
R. B. HOWELL

Republican Candidate For GOVERNOR

He stands for efficiency in public business, and points to his record along that line.

He demands a dollar's worth of service for every dollar expended.

He is for physical valuation, regulation and inspection of South Omaha stockyards.

For taking over unused water power sites, to be developed for the benefit of the people.

For the encouragement of municipal ownership of utilities, to be managed by the people.

For pure elections in Omaha.

For extension of education along vocational lines.

Against useless boards and commissions. Against the raids of spoilsmen and tax-eaters.

VOTE FOR HOWELL FOR GOVERNOR.

Osceola, Nebr., Mar. 15, 1914.
To whom it may concern:

This certifies that J. H. Slothower has been principal of the Osceola High School for the past five years and his work has been very satisfactory.

He is partial toward none of his pupils and is respected by all.

They advance very rapidly under his care, he has shown himself a gentleman of high character and scholarly attainments and is amply qualified to fill any position in our public schools in the state.

I can recommend him with great pleasure to anyone who may need a thorough worker and educator.

Very sincerely yours,
S. W. GUSHEE,
Secretary Board of Education.

Papillion, Nebr., Mar. 13, 1909.
To whom it may concern:

We desire to commend to the educational field Professor J. H. Slothower, who has held the position of principal of our schools for the past five years.

Professor Slothower leaves us for the reason that he believes his services will command a higher salary than we are paying him.

During his work here with us he has secured excellent results, has been in entire harmony at all times with the board, and it is with regret to all that he deems it essential for his interests to seek a better position.

He is an excellent instructor, a model citizen, and the best wishes of our people go with him.

Samuel Startzer, Pres.

Plattsmouth, Nebr., Dec. 27 1913.
To whom it may concern:

This is to certify that Mr. J.H. Slothower has been at the head of the schools of Elmwood, Nebr., for a number of years and I have always found him among the most progressive and the most earnest workers in the county.

He has shown good professional interest and has succeeded in building up the schools of Elmwood until they are equal to any in Cass county.

The fact that Mr. Slothower has been retained so long in his present position is sufficient recommendation for similar positions.

Respectfully,

J. A. OLLIS
Ord, Nebr.

DEAR VOTER:—I believe the reader will agree with me when I say that the office of railway commissioner is second in importance to no other in the state and that there is no office in which the people should be more interested, for the welfare of every man who buys or sells a dollar's worth of material whether it be labor or some other commodity, is affected by the work of the commissioner. I have filed for that office because, through my work in the senate, I have become much interested and believe that the Commissioners should fearlessly perform the duties of that office.

Among the bills that I introduced and pushed through the Legislature, against strong opposition, were "The law for the physical valuation of common carriers," "The stock yards law," and I was largely responsible for the enactment of the "Stocks and Bond law." These three measures with the constitutional power given the Commissioner by the people give them ample power to adjust transportation questions to the end that the companies shall not unjustly burden the people.

High rates with poor service would be unjust, low rates with poor service would be unsatisfactory, but good service with reasonable rates is what is demanded and may reasonably be expected. The companies should receive a rate that would enable them to pay a living wage to their employees and a reasonable dividend on the money invested but watered stock is a menace to business as well as a hardship on the patron and should not be considered for a moment.

In conclusion I want to add the my heart is in the work and, I feel, the best that is in me will be given to the end that you interest and the interest of the state shall be advanced.

Yours truly, J. A. OLLIS.

HON. HARRISON C. PALMER of Clay Center, Nonpartisan Candidate for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Harrison C. Palmer, brother of the late H. E. Palmer, former postmaster of Omaha, was born and raised on a farm near Baraboo, Wisconsin, came to Nebraska in 1873, at the age of nineteen years. He worked on the farm through the summer and taught school during the winter months until 1894, when he rented his farm and moved into Sutton, Clay county, and took up the study of law in the office of E. E. Hairgrove.

He was admitted to the bar in 1895 and two years later he was elected county judge of Clay county and served twelve consecutive years. Of the many cases decided by him during his long term of service not a single case is ever reversed by the Supreme court, a record of which any man might well feel proud.

In November, 1912, he was elected to represent Clay county in the 1913 session of the legislature, and at the beginning of the session he entered vigorously into the work, soon taking a place among the leaders of the house. He was chairman of the insurance committee and chairman of the committee on constitutional amendments, and a member of the other committees, including the sifting committee.

