

IN PLATTSMOUTH FORTY YEARS AGO

Items of Interest to Our Readers Gleaned from the Newspaper Files of Many Years Ago.

From our Pleasant Ridge correspondent we learn that they are having gay times out there. Two or three dances at John Craig's have helped to fill up the winter, besides all this they have a well attended literary society which meets at the brick school house on Friday evenings and discusses everything and everybody. On the evening of February 11th they got up an illustrated paper called the Pleasant Ridge Inter Ocean, edited by Mr. Showalter, which made a good deal of fun. About 200 people were present. On Tuesday evening they were to meet at Beaver's school house, and Mr. Wesley was to get out an edition of the Concord Expositor. That is right, folks, the Herald is very glad to see you all take hold of something so sensible, useful and instructive. Try your best, and do all the good you can.

Mr. Nathan, of the firm of Solomon & Nathan, was married at St. Joseph, Missouri, on the 23d inst., to Miss Saunders. After this interesting event Mr. and Mrs. Nathan has hardly been able to contain himself ever since. All last summer when the Herald would go down the street Nathan would say: "Good morning, Mr. Herald, how am I this morning?" Now he says: "Good morning, boys, how is Mrs. Nathan this morning?" Oh, well, such little jokes will keep happiness to us every now and then in our voyage through life. The only curious thing about it is that Nathan never has done so before; he is good-looking, and so available that somebody ought to have carried him off long ere this. Then he was so modest—ah! that's the rub—we know. It's hard year—the just how Nathan came to be the victim just now. All jokes aside, the Herald wishes the newly married pair a long life, a happy one, and all made up of happy years, if they're any better than other years.

Mike McGuire and Jerry either folks are all going to the Black Hills. At last the fever has struck our town. Mike had it bad. He is going to take the old saw-mill out there and if he can't find any more wood to saw, he expects the government will buy it to saw into the solid chunks of gold to be found there, so they can be handled to get them to the mint. Now we have once got it, everyone talks of going. That is talking of starting a big butcher shop on one of the highest hills. He will have the earth drawn up by a stationary engine which will also reduce them to Pezmania in short metre. Pezmania tubes will be run from all sides of the shop to the miners' camps, and when they want their dinners, they must blow up the tubes. That sounds a little bit, but that will put his ear there and they shoot the number of yds. of chopped beef they desire. You see this plan.

I'll Tell You This, Too, My Daughter

WILL you believe it is like your father and all other men? You probably will want a small stimulant occasionally. Don't start your married life by being peevish. Beer is healthful and refreshing, and he will drink it moderately. For he knows the meaning of Tom Tompkins. Don't tell him he can't drink it—he'll be drunk and meet him half way. You'll have your ice cream soda frequently and will have his best. Your father and I soon will have our twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. In all these years he has drunk his beer whenever he wanted it. Look at him today—strong, robust, alert, no finer man on earth. Never once have I denied him the privilege of drinking moderately. I know the moderation with which he drinks does him a world of good. In fact, I enjoy seeing him engaged in his health. It's when you seek to deprive a man of his liberty that he rebels. Let him drink beer when he wants it, for let's see good a man to go beyond the bounds of moderation. You'll find that a little beer will increase his stock of cheerfulness. Choose the home of mirth and happiness, my dear, rather than the house of trouble and dissension.

will save a great deal of work. You can have the Pemmican hot or cold, spiced, or otherwise, and the miners doesn't quit getting out big chunks more than 10 minutes to eat. All they have to do is to hold their little tin pail under the spout, and a dinner runs out in a minute. Vive la Black Hills! Mosaic we've almost got it.

W. H. Pool, a former resident of this place, called on us Tuesday. Henry Anderson has started a banking house, real estate and collection agency at Wahoo, Saunders county. He is well recommended by prominent bankers in the state.

W. C. Jenks, one of the oldest settlers in the county, and who has taken the Herald from its very first number, called yesterday, and made us glad, too.

