ADDITIONAL DUTIES OF PRECINCT ASSESSORS

From Friday's Daily.
Now is the time for the assessor to collect an itemized statement from each real Nebraska taxpayer. Among the duties imposed on such officials in addition to statements of taxation, is that of gathering the data from each Civil and Spanish war soldier and the gathering of agricultural and farm labor statistics. Remember that upon the fidelity of the assessor to fully and completely gather and compile these statistics depends the fair name of Nebraska as an agricultural state. If the assessor neglects this duty, the products of the farm are a sweet morsel for speculators to gamble on, and they fix the amount of products to line their pockets at the farmers' expense. If all assessors would realize that an actual truthful statement from them would do more to create a standard price for farm products than any other thing bearing on price save production, they would be very careful to secure complete detail in every way possible. Mr. Assessor, will you try to do this for 1915?

If it's anything in the line of paper, or office supply line, call at the Journal office, where most everything in the paper line can be found.

Mrs. Kroehler Improving.

From Saturday's Daily.
Mrs. Andrew Kroehler, who is at the Immanuel hospital in Omaha recovering from her recent operation, is reported as getting along in fine shape and her family, as well as the attending physicians, are hopeful that in a short time she will be able to return home. The operation has apparently been most successful and the lady's improved condition is certainly most pleasing to her host of friends in this city.

DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL AT THE METHODIST CHURCH IN MYNARD LAST NIGHT

From Saturday's Daily.
Last evening the members of the congregation of the Methodist church at Mynard enjoyed a most delightful time at a sock social given at the church, and as a result of their efforts a neat little sum was netted for them that will be applied in the work of the organization. Each one was requested to place twice as many pennies as the size of the sock they wore, in the sock, and this was to provide the sock feature of the gathering. A very pleasing program had been arranged for, which included solos, duets and quartets, all of which were very much enjoyed, and the parties contributing to this part of the program were given hearty encores. A very pleasing reading was given by Mrs. Randall, wife of the pastor of the church, which was also greatly enjoyed and proved a valuable addition to the program.

Short talks along the line of Sunday school work were given by W. T. Richardson, as well as C. C. Wescott and Jesse Perry, who were present from the church at Plattsmouth. Grant Wetenkamp, superintendent of the Mynard Sunday school, is an invalid, but this did not deter him from building up a splendid organization, and the entertainment last evening was most gratifying to every member of the church and Sunday school. After the program at the church the party were invited to the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wetenkamp, where most delicious and tempting refreshments were served, which came as the closing feature of a most delightful evening and one filled with the greatest of pleasure to everyone present.

LOUISVILLE YOUNG MAN SENT TO THE DIPSO ASYLUM AT LINCOLN

From Friday's Daily.
Yesterday afternoon the county board of insanity held a short session to pass on the case of Raymond Theodorick of Louisville, who was desirous of being sent to the state dipso hospital for treatment. This is quite a sad case, as the patient is a young man in his early twenties and who had been a most estimable and genial gentleman until starting on the downward path, and it is to be sincerely hoped that he will secure a cure of his affliction at the hospital and return to assume the place he should in the life of the community. The board, after hearing the evidence in the case, decided to send him to the hospital, and he was taken there yesterday afternoon.

"THE PRINCE OF TONIGHT" ONE OF THE VERY BEST OF ITS KIND

From Friday's Daily.
A decided improvement over the ordinary musical comedy is "The Prince of Tonight," coming to the Parmele theater Saturday night, April 21. This Adams, Hough and Howard play has a well defined fantastic romance woven through it and the music is fitted to the play rather than used as incidental, as is so common in the general make-up of musical comedies. "The Prince of Tonight" takes you through some beautiful transformation scenes, entertains with clever dances and ensembles, makes you feel younger and you leave the theater whistling or humming, "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now?" and feeling "It's a Dear Old World, After All."

EAGLE REMAINS IN "WET" COLUMN, NOTWITHSTANDING REPORT OTHERWISE

From Saturday's Daily.
We note from the Eagle Beacon of this week the fact that the report on the election there resulting in a victory for the dries was without foundation, and the information supplied to the Journal in regard to the election there was decidedly "phony" and did not bear out the statements made. The Beacon states that as far as known Eagle will remain decidedly wet during the coming year, unless the members of the board flip over on the question, as they are in favor of the maintenance of the saloons at that place. The supposed facts as reported here came from sources that seemed most reliable, and for this reason it was taken that the parties giving them out knew what they were talking about.

