

"DON'T LIE TO YOUR WIFE," AT THE PARMELE FRIDAY NIGHT

Be Sure and See This Great Hilarious Farce and a Host of Pretty Chorus Girls.

From Saturday's Daily.

"Don't Lie to Your Wife," a hilarious farce in three acts with musical interruptions by Campbell B. Casad, produced by Mr. C. S. Primrose, will be seen at the Parmele theatre Friday night, November 13.

The story in brief concerns the rambling from the straight and narrow path by three congenial spirits who are never supposed to step from the main highroad of travel.

Amos Doppeldae is the principal character—he is the man from the flat upstairs. Arthur Pringle, a young man engaged to Doppeldae's daughter, likewise George Benedict, a bosom friend of the two, are first seen in Doppeldae's apartment discussing the result of their "white light adventure." It seems that the three women nearest to them, Mrs. Doppeldae, her daughter and Mrs. Benedict, had departed for Atlantic City. Immediately thereupon Doppeldae had suggested a bit of "high life for a change." Doppeldae, Benedict and Pringle start out in their machine, stop long enough to pick up three frivolous young women of the chorus and go to Coney Island. On the return, their automobile is affected by the dissipation and hits up a speed very much out of accord with the traffic regulations of the city, the jolly party is arrested, but bribe a policeman and are allowed to go free.

The first act finds the three in Doppeldae's apartment, headachy and remorseful, their plight is added to by the recollection that Amos in an unguarded moment had invited his new found friends to his apartments for the day, on the top of this a theatrical press agent scenting a good advertisement for the theatre at which these three chorus girls work, discovers the yarn and visits Doppeldae's flat, harried thus the three solemnly swear "Nevermore." As they utter the word, the door suddenly opens and the two wives and daughter supposed to be in Atlantic City enter, they demand an explanation of the vow and it is with great difficulty that they are finally convinced that "Nevermore" is the name of a race horse, a "sure thing."

Later the chorus girls appear on the scene and after an ordeal that is very trying on Mr. Doppeldae, his wife is finally convinced that the three girls are his nieces from Australia. Shortly after, the wives and sweetheart leave the house to bet on the horse "Nevermore." They are arrested for speeding by the same traffic cop, and the complications become more mixed than ever. However, the farce is brought to an end in mutual explanations, forgiveness and happiness.

The cast is a most excellent one, the gowning splendid and numerous songs and specialties are introduced during the action of the farce.

The chorus is an excellent one and render a score or so of musical numbers in a very satisfying manner.

Makes Some Improvements.

From Tuesday's Daily.

The home of Mr. Robert Wampler on Tenth and Vine streets has been remodeled and repainted and a fine, large porch built on the east side, which greatly improves the looks of the Wampler home. The work was done by Mr. Wampler and the work its as well done as if a carpenter had done it. Mr. Wampler's health has been quite poorly for the past two years or more, but to see the work you would hardly think it done by a man of 60 years of age.

C. C. PARMELE TALKS TO YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE CLASS, GIVE AN ACCOUNT OF TRIP

From Saturday's Daily.

Last evening the members of the Young Men's Bible class of the Methodist church were given a rare treat in the delightful informal talk given them by Charles C. Parmele on his recent trip to the orient. Mr. Parmele recounted many interesting incidents of the voyage across the Pacific ocean and the Hawaiian Islands, where a short stop was made on the journey across the great body of water. He also took up a few minutes with a very interesting description of the cities in China and Japan, which had been visited by his party there, and of the habits and customs of the residents of the orient. The talk opened the eyes of the young men to the large trade possibilities in the Pacific coast trade with the orient and the industries of these countries. Mr. Parmele also described the feeling that existed between the different countries of the orient toward each other and also of the feeling entertained toward the United States of America, which has in recent years become one of the leading powers interested in the oriental policies, owing to the fact of our possession of the Philippine islands. There was a large crowd present at the meeting, and they felt very grateful to Mr. Parmele for his address on a subject that is proving of more interest to the residents of the United States each year.

