0	4	0
Mason, lf.....	3	1	2	1
L. Smith, rf.....	3	1	3	1
Pike, p.....	3	0	4	0
Neitzel, c.....	3	0	9	0
Totals.....	29	3	27	7

Miss Beulah Sans of Murray came up last evening to attend the teachers' institute here today.

Position of the Stars.

Wednesday at 4 o'clock the planets Mars and Venus were only one-sixth of a degree apart, looking from the earth. This is a rare celestial spectacle. Owing to daylight it could not be seen at that hour by the naked eye, but in the early evening their nearness was clearing apparent.

August 19, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the earth will pass between Jupiter and the sun. That evening will be a favorable time to see the moon of Jupiter with a strong opera or field glass.

A COMPLETE SURPRISE LAST EVENING TO MRS. MYRA STENNER

From Friday's Daily.

After returning from the band concert last evening, Miss Myra Stenner was most completely surprised to find the lawn at her home filled with a large number of her young friends, who had assembled to bid her farewell, as she leaves for Lincoln in a few days. The evening was spent by playing outdoor games until a late hour, when the party dispersed, expressing their regrets at losing a friend from their midst. Those taking part in the occasion were: Misses Myra Stenner, Anna Hiber, Gladys McMaken, Verna and Vera Jardine, Sophia Hill, May Glenn, Mina and Ola Kaffenberger, Rosa and Coenna Handley, Lydia Todd, Florence Egenberger, Della Frans, Messrs. Emil Hill, Paul Handley, Arthur White, Chester Tney, Philip Campbell, Clifford Cecil, Edward Rebal, George Snyder, Harley Wiles, Rhea McMaken and Leon Stenner.

JOHN WUNDERLICH AND M. G. KINNE IN TOWN THIS MORNING

From Friday's Daily.

This morning John Wunderlich, candidate for sheriff on the democratic ticket, and M. G. Kinne, candidate for representative on the same ticket, came in from their homes at Nehawka and spent a few hours here looking over the situation and getting acquainted with the voters. For the primary election on August 18th. Both of these gentlemen are making a very thorough canvass of the county and are meeting with much encouragement from the persons they have met. They stopped for a few minutes to visit with the Journal force before continuing their journey in pursuit of the elusive voters. The time is drawing short for the primary and the candidates on both tickets will be rustling around to get acquainted with as many as possible before the eventful day.

HON. MATT GERING GIVES INTERESTING TALK TO PEOPLE AT UNION

Hon. Matthew Gering, the Plattsmouth lawyer-orator, was the speaker at the Woodman hall in the evening, and had a very good audience. Mr. Gering was introduced by F. H. McCarthy, who presented Mr. Gering as the captain of the base ball nine of congressional candidates. Mr. Gering first referred to his political record up to the year 1900, at which time he became a republican, and gave his reasons for his change of heart. His speech was very eloquent, as might be expected, and his statements as to why he is a republican were made in a manner earnest and convincing of his sincerity.—Union Ledger.

Several good Cass county farms for sale.
T. H. POLLOCK.
Tel. 215. Plattsmouth.

GRAIN MARKET OF ASIA IS NOT IMPORTANT

Nebraska Grain Finds Export Markets in Europe and All Ports Are Closed.

The markets of the world are reached from the Nebraska wheat fields via the north Atlantic and gulf coast ports. There is practically no grain market reached by the west ports. Occasionally a car of wheat is shipped west, but the amount exported from the Pacific coast ports is negligible. Therefore when the eastern and southern ports announce an embargo grain stops moving from Nebraska wheat fields. Elevators are still loading, but there is no export market.

A Chicago authority says the export trade is but 20 per cent of our wheat production. A larger per cent of the Nebraska crop, however, is said to be sent abroad.

The millions in China and Japan buy little grain, compared to what some countries with smaller population buy, and most of what they do buy is furnished by Russia, shipped from the Russian wheat country via the trans-Siberian railroad to the east coast of Asia.

