

Copyright, 1914, by the Wheeler Syndicate.

Dawson. If we don't want to freeze in here we've got to do somethin'. If we're goin' to Dawson we got to take it through."

In the morning long before daylight,

Grumbling and complaining, Stine and Sprugue were forced to get under face was iced up, while the oars were

Three hours they struggled, and four,

"Chop ice," he said, handing

"But what's the use?" the other

"We're goin' on," said Shorty. "Chop.

ice. An' when you feel better you can

It was heartbreaking toil, but they posed of surge beaten rocks and cliffs.

Nobody spoke, and Kit held the boat into the seas as they skirted the for-ed no more than a foot to the stroke, three strokes no more than enabled them to hold their own. Another bour

A few minutes later Sprague drew said, and there were tears in his voice.

Stine had ceased rowing, and the

"Turn around, Smoke," Sprague or-

And Kit, who never in his life had cursed any man, astonished himself.

"I'll see you in h- first," he replied.

Sprague jerked off a mitten, drew his revolver and turned it on his steers-man. This was a new experience to at him in his life. And now, to his surprise, it seemed to mean nothing at all

"If you don't put that gun up," he said. "I'll take it away and rap you

"If you don't turn the boat around

Then Shorty took a hand. He ceased chopping ice and stood up behind

Sprague, "Go on an' shoot," said

Shorty, wiggling the hatchet. "I'm

"Sprague." Kit said, "I'll give you

Sprague hesitated, gave a short bysterical laugh, put the revolver away

For two hours more, inch by inch.

he had made a mistake. And then,

just achin' for a chance to brain you.

Go on an' start the festivities."

gun and get that our out."

and bent his back to the work.

I'll shoot you." Sprague threatened.

over the knuckles with it."

"Take hold of that our and pull."

whined. "We can't make it. We're Shorty issued kis call. "Come on," he

We're goin' to make a start!"

beavy with ice.

his relief had only begun.

Sprague the batchet.

going to turn back."

with no place to land.

they labored and a second.

boat was drifting backward.

charge of this here outfit."

They fooked at each other.

CHAPTER IV.

The Yukon Surranders. HERE was a long minute of silence. Shorty was the first to speak

"Come on." he said. "We might as well tackle it. My feet 'll out in ratification. get cold if I stay here any longer." Shorty and Kit tramped back through a foot of snow to the head of the rap ids and cast off the boat. "You've sure got to keep the top of the ridge." Shorty shouted at him as current and took the head of the rap Kit nodded, swayed his strength and weight tentatively on the steering gear

the boat quickened in the quickening and headed the boat for the plunge. Several minutes inter, half swamped and lying against the bank in the eddy below the White Horse, Shorty spat out a monthful of tobacco juice and shook Kit's hand.

At the top of the bank they met Breek. His wife stood at a little distance. Kit shook his hand.

"I'm afraid your boat can't make it," he said. "It is smaller than ours and a bit cranky." The man pulled out a roll of bills. "I'll give you each a hundred if you run it through."

Kit looked out and up the tossing mane of the White Horse. A long. gray twilight was falling, it was turning colder, and the landscape seemed taking on a savage bleakness.

"It ain't that," Shorty was saying "We don't want your money. But my pardner is the real meat with boats. an' when he says yourn ain't safe I reckon he knows what he's talkin' about.

Kit nodded affirmation and chanced to glance at Mrs. Breck. Her eyes were fixed upon him, and he knew that if "I'll give you each a hundred if you run ever he had seen prayer in a woman's eyes he was seeing it then. Shorty followed his gaze and saw what he saw. They looked at each other in confusion and did not speak. Moved by the common impulse, they nodded to each other and turned to the trail that led to the head of the rapids.

Barely had they shoved Breck's boat out from the bank and eaught the first rough water when the waves began to lap aboard. They were small waves, er, and in a short time every man's Shorty set up the sheet iron stove in but it was an earnest of what was to

The rapids grew stiffer, and the spray began to fly. In the gathering darkness Kit glimpsed the mane and the crooked fling of the current into it. He worked into this crooked current and felt a glow of satisfaction as the boat bit the head of the mane squarely in the middle. After that, in the smother, leaping and burying and swamping, he had no clear impression of anything save that he swung his weight on the steering our. They emerged breathless, wet through, the boat filled with water almost to the gunwale. Lighter pieces of baggage and outfit were floating inside the boat. A few careful strokes spell me." on Shorty's part worked the boat into the draw of the eddy, and the eddy gained the shore, only to find it comdid the rest till the boat softly touched the bank.

