A JOLLY CROWD IS ENTERTAINED AT THE GEORGE DODGE HOME

WIVES.

One of the delightful social events of the summer season was held last evening at the cozy home of Mr. and Mrs. George Dodge on South Sixth street, when they and their daughter, Miss Violet, very pleasantly entertained the young people of this city who spent their vacation for the past two years at Loretta, Minn. Plenty of amusement was derived in relating and listening to the various experiences encountered at this popular summer resort, and of course a portion of the time was devoted to looking at the snapshots taken last year, and this brought to mind the many good times they had while there. During the evening some pleasing vocal and instrumental selections were given by different members of the company, which greatly assisted in making the occasion a most enjoyable one. At an appropriate hour a dainty luncheon was provided by the hostesses. It was quite late when the guests dispersed, declaring Mr. and Mrs. Dodge and daughter, Miss Violet, splendid entertainers. Those in attendance were: Misses Verna Hall, Edna Petersen, Jessie and Della Moore, Messrs. Henry Goos, George Weidman, Paul Wohl-farth and Ed Schulhof.

ANOTHER WARN- ING TO INSISTENT AUTO SPEEDERS

You Must Keep Within Bounds of the Speed Ordinance or There
Will Be "Something Doing."

The habit of making the public streets of the city speedways where the automobiles are run at a reckless gait must stop, as the police committee of the city council has instructed the officers to proceed with enforcing the ordinances and laws covering the driving of automobiles in the city limits of Plattsburgh. The police will at once get busy in compliance with their instructions and will try and see that the speeding habit is stopped.

There has been a great deal of complaint made to the councilmen in the past few months in regard to the habit of speeding and the members of that body have decided to take some steps to stop it at once. Last season there was a great deal of controversy aroused over the enforcement of the automobile regulation law here and the city council went half way in setting a speed regulation that was approved of by most of the auto owners, but some seem determined to go the limit on the rate of speed at which they travel and will compel the police and council to again get busy. The drivers of cars who do not light up their lamps when it becomes dark will also be taken in by the police if they do not comply with the law, and this move is certainly a good one, as there are a large number of cars driven through the streets and along the country roads without the lamps that they should have.

There has been much complaint from automobile owners and others as to the habit of some cars running without the proper lights and several times there has been narrow escapes from collisions on the dusty roads because of the fact that cars were not provided with red lights lit, and it is to prevent further accidents of this kind that the council has decided to insist on the law covering these matters be enforced by the officers. It is probable that the efforts of the police will bring forth loud protests, but the safety of the public and the recklessness of the drivers has forced the matter where such a step has become necessary.

A THOUSAND LAUGHS AND NO BLUSHES IN "THE BRIGHTON GIRL"

"There are a thousand and one laughs and not a single blush in 'The Girl From Brighton,' as played by Milton Schuster and his Graces of Musical Comedy," declared the critic of the Duluth Evening Herald in reviewing the performance of the attraction, which will hold forth at the Parmele theater on Monday night, August 31. It is in fact the big laughing success of recent years. Credit is due alike to the author, Claude H. Long, and the star for that rare ability to provide one constant Niagara of laughter without sulling the fair stream with the filth of vulgarity.

DANCE SATURDAY.
The Cosmopolitan club will give a social dance at Coates' hall Saturday evening, August 22. The public is cordially invited to be present. Music by Holly's orchestra. A good time assured.

SUPERINTENDENT BROOKS RETURNS FROM THE EAST AND IS FEELING FINE

Superintendent of City Schools W. G. Brooks has just returned home from New York City, where he was attending the summer school of Columbia university, and is looking as fine as usual after the strenuous summer school work. The superintendent is taking a special course at the eastern school in the work of the handling of the office of superintendent of school work and has only another season's work to complete the course. He believes in keeping up with the times in the handling of the position which he holds and the city schools of Plattsburgh will receive the benefit of his careful study that will enable them to advance along all lines as far as the limited facilities of the school will permit. The taking of the summer course at Columbia allows only a short rest for the superintendent before the opening of the school year and most of this time will be taken up in the consideration of plans for the coming year, which will open early in September.

PRETTY GIRLS COMING WITH A BIG MUSICAL ORGANIZATION

"A dozen or more of the pick of the garden of pulchritude," is the way in which the genial advance representatives of Milton Schuster and his Graces of Musical Comedy describe the ladies of the chorus, which is a big feature with "The Girl From Brighton," which holds forth at the Parmele theater on Monday night, August 31. Almost every nationality is represented in the bouquet of loveliness surrounding the favorite Jew comedian. Half of the chorus calls the good old United States home, while France, Germany, Italy, Norway and England have their representatives. American and French girls make the ablest performers declares the interest inciter. The average age of the choristers is 17, placing this department of the big organization in the poultry class. Don't forget the date—Monday night, August 31.