YOUNG MEN FROM MURDOCK FINED FOR INJURING SOME TELEPHONE WIRE

From Tuesday's Daily.

This morning Henry Dehning and Leo Boelter, two young men from near Murdock, came in from their home to answer to a complaint charging them with having injured wire belonging to the Western Union Telegraph company by shooting and throwing at the glass insulators used to carry the wires on the poles. The boys, both of whom are nice, clean young men, were out a few days ago armed with a 22-rifle and thoughtlessly shot at the insulators as well as threw a few rocks at them, not realizing that they were committing any offence. They entered a plea of guilty and were fined $10 each, the minimum in cases of this kind. The case was heard by Judge Beeson in county court.

The county judge also had before him this morning Johnnie Price, a youth from Louisville, who was charged by his parents with being incorrigible and such that they could not manage him, and accordingly the court was asked to take some action in the matter. The judge, after hearing the statements presented, decided that it would be the best for the boy that he be sent to Kearney for schooling in the state industrial school in that city. The little lad was much grieved at being taken from home, but his parents are of the opinion that they cannot do anything with him.

Error in the Figures.

From Saturday's Daily.

In the report of the city schools, as appeared in the Evening Journal of yesterday, the per cent of attendance in the room of Miss Margaret Porter was given as 69, when it should have been 96. This correction is made that there may be no injustice done to the teacher.

ANOTHER CASS COUNTY PIONEER PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Caroline Henton, Aged 89 Years, Passed Away at the Home of Her Daughter.

From Tuesday's Daily.

This morning, at the home of her daughter in Mynard, Mrs. Caroline Henton, one of the oldest residents of the county, passed to her final reward after a short illness, due to the infirmities of old age. Mrs. Henton was first taken seriously ill on last Friday and from then on sank into a semi-conscious condition from which she peacefully passed away to her final reward as the new day was coming into being this morning at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Henton was born in Indiana eighty-nine years ago, and here the early part of her life was spent until she in company with her husband moved to Iowa where they resided for a number of years and later moved to Cass county where Mrs. Henton located on the home place in Mynard where she since resided. The departed lady leaves three daughters, Mrs. J. W. Johnson, Plattsmouth; Mrs. J. H. Adams, and Mrs. W. F. Gillespie, of Mynard, to mourn her loss. The funeral services of this well beloved lady will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Gillespie home in Mynard and the interment made in the Eikenbary cemetery south of this city. The deepest sympathy of the entire community will be extended to the bereaved family in the loss of their well beloved mother and grandmother, but in their hour of grief the family will have the example of a pure and upright life to guide their own actions that they may meet with her in the future.

THE SPORTSMEN ARE BUSY GETTING IN THEIR WORK ON HUNTING AND FISHING

From Tuesday's Daily.

Fishing and hunting are still indulged in, owing to warm weather. A big flight of ducks is expected when the first cold swoops down from the north. Ducks and geese and other migratory fowl can be legally killed up to December 15 under the United States regulations. The open season for trout closed October 1. The open season for bass not less than eight inches in length ends November 15, and the open season for other fish protected by the state law ends November 15. An effort may be made when the next legislature meets to extend the open season for pike. These fish are now numerous in the Platte and the Missouri rivers and on account of the fact that they can be caught late in the fall it is urged that the season should be extended. W. J. O'Brien, superintendent of the state fisheries, is of the opinion that it will not do harm to extend the season for pike. The pike do not spawn late in the fall and during the spawning season they run to the head of the stream in which they are found. It is believed that they go up the Platte into Wyoming to lay their eggs.

Will Begin Thursday.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week the ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold their Rummage Sale. There will be waists, skirts, coats and summer clothing for the ladies, boys and men's shoes, coats and underwear. If there is anything you are needing, go to the Rummage Sale, in the Riley block, first door south of the Emma Pease millinery store.