Looking down from above was Mrs. Breck. Her prayer had been answered, and the tears were streaming down bidding shore. Sometimes they gainher cheeks.

"You boys have simply got to take and there were times when two or the money." Breck called down to them.

Shorty stood up, slipped and sat down in the water, while the boat dipped one gunwale under and righted in his oar again. "I'm finished," he "Dern the money," said Shorty. "Fetch out that whisky. Now that it's over I'm gettin' cold feet, an' I'm sure likely to have a chill."

The trail by water crossed Lake La barge. Here was no fast current, but a tideless stretch of forty miles which must be rowed unless a fair wind blew. But the time for fair wind was past, and an icy gale blew in their teeth out of the north. This made a rough sea, against which it was almost impossible to pull the boat. Added to their troubles was driving snow; also the freezing of the water on their our blades kept one man occupied in Surggue and Stine patiently loafed. At the end of three hours Sprague pulled his our in and said they would run back into the mouth of the river for shelter. Stine seconded him, and the several hard won miles were lost. A second day, and a third, the same fractiess attempt was made. The chopping it off with a batchet. Com pelled to take their turn at the oars, freezemp was very imminent. We could make it if they had the soms of claus," Kit told Shorty as tiny dried their moccasins by the fire on the evening of the third day. could have made it today if they madn't turned back. Another hour's work would have bejoind that west they fought their way along the edge store. They re they re takes in the of the feating rocks until Kit feared Shorty delated a moment. "Lank when on the verge of himself turning kon surrendered, and the river ceased Tel. No. 1 winds!

back, they came abreast of a narrow for six months. opening not twenty feet wide, which led into a landlocked inclosure where ed carrying the ton and a half outfit the fiercest gusts scarcely flawed the from the middle of the river to the log surface. It was the haven gained by cabin Stine and Sprague had bought the boats of previous days. They on the hill overlooking Dawson. This landed on a shelving beach, and the work finished, in the warm cabin as two employers lay in collapse in the twilight was falling Sprague motioned boat, while Kit and Shorty pitched the Kit to him. Outside the thermometer tent, built a fire and started the cook-

A cup of coffee, set aside to cool and forgotten, a few minutes later was I wish you luck," found coated with half an inch of ice. At 8 o'clock, when Sprague and Stine. already rolled in their blankets, were sleeping the sleep of exhaustion. Kit came back from a look at the boat.

"It's the freezeup, Shorty," he announced. "There's a skin of ice over the whole pond already. The rapid current of the river may keep it open for days. This time tomorrow any away from him. Shorty saw his trouboat caught in Lake Labarge remains there until next year." here, Smoke. It's hundreds of miles to bring up aught but nightmare recol- shows up on the street for a week. lections, he wondered what must have been the sufferings of Stine and an' me. Grab's a dollar an' a haif a Sprague. His one impression of him- pound. They ain't no work for wages self was that he struggled through bit- without you have your own grub ing frost and intolerable exertion for a Moose meat's sellin' for $2 a pound, an thousand years, more or less.

"You mean we got to get out to night? Now?" Kit nodded.

"It's a go," said Kit as his hand went the tent.

They broke their way through the out on the lake, where the water, smoke." heavy and glassy, froze on their oars to form a skin, and the boat proceeded slower and slower.

Morning found them stationary Stine complained of frosted fingers, an' we hike up the Klondike to the and Spragne of his nose, while the pain back country. If they ain't no moose in Kit's cheeks and nose told him that | we go an' live with the Indians. But accretion of daylight they could see six weeks from now I'll-I'll sure go farther, and as far as they could see back an apologize to our bosses. Is to was icy surface. The water of the lake | 8 go?"