"Why hasn't some far-seeing transportation magnet made some effort to develop a market in Asia to take care of our surplus at just such times as these?" is a query frequently heard since the war began.

There is such a market, not a big one to be sure, but there is a demand for export flour from the west coast. Canada moves a large amount of flour and some wheat from Vancouver. The market has not been of great benefit to the United States grain grower, however.

J. J. Hill at one time made strenuous efforts to develop an Asiatic trade, but of late years his energies have not been directed toward that channel of development so exclusively as when he was building two large freight-carrying vessels to care for the export business from his Puget Sound terminals.

"Grain will begin to move when some powerful nation offers to insure it reaching European markets." That is the statement of the situation made by grain men. It is accepted by railroad men as correct. When the embargoes are raised at eastern and southern ports and room is made by loading aboard ship from the elevators, other grains can be moved to the east.

Occasionally a car of grain has been sent through the port of San Francisco from this territory; corn is frequently shipped for home consumption to the north-west, but all of this is a mere drop in the bucket to the total shipments from this state.

Nebraska is waiting for a market. In the meantime the danger of a car famine is passing.

During the heavy loading season of July the car supply was not exhausted. Now the cars sent east with grain will be returned in part at least, and the leisurely manner in which they may be brought back will permit many of them to come back loaded, thus making a revenue haul for the equipment in both directions, enabling the roads to handle the equipment economically and holding back the flow of grain so that when wheat again moves seaward there will be less danger of a market glut.

G. H. Hansen, from near Nehawka, was a Plattsmouth visitor last Friday evening.

Money to loan on Cass County farms.
T. H. POLLOCK.
Tel. 215. Plattsmouth.

Visited in Louisville.

From Saturday's Daily.
Mrs. Henry Born and son and daughter, Donald and Vera, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tritsch and daughter, Adelia, drove up from near Plattsmouth Thursday in Mr. Tritsch's new Overland car to visit Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ahi and to take in the sights. Mrs. Born was formerly Miss Tena Ahi of this vicinity. She expressed herself as pleased to meet so many old friends and spoke of the many changes for the better which have taken place in the years since she left Louisville.—Louisville Courier.

THE PRESBYTERIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC AT PARADISE PARK

From Friday's Daily.

The Presbyterian Sunday school yesterday enjoyed their annual picnic, when the members of the different classes, with their teachers, gathered at Paradise park, north of the city, and spent the day there in the enjoyment of one of the best of times. The young people were taken to the park in automobiles, and the trip was one of the pleasant features of the occasion and one thoroughly enjoyed by the jolly crowd of young people. The time was spent in playing games and completing the placing of swings and other devices for amusement until the noon hour, when the picnickers spread beneath the shade of the trees a most sumptuous repast, consisting of all manner of good things to eat, and it is needless to say that the delicious repast was done ample justice to by the young people and quite a number of the older members of the church, who came out from the city to enjoy the noonday meal with the picnic party. After the feast had been disposed of the time was spent in the playing of games and a general good time until time for the party to break up, when all departed looking forward with pleasure to the next picnic. The teachers of the Sunday school had made arrangements for their classes and carried out the splendidly arranged affair in a manner that reflected great credit upon them and proved to be one of the most delightful that the church has held.

A BIG MORTGAGE IS FILED IN THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY RECORDER

A mortgage has been filed with the register of deeds in this city from the Nebraska Lighting company, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Nebraska, to the Citizens Saving & Trust Co. of Ohio. The instrument covers the different properties of the company wherever situated and includes the plant and equipment in this city. The first mortgage bonds of $125,000 will be retired by the new issue of bonds, amounting to $300,000. The bonds are to bear the date of January 1, 1914, and are to mature on January 1, 1934. Copies of the mortgage will be filed in every county where the company has any property. The instrument is a lengthy one, covering some fifty typewritten pages, and is one of the largest documents of its kind filed in the office of the recorder and county clerk.

Will Hold a Picnic.

