THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH RALLY DAY A SUCCESS

Beautiful and Interesting Program Was Carried Out in Presence of a Large Audience.

By invitation the young men's class of the Presbyterian Sunday school, with their teacher, Mr. Will A. Robertson, visited the Loyal Sons class at the Christian Sunday school, a return visit, which the Loyal Sons had made to the Builders' class some weeks since. Yesterday being Men's Rally day at the Christian Sunday school, the regular order of the Sunday school work was in a manner dispensed with and a special program presented. Clarence Stenner had been selected as the superintendent for the occasion, and while it was his first work in this position, he performed the duties like a veteran.

The opening was a song by the entire school, followed by a solo by Bert Knorr, "Hide, Oh My Saviour, Hide," which met with much appreciation. Mr. C. E. Whitteker, in the first address, dealt with "The Modern Bible School," and in this he took up the institution of the Sunday school by Robert Raikes, who was a shoemaker in Gloucester, England, and got a number of children around him, and from this beginning they numbered 20,000,000 Sunday school children in America, and by the way, where more than half the scholars in the world reside. In following the history he touched on the progress made during the last decade, when the men's movement began, and adoption of the graded lessons, which marked a milestone each in the Sunday school progress.

Then followed an intermission of a few moments in which the class records were obtained. Then followed an address by M. S. Briggs on the subject, "The Man for the Boy—Both for Christ." In this the speaker showed the influence of the man on the boy, and the necessity of his being close to the boy, whether that be his own boy or his neighbor's, and to have the boy know and do the right the men must live the example, that is, he must be a Christian.

When B. A. McElwain arose to give the bass solo, "Let Us Have Peace," he was greeted with applause, as he also was when he had completed his number.

W. A. Robertson followed with an address, "Jesus Christ a Man?" and in this Mr. Robertson, while not in any way distracting from the Master's Dignity, showed how he suffered in all points like we, but always measured up to the full stature of a man.

Clarence Stenner, the last speaker, had for his subject "The Sunday School, a Man's Job." This was an excellent address, and delivered in a very telling and convincing manner, and delivered in a very telling and convincing manner, showing that the place for the parent was in the bible school, where his work was needed, making him a stronger man and adding to the work in which he is engaged.

The rally was in every essential a success.

DIFFICULTIES UNUSUAL ON AUTOMOBILE FISHING JOURNEY

A story of an interesting fishing trip, in which a number of prominent gentlemen of this city were the principal figures, has just come to light, although the trip was made on Friday afternoon. The three, a prominent attorney, one of the county officials and a railroad man, decided to take a spin out to Cedar Creek to try their luck in trying to catch the elusive fishy tribe, and accordingly the trusty Ford was brought out and stocked with provisions for the trip out to the fishing grounds. All went well until the party reached Cedar Creek, and then a spell of rain compelled a halt at the village smithy for some time, but it was voted that they should not turn back, and accordingly started on for the scene of their longed-for sport, but J. Pluvius seemed to have it in for the fishermen, as another deluge caught them before they arrived at their destination, and from all reports it certainly must have rained some, as the road became very muddy and the faithful Ford rambled along without the aid of chains.

As the party bowed along over the road they suddenly came on a large expanse of water in the road that barred their further progress, but this was considered a mere trifle to the boys, and they decided to drive the car through and the driver pulled her wide open to dash through the waves, and they dashed, but in the center of the pool the engine died from too much water and it was found necessary to alight in water knee deep and push the car, which refused to even look like starting, out of the water.

The fishermen, nothing daunted, made good their word, however, and after several hours' work succeeded in getting several small fish and were then ready to start home, but it was discovered that they were up against it, and the railroad man came to the rescue in getting a through freight to stop for the party and the trip back via the C., B. & Q. was much enjoyed, but in alighting from the train here the county official skinned one of his lower limbs for several feet when he lit on the cinders and dirt.

MOVING PICTURES OF PLATTSMOUTH NEXT THURSDAY EVENING

See yourself as others see you—in moving pictures—not slides. The moving pictures taken of Plattsmouth, just recently, showing many different scenes, such as the Burlington shops, the High school and Central building, with all the children going home to dinner, the postoffice and employes, the court house and county officials, the streets buildings and twenty-one live wire merchants, who had the moving pictures taken of their stores, showing the proprietors, clerks and customers walking in and out of their stores, and also showing the different people on the streets. In addition to the moving pictures of Plattsmouth, a big masterpiece feature picture will be shown. The feature that will be shown Thursday night has been shown all over the country at 10 and 20 cents, and we are going to give the movie fans a real treat and put the price down at only 5 and 10 cents. Think of it—a big feature and moving pictures of Plattsmouth, all for 5 and 10 cents. We are giving you a treat, so now you had better take the family Thursday night and give them a treat.