William Agnew has returned to Plattsmouth to live. June Black, all the way from Chicago, has been with us again, and he's raised such darling whiners, too.

N. A. Cornish, lawyer, Greenwood, shows his business card in the Herald this week.

Among the notabilia of the county who are in attendance at court, or otherwise have business in town this week we notice Samuel Richardson, James Hall, Eight Mile; Mr. Lloyd, J. P. Buck, Mt. Pleasant; D. T. Dudley, Dr. Thomas, Weeping Water; Judge Robb, Elmwood; Mr. Lynn, Union; L. Pollard, J. Pollard, Nehawka. Among the outsiders, Hon. T. M. Maxwell, a lawyer from Lincoln, stranger here; Mr. McCullum from the Hyperborean region where Little Mac came, and Mr. Towle, the Short-Horn Reporter of this Court. They all look well, take their meals regular, and maintain their doing this week by Pound.

At last we have had a regular court week in Cass county, and it has made it quite lively in town. Our new judge, S. B. Pond, made his appearance on Monday, and opened court in good style. Mr. Broady, our new district attorney, was also on hand. Both gentlemen seem eminently fitted for their places, and drop into their respective niches as easily as if they had belonged there all their lives. The docket is very full, but the judge and the lawyers both seem bound to clear it once anyway, and it looks as if they would succeed. Extra halflife go galloping around and about, and we hear that some of our friends out on the Platte who have been in the wood business lately are putting up the price to help pay their court expenses. The members of the grand jury are: G. W. Fairfield, S. S. Billings, Wm. Coleman, J. S. Foster, N. B. Hall, Wm. Lloyd, W. Mielkeleit, J. M. Patterson, J. C. Stevenson, Walter H. Trumble, J. Gilmore, F. J. Todd, A. F. McMakin, S. Bethel, Wm. Chalfant, A. B. Taylor. And the petit jury: John F. Buck, John Brown, J. W. Barr, Harvey Clapp, R. Chapin, D. S. Draper, David T. Dudley, G. R. Elson, J. C. Elkenshaw, Wm. Grauback, J. Gilmore, James Hall, W. C. Jenks, L. A. Kempton, L. Lynn, L. C. Pollard, W. S. Robb, John Snyder, John Stone, E. S. Sharp, T. W. Tolland, Isaac Wiels, A. H. Weibach, G. W. Young. The Grand Jurors intend to visit our county jail and make a report, and the petit jurors are on hand to try—not only the halflife, but the very sum and substance—all offenders.

Going Down. It happens that a man is going down steadily; he grows weaker every day losing weight and energy, suffering from loss of appetite and irregularity of the functions of the body. This shows that he does not receive enough food or that the food does not contain sufficient nourishment. It becomes necessary to arouse his appetite and to strengthen his digestive organs, so they are able to digest all food necessary to sustain the body. We would recommend Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine as first aid, because it will clean out the intestines and prepare them to accept new food. As soon as this is accomplished the body will become stronger and filled with new energy. At drug stores. Price $1.00. Jos. Triner, Manufacturer, 1333-1335 S. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill. You should always keep at hand Triner's Liniment for stiffness of the muscles and joints from overwork or from colds; for pains and swellings. Price 50c; by mail 60c.

For sale in your town by all druggists.

At the Christmas Shop one of the attractive features will be the "Memory" table. This table will contain duty articles made and sent by former and non-resident members of the St. Mary's Guild.

"A MODERN EVE," THE GREATEST SHOW OF ITS KIND COMING THIS YEAR

"A Modern Eve" was imported by Mr. Mort H. Singer, from Berlin, where he witnessed a performance of this successful operetta while visiting Europe a year ago. "A Modern Eve" at that time was in its second year's run at the Neues theater. Both the music and the book so impressed Mr. Singer that he began negotiations for the American rights, which he secured at a figure that would have probably staggered a lot of older of our American musical comedy producers. That his judgment was correct its great Chicago success has fully demonstrated, for more people have paid more money to see this attraction than ever known in the history of musical shows in Chicago. Some have remained long in small theaters, but none ever duplicate the treasurer's statement, which shows this Singer importation has played to more real money by a good margin than any musical attraction ever did in the city of Chicago. To be presented in this city at the Parmele theater Wednesday night, December 9.