The Methodist Sunday school have made arrangements to hold their picnic at Garfield park on next Thursday from 4 to 8 p. m., and a big time is anticipated, as the different classes are arranging to be on hand to assist in the occasion. The picnic will be over in time to allow the members of the Sunday school an opportunity to enjoy the band concert.

Subscribe for the Journal

SHIPMENTS AT EASTERN PORTS ARE IMMENSE

No Lack of Tonnage to Move When Insurance for Over Sea Traffic Is Given.

One Nebraska miller has twelve carloads of Nebraska flour at an eastern seaport awaiting shipment to Liverpool. Other Nebraska millers and grain men are represented at the eastern ports. Grain that ripened on Nebraska prairies during the past few weeks is now arriving at eastern shipping terminals ready for over sea movement. Shipments started twenty days ago and fifteen days ago and are piling up on the east coast. When boats are ready for loading there will be no delay in getting cargoes.

In some Burlington offices tonnage charts are maintained showing by lines drawn the tonnage volume. In 1913 the grain movement line shows a stiff upshoot in July, ending with a high peak during the last week in July and dropping to a low valley during the first week in August. The drought caused the drop then.

It was predicted that the line showing would be different during the first week of August, 1914. The prediction did not come true. The same slide from a high peak to a low valley is shown. It was not the drought this time. The war scare, the embargo placed on grain at eastern ports, and the lack of bids for Nebraska wheat did it.

Railway men look on this slide in tonnage more joyfully this year than they did last. The grain is here and must be moved sometime. This stop did not originate with the farmers. They have quit selling because buyers have quit buying. When the trans-Atlantic shipping facilities have been restored transcontinental shipping will be resumed. In the meantime the railroads are replenishing their supply of grain cars and getting ready for the rush that was cut in two by the war.

Chicago statisticians say that but 20 per cent of the wheat raised is exported, and that 85 per cent of this amount goes to Liverpool. They look for an early resumption of Liverpool service, both freight and passenger, and expect in a few days that the English government will insure shipments. When that happens, or when the United States begins to ship in American owned and registered vessels, the wheat movement will be started again. The interruption will make the demand all the sharper when once it starts up.

MISS ZORA SMITH ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF HER GUESTS

From Friday's Daily.

Yesterday Miss Zora Smith entertained in a very charming manner at her home on North Third street in honor of Miss Zeta Gilliland of Fremont, Neb., who is in the city for a short visit. The occasion was one of the greatest pleasure to the young ladies present and several very pleasant hours were passed in music and social conversation, until a suitable hour, when a most enjoyable two-course luncheon was served, which added greatly to the pleasure of the afternoon. Those participating in the enjoyment of the afternoon were: Misses Marie and Opal Fitzgerald, Helen Egenberger, Ruth Johnson, Kathryn Schraek, Norine and Eleanor Schuifhof, Mrs. Stanley Kuhne, Misses Marjory Kuhns, Verna and Emily McGregor of Sargent, Neb., and the guest of honor, Miss Zeta Gilliland, of Fremont.

A Much Needed Addition.

The windows in the office of the county judge at the court house have had awnings placed on them that will tend to abate the fierce glare of the summer sun that beats into this portion of the building in the afternoon with an intensity that makes it almost impossible to stay in the office. The awnings were placed in position by Hans Seivers, the accommodating janitor of the court house.

JUDGE BEESON AND FAMILY HAVE RETURNED FROM THEIR OUTING

From Friday's Daily.

County Judge Allen J. Beeson and family returned last evening from Edison, Neb., where they have been enjoying a few days' vacation and outing on one of the large farms near that city. The trip was made in the automobile of the judge and was one thoroughly enjoyed by the whole family and they return home feeling that the trip was one of the most delightful they have ever taken. The judge has since his return been recounting many exciting tales of the result of his expedition, including several stories of fishing, and from the amounts and sizes of the fish caught the friends are all longing to go to Edison to enjoy the delights of this great fishing place.

ARRESTED FOR RUNNING A GAMBLING DEVICE AT THE EAGLE PICNIC

From Friday's Daily.