COMMERCIAL CLUB PREPARING FOR SUMMER ENTERTAINMENT

The officers of the Commercial club, as well as the committee on entertainment of that organization, are getting busy on the question of securing attractions for the Saturday afternoons during the heated period and already several projects have been given consideration as providing amusement and entertainment for the visitors from out in the county, as well as the town people. The use of autos by the farmers has made it possible for them to come for fifteen or twenty miles as easily as five, and as a consequence there should be a large number here this summer on Saturday afternoons, and for this reason the club and business men feel that they should provide some means of entertaining the visitors each Saturday. It is thought to have one feature of the entertainment commence shortly after noon on Saturday, and then another later in the day, which will combine to make the day one of great pleasure to the residents of the city, as well as our friends out in the county. Just what these entertainments will consist of has not been fully decided upon, but there will be a determined effort made to start the entertainments as soon as possible. This is a matter of the greatest importance to the city, and its interests demand that the plans be carried out and the visitors here find it a pleasure to make this city their visiting place on Saturday.

ANNUAL RECITAL OF MISS OLIVE MUSIC CLASS

Pupils Showed They Were Coming to the Front as Musicians Under the Tutorship of Miss Gass.

Saturday afternoon some seventy friends and relatives of the pupils of Miss Olive Gass gathered at her home to attend the annual recital given by the pupils. The rooms of the home were beautifully decorated with roses and peonies and presented a very gala-like appearance, and the splendid program given was a rare treat to those present to enjoy it and showed great ability on the part of the pupils, who have been under the training of Miss Gass in their instruction on the piano.

The opening number on the extensive program was the "Katie Waltz," by Fearis, given by little 8-year-old Nettie Spangler, who played the selection very sweetly. Paul Haynie, one of the beginners, gave a very pleasing number which was very much enjoyed. The "Tulip Waltz," by Greenwald, was given in a very pleasing manner by Miss Marie Hunter, and this sweet springtime melody was very thoroughly enjoyed. Vernon Wood, one of the talented members of the class, gave as his offering, "Youthful Ambition," by Christiani, and was enthusiastically encored for his splendid playing, as was also the number by Ruth Hall, "Circus Parade," by DeLancey, and this little lady played with the dash and spirit so necessary to the successful rendition of a number of this nature. The "Military March," by Bucher, and "Laughing Rondo," by Lewis, were given by Miss Elsie Tiekotter with apparent ease and excellent time that demonstrated her splendid training. Audrey Belden gave a number on the program, "Off to the Circus," by Sawyer, and Miss Jessie Reynolds, "At School March," by Streabog, both of which showed much talent and expression by the young pianists. The "Friendship Waltz," by Streabog, one of the most dreamy and beautiful of the waltzes, was played in a delightful manner by Bentle Stone and was well received by the auditors. Mrs. John Pries and Mrs. Mary Parsons gave a very pleasing spring selection, "Blue Bird Polka," by Heman, introducing the bird-like notes of the wildwood, and was given with much expression and well received. "The Flower's Lullaby," by Ellsworth, was played most charmingly by Miss Orpha Stone, and the expression secured by the talented young lady was most pleasing.

A very charming vocal solo was given by Mrs. Charles Haynie, "A Dream of Paradise," which was a most pleasing feature of the delightful afternoon, and this lady won a hearty encore for her delightful number. Miss Blanche Marran was the accompanist. Following the vocal number Miss Harriett Forbes, one of the most accomplished members of the class, gave "The American Patrol," by Meacham, which showed much skill and ability on the part of this young lady. The number, "Second Waltz," by Godard, one of the most delightful as well as difficult selections on the program, was given by Mrs. C. W. Abshier, and was most heartily received by the delighted auditors. Miss Lucille Gass gave one of her usual delightful vocal selections, "A Perfect Day," by Bond, which was enthusiastically received, and the vocalist encored repeatedly. Miss Estelle Barid played the accompaniment in a very delightful manner. Mrs. Fred Kissing, who is also one of the advanced students on the piano in the class, gave "Last Hope," by Gottschalk-Fearis, which showed a beautiful legato touch and skill on the part of the pianist. Miss Fay Crook gave as her number, "Golden Twilight Reverie," by LaFarge, which was thoroughly enjoyed. "The Apple Tree Swing," by Spencer, given by Lillian Spangler, was one of the most pleasant numbers on the program and heartily encored, as the playing of this lady was most exquisite. One of the most difficult as well as well executed selections was the "Minuet," by Paderewski, which was played by Miss Ina Crook, and this little lady deserves more than a passing comment for her splendid work, which was thorough and pleasing. The closing numbers on the program were "Home Longings," by Jungmann, given by Mrs. John Pries, which was exquisitely beautiful, and the duet by Misses Ina and Fay Crook, "Grace Waltz," by Bohm, which brought the delightful afternoon of music to a close.