His amazing capacity for hard work, his ready grasp of all problems, especially those involving legal principles, his cogent reasoning, his fidelity to the moral side of every question, his contempt for partisanship when it was wrong, and his unfailing kindness and courtesy for all with whom he came in contact won him the friendship of every member of the house.

Judge Palmer's greatest work was done on the insurance code bill which was passed by the last legislature, and which has recently been upheld by the unanimous opinion of the Supreme Court.

The Omaha Daily News, which watched the actions of the legislators closely, made a resume of their work at the close of the session, and on April 25, 1913, had this to say of Mr. Palmer:

"H. C. Palmer, Clay County; Attorney: Voted for submission of an easier method to amend the constitution, the recall, tax reform, woman suffrage, reduction of telegraph rates, the Keckley rate bill, the corporation tax, the Omaha water district bill, the insurance code and other important measures. Supported the uniform bridge bill and devoted much time to the insurance code. Discovered two "jokers" in the first workman's compensation act that were against the interests of the workmen, and forced them to be corrected. Made a hard fight for reform in judicial procedure, was one of the hardest working members in the house. A STRONG PROGRESSIVE."

JAMES E. DELZELL
REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS
First District
PRIMARIES AUGUST 18

James E. Delzell, State Superintendent of Public Instruction in Nebraska for the past four years, is a candidate for nomination for CONGRESS in the First District on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Delzell has been a resident of Nebraska for thirty-one years, farming for seven summers during that time and teaching rural school during the winter months. He graduated from the Peru State Normal School in 1893. Since that time he has been chiefly employed as teacher and superintendent of schools, his work bringing him in contact with public affairs. As a member of the State Normal School Board from 1903 to 1909, he had experience with general legislation as well as school legislation of all kinds. During the legislature of 1911, while Deputy State Superintendent, and during the session of 1912, while State Superintendent of Public Instruction, he had special opportunity to learn legislative procedure. During those two sessions of the legislature laws were enacted that have attracted attention all over the United States and given Nebraska additional prominence educationally.

Mr. Delzell is well acquainted with the agricultural, financial, industrial and educational industrials interests of the First District. If elected Congressman he can be depended upon to devote his time faithfully to the particular interests of the First District and the general interests of the state at large.

A. O. THOMAS.

A. O. Thomas, candidate for superintendent on the republican ticket, spent Thursday night in the city and spent an hour on the streets shaking hands and getting acquainted. The following is taken from the Kearney Democrat:

A. O. Thomas, candidate for the office of state superintendent of public instruction, is remarkably well qualified both by education and experience for the office he seeks. He was brought up on a frontier farm, attended rural school during the winter months and has made his own way unaided since he was twelve years of age. A natural craving for education caused him to utilize every spare moment in self-directed study. When a young man he entered Amity College, a small college located at College Springs, Iowa, but equipped with a strong faculty. Later Mr. Thomas graduated from Amity with honors and bearing the degrees of Bachelor of Philosophy and Doctor of Philosophy. He also attended the Western Normal College graduating from the scientific course. After graduating in 1891 Mr. Thomas came to Nebraska and entered the teaching profession in which he has steadily advanced notwithstanding determined opposition from those whom he had the courage to appose. For years he has stood against the domination of school affairs by those who would exploit the schools for selfish ends, and has advocated a higher standard of professional ethics among teachers. He is not a theorist in the field of education, but a practical teacher with teaching and constructive ability of high order. His work received the following unusual endorsement from the Nebraska legislature, session of 1911:

LEGISLATIVE ENDORSEMENT HOUSE

From report of committee on public lands and buildings:

As to the condition and management of the Kearney Normal School we wish to state that it is the sense of this committee that this institution is the most ably managed and economically conducted in the state, and that its superintendent, Dr. A. O. Thomas, could well be set up as an example for other state superintendents."

See page 607 of Legislative House Journal, Session of 1911.

SENATE.

From report of senate committee on public lands and buildings:

We next visited the State Normal School at Kearney. The new wing to the main building is the best public building from the standpoint of material, workmanship, plans and general efficiency of any public building we visited in the state. The management and superintendency of this school is of such a high order and so much superior to many other places we visited that we feel it our duty to compliment the officials in charge."