A hundred yards away was the shore of the north end. Shorty insisted that thing about hunting," he said. it was the opening of the river and that he could see water. He and Kit alone were able to work, and with their oars they broke the ice and forced the boat along. And at the last gasp of their strength they made the suck of the rapid river. One look back showed them several boats which had fought through the night and were hopelessly frozen in; then they whirled | * around a bend in a current running six | 4 tailes an hour.

Day by day they floated down the swift river, and day by day the shore roared, "tumble out, you sleepers! ice extended farther out. When they Here's your coffee! Kick into it! made camp at nightfall they chopped a space in the ice in which to lay the boat and carried the camp outfit hundreds of feet to shore. In the morning way two hours earlier than ever be- they chopped the boat out through the fore. If anything, the gale was stiff- new ice and caught the current. the boat, and over this St he and Sprague hung through the iong drift ing hours. They had surrendered, no one man steering, one chopping ice, longer gave orders, and their one desire was to gain Dawson. two toiling at the oars and each tak-The last night ashore was spent being his various turns. The northwest tween the mouths of the White river shore loomed nearer and nearer. The and the Stewart. At daylight they gale blew ever barder, and at last found the Yukon, half a mile wide, Sprague pulled in his oar in token of running white from ice rimmed bank surrender. Shorty sprang to it, though to ice rimmed bank.

> "We'll be the last boat this year to make Dawson," Kit said.

"But they nin't no water, Smoke." "Then we'll ride the ice down.

Come on. Futilely protesting. Sprague and boy. Stine were bundled on board. For ualf an hour with axes Kit and Shorty struggled to cut a way into the swift but solid stream. When they did suc- sale. ceed in clearing the shore ice the Bonting ice forced the boat along the edge for a hundred yards, tearing away half of one gunwaie and making a partial Tuesday. wreck of it. Then at the lower end of the bend they caught the current that finng off shore. They proceeded to work farther to ward the middle. The stream was no longer composed of mush ice, but of only was mush ice that froze solidly as they looked at it. Shoving with the oars against the cakes, sometimes climbing out on the cakes in order to force the boat along, after an nour

they gained the middle. Five minutes after they ceased their exertions the boat was frozen in. The whole river was congulating as it ran. Cake froze to cake until at last the boat was the center of a cake seventyfive feet in diameter. Sometimes they donted sidewise, sometimes stern first, while gravity tore asunder the forming Kit. He had never had a gun presented | fetters in the moving mass, only to be manacled by faster forming ones. Night came, and after many efforts they gave up the attempt to force the boat to shore, and through the darkness they swept belplessly onward.

Their speed began to diminish and cakes of ice to upend and crash and smash about them. The river was jamming. One cake, forced upward, slid across their cake and carried one side of the boat away. It did not sink. for its own cake still upbore it, but in a whirl they saw dark water show for an instant within a foot of them. Then just thirty seconds to put away that all movement ceased.

At the end of half an hour the whole river picked itself up and began to sale. move. This continued for an hour, when again it was brought to rest by a jam. Once again it started, running delays. swiftly and savagely, with a great grinding. Then they saw lights ashore. and when abreast gravity and the Yu

Local News For three days Kit and Shorty labor

From Tuesday's Dally. his many friends in this city.

registered 65 below zero. "Your full month isn't up, Smoke," Sprague said. "But here it is in full.

"How about the agreement?" Kit asked. "You know there's a famine here. You agreed"-

"I know of no agreement," Sprague interrupted. "Do you, Stine? We engaged you by the month. There's your pay. Will you sign the receipt?" Kit's hands clinched, and for the moment he saw red. Both men shrank Will Rummell and W. D. Wheeler From Thursday's Dally. ble and interposed. "Look here, Smoke. I ain't travelin' no more with a onery outfit like this.

Right here's where I sure jump it. You an' me stick together. Savvy? "Tumble out, you sleepers," was Now, you take your blankets and bike Shorty's answer, couched in a roar, as down to the Elkhorn. Wait for me. he began casting off the guy ropes of I'll settle up, collect what's comin' an give them what's comin'. I ain't no good on the water, but my feet's on thin ice in the little harbor and came | terry tirmy now, an' I'm goin' to make

PLATTSMOUTH SEMI-WEEKLY

Half an hour afterward Shorty ap with every stroke. The water soon be- peared at the Elkhorn. From his came like mush, clogging the stroke of | bleeding knuckles and the skin off one the oars and freezing in the air even as | cheek it was evident that he had given it dipped. Later the surface began Stine and Sprague what was coming.