SMALL SIZED MEXICAN REVOLUTION SATURDAY NIGHT

Several Mexicans Came Over From Pacific Junction, and Two Now in Jail for Stealing Watch.

Saturday evening about 7:30 a small-sized Mexican revolution was staged in this city, and as a result Raphael Silario and Dadinio Madero are languishing in the palatial Hotel de Quinton to await their arraignment. It seems that in the afternoon these two dusky representatives of the warlike southern republic were in the saloon of Ed Donat, and while there requested John McDaniels, who was standing near them, to give them the time of day, and he did so by looking at his watch, which was kept in the pocket of his vest. The two men then departed and a few minutes afterwards Mr. McDaniels missed his timepiece, but the Mexicans had also disappeared and he at once concluded that the two had made away with the watch.

McDaniels hastened out and notified Chief of Police Barclay, who with officers Jones and Wilson, at once got busy and rounded up three Mexicans near the Burlington station and took them to the city jail, and while this was going on two other of the countrymen of Villa were discovered at the station, where they were awaiting the arrival of a train that would take them back to Pacific Junction, where they are quartered, and these two were also rounded up and taken to the jail. While on the way up to the jail one of the men was caught in the act of trying to pass the watch from his person to that of his companion, and this fact made very clear that these were the two men desired. A search revealed the fact that the watch was in possession of one of the men, while the other had the chain, and they were both identified by Mr. McDaniels as the two men who had been in the saloon at the time the watch disappeared. Chief Barclay escorted the men to the county jail, where they will remain until arraigned. The first three men brought up were released, as there was nothing to connect them with the stealing of the watch.

The affair caused a great deal of excitement and a large crowd gathered when the men were placed in jail. It is thought that the complaint against the two men will be filed tomorrow by the county attorney.

WEEK VACATION FOR RETAIL MERCHANTS OF STATE

A Week's Enjoyment at Carter Lake, Near Omaha, Contemplated for the First Week in August.

Because the hours demanded of a retail merchant are peculiarly long and exacting it is all the more important that he take a vacation.

As long as a merchant is at home he is practically compelled to give from ten to twelve hours a day to his business, usually more.

In the natural course of his business there is no let-up for him. When business is brisk it is hustle all the time; when business is slack the worry and the mental labor to think up ways and means of promoting a better trade is even more wearing.

The retail merchant needs a vacation.

He needs to get clear away from his business, or at least away from the everyday scene of his business, away from the commonplace aspect of it.

Most merchants agree to that argument, but do not agree that they can afford to do it.

Could you afford to be away from your business for a week if you know you would be so helped during that time that you could make extra profits during every other week of the year?

It is just five weeks now until the Nebraska Business Men's outing in Omaha. It is time right now to lay your plans to come to Omaha and bring your family for that week's outing.

It will be a week of peculiar benefit for you.

Besides the real recuperation, the real outing, which will consist of the attractions of a big city generally plus the attractions of such a resort as the Carter Lake club, where boating, swimming, bowling, tennis, dancing and other amusements and entertainments are in abundance, there will be the recuperation and the entertainment which has a still more practical aspect, in the opportunities afforded to get new ideas and suggestions.

We are inclined to lay as much stress on the recreation feature of the Nebraska Business Men's outing as on the educational features, even more, because it is possible to get some such education at some other time and in some other way; but it is not, and will not be possible for you to enjoy such a rest and recreation, such a fellowship with other merchants, at another time and place as you can in Omaha during the first week in August.—Omaha Trade Exhibit.

Restored to Good Health.

"I was sick for four years with stomach trouble," writes Mrs. Otto Gans, Zanesville, Ohio. "I lost weight and felt so weak that I almost gave up hope of being cured. A friend told me about Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using two bottles of them I have been a well woman." Obtainable everywhere.
