KENSINGTON CLUB ENTERTAINED BY MRS. CROSCARY

The ladies of the Kensington club were entertained yesterday afternoon in a very charming manner by Mrs. Olga Crosmary at the Plattsmouth hotel and the occasion was one of the most pleasant that the ladies have enjoyed for some time. Sewing and social conversation served to pass the time most pleasantly for several hours until the guests were invited to partake of a most delicious three-course luncheon. Mrs. Crosmary was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Miss Paula Goos. The decorations for the luncheon consisted of a most tastily arranged centerpiece of the season's flowers, which was a most attractive feature of the dining room.

L. W. LORENZ WILL ERECT A FINE HOME IN THE FIRST WARD

L. W. Lorenz, who a few years ago purchased the property just east of the new residence of Mrs. W. T. Cole, has decided to erect himself a new home there and work will be commenced at once on the building of the house. The new residence will be 30x33 and consist of seven rooms, all of which will be finished in the most modern manner and no expense will be spared to make it one of the nicest homes in the city in every way. Mr. Lorenz, who is one of our most enterprising merchants, is demonstrating his confidence in the future of the city by erecting a beautiful home that will be a credit to that section of the city where there are so many handsome residences. He has fixed his home on Eighth street up in nice shape, but his new residence will be much closer to the business section of the city and will be one of the handsomest homes in Plattsmouth when completed.

THE DARKENING TRAIL AT THE AIR DOME TONIGHT

Tonight at the Air Dome will be presented that thrilling story of the northwest, "The Darkening Trail," which has been placed on the stage through the medium of moving pictures by the Mutual company, who have made this one of their masterpieces, with William S. Hart as the leading character in the role of "Yukon Ed." The play is laid in Alaska and the settings are on a scale never before attempted in showing the life of the great northwest. The synopsis of the story is as follows:

Jack Sturgess, a cad and spendthrift, quarrels with his father and runs away from home. When he turns up in the Yukon district his supercilious manner arouses the ire of the miners—and he is forced to run the gauntlet of some rather rough horseplay. He is rescued from their strenuous attention by Ruby McGraw, proprietor of the general store, who becomes infatuated with him. Later, when Jack's attentions to Ruby become too marked, "Yukon Ed," who is in love with Ruby, distrusting his motives, arranges a marriage between the two. Jack soon tires of Ruby and spends most of his time at the dance halls. One stormy night, returning home intoxicated, he falls unconscious upon the trail. Ruby finds him and, covering him with her cloak, holds him in her arms all night. The exposure brings on a severe illness and as she is dying, in her delirium, she implores Jack not to let her go alone into the "Unknown." "Yukon Ed" hears her, drags Jack from the dance hall to Ruby's bedside, and sends him to meet her on the "darkening trail."

THE LADIES TURNING CLASS ENJOY A VERY FINE OUTING

The young ladies composing the ladies' turning class at the T. J. Sokol hall, yesterday enjoyed an outing near the ferry which proved a most pleasant event to the jolly party. The expedition departed for the scene of action about 10 o'clock, with a great many baskets laden with good things to eat, and everyone feeling that they were out to have the time of their lives, and from all reports they surely had a royal time. Games were played and a jolly time spent in the cool shade, as well as in boating and other amusements until the effects of the cool breeze and open air whetted the appetites of the ladies and they proceeded to make the host of good things to eat look very slim and everyone vowed that the party had been one of the rarest enjoyment.

House Catches Fire.

The old frame residence on Pearl street near the old county jail building caught fire this afternoon about 2:30, caused by a leaky gasoline stove exploding, and in a few minutes the blaze was all over the kitchen walls and ceiling, but the assistance of neighbors and several men succeeded in putting the fire out before the arrival of the fire boys. The house was occupied by a family named Painter, who moved in there on Tuesday, and as a result they lose their kitchen furniture.

A LAW OF CONSIDERABLE INTEREST IN DIVORCES

Punishment of Husbands in Case of Neglect to Provide for Children of Parties Divorced.