"You ought to see that cabin," he chuckled as they stood at the bar Often afterward, when Kit tried to "Roughhouse ain't no name for it remember that night and failed to Dollars to doughnuts nary one of 'em

"An' now it's all tiggered out for you they ain't none. We got enough money for a month's grab an' amounition he, too, had been touched. With each it we ain't got 5,000 pounds of meat

Kit's hand went out, and they shook Then he faltered. "I don't know any Shorty lifted his glass, "But you're a sure ment eater, au' I'll fearn you"

(To Be Continued.)

ojanjanjanjanja ojanjanjanjanja ojanjanjanjanjanjanjanjanjanja MURDOCK. (Special Correspondence.)

G. Bauer was an Ithaca visitor one day last week. Lewis Hornbeck was a Lincoln visitor Tuesday. Miss Louisa Bauer was an Omaha visitor Monday. John Freese left Wednesday for his home in Colorado.

I. G. Hornbeck was an Omaha visitor Monday between trains.

John Swine was an Omaha visitor the fore part of the week. Miss Tillie Bornemier left Monday for her school in Des Moines. John Swine shipped a carload of cattle to South Omaha Monday. G. G. Williamson was home Saturday and Sunday visiting his family.

Born-To Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mc-Donald, January 6, a ten-pound baby

John Gustin left Monday evening for Rippia, Iowa, to attend a horse

Joe Joehansen purchased a 6-yearold roan horse from John Kruger last

Don't forget that Dr. Russel Hornbeck's office is the first door south of the State bank.

at the Booster store last Tuesday for hard cakes. In between the cakes handing in the largest number of Omaha to look after some matters of agreement, by which the B. & M. were

> Miss Rose Schale received the set week for having the largest number visiting at the Jacob Meisinger home

> Art Wehlman and Jessie Skiles were united in marriage by Rev. Harris on January 6. The people of this Murray was here today for a few vicinity extend joy and happiness to hours looking after some trading and Farms for Sale!

The Horn Farm, one mile west of Oreapolis; good improvements, 258 acres mostly bottom land, good bay land, good pasture, good farm land. has been for the past few days look- between Strong and the county, and Ask for our price. 40 acres well improved, close to market. 100 acres, good improvements. Price cheap.

And many others on our list for Farm Loans at low rates. No

Ed Barker of Louisville was here today for a few hours visiting with

Charles Gerlach of Manley was in the city for a few hours today looking after some matters at the court lodge last evening, departed this fairly the people's side of the ques-

John Kaffenberger was among the return home. farmer visitors in the metropolis tosome matters on the stock market.

hours here looking after some mat- city this week. ters of business with the merchants.

John F. Wehrbein was among the passengers this morning for Omaha, where he was called to look after some matters of business there for the day.

Murray, was in the city yesterday afternoon for a few hours transacting some business matters with the Miss Barbara Gering and her guest Miss Pauline Pfeiffer, were passengers this morning for Omaha, where they go to spend the day with H. R. Gering in that city.

G. P. Meisinger of Cedar Creek was in the city today for a few hours looking after some matters of business and visiting with his friends, who are without number here.

James Terryberry, one of the leading farmers of Eight Mile Grove precinct, was in the city today for a few hours visiting with friends and looking after some matters at the court

George Ackers and wife of Minatare, Neb., who are here visiting et the home of relatives in this city, departed this morning on the early Burlington train for Omaha to spend a few days before returning home.

Mrs. Dr. G. R. Davis, who has been visiting with her many relatives and friends in the vicinity of Guthrie Center, Iowa, for the past two weeks, re-Wayne Harrington, who will make an extended visit at the Davis home.

From Wednesday's Daily.

C. E. Metzger was a passenger this morning for South Omaha, where he was called on some matters of busi-

Charles Troop was a visitor at the South Omaha stock market today for few hours looking after some mat ters of business.

