

POLICE JUDGE OF PLATTSMOUTH FOR 25 YEARS

Judge Michael Archer, Nearly Eighty Years of Age, has Served Twenty-five Years as Police Judge.

From Saturday's Daily.

The record in point of service to the people of this city and county which is held by Judge Michael Archer, the nestor of the Cass county bar, is one that bespeaks well the confidence and esteem of the people of the community whom he has served as justice of the peace for twenty-six years and police judge of the city of Platts-mouth for twenty-five years.

Judge Archer, who bears well his seventy-nine years of age, was born December 3, 1836, in Union township, Monroe county, Ohio, and here was reared to young manhood, but finding that he was not suited with his opportunities in his native place, decided to seek his fortune in the west and located at near what is now Burlington, Iowa, in 1854, but not finding this to his liking decided to continue on to Nebraska, and in 1856 arrived at the banks of the Missouri river and located near Rock Bluffs, after a most strenuous journey across the state of Iowa. At this time Kansas and Nebraska was the battle ground of the contending factions of the pro-slavery and anti-slavery elements of the nation and the excitement over whether these two territories were to be admitted as free or slave states was stirring everyone and many scenes of outlaws were enacted by both factions. While the judge, then a young man, was crossing Iowa he caught up with a company of some 200 of the "peaceful citizens" of Col. James Lane bound for Kansas to assist in keeping out slavery, and they had with them a small cannon which was to assist in the good work. Mr. Archer was closely questioned as to his destination, and when it was found that he was bound for Nebraska the interest in him ceased, although he was urged to join the Lane party, but passed this up and came on to Nebraska.

After arriving here Mr. Archer took up farming for a number of years in what was old Eight Mile Grove, and while there, in the seventies, was elected as a justice of the peace, but later he located at Rock Bluffs and was again honored by the office of justice of the peace. After his election to the office of justice the attention of Mr. Archer was drawn to the practice of law, and while not engaged in his farming he spent his spare time in the study of law from the books borrowed from his friends in Platts-mouth, and in this way he laid the foundation of his legal education and continued this study of law until he moved to Platts-mouth in 1887, when he entered the law office of Byron Clark and finished up his course, which secured his admission to the bar in 1890.

During the years that Judge Archer was gathering his knowledge of law he attended a great many trials and was given the opportunity of hearing such attorneys as Judge M. B. Reese, T. M. Marquett, Willet Pottinger, Samuel Maxwell, George S. Smith, S. M. Chapman, A. N. Sullivan, Allen Beeson, B. S. Ramsey and in later years H. D. Travis, and from these cases, as well as a close study of law he secured a clear insight into the real foundation of the common law and the practice of this profession.

After he had been a resident of this city for a few years Mr. Archer was appointed justice of the peace for Platts-mouth city in 1889, and has held that office continuously since that time, and in 1890 he was first elected police judge and with the exception of two years has filled that office in a manner that is a credit and honor to the community and himself. After his two years retirement in 1904-05, Judge Archer was again called to his old post and has held it continuously since that time.

In politics Judge Archer has always been a faithful and loyal democrat, even in times when that meant a hardship, as the members of the democratic party in early days were not strongly in favor in Nebraska. He has several times been the nominee of that party for county office and has labored long and faithfully in the cause he believed in. He is also one of the veteran members of the Masons and for several years has been the secretary of Platts-mouth lodge No. 6, A. F. & A. M.

During his service as justice he has passed on a number of important cases and held the preliminary hearing in the Hill-Benwell murder case, as well as that of the manslaughter case of Lindsay, growing out of a prize fight in this city in 1894.

LITTLE ELIZABETH HATT FRAGTURES HER RIGHT ARM

From Saturday's Daily.

Yesterday afternoon little Elizabeth Hatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Hatt, met with quite a painful injury by the fracturing of her right arm at the elbow. The little girl was engaged in playing with a number of little friends and was seated in a hammock, when it was overturned and she was thrown to the ground, with the result that the arm was fractured or thrown out of place at the elbow joint. The injury was dressed and the little girl made as comfortable as possible and is getting along nicely.

FUNNY CLOWNS AND COWBOYS AND COWGIRLS

Fifty Real Funny Clowns With the Yankee Robinson Shows and Texas Bill's Cowboys.

In addition to the big circus acts with the Yankee Robinson Shows, the trained wild animal acts of the Carl Hoffman's Show and the thrilling feats of the cowboys and cowgirls of Texas Bill's, fifty funny clowns are interspersed through the program, and really put on some stunts that are side splitters. One of the many features long remembered with the show is the European war number and the busting of the aeroplane. If this does not make the meanest man in this community laugh, there is not a laugh in him. At Platts-mouth Monday, August 9.