AGED LADY QUIETLY PASSES AWAY AT THE MASONIC HOME

Mrs. Amy M. Pratt, one of the aged ladies making her home at the Masonic Home in this city, passed away Tuesday evening at that institution after passing some 96 years of life. Mrs. Pratt has been very feeble, due to her extreme old age, and her passing has been looked forward to for some time. She came to this city on October 21, 1914, to make her home here, and owing to her greatly advanced years has been failing quite rapidly until her death. Mrs. Pratt was the mother of Robert Taggart of Nebraska City, and a grandmother of John M. Taggart, former court reporter under Judge Jessen. The body was taken away on the 2:41 Missouri Pacific yesterday afternoon to Palmyra, where the funeral services will be held this afternoon. While here only a short time, Mrs. Pratt had greatly endeared herself to the residents and her demise is greatly regretted.

"THE RICH YOUNG RULER" WAS REV. MYERS' TEXT AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

From Tuesday's Daily.

Rev. L. W. Meyers last evening at the Christian church had the above for his subject, and drew a graphic picture of this lesson taught by the Master when he was approached by this young man and asked what he should do to inherit eternal life. The commandments were asked to be kept, which the young man said he had done from his youth. The Master looked at him and, reading him as one would a book, said: "One thing thou lackest," when the young man asked what that might be. Christ told him, as he saw that he was proud of the fact of his position as to the matter of wealth, and that he had lived for himself alone: "Sell what thou hast, as to the poor and come and follow me." This made the young man very sorrowful, as he had great worldly possessions, and had, while tacitly observing the commandments, his god had been money. He had not known of the suffering of the poor, and having cast them out of his mind and sight, did not realize their sufferings.

As it was, he was too much attached to his money and turned and went away sorrowing.

With many an apt narrative did the Rev. Meyers illustrate his theme, and held the audience in wrapt attention during the discourse.

Interest in the meetings grows with every day, and the work which the Rev. Meyers and Rev. Hollowell are doing, will count for a better Plattsmouth.

The services this evening at 7:30, with the best of music and singing, and for home by 9 o'clock.

Andrew Stohlman, wife and little son of Louisville came down this morning to spend a few hours looking after some matters of business in the county seat. This is the first time in two years that Mr. Stohlman has been here, and he notes the many changes that have occurred since that time.

Mrs. Thomas Kempster of Kansas City, Mo., arrived in this city this morning for a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan. The visit of Mrs. Kempster will be greatly enjoyed by the old friends who have not seen her for several years.

GHAS. F. CUTHMAN AND MISS MARGARET HALLAHAM ARE UNITED IN MARRIAGE

The news has been received in this city of the marriage at Springfield, Mass., on Tuesday, November 10, of Miss Margaret Hallahan of that city and Mr. Charles F. Guthman of Murphy, Idaho. The bride has been in the west for the past two years visiting at the home of her aunt, Miss Margaret Hallahan, in this city, and it was here that the young people first met and their friendship formed here has ripened into wedded bliss. Miss Hallahan returned home several months ago, and a few weeks thence the groom departed for the east to claim his bride. The full particulars of the ceremony has not as yet been received, but the friends of the contracting parties will extend to them their heartiest best wishes for a long and happy married life. Mr. Guthman was born and reared in Plattsmouth, and is the eldest son of Mrs. F. R. Guthman, and for the past few years has been located in Idaho, where he has extensive business interests. STATE BOARD OF CONTROL VISIT PLATTSMOUTH IN REFERENCE TO REFORMATORY