Fred Chautka of Lindsay, Neb., who has been here visiting at the Joseph Jelinek home, departed this afternoon for his home. Attorney C. E. Tefft of Weeping Water was in the city yesterday for few hours looking after some matters in county court. C. M. Seybert returned this morning to his home at Louisville, after being here in attendance at the I. O. O. F. meeting last evening.

Ed Brantner arrived in the city this afternoon on No. 24 for a short visit here with relatives and friends and to ook after some matters of business.

Martin Houk came in this afteroon from Omaha to spend a few hours here visiting with his old

Leona Rush received the gold watch ing from his home near Mynard and fices, and began examining the ences of opinions. was a passenger this afternoon for records and the so-called bonds and business.

of breakfast dishes given away last were here yesterday for a few hours of words made from "Booster Store." and looking after some trading with the merchants. "Uncle" Ben Beckman of near > taking the opportunity to visit here with his friends. J. M. Meisinger and wife were among those going to Omaha this business in that city. ing after some matters of business.

those going to Omaha this morning, have needed a longer train and where she will visit for the day with heavier engine to move them when

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought constipation, try Doan's Regulets. 25c rights somehow, and threatening dire at all stores. R. E. Noyes and George Reihart of ever it should be sifted to the bottom.

ance at the meeting of the I. O. O. F. mittee" now in session sets forth very morning for Omaha, from where they tion, and we recommend its careful Rev. Father M. A. Shine was among day for a few hours to look after the passengers this morning for Lincoln, where he goes to attend the W. G. Meisinger drove in today meeting of the Nebraska State Hisfrom his farm home to spend a few torical society that is meeting in that Irving himself:

mele theater M. G. Churchill of Murray was among the visitors here today to attend the trial of the dog shooting case in justice court.

at the Parmele theater and visiting at annoyance to the company, in conthe homes of relatives. Colonel J. B. Seybolt of Murray and moneyed men east, came up this morning from his home | This view was agreed to by all the and was a passenger on the early Bur- attorneys present at the settlement,

Smithfield, Neb., who have been here simply stood on their plain, square, visiting at the home of John Nemetz legal rights, and were willing the

for their home. the city today for a few hours looking of faith, in not paying the original after some legal matters, and while bonds, and by the further successful here was a pleasant caller at the attempt to force them into a ruinous Journal office for a chat with Colonel compromise, they would be morally Bates, with whom he served in the and legally released from all obligalegislature in 1909.

How to Cure a Lagrappe Cough.

Lagrippe coughs demand instant turned home last evening, Dr. Davis treatment. They show a serious con- was not made in a spirit of retaliameeting her at Omaha. She was ac- dition of the system and are weak- tion, nor to suit the whims of certain companied home by her sister, Mrs. ening. Postmaster Collins, Barnegat, officers of the company, but was an N. J., says: "I took Foley's Honey absolute business necessity, brought and Tar Compound for a violent la- about by this state of affairs. The grippe cough that completely exhausted me, and less than half a bottle stopped the cough " Try it. For found it impossible to compete with sale by all druggists.

Itching, bleeding, protruding or blind piles have yielded to Doan's excitement. Among the most promi- often have business always pass nent, and bidding fair at one time to through and stop at Omaha. In short, cause trouble, was the removal of the they were losing money by staying at superintendent's office and the head of l'lattsmouth, and as a plain business the freight department to Omaha, proposition removed to Omaha for The quiet and good-natured citizens the present. The railroad company of Plattsmouth awoke on Friday desires the good will and kindly feelmorning and found that Mr. Irving, ing of the people of Plattsmouth and superintendent, with his clerks, and along the whole line; they realize that Mr. Cowles, with his clerks, had their interests and success are silently folded their tents the after- identical with those of the people they roon before and as quietly pulled out do business amongst; especially do of the town limits for Omaha.

