

Newsy Notes from Cedar Creek

Personal Points of Interest Picked Up and Pencilled for the Perusal of the Cedar Creek Readers by Our Regular Reporter of that Village

G. P. Meisinger spent Tuesday in Plattsmouth.

Mr. Paul Roberts visited his parents in Plattsmouth Monday.

Mr. Paul Roberts visited his parents in Plattsmouth Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Jardine and family spent Sunday with John Gauer and family.

In Plattsmouth Saturday: Mr. and Mrs. John Gauer, Mrs. Frank Sayberg, Henry Meisinger.

Mrs. Philip Stohrer and daughter, Mrs. August Keil, were shopping in Louisville Tuesday.

Mrs. Hendricks of Ashland visited her daughter and the Cedar Creek school from 9:30 a. m. until 4 p. m. Wednesday of last week.

The best way to hear about your home town and community is to subscribe for the Plattsmouth Journal. It keeps up with the times.

Report for Sunday, October 25: Attendance, 53; collection, $1.18. Report for Sunday, November 1: Attendance, —; collection, —.

Our enterprising business man, J. S. Reames, came to the school building at noon one day last week and placed two mottoes upon the walls.

At the rate A. O. Ault has been moving lately he will develop into a traveling man rather than a merchant. His carload of potatoes have arrived.

The way the cars are hitting the bumpboards these mornings it would seem the harvesters thought winter was fast approaching, but delightful weather this, roads dusty.

It is very seldom a real bird is seen in the fall, but an especially brilliant one appeared in town Tuesday morning and acts very much as if it meant to stay around all winter.

Mr. Broadbeck, son of Grandma Broadbeck, had the misfortune to slip and fall upon a stairway. He was quite seriously hurt and his brother, Joe, was called from across the river. He is recovering.

In our efforts to secure help to provide for a speaker from Omaha on the suffrage question last week we are indebted to Miss Valley of Plattsmouth and the "Literary" of Cedar Creek wishes to extend to her its thanks.

Maybe I don't think, as my friends do in many things, but I try to be myself with them. I may not act exactly as they do; in many ways they may not understand me at all; still they love me, and that is the essential thing with friends.

Sunday school next Sunday at 10 a. m. Time is short until it will be known which is the winning side. Be present and help your class to win. Miss Hendricks secured some very clear kodak pictures of her (the boys') class, taken at the church steps.

Any time John Gauer trades his Mitchell for a Ford will be when he knows about it. Most auto drivers keep their tool boxes locked, but John says he carries his Ford there and hence keeps the box open that his friends interested in Fords may inspect it.

George Sales stopped here between trains Tuesday.

Mr. J. M. Roberts of Plattsmouth was in our village Tuesday.

Ralph Atwood was in Omaha Monday. His wife met him in that city Tuesday.

Mrs. Hackenburg and son, Russell, and daughter, Lota, returned from Plattsmouth Tuesday. They were accompanied by Miss Cressie, a daughter, who teaches in Pierce county, but who will now enjoy a month's vacation through corn husking.

The pupils of Miss Hendricks' room will enjoy vacation the rest of this week, that she may attend the state teachers' meeting in Omaha. Miss Treman chooses to continue now, but later will visit the Omaha schools, hoping to see the results of that great teachers' school demonstrated.

Mrs. Fred Horn (Clementine Fray) and little daughter, Marie, of Beaver City are here visiting Mrs. Horn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Meyers. Mrs. Horn as a girl was well known here and her friends extend to her a hearty welcome. She tells us she has been reading with interest the Cedar Creek items.

Mr. Reames stayed long enough to say that he would award a prize worth securing to that pupil whose essay proved the best. It is to be written as suggested by the motto, "Onward and Upward." The second motto is the one word, "Think." Both were designed by the artful hand of the giver. Accept our thanks!

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fackler left their home in Blair, Neb., at 9 a. m. Saturday. By auto they went to Springfield, where they took dinner with his mother. Arrived in Cedar Creek at 4 p. m. that day to visit Mrs. Fackler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Schneider. The grandparents are especially proud of the twin granddaughters, who accompanied them.

We have often heard "Silver Threads Among the Gold," but somehow as Mrs. Hendricks, with silvery hair and a voice above the average for a lady of her years, sang that song with her daughter it had a deeper meaning than ever before. Somehow it made me think of my mother's voice "singing in Paradise." Truly it has been said, "God couldn't be everywhere at once, so He made mothers." No matter how many threads are "among the gold," how slow the step or how wrinkled the features, the very name, Mother, makes them divine.

