

FORMER CASS COUNTY VETERAN DIES IN FLORIDA

Curtis Moore Passed Away at Home of His Son, in Florida, on Saturday, September 25.

From Saturday's Daily.
Another of the old-time residents of Plattsburgh has been called away from his family and friends by the messenger of death, and with his passing another of the old soldiers who fought for their country during the civil war, has answered the call of those who will come no more. Curtis Moore died at the home of his son, L. A. Moore, at Stempers, Florida, on Saturday, September 25th. He was born near Mechanicsburg, Ohio, November 9, 1830, and was married to Miss Emily Garwood on February 22, 1853, and for a great many years these worthy people made their home here in Plattsburgh, where the old friends will regret greatly to learn of the death of Mr. Moore in his far-away Florida home.

Mr. Moore died very suddenly on Saturday of last week of acute indigestion and was buried in "Woodlawn" cemetery at Yampa, Florida, on Sunday, with services by the Yampa G. A. R., which were very beautiful and impressive. The casket was draped with the flag he loved so well, and covered with the lovely roses he had watched grow and bloom in the little spot where the Moore family have made their home. Thus passed from view the form of one whose whole life had been that of devotion and loving sacrifice. The death of this worthy gentleman has been a severe blow to his son and daughter-in-law, who have been looking after the care of the aged man, and in speaking of his life Mr. L. A. Moore has prepared a short outline of his career here in Nebraska:

"As the sun went down one bleak evening in October, 1856, two covered wagons, one of which contained my father and mother and two babies (myself and sister), arrived in Bethlehem, Iowa, just as the ferry had made its last trip for the night to the Nebraska shore, so they were obliged to pass a weary night before crossing over into the new eden of Nebraska, thus becoming true pioneers of Plattsburgh, which at that time contained only twenty houses all told. Except for one year's residence in Weeping Water, one year of mining in Colorado, three years and four months in the army and six months in Missouri in 1865, he resided in Plattsburgh. He was an employe of the B. & M. R. R. for more than thirty-five years, being pattern-maker for many years. In 1909 he laid to rest his companion for over fifty-five years, and in 1912 he said good-bye to Nebraska and moved to the southland, locating at Stempers, Florida, to pioneer again; coming literally to the wilds. Since which time he has been able to eat of the fruits grown on the land he helped clear and prepare for the trees, as follows: Grape fruit, guava, pineapple, peaches, figs, strawberries, grapes, bananas, not a full crop of all of these, but the berries and bananas, etc. While at his age his death could not be unexpected, we had hoped he would be spared to us for several years longer, to sit under the lovely blooming vines and in the shade of the big clumps of bamboo and enjoy the fruits and flowers of this genial climate he had loved so well. Although far away, we felt that there were many friends in Plattsburgh who would be interested in any changes in our family."

GOLDYE AND GLADYS CELEBRATE THEIR BIRTHDAY

From Saturday's Daily.
Goldie and Gladys Kaffenberger celebrated their fourteenth birthday anniversary by entertaining ten of their friends at a picnic Friday afternoon. After school they met at their home. Securing their well filled baskets they wended their way to the grounds where they had selected a place for their picnic. After arriving there they played games until they thought it was time to see what the baskets contained. The delicious lunch was very much enjoyed by all. They then spent a little while more in playing games. On their way home they all concluded they would spend a pleasant hour at the picture show. Those present were: Misses Pauline Bajek, Janet Bajek, Mildred Schlatter, Nellie Mae Cowles, Jeanette Weber, Helen Egenberger, Helen Johnson, Clara Rainey, Isabel Rainey, Grace Beeson, Goldye and Gladys Kaffenberger.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO OMAHA WEDNESDAY EVENING

From Saturday's Daily.
In addition to the Burlington special train to the Ak-Sar-Ben electric parade on Wednesday evening, which leaves here at 7 o'clock in the evening, the train known as the Creston special will stop here at 7:52 a. m. en route to the metropolis. This train will take the greater part of the Iowa sightseers to the big parade. It will start from Villisca at 5:40 a. m. and is scheduled to reach Omaha at 8:30 a. m. Returning the train leaves at 10:30 p. m., shortly ahead of the Plattsburgh special, which is scheduled out at 11 o'clock.

HABIT OF CHILDREN TRYING TO CATCH AUTOS MUST STOP

From Saturday's Daily.
There has been several cases reported to the police of the habit of the children along the avenues of the city making a practice of trying to catch onto passing automobiles, as well as buggies, and this has caused a great deal of annoyance, as well as the source of danger to the children, who are liable to get seriously hurt sooner or later if the practice is indulged in, and then there will be a horrible wail go up as to the recklessness of the auto drivers, when as a matter of fact the children are every day making a bid for being hurt in a serious manner, and their parents should see that this habit is stopped at once, before they have grave cause to regret it. We know of several instances where accidents have been prevented by only the clear-headedness of the driver of the auto, and some of these fine days one will occur where the auto driver cannot save the reckless and fool-acting of the children from resulting in injury. One of the ladies residing near this city who came in a few days ago, reports that one of the youngsters climbed up on the back of her buggy and proceeded to cut a large hole in the buggy top purely in the spirit of malicious mischief, and all these accidents has caused the police to decide to lay for the parties doing this, and the fond parents of these hopeful juveniles will probably be called on to bail them out of jail if they are caught.