PROTECTION OF MIGRATORY BIRDS STILL EFFECTIVE

From Friday's Daily.
Many of the press comments on the decision of the United States district court, rendered March 20, at Topeka, Kansas, holding that the federal migratory bird law is unconstitutional, according to the United States department of agriculture, are erroneous and are apt to mislead the public concerning the real situation in this matter.

The Kansas decision to the same effect in the eastern district of Arkansas, is limited in its operation solely to the district in which it was rendered. Neither decision settles or nullifies the law, and the exact contrary has been held by the United States district court for South Dakota. The Arkansas case has been appealed to, and is now pending, in the United States supreme court. The act of congress protecting migratory birds stands effective until the supreme court decides the question of its constitutionality. In the meantime, it is incumbent on every law-abiding citizen to observe its provisions and the regulations. It is the duty of the department of agriculture to enforce this law and the officials in charge will endeavor to do so as long as it is in force. Reports of violations will be carefully investigated and when sufficient evidence is secured they will be reported for prosecution. In this connection it should not be forgotten that an offender against this, as in the case of other United States laws, is subject to prosecution any time within three years from the date the offense is committed.

LADIES OPERATED UPON AT HOSPITALS IN OMAHA

From Friday's Daily.
Yesterday afternoon at the Wise Memorial hospital in Omaha Mrs. Arthur Keffler was operated on in order to give her relief from an affliction from which she has been suffering for some time. The operation has apparently been successful, although the patient is still very weak from the effects of the operation, and it will be a few days before she will be out of danger. Her mother, Mrs. J. H. Thrasher, of this city, is at the hospital with her.

Mrs. L. H. Heil was operated on a few days ago at Immanuel hospital in Omaha for appendicitis and is reported as doing very nicely and seems on the high way to recovery, and this will prove most pleasant news to her many friends throughout the city.

Shower for Bride-to-Be.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. A. C. Tulene entertained most delightfully at her home in the west part of the city in honor of her sister, Miss Ellen Boetel, whose marriage to Mr. Frank Shavel is to occur soon. The affair was in the nature of a miscellaneous shower and the bride-to-be was showered with a great many very handsome and choice remembrances of the occasion that will be most useful to her in her new home. From Friday's Daily.

IN PLATTSMOUTH FORTY YEARS AGO.

Reports from along the B. & M. show considerable damage from the late rains, requiring a large force to repair and rebuild.

Another body, one of the Glenwood hunters, has been found floating in the river and it has been sent to relatives in Mills county.

The case of Frank Walker vs. W. H. H. Kellogg of Greenwood, was tried in the county judge's court by jury Friday last, Geo. S. Smith for plaintiff and R. B. Windham for defendant; the points in the case appear about as follows: Kellogg some years ago entered upon a piece of school land and ever since has been living upon it, but without lease or paying anything upon it. Frank Walker this past winter leased the same from the state, but Kellogg refused to vacate the place until paid for his improvements. It was a case of squatter sovereignty, or whether by living on vacant land for a while without a title, the person so doing could hold claim to the land until he received pay for improvements. The case was one of more than ordinary importance and was watched with considerable interest. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, holding that the defendant had no shadow of right or title to the lands in question.

On Saturday night last, in the midst of the heavy storm, the western bound freight put out from the yard and proceeded westward. About 3:30 a. m. word came to town that unlucky No. 7 had met with another accident, which proved to be about as follows: At the head of Cedar Island, on the banks of the Platte, the heavy rain had caused a washout which carried a portion of the track into the river; the train came along and a flash of lightning revealed the state of affairs; the engineer whistled down brakes, reversed his engine, jumped and came out all right; no one on the train was hurt, but a car of horses was thrown from the track, down the bank, and out of the nineteen in the car but nine escaped. The locomotive, the Highland, buried itself out of sight and reach, in the river and has not yet been found and taken out. A large number of men were at work all day Sunday repairing the track where damaged by washouts, so as to be able to run the regular trains the next day.

This morning at 10 o'clock, at the Holy Rosary Catholic church, occurred the marriage of two of the most popular young people of the city—Mr. Vincent Slatinsky and Miss Clara Janda. The beautiful nuptial service of the church was celebrated by the rector, Rev. Father John Vleck, in uniting the lives and hearts of these two most estimable young people, and with the solemn mass the wedding was one filled with the deepest reverence. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Edward Rummell, sister of the bride, as the wedding party entered to take their places before the altar, where the wedding ceremony was performed.

The bride, who was attired in a most charming costume of white silk trimmed lavishly with lace, wore the long flowing bridal veil and carried a large bouquet of bride roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Marie Svoboda, was gowned in white silk and carried pink roses. The groom, with the groomsmen, Mr. Cyril Janda, jr., were both attired in the conventional black.