WHILE MILKING MAN GETS KICKED IN EYE BY COW

Arthur White, who has been spending a short time on a farm in the vicinity of Mynard, is attracting a great deal of attention from the fact that his left eye is bandaged up as a result of an encounter with a cow. Arthur was engaged in milking the animal and was getting along fine when the animal, to rid herself of some flies, brought one of her hind feet up rather quickly to get the annoying insects and instead caught Art in the eye, and while no serious damage was done to his optic, still that member swelled up a great deal and made it necessary to have it bandaged. He will in the future avoid the milking of the cows, and especially during the fly season.

MERLE RAINY RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL AT OMAHA

Merle Rainey, who was operated on at the Methodist hospital in Omaha some two weeks ago for appendicitis, was able to return home Saturday afternoon and is feeling much improved since the operation. That the young man has fared so well in recovering from his illness will be most cheering news to his host of friends who have been anxiously awaiting word as to his condition.

OFFICER JONES PLACES DRUNKEN MAN IN JAIL

From Saturday's Daily.

This afternoon a stranger, clearly under the influence of "booze," was seized by a desire to slumber and decided that the lawn surrounding the court house would make a suitable couch, and accordingly sank to repose, but had been enjoying his siesta only a short time when Officer Alvin Jines came his way and gathered the sleeping stranger in his grasp and conducted him to the city jail to sleep off his accumulation of joy water and to enjoy the soft couches of stone and wood provided in the jail. It is to be hoped that the rest in the jail will be a warning to the stranger to get out of town and save the necessity of caring for him by the city.

HOT BALL GAME PULLED OFF SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Very Close and Exciting Contest and the Sox Get Away With Their Thirteenth Game in a Row.

The red hosed legion of Pa Johnson annexed their thirteenth straight game yesterday, when in a close and exciting contest they won from the Louisville team, and throughout the contest the fans on both sides were kept guessing, as the game was won and lost and won again by the locals in a whirlwind finish that brought them in the winners by the score of 6 to 5, despite the numerous costly errors, as well as the gift of a score by Greko in the third, when Larson, who had been walked to first, was forced across the plate by the passing of Huff. Connors, formerly the mound artist of the Sox, appeared for the visitors and in the opening innings had the hose guessing and biting at his slow curves, but in the closing innings they were able to connect with telling effect on his slants. Greko experienced a very bad inning in the third, when he walked three men, which, with a hit gave them a gift of one run, but was able during the last innings, with the support of his teammates to recover the lost ground. There were several costly errors made by the Sox during the game, but this was wiped out in the final result. Greko struck out seven, while Connors got away with ten strikeouts.

The second stage of the conflict resulted in the locals securing their first runs of the game, when Mason, who opened the inning, was able to find a safety over short, and fattened his base stealing record by annexing second and third. Pitman was able to secure a lease of life by an error of Connors, and when Parker secured a safety through short Mason and Pitman scored, while Craig ended the inning by whiffing.

In the third the visitors were able to nab one run during the ascension of the Sox, as after Connors had fanned, Larson was walked and Fred Ossenkop put a hot one through third and was followed by Huff, who was passed to the first sack, but G. Ossenkop failed to deliver by striking out, and the walk of Koop forced Larson across for a run.

In the fifth Louisville was able to gather in another run when Huff was safe on an error and scored on the hit of Rockwell to left field, but this was all there was doing, as Rocky was caught at second on a throw by Herold, ending the visitors' half of the inning. The Sox were also busy with their sticks, assisted by two passes by Connors in this inning, and regained the lead by scoring one. Parker was retired, Connors to G. Ossenkop, then Craig was allowed his base on balls and stole second, and was followed by Beal, who was also given free transportation to the initial sack, and when Parriott poked one to center field Craig was able to register, but Parriott was a little short of second when Hammond threw in the ball and he was put out. Mason ended the inning by a grounder to Larson at shortstop.

In the sixth inning large chunks of gloom prevailed the fans when the Louisville boys secured the lead by adding two to their list, giving them four runs. Salsburg opened the performance by a grounder to Parriott which was not handled in time, and on the two-bagger of Connors to left field he came home, and Connors scored on the fly of Larson to right. The eighth inning was a life saver for the Sox, as they again came into the lead by annexing two more runs. Pitman was safe at first through an error at shortstop, and when Parker hit safely to center field he came home, while Parker scored on the hit of Beal to the left garden.