Whether or not women are wanted in politics in Nebraska, we do know women are wanted. Women who know their own business better than their neighbor's. Women who are true and pure. Women who will not weary in well doing. Women who will daily do loving service. Women who will not drift with the tide, but who will courageously stem the current. Women who will be stepping stones and lift people up, not stumbling blocks to hinder and cause others to fall. Women who believe kind words never die, and who sow their loving acts broadcast.

Rev. Schwartz's lecture will be reported next week.

Cedar Creek is planning to have a Christmas program.

Mr. Meyers made a business trip to Omaha Thursday.

Mr. Griggs of Omaha visited Hugh Alexander over Sunday.

Miss Lola Hendricks spent Sunday at her home in Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferriers are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dasher.

Mrs. Ida Seybert of Cullom was shopping in Cedar Creek Tuesday.

Miss Grace Duff went to Louisville Saturday evening to visit her morning.

Henry Sanders, Jr., and family of Omaha came Monday for a few days' visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fairer of Lincoln are here visiting their daughter, Mrs. Henry Dasher.

Mr. Hensley drove from Louisville Tuesday to call on our merchants, in company with George Rychart.

Mr. Hugh Alexander, while spitting wood, had the misfortune to cut his foot. He will be off duty at the sand pit for a few days.

Mr. Stivers has been suffering the past week with his back. We are glad he is better and able to attend to business again.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Plattsmouth visited their daughter, Mrs. Stivers. They were the guests of Wm. Schneider's at Sunday dinner.

Henry Fornoff and wife tendered the young people a very pleasant time Saturday evening. A large, crowd, good time and lunch is reported.

The upstairs room of Cedar Creek school was the scene of a Halloween surprise party in honor of Miss Hendricks and her pupils. The tiny tots from town came with their mothers as especially invited guests.

If we have any excuse for being, it is because we help others to become something they never could become without us—something wiser—something better—something happier—something more useful.

If, on your return from a lecture, a party or a social and are questioned about it and make a reply something like this, "It was great," "it was lovely," or "I'm crazy about it," is your answer as brilliant as one might expect? Suppose you give a real answer, not just talk.

absense of Miss Hendricks as organist. Sometimes I wonder what a mean man thinks when he goes to bed—when he turns out the light and lies down alone. He is compelled to be honest with himself. Not a bright thought—not a generous impulse, not a word of blessing—not a grateful look comes back to him. When he does not hear "God bless you," of the departed day, how he must hate himself! How cheerless and dreary his own path must appear!

The chorus class will meet again next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. In the ist, her place will be supplied at Sunday school by Mrs. Olive, and at the afternoon practice also. It is hoped the attendance will be good that we may learn the songs Mr. Gates wishes to illustrate in his lecture November 13, while the chorus sings. Twenty-four voices responded to the call for last Sunday evening's service. Certainly their presence and songs helped to inspire Rev. Schwartz, but somebody said, "Everything gets electrified when Schwartz is here."

Henry Tieroff made his Monday morning trip to Plattsmouth by auto. Henry's little girl is but a baby. The interest he shows in seeing to it that his sister-in-law, Miss Gertrude Meisinger, and her friend, Helen Schneider, are in school at Plattsmouth in time, makes us feel safe for the educational advantages of little Mildred. Not only that, but every father should feel a friendly interest in his neighbor's children, thereby promoting the interests of his community and he is filling his grave with kind thoughts and loving remembrances when he does.

Halloween decorations were everywhere in evidence with corn stalks banked in, suggestive corners, the floor leaf-strewn. Into this candle-lighted room the children were ushered by fifteen or more ghosts, who managed the games until the blinds were lifted. Grace Duff in costume made an ideal "Jack in the Barrel," bobbing up to hand out apples at lunch time. Anna Schroder in gypsy beads and paint sat in front of a gypsy tent and made a pleasing "child of Ishmael" as she held the hands of the children, reading them and handing to each its fortune. The ladies expressed themselves as having enjoyed the afternoon, and one remarked it would be remembered long by the children also as a successful Halloween party.