Customs of Nations.

We announce, with pleasure, that Mr. Joseph Triner, of Chicago, has again this year issued a beautiful Wall Calendar for 1915. It shows the customs of many nations and it is only to be regretted that on account of the limited space not all nations could find place there, but we hope that in one of the future calendars this will be remedied. A copy of this calendar will be mailed upon receipt of 10c in money or postage. Address your letters: Jos. Triner, 1233-1235 S. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill. The calendars will be mailed after December 1, 1914. 11-30-w3t

IMPORTANT CASE THAT INVOLVES CONSIDERABLE PROPERTY IN DISTRICT COURT

This morning the district court opened with the calling of the case in the matter of the estate of George W. Garrison, deceased, which has been brought from the county court, on appeal by the widow of the deceased. The case involves the settlement of quite a large estate and the amount involved will be considerable. The widow was given some $500 under the will and was later ordered by the county court to turn over to the administrator several thousand dollars' worth of notes, which she claimed had been given her by her husband before his death. The children of the deceased contested this claim, with the result as noted above. There were several deeds to real state belonging to Mr. Garrison which conveyed land to the children which have been filed since the death of that gentleman, and these the widow, through her attorney, asks to have placed on the list of the property of the estate that they may be divided among the heirs. She elects to take under the law instead of accepting the amount given her by the will. The case will attract considerable attention, as the family is one very prominent in Liberty precinct. The morning was largely taken up with the selection of a jury to try the case.

SUPERINTENDENT TAMS MAKES HIS REPORT ON THE HOG CHOLERA

Some time ago the Journal made mention of the fact that hog cholera had made its appearance on the county farm, west of this city, and that the superintendent, Mr. Tams, was taking steps to see that every effort was made to stamp out the disease. On the advice of expert hog raisers and the commissioners it was decided to vaccinate the remaining animals there in order to check the spread of the disease, but this seems to have not been as successful as was hoped for, as it failed to check the spread of the disease, even though Mr. Tams adopted the policy of separating the animals in the herd affected with the disease. He waited the ten days recommended by the state authorities before making his report, and since the vaccination of the hogs on November 22 the following number of deaths have occurred among them: November 23, three; November 24, two; November 25, one; November 26, two; November 27, one; November 28, three; November 29, three; November 30, two; December 1, three; December 2, two. This morning there were none of the hogs dead and Mr. Tams feels that perhaps at last the disease has run its limit and that the remaining animals will be safe from the disease.

He has been greatly worried over the spread of the disease, as he has taken a great deal of time and trouble in rearing the hogs, which were of large size and in the finest of shape when the cholera made its appearance among them. The result of the ravages at the farm and the handling of the cases may be used by the farm-

MRS. MILLY CURTIS FORMER PLATTSMOUTH LADY INJURED AT HAVELOCK

The news has been received in this city by relatives of a very serious accident that has befallen a former Plattsmouth lady, Mrs. Milly Curtis, at Havelock a few days ago. It seems that Mrs. Curtis, in company with another lady, was out driving a few days ago, when in some manner the horse which they were driving became frightened and started to run away, and getting from the control of the ladies ran for quite a distance and finally overturned the buggy, throwing the two ladies out, and Mrs. Curtis sustained a broken collarbone, as well as several fractured ribs, and now lies at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Garrison, in Havelock in very serious shape, and fears are entertained that she may not recover from the effects of the accident. She has many friends here who will learn with the deepest regret of the misfortune and trust that she may be able to recover from the shock and injuries sustained in the smash-up. Mrs. Curtis is a sister of B. C. Hyde of this city.

Judge James T. Begley came down this morning from Farillon to resume district court, after an adjournment over yesterday afternoon, due to the postponement of one of the cases on the docket.
