A GREAT PLAY AT THE PARMELE TOMORROW NIGHT

"That Printer of Udell's," Gaskill & MacVitty's production of Harold Bell Wright and Elsbury W. Reynolds' dramatization of Mr. Wright's successful novel of that name, is a good, straightforward story of plain people—a strong, simple, direct drama of everyday life, in everyday circumstances, in the great middle west. Harold Bell Wright, who is also the author of "The Shepherd of the Hills," knows every inch of his ground, literal and metaphorical. "That Printer of Udell's" is based on experience and therefore has the vital human touch that makes it strike home as a true record of real life. The leading character in the play, Richard Falkner, is a type of thousands, and although not all who are thrown alone into the vortex of struggling humanity have the inborn stamina that he had to pull himself up and out, yet he is a powerful character—true to life and in no way exaggerated.

"Old Uncle Bobbie," who is an excellent character, true-hearted and human, informs his wife, after hearing Richard's story, that he has discovered "that some fellows go to the devil just because they ain't got nowhere else to go." The story has lost nothing of its admirable unaffected freshness in its dramatization and the characters are all very striking creations, while a charming love story enlivens the play, which is rich in humor and good sense.

THE BROKEN ROSARY WAS A FINE PRODUCTION LAST FRIDAY EVENING

The production of "The Broken Rosary" at the Parmele theater tomorrow (Tuesday) night, and no one can afford to miss it, especially those who love a first-class production.

The production of "The Broken Rosary" at the Parmele theater on Christmas night was one of the most enjoyable plays of its kind that has been given here this season and was well presented by an excellent company headed by Miss Rachel May Clark, who was certainly very clever in her enactment of the role of Eunice May Proctor. The play was fitted out in fine shape and the company a well balanced one that give the interesting play the proper interpretation. As Father O'Day, E. Sardin Lawrence was very impressive and brought to this character a pleasing personality. Taken as a whole there have been few plays here that have been more pleasing than this one, and those who attended felt well repaid in the delightful performance. The play is one with a good moral that should be heeded.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM AT THE SWEDISH CHURCH LAST SATURDAY EVENING

The children belonging to the Sunday school of the Swedish church in this city enjoyed a most delightful time Saturday evening at the church, when they had their annual Christmas program, and that it was a grand success in every way was the verdict of the members of the congregation present. A number of recitations were given, together with musical numbers that served to make the event one of the greatest of pleasure to everyone, and the pupils taking part in the program covered themselves with credit and everyone heartily agreed that it was one of the most pleasant events that had been held there for some time. The pastor in charge of the church work, Rev. K. Carlson, was present on the happy occasion, coming down from his home at Lincoln to attend the festival, as well as to conduct the preaching services at the church yesterday.

SICK FOLKS ARE SHOWING SIGNS OF IMPROVEMENT

Mrs. Fred Stewart, who for the past few days has been quite ill at her home in this city, is reported as being greatly improved and is now considered out of danger, although for several days her condition was such as to cause her family and friends the greatest apprehension. She was engaged in arranging for the Christmas festivities at her home, and working rather hard brought on an attack of heart trouble.

Mrs. B. Hemple, who has been ill since Christmas eve at her home on South Third street, is reported as being slightly improved, but is still confined to her bed, but her family and friends feel that she is much better than a few days ago. Her age and the excitement over the fire Christmas which destroyed the store of her nephew, L. B. Egenberger, has greatly served to aggravate her illness.

THE STORK GLADDENS THE HOUSEHOLD OF TWO FAMILIES IN PLATTSMAUTH

In two families of this city the Christmas of 1914 will be remembered in a most pleasant manner, as yesterday there arrived in this city two young men who in the years to come will be citizens of this flourishing city. The stork paid a hurried visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sedlock, jr., in the west part of the city, yesterday morning, and deposited in their household a fine new son and heir to the great joy and delight of the parents. This is the first boy in the family and Joe is about the proudest man in town over the new arrival. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Egenberger was also gladdened by the advent of a new son, who made his appearance yesterday morning, and is a fine little lad in every way and the parents, as well as the other relatives, are very much pleased over the new addition to their household.

HUSBAND OF MISS VIRGINIA M'DANIEL, FORMERLY OF THIS CITY, PROMOTED

The friends here of Mrs. J. W. Allen of San Francisco, formerly Miss Virginia McDaniel of this city, will be pleased to learn of the promotion that has been given Mr. Allen, her husband, who goes from San Francisco to Los Angeles to become district manager of the film exchange of the Universal Moving Picture company. The new position brings with it quite an advance up the ladder of success, both in the opportunity of advancement and the increase in salary that goes with it. Mr. Allen has been most successful in this line of work and is one of the best managers on the Pacific coast today, and his advancement has been very rapid.