Ointment. 50c at all stores. Janjanjanjanja njanjanjanjanja njenjanjanja njenjanjanja IN PLATTSMOUTH FORTY YEARS AGO. 4

An Exciting Transaction.

supposed to be bound to maintain George P. Meisinger, jr., and wife headquarters in Plattsmouth. In so absorbed the interest in the R. R. re- sons. Sold by all druggists. moval, and changed the course of indignation somewhat from the railroad officials to county officers and their legal advisérs. If words could anmorning, where they will visit for the nihilate, both R. R.'s and Co. "Coms." day attending to some matters of would have fared hard on that day. A tew of the quiet, determined, and James Stander of Louisville was better posted of our citizens began to FOR SALE-Good milk cow cheap. here for a few hours today en route hunt out every scrap of information home from Craig, Missouri, where he tearing on the original transactions had not the B. & M. moved as quietly Mrs. George Perry was among as they did, it is probable they would friends and look after some business they did go. The merchants and all matters of importance in that city. | the smaller business men felt exceed-For regular action of the bowels; ingly blue, charging that they had easy, natural movements, relief of been sold out and defrauded of their vengeance on the true parties when-Louisville, who were her in attend- The report of the "investigating com-

reading. Desiring to give all parties a fair hearing in this matter, the Herald has obtained the views of the railroad men, and herewith presents their side of the question direct from Mr.

In the first place they emphatically assert that the county first broke were among the passengers this morning for South Omaha to look after of Murray were here last evening to faith with them in refusing to pay the interest on the original bonds, and some sales on the live stock exchange attend the performance at the Par- after a wearisome and expensive promise, by which they surrendered $160,000 of bonds and interest, for the sake of getting the other $100,000 hereafter in peace and quietness. They deny the validity of the Strong bond, Mrs. M. Baumeister was among claiming that he had no authority to P. A. Hild, from the vicinity of those going to Omaha this morning, enter into such an agreement, was where she will spend the day looking never authorized to by the stockholdafter some matters of business in that ers at Boston, and moreover, never was the attorney or agent of the B. & Jack Patterson and wife of Union M. in Nebraska. That the bond was were here last evening in attendance so much waste paper in fact, but at the offering of "September Morn" causing innumerable questions and stantly explaining it to their factors lington train for Omaha to spend the and it was surrendered in open and day looking after some matters of fair daylight. That, as far as they were concerned, they had nothing to Mrs. Will Sackett and children of conceal and no favors to ask; they and family, departed this afternoon whole world should have known of the terms of the settlement.

> They consider that, by the breach tions on that bond. But as a matter of fact and justice, they want it distinctly understood that they do not intend to remove any more shops, persons or equipments from Plattsmouth, and that the present removal great freight lines on other roads center there also, and the B. & M. other roads and hold their own unless their superintendent and freight department were placed where they could see and know this class of men, which could not be accomplished at

Plattsmouth. The wholesale trade of Omaha, shipping west, is considerable, and the shippers wanted to see the railroad men, and not be obliged to telegraph to Plattsmouth for rates. Officers of The week has been prolific of local other roads with whom the B. & M. they hope the people of Plattsmouth On Friday morning, when the in- will accept this earnest protest of formation became well known, there good will and fair dealing and rest asfriends and renewing their acquaint- was a grand whirl of excitement and sured that no removal or changes are much strong talk indulged in. The to be made, or ever will be on account Harry Hinton came in this morn- people crowded around the county of- of, or in consequence of past differ-

FOR MEN AND WOMEN.

Backache? Feel tired? Not so doing it was found that the county spry as you used to be? Getting old? commissioners had surrendered the Many persons mistake kidney trouble bond entered into by Mr. Strong, at- for advancing age. Kidneys out of torney for the B. & M. in Iowa, at order make you feel old before your the time the original bonds were de- time. Foley Kidney Pills tone up and livered to the R. R. Co. This caused invigorate the kidneys, banish backexcitement No. 2, and for a while ache, rid your blood of acids and poi-

Want Column

Telephone or inquire of Adam Kaffenberger, Tel. No. 3320.

1-9-d&w

FOR SALE-I have 20 or 30 pure bred S. C. Rhode Island Red Cockerels for sale. Prices from $1.00 up. W. B. Porter, Mynard. Neb.

-DRS. MACH & MACH

THE DENTISTS Successors to BAILEY & MACH The largest and best equipped dental offices in Omaha. Experts in charge of all work. Lady attendant. Moderate Prices. Porcelain fillings just like tooth. Instruments carefully sterilized after using. THIRD FLOOR, PAXTON BLOCK, OMAHAI