If a Nebraska father and ex-husband refuses or neglects to pay for the support of his child or children as required by the terms of a decree of divorce secured against him in any of the district courts of the state, he stands a chance of being thrown into jail and serving from three to six months for each offense. A law passed by the last legislature imposing a penalty for such offense became effective July 16. It reads:

"Whenever any husband, against whom a decree of divorce and alimony for the support of his children shall have been rendered by any court in this state, shall without good cause, refuse or neglect to pay to the persons noted the amounts and manner provided by such decree, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall on conviction, be imprisoned in the county jail not less than three and not more than six months for each offense, provided the refusal or neglect to so pay each separate installment or payment of such money as provided by the decree shall be held to be a separate offense and punishment as such."

It is believed at the court house that the new law will have the effect of district court judges becoming more particular in the matter of making orders for child support. A closer investigation into the ability of the husband and father to pay a certain sum monthly for the support of his children will result. As one district judge put it, the financial condition and the earning power of the man must be fully determined. A person should not be imprisoned for a debt which he is unable to pay. He pointed out that monthly payments for child support might prove so burdensome that the victim of the law might be forced to remain in jail for an indefinite time. To keep the bread winner in jail would not provide clothing and food for dependent children. As 90 per cent of the divorce cases in the courts are brought by women the child support matter is a live issue.

ANOTHER SUIT FOR DIVORCE FILED IN DISTRICT COURT

This morning a suit was filed in the office of Clerk of the District Court James Robertson, wherein Mrs. Roba Luella Stroud is the plaintiff and Charles William Stroud the defendant. The plaintiff alleges that they were married at Lincoln on May 9, 1907, and resided there until January 1, 1910, when the plaintiff and defendant moved to Cass county, and the plaintiff is at present a resident of Weeping Water. She further alleges that the defendant has been guilty of cruelty and has also committed adultery, and since the discovery of the adultery the plaintiff has not made her home with the defendant. She prays that an absolute divorce be granted her from the defendant. William A. Robertson of this city appears as attorney for the plaintiff.

THE FAMOUS WHITE HUSSARS ARE SOON TO VISIT LINCOLN

The famous White Hussars, one of the leading bands and concert companies on the road today, are scheduled to appear at the Epworth League assembly at Lincoln next month. This organization will possess more than usual interest for the residents of this city, as Ralph Marshall, a son of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Marshall, of this city, is among those composing the members of the band, which in addition to being a high-class musical organization of this kind, also gives a vocal concert, and the members are all young men of excellent voices.

THE GUILTY PARTIES PLEASE REPORT AT THE JOURNAL OFFICE

Four well dressed young men came to this city yesterday, it is thought from Plattsmouth, and after taking on a load of intoxicants went to the garage of R. A. Duff, at the corner of Fifth street and Central avenue, where they proceeded to go into the office of R. A. Duff, and committed all kinds of nasty tricks. Mr. Duff discovered the young men and reported the same to Chief of Police Grant Yates, who soon located the festive four smart Alecks. He told them he would not arrest them if they went down to the Duff office and cleaned it up. They had to secure scrub brushes, mops and other things and doff their clothes and get busy. They were taught a lesson they will not soon forget and will respect the rights of others. The officer then ordered them to take the first train out of the city after they completed their enforced labors.—Nebraska City News.

Things to Consider in Buying a Car!

SERVICE—Every Overland Car sold in this vicinity since 1908 is still in service.

PRICE—No car today gives as much real value for the money as the Overland. You can satisfy yourself on this subject by comparing specifications with competitive cars.

UP-KEEP—No car was ever built that did not at some time or other need some repair. Repairs for the Overland can be obtained the same day as ordered, and at prices far below what other manufacturers charge. This fact does not occur to the average buyer until he needs some parts and finds it takes from one to three weeks to get parts and in many cases at prices two and three times what the Overland asks. Automobile factories have declined in numbers from 270 in 1911 to 119 in 1915. In other words 151 factories out of 270 have quit making cars in the last four years, and well informed men in the automobile business predict that the change in the next two years will be still more startling, which means that it will be still more difficult and still more delay on parts for cars that are not being manufactured at that time.

There is only one manufacturing plant in the world that produces more cars than the Overland Company, which has increased its production from 400 cars in 1908 to over 100,000 cars per year now. If the Overland car had not given far better average satisfaction to the buyer in the past it would not have outstripped all its competitors, many of which were in the automobile field twice as long.