This morning Hon. Henry Gerdes of Falls City and Judge Howard Kennedy of Omaha, members of the state board of control, visited this city to look over the situation here in regard to the application of this city for the location of the proposed new state reformatory which the last legislature recommended and for which the sum of $150,000 was appropriated. The members of the board were driven in a car to the proposed location, north of the city, where a tract of the size desired by the state can be secured and at a price very reasonable. This location has the advantage that it fills every requirement asked for by the state, and on it there can be several different industries carried on, as the land has excellent clay banks for pottery or brick yards, as well as splendid farming and fruit raising land. Plenty of stone and sand can be secured easily for the use of the institution, and it is hard to believe that a better location could possibly be found anywhere in the state than right here in Plattsmouth. The members of the board have visited the different places throughout the state which have applied for the location of the reformatory, and Plattsmouth is one of the last points to be touched upon by the board in their travels. Mr. Gerdes and Judge Kennedy returned this afternoon to Omaha. They did not express any opinion of the land or the location, as it is necessary for the board to weigh carefully the different points of each town with their colleague on the board of control, Ex-Governor Silas A. Holcomb of Broken Bow. If the board can see their way clear to recommend the choice of the Plattsmouth location, there is no doubt that they will secure a site that will prove all that has been claimed for it.

Ordered to Get Out of Town.

Chief of Police Rainey this morning rounded up a trio of "hoboes" who were engaged in "panhandling" on the street, and ordered them to hit the trail out of the city at once or take the consequences of being sent to jail to spend several days. FORMER PLATTS-MOUTH YOUNG LADY IS MARRIED

Miss Lillian Thompson United in Marriage With Mr. William F. Kay of Des Moines, Iowa.

Last evening, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thompson, at 1702 North Twenty-fourth street, South Omaha, occurred the marriage of Mr. William F. Kay of Des Moines, Ia., and Miss Lillian Thompson. The happy event was one attended by a large number of the friends of the bride from this city, where the Thompson family were residents for a great many years and where the bride was reared to womanhood and was educated in the schools of this city. Miss Thompson is one of the most charming young ladies who has resided in Plattsmouth, and her friends are without number, as a lady of more genial and sunny disposition could not be found anywhere, and her happiness will be the occasion of much pleasure to her friends here in this city.

The Thompson home was a scene of the greatest beauty for the wedding, as palms and drapings of smilax and ferns were used extensively in the decorations throughout the rooms of the house. A large arch of palms, ferns and lillies of the valley had been placed in the parlors of the home and it was beneath this beautiful floral decoration that the happy young people took their station to have the words that made them one pronounced by Rev. W. L. Austin, pastor of the First Methodist church of Geneva, Neb., former pastor of the church here, where the bride was for years a most faithful member. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Seivers of Marquette, Neb., sang very sweetly, "Because," and as the wedding march played by Mrs. Ernest J. Tucey of this city sounded through the rooms the bridal party entered the parlors. The bride was preceded by her little sister, Clara May Thompson, who bore the wedding ring in a large American Beauty rose, and entered on the arm of her brother, William Macey, of Plattsmouth. The bride was attended by Miss Hermie Spies of this city as maid of honor. The costume of the bride was very elaborate, being of white crepe meteor trimmed with pearls, and the bouquet was of bride-roses. Miss Thompson wore the flowing bridal veil and made a lovely picture as she stood before the floral altar. Miss Spies was handsomely gowned in a rainbow costume of crepe de chine and chiffon and carried a bouquet of Mrs. Ward roses. The groom and his best man, Roy Thompson, brother of the bride, joined the wedding party at the altar, and the beautiful and impressive ring service was used to bind these loving hearts as one. The punch bowl in the dining room was the scene of the beauty, as the decorations here were in pink and white. Mrs. Jennings Seivers of Plattsmouth served. Following the wedding, a short reception was held for the young people, and a most tempting luncheon served to the company present. Mr. and Mrs. Kay departed on the midnight train for Des Moines, Ia., where the groom is engaged in business and where he has a handsome bungalow in waiting for his bride. The gift of the groom to his bride was a large electric automobile. The best wishes of the newlyweds in this city will follow them in their new home, and that they may enjoy long life and prosperity is the universal wish.

Chief of Police Rainey this morning rounded up a trio of "hoboes" who were engaged in "panhandling" on the street, and ordered them to hit the trail out of the city at once or take the consequences of being sent to jail to spend several days. The three men lost no time in making their getaway and promised to keep clear of Plattsmouth in the future.