The Louisville boys came right back in their half of the ninth inning and tied up the score, when G. Ossenkop scored on the hit of "Rocky" to center, when the ball was lost for a few seconds, and this proved cheering to the loyal Louisville fans who had accompanied their team here, but was short-lived, as the Sox came home with the bacon in the last of the ninth. Peter Herold opened up the fireworks with a safe hit to left field and was able to steal second off of Koop, and when William Mason poked one to center he scored and everybody went home happy over another win. The crowd in attendance was even larger than last Sunday and a great many from our neighboring city were present to cheer on their team.

The tabulated score of the game was as follows:

A NEW BUSINESS HOUSE TO BE ERECTED IN MURRAY

Louis H. Puls has purchased the building and land just west of the Presbyterian church in Murray and will establish a modern fully equipped garage. In addition to the preparation for the opening of the new garage Mr. Puls will shortly commence the erection of a new residence in Murray and move in this fall to make his home there, where he can be in constant touch with his garage business. Mr. Puls has had practical experience with gas engines and especially automobiles, and with a good machine shop in connection will be able to do anything for the relief of crippled cars. He will be in line with turning lathes, oxygen welding and electrical generators for recharging storage batteries. With the skill and experience to back up the new garage in our neighboring town it should prove to be a success in every way and those who deal with Mr. Puls will find him accommodating at all times and to all alike. This is a line of industry that will be fully appreciated by the citizens of Murray, and especially the automobile owners, who have had to seek elsewhere to have their auto supply work looked after, and then can now rest assured that Louie will look after their needs.

THE TITANIC, THE MOTOR BOAT, TAKEN TO BELLEVUE

The Titanic, the large gasoline launch owned by Alfred Edgerton, which has on numerous occasions been used in fishing and pleasure parties on the river, has had a new call and will be taken to Bellevue by Jno. Richardson to be used in the job of putting in the ferry over the river at that place. The Titanic is a very large boat and will be fine for this line of business and will be in able hands with Jack at the helm, and he has promised that he will see that it is not torpedoed or sunk by the submarine which Billy Miller was reported to have built in the vicinity of Bellevue.

AMICK FAMILY UP AGAINST IT WITH CHILLS AND AGUE

Since the return of Dave Amick and his son, Theodore, and family, from Monticello, Arkansas, three of them, Dave, Theodore and his son, Ralph, have been confined almost all the time with old-fashioned ague chills, fever and sweats. During this time the infant daughter has been seriously sick with cholera infantum. Mrs. J. S. Hall of this city is at the Amick home assisting in the care of the sick ones, as the entire family is afflicted with the malady. There was in the city one day last week and complained of feeling badly and before reaching home was taken with another attack of the ague and forced to take to his bed and the Amick home resembles a hospital at the present time.

The Clerk Guaranteed It.

"A customer came into my store the other day and said to one of my clerks, 'have you anything that will cure diarrhoea?' and my clerk went and got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and said to him, 'if this does not cure you, I will not charge you a cent for it.' So he took it home and came back in a day or two and said he was cured," writes J. H. Berry & Co., Salt Creek, Va. Obtainable everywhere.

WENT ON THEIR WAY SOBERER IF NOT SADDER MEN

Saturday afternoon the spectators who were attending the band concert at the corner of Fifth and Main streets were startled ever and anon by a loud "whoop," which was emitted by someone evidently filled to the utmost capacity with a quantity of distilled spirits which was inspiring his enthusiasm. The stranger who was giving vent to his feelings lingered too long at his sport and fell under the watchful eye of Acting Chief of Police Alvin Jones and was gathered in to recuperate in the peace and quiet of the city bastille from his enthusiasm. The man, aside from his boisterousness did not attract much attention and it was really amusing to watch him as he emitted his war whoops and carefully looked around to see if the police were on hand, and was not suspecting that they had executed a flank movement on him until he was captured and taken to jail with his colors flying, but his spirit slightly dampened. He was discovered to be the companion of the stranger who had been picked up asleep on the court house lawn, and they spent a quiet time together at the jail for a few hours and were then allowed to go on their way sadder and soberer men.

A TOUCH OF METROPOLITAN ENTERPRISE AT WESCOTT'S

From Friday's Daily.

A touch of real metropolitan enterprise has been given to the bill board on Fifth street near the postoffice, where the firm of C. E. Wescott's Sons have installed electric illumination to their section of the bill board and the sign advertising their store is visible day or night to the passer-by and the lights not only attract attention to the bill board, but also assist those going that way to get along much more comfortably than heretofore, as the light along that street is not of the best, as the street lamps are a block apart. This is the first of the bill boards to be equipped with electric lights and is a stroke of enterprise on the part of the firm. The lights are reflected down on the sign and make it easy to read clear across the street.
