After returning from Lincoln the board decided to adjourn and meet Tuesday, March 2, 1915. FRANK J. LIBERSHAL, County Clerk.

Representative Kime took the morning train for Lincoln and his legislative duties Monday. The electric lights seem to be filling a long-felt want. Especially is this true of the street lights. J. H. Chappel, who will move next week to Borup, Minn., near where he has purchased a farm, came in Friday and landed on the list for a year. Henry Heebner, who was here from Murray over Sunday, returned home Monday afternoon. He tells us that he may embark in business there for himself. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wunderlich were passengers to Plattsmouth Saturday evening, where they spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Clayton Rosencrans. While President Sheldon of the Commercial club was addressing that body Monday night, and asking them to picture Nehawka as it was five years ago compared to what it was then—with its brilliant streets—the lights went out. Leona Alice Pollard was born at Nehawka April 3, 1881, and died at Alma, Nebraska, February 7, 1915. She was married October 9, 1907, to Daniel R. McCleery, and to this union was born two children, Daniel Pollard and Ruth Francis, whom, with the husband survive her. Ex-Governor Sheldon came in from Lincoln Monday morning, where he had been attending to some business matters since his arrival from the south. He is quoted from Lincoln as saying that while industrial conditions down there are much depressed he believes the tide will turn soon, and cotton growers will come into their own. Monday night was the last annual meeting of the Nehawka Commercial club, organized five years ago. About twenty members were present to listen to the official account of stewardship, and before they left it was voted to reorganize the club, the amount of stock subscribed to determine the lines on which they would organize. Five directors, consisting of F. P. Sheldon, A. F. Sturm, D. C. West, D. D. Adams and Henry Wessel, were elected and were ordered by the president to solicit the business men and others of the town to see what amount could be raised to continue the organization.

pay an extended visit before returning home. Constable John Moreford has organized a Boy Scouts club and at the present time has 14 members. Mr. Moreford is much interested in this organization and as the boys are very enthusiastic in the matter we may expect some good things. This is a commendable work and everyone should give the organization their hearty support. Joe Kaczmarek, who is working for C. D. Clapp, had the misfortune to slip and fall down the steps leading to the basement of the Clapp home Sunday morning, receiving very painful and severe bruises by striking his head against a box on the basement floor. He has had his head bandaged up since the accident, and is getting along nicely at this writing. Melvin Turner of near Eagle was in the city Wednesday. He recently held a public sale and disposed of his farm equipment preparatory to moving to Utah, where he expects to engage in farming. He has purchased a half section of land about forty miles southwest of Salt Lake City. We are sorry to see Mr. Turner and family leave this section of the country, but wish them much success in Utah. UNION Ledger. H. A. Hilburn and wife of Lincoln came yesterday morning and are the guests of G. W. Cheney and family, west of town. Miss Mae Chilcott went on the Wednesday forenoon train to Lincoln to visit some of her friends in that city for a few days. Mrs. Harry D. Royal of Lincoln came down last Friday morning to spend the day with her father and sister at the Graves home. Mrs. Joseph Fetzer of Plattsmouth came down on Wednesday morning and spent the day with her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Patterson. D. B. Chapman has been a victim of gripe the past week and for a few days it had him down and in bed, but we are pleased to say that he is recovering from the attack. Mrs. A. W. Deshey of Syracuse arrived Tuesday to make a visit with her father, D. B. Chapman, and her brother, Elmer Chapman and family, northeast of town. C. J. Crew, the Weeping Water electrician, was in town Wednesday to interview the village board regarding the operating of the new electric light plant that is to be installed here this spring. Syd Hathaway and wife departed Sunday for Savannah, Mo., for the purpose of having treatment given Mrs. Hathaway by one of the specialists. She took treatment there several weeks ago and then came home apparently cured, but found it necessary to return to the hospital for treatment again. W. L. Taylor has not been feeling very gay this week, and a cane was one of his assistants in treading this mundane sphere, due to the fact that sciatic rheumatism hit his corpulent body and put him in bad physical condition. For a few days he was about "all in," but is now on full feed and hopes to be free from the trouble in a short time. EAGLE Beacon. Mrs. Oscar Kiel returned home Monday from a few weeks' visit with relatives and friends at Moberly, Missouri. J. L. Foreman shipped two carloads of cattle and hogs to the South Omaha market Thursday morning. Samuel Vaughn arrived from Vermont, Illinois, Tuesday to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, J. A. Mick. A deal was consummated Saturday night of last week whereby J. C. Hortsock becomes owner of Emil Oberle's pool hall, and will take possession of same March first. James Rivett and wife of Lincoln visited their niece, Mrs. A. M. Trumbull, the latter part of this week. Mr. Rivett is superintendent of construction for the Burlington. Mrs. William T. Sack went up to Lincoln the first of the week to see Will, who is at a hospital recovering from an operation performed a few days ago. She reports that he is getting along nicely. Rev. John Davis, who was called here to conduct the funeral of Grandma Mick Wednesday, was forced to leave on the first train for his home at Cowles, having received a telegram stating that a son was quite ill. T. J. Bahr, who has been visiting relatives near Eagle for the past week, left the first of the week for the western part of the state for a visit with relatives there before returning
