FAREWELL PARTY TO MRS. VIRGINIA ALLEN TUESDAY

Tuesday afternoon a very pleasant farewell was given at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McDaniel, when they entertained a few of the intimate friends of their daughter, Mrs. Virginia Allen, who departed yesterday en route to her home on the Pacific coast. The event was a very pleasant one and the young ladies present enjoyed greatly the occasion, although regretting that it was necessary to part with their friend. Music and a general good time served to pass the time most pleasantly until a suitable hour, when dainty and delicious refreshments were served that further heightened the pleasure of those fortunate enough to be present.

Those in attendance were: Misses Hazel and Alice Tvey, Mina Thierolf, Nora Rosencrans, Christine and Mathilde Soennichsen, Mesdames C. W. Baylor, C. O. Larson, A. O. Moore, Hugh Cecil and Ray Smith of Weeping Water.

The funeral of Beatrice, the little 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nejedley, of Creighton, Neb., was held this morning from the F. F. Buttery home on West Elm street and was attended by quite a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends. The body arrived last night from Creighton and was at once taken to the home of Mr. Buttery, an uncle of the little one, and the services held at 10 o'clock this morning. Rev. W. S. Leece of St. Luke's Episcopal church had charge of the services and celebrated the beautiful Episcopal service for the dead, assisted by a choir from the church with a number of the well loved hymns. At the close of the services the body was taken to Oak Hill cemetery and consigned to rest in the family lot there.

THE SPOILERS AT AIR DOME AND GEM THEATER

Wonderful Production and Visualization of Rex Beach's Famous Novel, "The Spoilers."

Kathlyn Williams is already known and needs no introduction to the lovers of the silent drama. She has identified for the past three years identified with all the great Selig wild animal productions and her courage has been envied in every country in the world. She comes to the people of Platts-mouth in an entirely new role, and she will be seen at the Gem and Air Dome theaters next Sunday as Cherry Malotte in W. N. Selig's wonderful production and visualization of Rex Beach's famous novel, "The Spoilers." Miss Williams exemplifies a class of American womanhood that has made history, in the character she portrays in this wonderful drama. Cherry Malotte is by far the best thing Miss Williams has ever done. The delicate situations are handled skillfully by Miss Williams; she proves beyond question that she is a master of her art, and those who see her will long remember her, and in every incident forgive her for what she might have been.

Bessie Eyton, who was selected to portray the part of Helen Chester, again proves the wisdom and the master-hand of W. N. Selig and Colin Campbell, for Miss Eyton's rendition of the cultured and close-natured girl is sweet and lovely at all times. She rises to every opportunity and handles it capably.

This stupendous production will receive its initial presentation Sunday, June 6, 1915, at the Gem and Air Dome theaters, Platts-mouth. When one considers that "The Spoilers" in book form, when first published, sold for $1.50, and was the largest of the six big sellers of its time; required six hours of one's time to read and thoroughly digest; the best seats for the play of the same name sold for cost $1.50, taking three hours for presentation—and those who have seen the play, read the book and witnessed the picture, proclaim the picture superior to both; the picture being exhibited for one-sixth the price which the book sold for in the first edition, requiring only two hours of one's time to thoroughly digest the entire story, one will readily realize that the moving picture business is worthy and deserving of its prominence, its importance and educational value.

Soiled Furniture.
