Will Trade or Sell Store.

The Fanger Department Store Retiring Sale is moving along in full blast, but Mr. Fanger will still trade the stock in whole for Cass county land, stopping this slaughter sale at once, should a buyer be found on these terms. The building, fixtures and all will be traded at a good figure, or a one-half interest would be traded to a good young man that could take charge of the business. The property has been a good one for Mr. Fanger, and he would be more than pleased to retain a half interest should a suitable young man be found to take charge and buy the other half. Should you desire to talk trade, see Mr. Fanger now.

E. M. GOODWIN RECEIVES WORD OF MOTHER'S DEATH

E. M. Godwin received a message yesterday from Whiteborough, Texas, announcing the death there of his mother, Mrs. Louvina Godwin, who passed away there after a short illness due to the feebleness of old age, as she was in her eighty-fourth year at the time of her death. Mrs. Godwin was born in Mississippi, but had made her home in Texas for a long period of years. Her husband preceded her in death twenty years ago. The funeral was held at Whiteborough yesterday and the short notice of the death did not permit Mr. Godwin to be present at the funeral. Mrs. Godwin was a most estimable lady in every way, and like a great many of the women of the south, lived during a most trying period during the civil war and assisted in the upbuilding of her desolated land after the waves of war had passed away, and leaves to her children the heritage of the beautiful Christian life to inspire them to higher ideals in the future.

VETERANS MARCH DOWN THE AVENUE

President Wilson Reviews Parade of Grand Army.

Washington, Sept. 30.—All that remains of the union army of 2,000,000 which fifty years ago passed in review before President Johnson marched up Pennsylvania avenue from the capitol to the White House and was reviewed by President Wilson. Thousands banded along the line of march cheered the veterans. Confederate veterans in the crowd did some heavy cheering, too.
 Scenes of patriotic enthusiasm marked the passage of the veterans at President Wilson's stand. Frequently the president waved his hat to the old soldiers. The cheering in the reviewing stand in front of the White House was almost constant.
 Tired by the march from the capitol to the White House, a little more than a mile, veterans looked exhausted when they reached the president's stand.
 The president stood throughout the entire review, removing his hat each time an American flag passed.
 The procession was headed by Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, retired, who upon his arrival before the White House dismounted and joined the president in the reviewing stand. Then came detachments of regular soldiers, sailors and militia. Sons of veterans followed and directly behind them, led by the United States Marine band, came the old soldiers.