Sheriff Quinton this morning brought in from Eagle Glen Haggerty, who was charged with running a gambling game at the picnic there, and with the principal he brought a man who was acting as "capper" for the game at the time the arrest was made. The man had started a game known as the "Klondike," and at this time the visitors were eagerly putting their coin in the hope of breaking the gambler, but in spite of the generous sums contributed the man continued to win constantly. The committee in charge of the picnic warned the man to cease his gambling games and he was also requested by the sheriff to stop business, but evidently concluded to stay while the going was good and the visitors at the picnic fell for the game. He tarried a little too long, as Sheriff Quinton and County Attorney Taylor, who were on the grounds, swept down on him and the game was pulled. One of the surprising things of games of this kind is that the persons who go against them with the knowledge that they are up against a sure thing and their chances of winning are decidedly small.

The men were arraigned this morning before Judge Beeson and Haggerty was fined $10 and costs which he paid, while the other man had his case continued to await further action. Haggerty seemed quite anxious to get out of the case and he and his wife were ready to depart to other fields.

A Pleasant Birthday Surprise.

From Saturday's Daily.

Mrs. John Hallstrom was tendered a pleasant surprise yesterday afternoon, the occasion being in honor of her birthday anniversary. Social conversation, games and the like furnished plenty of amusement and made the hours pass all too rapidly. At an appropriate hour an elegant luncheon was served by the hostess, which was likewise thoroughly enjoyed. It was a late hour when the ladies, after wishing Mrs. Hallstrom many more such happy birthday anniversaries, departed for their homes.

Blank books of all kinds at the Journal office.

THE TEACHERS COME TO PLATTS-MOUTH MONDAY

Let Our People Extend to Our Teachers the Open Hand and a Cordial Greeting.

From Saturday's Daily.

On Monday morning the delegations of the fair teachers of Cass county will assemble here for the opening of the Cass County Teachers' Institute that will be conducted by Miss Mary E. Foster, county superintendent. The institute this year will be one of the best that has ever been held here and the teachers in attendance will find that the list of instructors is one of the strongest that has ever been offered at any county institute in the state and includes among others, A. E. Winslow of Boston, one of the leading workers in the educational life of the country. The advancement of the educational lines in the United States has been very rapid in the past few years and the Cass county schools have kept thoroughly in the front ranks under the careful leadership of the superintendent, Miss Foster, and their success has been a great pleasure to the teachers and patrons of the schools.

The residents of the city will show the teachers their best hospitality during the week of the institute, and already there are a number of events planned that will add to their pleasure. The officers and members of Plattsmouth Lodge No. 739, B. P. O. E., have very generously offered the use of their beautiful new club house for the reception to be given the teachers on Monday evening, and here the ladies will be entertained at a public reception from 8 to 10 o'clock. A very delightful time is anticipated and a program of music will be given to entertain the visitors and the public in attendance at the reception. The meetings will be held in the district court room and everyone who can should be present at the lectures, which are all worth the while.

FRED EBINGER, A PLATTSMOUTH CITIZEN, DETAINED IN GERMANY

Among the Nebraska people who were caught by the war in Europe and forced to remain in the midst of the struggle among the nations is Fred Ebinger of Plainview, and a former resident here. Mr. Ebinger left here in May for the trip to Germany, where he desired to visit the familiar scenes along the Rhine and to see again the Fatherland. He was in this part of the world when the war between Germany and the other nations of Europe arose and has been compelled to remain there for the present at least, as every means of leaving the country have been paralyzed by the great demand for means of transporting troops from one part of the empire to another. Mr. Ebinger is a German himself and will be treated with courtesy by his countrymen during his enforced stay there. He expected to return to the United States in September, however.

A Former Plattsmouth Boy.

John O'Connor, an old-time Plattsmouth boy, who for the past few years has been living at Crete, where he was engaged in the restaurant business, came in last evening to visit with his old friends here and to renew the acquaintances of years gone by. He departed this morning for Harvard, Neb., where he expects to engage in the real estate business in the future.