THE INTERIOR OF THE
COATES HALL IS BEING OVERHAULED AND PAINTED

The interior of the Coates hall in this city is being thoroughly overhauled by the present lessees of the hall and the owner of the building, and when the work is completed will be a very handsome appearing room, as it is being finished in a very artistic combination of dark-green and light-cream. The walls are being papered in dark-green paper which will replace the old red paper that has for years been on the walls, while the balcony and woodwork of the hall will be finished in a rich shade of light-cream. The hall is in charge of the Cosmopolitan club who, in addition to using it for dancing purposes, also have it for rent to parties who may desire to use a hall of the size of the Coates hall, which is one of the largest in the city, and with the new improvements will be greatly in demand.

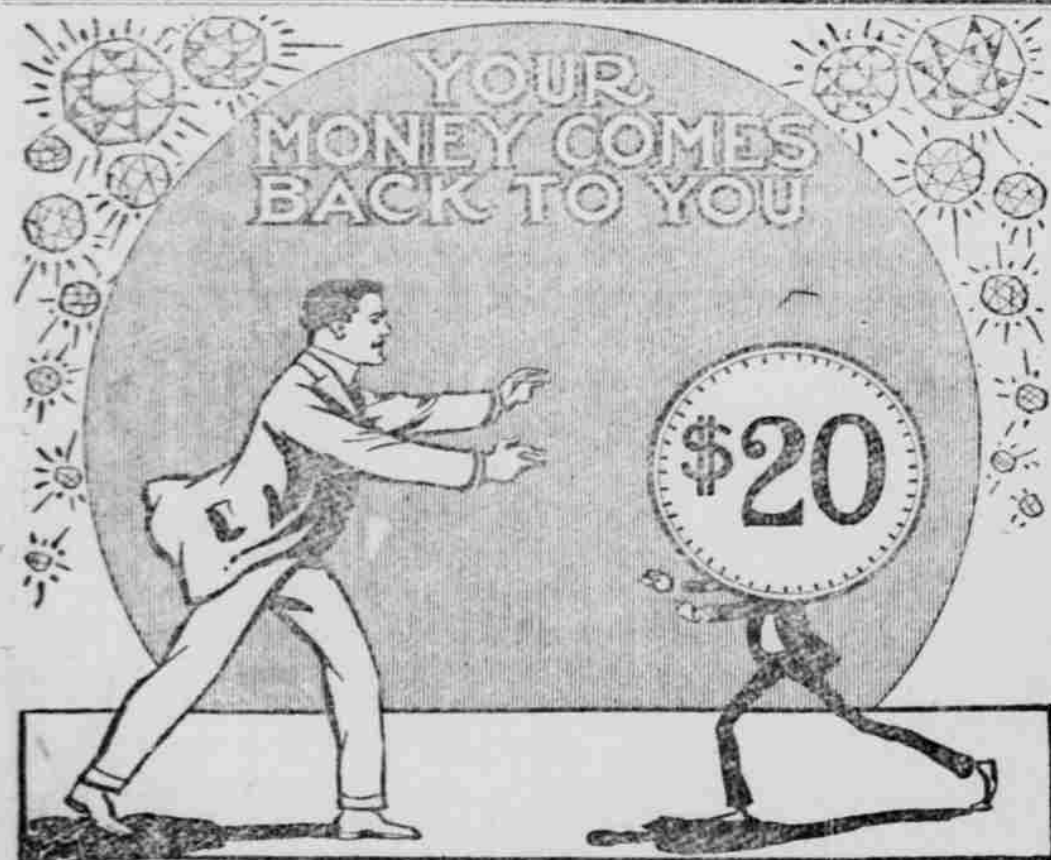

"The Calling of Dan Matthews," by same author of "The Shepherd of the Hills," will be in your city Monday, November 2. Seats selling now—25c to $1.

FORMER GOVERNOR SHEL-
DON ENDORSES ANDREW
STURM FOR STATE SENATOR

Wayside, Miss., Oct. 26.—I desire through your paper to urge my friends in Cass and Otoe counties to work and vote for Andrew Sturm for state senator. I am moved to make this appeal, not only because he supported me loyally and enthusiastically, but more particularly because he stands for the people's welfare and for civic righteousness. Andrew Sturm is conscientious, industrious and efficient. He is an unselfish, public-spirited citizen. He will fulfill his promises and platform pledges. He is deserving of and should receive the votes of all those, regardless of party affiliations, who desire honesty and square dealing in politics.

