FORMER PLATTSMOUTH BOY NOW TELEGRAPH OPERATOR IN CALIFORNIA

From Saturday's Daily.
Roy Marshall, a former Plattsmouth young man, came in yesterday to enjoy a short visit with his old friends in this city whom he had not seen for some seventeen years, since he left here for California, where he is now located at Fresno, as a telegraph operator. While here Mr. Marshall was employed as baggage man at the Burlington station, and will be remembered by many of those who had an opportunity of visiting the depot while he was employed there. Mr. Marshall is well pleased with his location on the coast, but still feels that it is good once in a while to come back to Nebraska to visit with old friends and relatives. He expects, however, to leave in a few days for Fresno and the coast.
