E. G. DOVEY & SON of Mr. and Mrs. Hackenburg and family Cedar Creek lost some very worthy people. In school Leota and her brother, Russel, will be greatly missed, not only for their personal worth, but for their scholarship as well.

Miss Tremain reports her little nephew, who arrived at her brother's home February 19, as growing as only babies can. The little man has been named Lawrence Wade. This being the first and only niece or nephew, is by her naturally considered a wonderful child.

Who said the Cedar Creek school was not a-coming along? Just look at the art display in Wolf & Ault's store and in Mrs. Thomsen's store. It would do credit to a town twice as large. It is surprising the improvement that has been made along this line. We are ready to put up our school against any school for art work.

When the other fellow does us a good turn we remember about it, and if I am not mistaken Dasher, Wolff or Lloyd owes William Schneider a ride. It was a big load and merry party who graced the parlor of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schneider one evening last week. William gathered up the bunch and distributed them again, after a most pleasant evening and fine lunch had been enjoyed.

Very soon after the death of Mrs. Fleming, a sister-in-law by marriage to Mrs. Franke, this big-hearted lady took the baby of only a few weeks into her home and since that time has been mother to the motherless little one and to the older sister some 3 years of age. "By their works ye shall know them," we can but say of Mrs. Franke that she does what she can, considering, too, that she is a widow with five small children and one grown son. Her's is a great, unselfish, kindly nature.

Considering weather and road conditions, the Cedar Creek Sunday school is to be complimented for attendance. It is the effort we make under difficulties that counts more in anything than doing things when they are easy. It is an inspiration to see the young men who file in at the ringing of the second bell, and more than one comment have I heard for the young men's and women's classes. When the roads permit we feel that more of the older people—the parents from out of town—will be found in the school. Next Sabbath is the regular Sunday for preaching services.

"Friends in need are friends indeed." When we are prosperous, healthful and happy life is easily lived. We may hold sacred the name of "Friendship," but it is when reverses come, and they assert themselves, that we feel friends are "the ties that bind." Often it is only through the aid of friends that our burdens are so lightened that we can bear the trials that come to each of us.

Some days ago the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilson of Omaha was completely destroyed by fire. Aroused from slumber, they barely escaped through a window. While visiting her sister, Mrs. Jake Schneider, at Cedar Creek, Mrs. Wilson was pleasantly surprised by the ladies Wednesday afternoon. As, with tear-dimmed eyes she took the hand of each and received the gifts of friendship, they knew that her's was a heart too full of gratitude for words of appreciation to be spoken at that time. But "the heart must speak when the lips are dumb." So close are sisterly ties that Mrs. Jake Schneider said it made her almost as glad as it did May, that her sister should thus be remembered. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Schneider feel that never before were they more deeply grateful or more desirous of thanking these, their Cedar Creek friends.

There will be a play given in the church at Cedar Creek on Friday night, March 26th, at 8 o'clock, entitled "Tom Thumb's Wedding." The proceeds will go to the church. Fun from beginning to the end. There will be an admission fee of 35 cents for adults and 20 cents for children. Remember this is for the benefit of the church. Everybody invited to come.

W. T. Azell, ex-postmaster of Edwardsport, Ind., writes: "I suffered from severe trouble with my kidneys and back. First bottle of Foley Kidney Pills gave me relief." Thousands testify that backache, rheumatism, sore muscles, aching joints and bladder weakness vanished when Foley Kidney Pills were taken. Sold everywhere.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury
