J. ED. MASON MEETS WITH A VERY SERIOUS ACCIDENT

From Wednesday's Daily.

Yesterday afternoon J. Ed. Mason met with a very painful accident while he was engaged in looking after some carpenter work at the home of George B. Mann on Vine street. Mr. Mason was placing in some steps at the house and was fitting them to the size used when in doing so the saw that he was working slipped and inflicted a very severe gash across the back of the left hand that required the services of a surgeon to close with three stitches. The injury was quite painful and will compel Mr. Mason to wear the member in a bandage for a few days at least, but it is not thought that it will prove serious, although the severing of a vein in the hand caused him to suffer a great deal from the loss of blood.

Will Meisinger Operated On.

From Wednesday's Daily.

George A. Meisinger returned home this afternoon from Omaha where he was present at the bedside of his son, Will Meisinger, yesterday afternoon when the young man was operated on for some trouble of the bladder from which he has been suffering for some time. It was found that he was also suffering from an abscess in the region of the appendix, which was also removed. He is reported as resting as easily as could be expected and his parents are hopeful for his speedy recovery. Mrs. Meisinger remained in Omaha with her son.

Cost Kept Down—Quality Kept Up

No better medicine could be made for coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, tickling throat, bronchitis, etc., than Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. That's why they can't improve the quality, and war or no war, the price remains the same. No opiates. Don't take substitutes, for Foley's Honey and Tar is the best. For sale by all druggists.

ELKS WILL OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY SECOND SUNDAY IN DECEMBER

The members of Plattsmouth lodge No. 739 B. P. O. E. last evening held a very largely attended meeting at their handsome club house on North Sixth street and had the pleasure of having with them a number of the members of the Omaha lodge, who gave a number of interesting addresses and in boosting the annual clam bake of the Omaha lodge which is to be held in Krus park in that city on Thursday, October 22nd, and which is one of the most delightful social affairs of the lodge held during the year, drawing as it does a large attendance from the lodges of the neighboring cities. Plattsmouth lodge has always been well represented at this gathering and this year the indications are for a much larger turnout than usual as hospitality of the Omaha lodge is unbounded and has always proven very gratifying to all who have been their guests.

The local lodge has also decided to hold a public observance of their memorial day on the second Sunday in December. The services will probably be given in the Parmelee theatre and an orator of more than usual ability will be present to deliver the address as well as a number of musical numbers in keeping with the beauty and solemnity of the occasion. This is one day always kept sacred to the memory of the departed members of the Elks when the tribute of loving memory is paid to them.

A FORMER PIONEER RESIDENT OF CASS COUNTY VISITING HERE

One of the pioneer residents of Cass county, Mrs. J. S. Tewksbury of Omaha, is in the city for a visit at the home of Mrs. R. B. Livingston and family here and is spending a few days in reviewing the scenes of her former home. Mrs. Tewksbury formerly resided on what is known as the Sam Barker farm in the vicinity of Mynard, where she made her home fifty years ago, and finds that time has brought many changes to the locality once so familiar to her. She enjoys a rare distinction also in being an original daughter of the American Revolution, as her father fought in the ranks of the New England forces in the war for the American Independence, and was a brave and efficient soldier. This is something that is hard to find in these days, one who is so closely related to those stirring times when the young nation was waging a war for their freedom. Mrs. Tewksbury is quite well advanced in age, but bears her years well and takes a keen interest in the happenings of the world and is enjoying to the utmost the visit here among the familiar scenes.

CEDAR CREEK. (Special Correspondence.)

Ralph Alwood has a new motorcycle.

Mrs. Lyle has returned from Greenwood.

Jim Terberry killed fifteen ducks one day last week.

Mr. J. P. Schroder is getting along well with his new barn.

John McNewlen of Plattsmouth was in Cedar Creek a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and family are visiting his parents at North Bend this week.

Church services, German and English, morning and evening, October 4. Sunday school at the usual time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Schneider are now at Wahoo, having been called there Monday by the serious illness of Mr. Schneider's nephew.

The new boat purchased by several enterprising citizens of Cedar Creek is a beauty. It will be christened Thursday eve "The Blue Bell."

Visitors at the Cedar Creek school for the month of September: Misses Vula Schneider, Stella Warren, Mr. Lawrence Meisinger.

Remember the library in the barber shop of J. S. Reames. The list includes fiction, art, cooking, sewing, entertaining, mechanical books, religious, etc.

We only wish those away attending school could get home every Friday night. They seem so glad to get here and help everything and everybody.

Remember to get your trading done early on Saturday night and make it possible on literary night for our business people to attend and take part in the literary.

The bridge men who have been working in this neighborhood for the past week, have their work here nearing completion and will move the last of the week.

We were sorry to learn of the unfortunate accident which crippled Dr. Polk of Louisville for a few days. A rusty nail is treading on painful and dangerous ground.

Ten of the Cedar Creek business men are on the pond trying their luck at fishing as this article is being penned. We have heard some great fish stories here, but we're from Missouri.

Mrs. Metzger and daughters are rejoicing over a German paper and letter sent by a daughter in Germany. The letter came unsealed and tells of the pathos in that afflicted country.

The "Cedar Creek Chorus" met for practice Sunday. Attendance, twenty-six. Let's make it fifty voices. Come and practice with us at 2 p. m. next Sunday. We need a strong bass, especially.

It was decided Sunday that the contest between the young ladies and young men's classes would be decided in favor of the class having the largest per cent at attendance. Last Sunday—thirteen gentlemen, sixteen ladies.

It is rumored that Louisville is to organize a literary society. Cedar Creek has organized and had Union church full to overflowing Saturday eve. Five miles isn't far. Suppose Louisville join Cedar Creek instead of organizing. In unity there is strength.

Literary.

The first meeting of the Cedar Creek Literary society was certainly a success. It was necessary to delay the time of meeting (8:15) to provide more seats. We regret that all could not get inside. Mr. Roberts has promised to furnish planks from the lumber yard, and if Messrs. McBride, Stohler, John Teriff and Roberts put them in, he assured a comfortable seat awaits you.

The second meeting will be Friday evening, October 9—8:15.

It may have been the appreciative and attentive audience that helped the children to do well, for if anything inspires those on a platform it is to stand before an audience such as filled Union church to overflowing Saturday eve. The program was carried out as published.

If the price of the Reames' edition was $1 per copy, we believe his "Cedar Creek Current News" would be worth it. It is said a good laugh is as good as a dose of medicine, and we believe everybody got several doses.

News items for the coming publications may be given to any of the following persons, and these gentlemen will see they reach the publisher: Elmer Meisinger, Ault, Johnson, Wolf, Thompson, Slivers, Reames, Meyers, Roberts. Acquire the habit of news-gathering and help A. O. Ault, editor of next issue.

Following is the program for Friday evening, October 9:

Song, "Old Black Joe".....Chorus.
"A Round".....Cedar Creek School.
"Driving Home the Cows".....

Returns With Prisoner.

From Wednesday's Daily.

Sheriff C. D. Quinton returned last evening from Marysville, Missouri, bring with him Tony Hutchison, who was apprehended at that place and who is wanted here to answer to a charge of wife and child desertion. The man did not offer any objection to returning with the sheriff and saved the necessity of securing requisition papers on the Missouri authorities. He will probably be arraigned this afternoon on the charge preferred against him.