On the evening of Saturday, November 21, Cedar Creek school will give a box social at the school building at 8:15. A short program will be followed by the reading of a literary paper. The proceeds from the sale of the boxes will be used to finance the "Literary" and Library movements and begin the fund for the purchase of a "Victrola" for the school. At supper time the crowd will divide, the children going downstairs and in the primary room their games will be played, their boxes auctioned and their supper eaten. No boxes downstairs will be sold higher than 25 cents. Upstairs we will let the boys decide on the amount for themselves. This social is for the benefit of the entire community, for whatever tends for the betterment of the school in any community can but lead to the elevation of community, state and nation. Help by remembering the date—November 21—and attend this social.

LITERARY. If you have never visited "Yellowstone National Park," go through it with Geo. M. Gates of Lincoln, Neb., in illustrated lecture Friday evening, November 13, Union church, 8:15 p. m. The appearance of Mr. Gates, with his 200 fine pictures of geysers, lakes, boiling pools, Indians, wild animals, snow-covered mountains, etc., is an entertainment endorsed by college men and the press. The writer, having spent an entire summer in the park, saw these pictures and heard this platform and pulpit orator, and can but say that Gates' pictures are as natural in their rich colorings as can be pictured. No child or adult can afford to miss this, one of the most pleasing features of the remaining literary meetings which end January 1. Mr. Gates receives large sums for his lectures, but being a personal friend has consented to make his coming within reach. But to hear him once will mean you want to hear him again.

We have pledged $10, expenses and entertainment. Anything over his amount will go into the church treasury or to further the "Victrola" fund. Tickets of admission only 10 cents, so that every man, woman and child may hear him.

Rev. Schwartz's lecture will be reported next week.

Working Conditions. The conditions, under which work can be done, are various, but the main condition is physical strength—good health. This is only possible by maintaining our digestion in perfect working order. As soon as our appetite fades, our strength is diminished, our health is lost. It is evident that there is something in the body that does not belong there. We should clean out the system by using Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine at once. Many diseases are either the result of constipation or constipation is the most prominent symptom of them. This shows how important it is to start treatment and to select a remedy which relieves constipation without weakening the body—Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine. Price $1.00. At drug stores. Jos. Triner, Manufacturer, 1333-1339 S. Ashland ave., Chicago, Ill.

Pains in various parts of the body usually quickly yield to Triner's Liniment. Price of this liniment 50c, by mail 60c.

The Cosmopolitan club will give a social dance at Coates' hall on Saturday evening. The music will be furnished by the Holly orchestra, and a good time is assured to those who attend.

PROLONGING THE WAR.

England doesn't seem to be in any hurry to finish the war. She says that it took fifteen years to polish off Napoleon Bonaparte. The Canadian volunteers who have reached England are undergoing training in English camps. The Indian contingent is just now beginning to take part in the fight. The plan of the Allies is to keep the Germans fighting along their present line until their strength is exhausted. Lord Charles Beresford, in a speech at Stafford, England, the other day, said: "The serious time of the war will begin when the Germans are forced over the frontier and are in their own country with their own base of supplies." He added that it would take more than six months or a year to put Emperor William on his back. The British state that they now have 100,000 fresh troops within one day of the line of battle in the east portion of France, and their tactics contemplate keeping the Germans continually on the offensive, in the course of which they lose many more men than the Allies. At all events, there seems to be no chance of peace at this present writing, and the inevitable result will be to make a market for everything that the Mississippi valley can produce. The South American trade that has hitherto gone to Germany, France and England will be deflected to this country.

The Strongest Fence

Science proves that the strongest fence, because constructed throughout on scientific lines, is the

ELLWOOD FENCE

SIMPLE—SCIENTIFIC—STRONG

The Reasons:
 1st—Each horizontal extension of the ELLWOOD is a steel cable, consisting of two heavy wires intertwined.
 2d—Each of these cables is tied to each other cable by a continuous heavy wire lapped tightly about every cable—not tied in a crooked "knot" or twist to weaken the strength of the tie wire at the bending point. (Wrap a wire around your finger and the wire is not weakened; tie a wire up in a hard knot and you cannot untie it without breaking, it is so much weakened.)

THAT IS ALL THERE IS TO ELLWOOD FENCE—

Heavy steel cables lapped about and held together by steel wire, forming uniform meshes. Simple, isn't it? No chance for weakness in any part; uniformly strong. The reasons for the superiority of ELLWOOD FENCE are not hard to find. This company owns and operates its own iron mines and furnaces; its own wire mills and six large fence factories—either one of the six being larger than any other fence factory in the world. These facts should be convincing.