GEORGE L. SHELTON.

Candidate for County Judge.

To the Voters of Cass County:

I am one of the non-partisan candidates for the office of county judge. The other candidate is Judge Beeson of Plattsburgh, a worthy gentleman and a friend of mine, against whom I have not a word to say; but as he has held the office of county judge for almost seven years, I feel justified at this time in asking you to elect me to that position. Should you see fit to do so, I shall go into the office free from promise or pledge to any person except that I promise the people, if I be elected to that office, I will give strict attention to the duties thereof and without special favor to anyone.

This is the first time I have been nominated for county office, and I will appreciate your favorable consideration at the polls next Tuesday. I find it impossible to meet all the voters during this campaign, therefore I take this method of stating my position as a candidate.

Respectfully,

CHARLES L. GRAVES,

Union, Neb.

ERADICATE THE RAT!

A Disease Breeder and Carrier That Serves No Good Purpose.

Rats are dangerous. They have no legitimate business, nor can they serve any good purpose in any community. Sanitarians are well agreed that rats are a serious menace to health. They are so filthy in their habits as tenants of the sewers and as feeders on every thing dirty and diseased that it is no wonder they are carriers of disease, parasites and plague infection.

That rats are afflicted with many diseases more than bubonic plague is confirmed by Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon general of the United States public health service, who, speaking on this point, says: "Other infectious of the rat are trematodes, or flukes; cestodes, or tapeworms; nematodes, or round worms; protozoa, insects and vegetable microbes." Of the rats examined in San Francisco 34 per cent were infested with tapeworms.

Plague is primarily a disease of the rat. It is communicated from the plague stricken rat to other rats and from rats to man by means of fleas, as the principal agent, yet it has been determined many times that handling a rat that has been dead of plague only a few hours gives the infection almost instantly. Two small boys while playing in an unused cellar found the body of a dead rat. The corpse was buried with unusual funeral honors. In forty-eight hours both were ill with bubonic plague. A laborer finding a sick rat on the wharf picked it up with the naked hand and threw it into the bay. He was seized three days later with plague. But the flea is the chief incubator. Fleas abandon a rat dead of plague and go in search of living beings who still have warm blood circulating in their veins. Biting man they inoculate into him the living virus which starts the disease.

Since plague is a disease due to rats and rat fleas and not to filth or dirty habits, there's only one thing to do to avoid plague, eradicate the rats. This can be done by making war on them with traps, poison and starvation, and by "rat proofing" against them; that is by building them out. As a result of the Chinatown plague epidemic in 1907, so efficient was the ratproof constructions that followed, that rats and plague were entirely "built out" of that part of the city.

PRESIDENT WILSON WANTS MAGUIRE

White House, Washington, D. C.

October 27, 1914.

CONGRESSMAN JOHN A. MAGUIRE

Mr. William Ritchie, Jr.,
Chairman Congressional Committee, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Dear Sir:

It is a real pleasure to speak for those who have stood by the cause of the people and manifested in a practical way their support of just progressive legislation. Certainly Mr. Maguire is one of these. His quality has been tested by his service. It would seem to me little more than justice to him that his constituents should return him to the house, where with lengthened service he will be able to give the country the benefit of his quality more and more effectively from month to month.

WOODROW WILSON.

FOR RE-ELECTION

TO THE VOTERS OF THE FIRST DISTRICT:—

Congressman John A. Maguire, candidate for re-election has supported President Wilson's administration in every policy and measure submitted, and has unqualifiedly pledged his continued support to this administration. It is the earnest desire of President Wilson and of Secretary Bryan that he should be re-elected. President Wilson has written a special letter indorsing Congressman Maguire's record and Secretary Bryan is campaigning in the first district asking the voters to send John Maguire back to Congress.

Those who believe in the Wilson administration can only express their approval of that administration by casting their vote for the man who has consistently supported the administration in the past and who is pledged to the same course for the future. This is a national issue, not a personal matter. It would be the height of inconsistency for a citizen who subscribes to the Wilson policies to vote for a candidate for Congress who is not pledged to support those policies. President Wilson needs a Congress that will support him.

Congressman Maguire has a record which will be approved and sustained by every supporter of the administration. He remained at his post of duty at Washington during the primary election, and until the final adjournment of Congress voting for the measures which the people of his district had sent him to support.

The Congressional Committee believes all men who desire to see the Wilson administration sustained will vote for Congressman John A. Maguire.

Now, Mr. Voter, its up to you. Think it over.