AUGUST CLOIDT'S NEW HOME IS RAPIDLY NEARING COMPLETION

The new cottage of August Cloidt on High School Hill is rapidly nearing completion and will in a short time be ready for occupancy, as the work is all ready to start in on the varnishing and finishing of the woodwork of the house. This will make a very nice addition to the residences on High School Hill and makes this section of the city a locality of handsome and modern homes. The new house consists of a building of the bungalow design, with six large and well arranged rooms that will make a very handsome and comfortable home for Mr. and Mrs. Cloidt. The work on the building is being done by the firm of Peters & Richards, who have had charge of the erecting of a large number of the residences in this city in the past few years. The enterprise of our citizens in erecting new homes here in Plattsburgh has in the past few years greatly aided in the advancement of the city and its interests.

FUTURE BUSI- NESS VS. CUR- RENT BUSINESS

The Whole Truth of the Matter Is No One Person or Persons Are Criteria for All.

The newspapers are just now full of discussions of business conditions. There are jubilant reports of prospective bumper crops. There are optimistic utterances concerning pending legislation that is expected to help the railroad systems. There are assurances from men of authority in various industries that business is going to be good, but on the other hand, there are those who feel disposed to discount all promises of industrial prosperity and whose general opinion of business prospects is summed up as "fair to worse."

The whole truth of the matter really is that no one man's opinion or the opinion of any one group of manufacturers or any one industry is in any sense a criterion for all. Industrial disturbances which interfere with any single industry are bound in a sense, directly or indirectly, to interfere with all and in like manner the unusual prosperity of any one industry results in widespread benefit which eventually reaches practically all; but because one man's business has fallen away or because the progress of any single industry has been less in the last few months it is no indication that the country is going to the dogs.

The great drawback in many lines of business has been a lack of appreciation of changing conditions. They are out of adjustment with the times. When the merchant has made up his mind to assort his stocks in small quantities it is usually for the jobber of the manufacturer to refuse to do business except in case lots. Quantity contracts for an entire season, which formerly were the rule in many lines of business, are becoming more and more rare, and in their stead it is the small lot order with frequent repeats. It is useless to argue the advantage to all concerned of the quantity order. If Mr. Merchant does not choose to buy in your way, the only thing to do is to sell him according to his own plan, and strange as this may seem, one can go over the business world today and pick out failure after failure which has come about simply through the refusal to meet new business conditions.

In the business world generally there are far too many Micawbers "waiting for something to turn up." The waiting field is filled to overflowing and when something does turn up there is never enough to go around. The men in the firm or the industry that gets there, that pulls out a satisfactory business in the hard-times season as well as during good times, is the one that goes out and turns up something and when it is turned up in this way is surprised to find how little competition there is in the field.

The railroad rate question will be settled after a while. The wheat crop and the cotton crop and all the other crops will be garnered in due time and the resulting prosperity will be distributed, but in the meantime, right now, today there are new customers to be won, new business to be found and new records to be achieved, retail as well as wholesale, for the man who will get out and dig.—St. Louis Furniture News.

He is used to display goods in the show windows and is under the management of Leonard Meisinger, the window dresser, who takes great pride in keeping the young man up to date in all things to wear. It is well to say, however, that the young man is one of the latest makes of models for displaying boys' clothing.

ATTEMPT TO BORROW FUNDS IN EUROPE FAILS

In Consequence of Which the Missouri Pacific Will Begin a Policy of Retrenchment.

Discussions of war effect on the transportation interests of the country have been voluminous and have shown varying opinions. One thing, however, not open to discussion is the fact that less money will be spent by the roads to build up their properties and fit them for the better care of future growth in traffic.

Here is one item that shows the trend of the times: "The attempt of the Missouri Pacific management to get funds in Europe having failed, the road will begin a policy of retrenchment. President Bush has just returned from a trip to Europe. Even though war had not been declared, he said there would have been slight hope of floating American railway securities in Europe. Accordingly, arrangements for the expenditure next year of $4,000,000 on improvements have been dropped."

What is true of the Missouri Pacific is true of other roads in various degrees. Even those roads prosperous enough to provide their maintenance and betterment funds from earnings are planning to skip next year. With the better class of roads this will not mean such skimping as will impair the service, but it may mean failure to provide better facilities for future growth of traffic.

Another instance of the effect of the war is the recent announcement that the reorganization of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient has been halted and that it will be impossible for at least two years to come to begin the construction of the proposed extension of that system from Wichita to Kansas City.

The retrenchment of the Missouri Pacific will be felt in Nebraska, where during the past three years that company has spent a great deal of money and where it had plans to spend a great deal more in the years to come.

The resale of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railway, ordered by the United States circuit court of appeals, was postponed for six months by Federal Judge Geiger on the motion of Master in Chancery Charles Morrison. "The present financial condition caused by the European war has made it impossible to finance any proposition of considerable magnitude," the petitioner stated.

Picturesque Medieval Style
Revived In the Page's Cape

SATIN GOWN WITH LACE CAPE.

CAPEs are immensely popular, and the European war has given a great vogue to this military style of wrap. Indeed, the craze for capes is so great that they are draped over the shoulders of gowns in the medieval style known as the page's cape. The imported gown of black nocturne satin which is pictured here has a bodice and page's cape of heavy lace.