OSTEOPATH FULLY EXPLAINED AS TO ITS PRACTICE

Dr. G. R. Davis Explains His Manner of Treating Patients Without Giving Medicine.

The question, "What kind of disease do you treat?" has been asked me so often by people who are uneducated in regard to osteopathic treatment that I am led to believe that the public take me for a specialist of some sort, and the object of this article is to make it clear just what diseases or conditions I treat. I do not specialize in any particular disease. I am a doctor and am qualified according to the laws of Nebraska to practice healing in this state. I treat ALL DISEASES which I can benefit. This includes both acute and chronic conditions of all kinds.

Now, this does not mean that I "cure everything." I did not say that. I have no especial treatment for cancer, insanity, etc. I do not pretend to treat what is known to be incurable, but I have successfully treated several conditions which had been diagnosed wrong by other doctors. I do not "cure the incurable," but I have cured diseases which were thought by several good specialists to be incurable.

How does osteopathy differ from medicine?

Here it is in Dr. Still's own words: "Osteopathy today represents the substitution of spiral treatment for internal medication. It has no fight against the bath-tub and the diet kitchen, but against pills and perund." Osteopathy is dubbed "a system of rubbing" by those who are uninformed. In vindication of the charge of being a "rub doctor" I will say that the most up-to-date medical books recommend "rubbing, kneading or massage" for a large variety of diseases. If you don't believe it come to my office and be shown. I have an up-to-date medical library and I will be only too glad to prove any or all of my assertions on medical authority. However, I do not pretend to combat disease by "rubbing." Osteopathy is not rubbing and osteopaths do not rub to cure disease. Rubbing is a medical procedure and is employed mostly in surgical practice.

Do not mistake osteopathy for chiropractic. Osteopathy is as different from chiropractic as the ministry is different from the practice of law. It is not my purpose here to knock preachers, lawyers nor chiropractors, but I want it understood that I am neither a preacher, a lawyer nor a chiropractor, but I am a doctor of osteopathy. I treat all conditions that any doctor can treat successfully, and some which they cannot. This includes minor surgery of all kinds, fractures, dislocations, etc., as well as diseases of women, obstetria, infectious diseases, fevers, etc.

Now, the fact that you do not understand how I can cure infectious diseases, fevers, etc., may (to your mind) argue against me, but do you know how the M. D. treats them? Certainly not. Yet he treats them. It took me three years in college to learn how to do it successfully. How, then, can you know how it's done? My business is to heal the sick. I don't know nor care what your's is. There's an old English saying, "The proof of the pudding is in the eating." If you're sick give me a trial and see WHAT I can do, and don't worry about HOW I do it. There are several reasons why I do not use drugs; one is because I can get better results without them; another is because the best medical writers condemn their use.

The price of treatment at the office is $1.50. Outside of office, $2.00. For treatment in country add livery bill and $2.00.

A VERY PLEASANT SOCIAL DANCE AT COATES HALL CHRISTMAS NIGHT

A very pleasant dancing party was enjoyed Christmas night at Coates' hall in this city, when a number of the young men of the younger social set entertained in honor of a number of their lady friends who are enjoying the Christmas vacation here in this city. The hall made a very pretty appearance with the handsome costumes of the ladies and the dark evening clothes of the gentlemen, and one that was most pleasing. During the progress of the evening delicious fruit punch was served that added greatly to the pleasure of the occasion and the enjoyment of the evening. The music was furnished by the Holly orchestra.

GOOD RIDANCE OF SOME BAD RUBBISH LAST NIGHT

Last night Charles McCauley, who was placed in the city jail for safe keeping Saturday evening, succeeded in making his escape from the building by prying open the lock on the building, and has so far not been heard from and no great effort is being made to find him, as it is satisfactory if he decides to remain away indefinitely. He was quite badly intoxicated Saturday on the street and finally was locked up in order that he would not make himself a nuisance to everyone on the street by his conduct. The case is one that in its way is certainly a pitiable one, where a young man of good opportunity has fallen a victim to the drink habit and no one is able to do the least thing with him, although every effort has been made to take care of him and look after his welfare, but he seems to be unable to do anything with his affliction and his actions have at different times given the authorities a great deal of trouble.

How to Bankrupt the Doctors.

A prominent New York physician says, "If it were not for the thin stockings and thin soled shoes worn by women the doctors would probably be bankrupt." When you contract a cold do not wait for it to develop into pneumonia, but treat it at once. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is intended especially for coughs and colds, and has won a wide reputation by its cures of these diseases. It is most effectual and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers.