TAX LIST FOR 1915 COMPLETE—READY FOR BUSINESS

From Saturday's Daily.
The tax list of the county has been prepared for the past few days and is in the hands of the county treasurer, and from this list the revenues of the county will be derived during the coming year. The work of compiling the list from the assessment rooms has been a long task and has kept County Clerk Frank L. Bershler and the deputy, Bruce Rosencrans, busily engaged in the work since the assessment roll was turned in. The figures show that the land valuation of the county is $5,059,194, and the personal tax valuation is $1,099,358, which, with the valuation of the incorporated towns and villages, as well as those not incorporated, brings the total tax value up to $205,085.78.

The railroads in the county are one of the greatest factors in paying the taxes of the county, as the list shows. They pay over in taxes to the treasurer the sum of $45,000 out of a total taxable valuation of $331,000 of the entire county, or 25 per cent if the total taxes comes from these railway corporations. The corporations, including telephone companies, express and telegraph companies, are given a valuation of $61,453 in the tax list. These figures are interesting in that they show what the railroads represent to the people of the county when it comes to bearing the burden of the taxes. In personal taxes Plattsburgh City has a total of $89,759, and Weeping Water City $51,509. In the real estate valuation given by the assessor, Plattsburgh has $319,475 and Weeping Water City $29,197.

Returns From Delightful Trip.
Miss Minnie Guthmann returned home yesterday from a most delightful trip to the northwest and Pacific coast, and with her brother, C. F. Guthmann, at Murphy, Idaho, and in company with Mrs. Guthmann visited at Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, and returning stopped for a few days at Salt Lake, from where Mrs. Guthmann returned to her home in Murphy.

RAILROADS PREPARE TO MOVE GREAT CROP

Cars Have Been Put in Condition for Hauling Grain—Shortage Is Not Feared.

From Saturday's Daily.
Nebraska railroads expect to be in good shape to handle the enormous corn crop which is now nearly out of danger of frost. Motive power and rolling stock are in excellent condition. The roads have been making preparation for some time to have every car available for service when it is needed. Locomotives have been made fit and "everything on wheels" which can haul freight and live stock has been repaired for a rush.

"We have been in fine condition to tackle a heavy business for some time," said a railroad man, "but it has not come yet. It will, though, and when it does the rush of business will not find us unprepared."

Railroad officials anticipate a huge traffic in the fall and winter months when corn begins to move. Shipping in most cases begins in December, though the heavier volume may come in January, February and even March. It depends on the condition of the market.

It is claimed that only from 5 to 7 per cent of the surplus corn of the state has yet been shipped, but railroad officials are not worried about having trouble to take care of it when it begins to roll. It was pointed out by a Burlington man that the wheat of Missouri, Iowa and Illinois will be out of the way when Nebraska grain is offered in heavy lots. Nebraska wheat is expected to get a move on itself during October and November, and so much of it will be shipped before corn comes that traffic will not be congested.

Because Nebraska farmers have become prosperous and are not forced to hurry their crops to market congestion of railroad traffic is not nearly so common as in former years. Unless there happens to be a peculiar condition of the market in which most farmers are eager to ship their products, freight car famines are much less marked than in former years.

Railroads are in far better condition to handle traffic than fifteen or twenty years ago, because they have more powerful locomotives and rolling stock is much greater loading capacity. Hugh engines pull trains several times larger than in the old days. The roads now have engines which are able to haul eight loaded cars of from 60,000 to 80,000 capacity. Small cars of 28,000, 30,000 and 40,000 capacity, once in very common use, have long since disappeared from service. These little cars would now be considered a joke by modern railroad employes. The 80,000-pound capacity cars are rapidly supplanting the 60,000 capacity box cars. Coal cars are huge warehouse on wheels. There are few thirty-two foot stock cars now. These were regarded as giants once. They are being replaced by thirty-four-foot cars. The pulling capacity of locomotives and the size of cars continues to increase.

HELP MUST COME FROM BRIDGE CO. TO REPAIR ROAD

From Saturday's Daily.
There has been a great deal of complaint in the past week over the condition of the Platte bottom road between this city and the Platte river bridge, and with the heavy travel that will be had over that road in the next week by parties going to and from the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities in Omaha, it seems as though it ought to be placed in better shape and two or three real bad holes fixed up, as they have been the cause of considerable grief to auto owners who have gotten into them and are forced to have someone haul them out with a team. The county has expended considerable money on the road and it looks as though the needed relief must come from the bridge company or individuals in this city if the road is to be fixed up, and as it is used a great deal by the automobile owners of this city and vicinity they should see what can be done to remedy the difficulty.

MRS. LUCINDA KINSER IN A SERIOUS CONDITION

From Saturday's Daily.
Mrs. Lucinda J. Kinser, who has been residing at the Masonic Home in this city for the past two years, is reported to be in very poor health, and owing to her age and general feebleness her recovery is a matter of grave doubt. Mrs. Kinser is one of the pioneer ladies of Plattsburgh and her friends regret very much to learn of her condition and trust that she may be spared to them for a few years more at least.

JOHN ROTTER AND WIFE HOME FROM TRIP TO WYOMING

From Saturday's Daily.
John Rotter and wife, who returned home last evening from a visit at Radium Hot Springs, near Cody, Wyoming, as well as the young and growing town of Powell, have had a most delightful time and return filled with much pleasure over their outing and are most optimistic over the future of that state. At Cody Mr. and Mrs. Rotter visited Vince Rotter and at Powell with John Rotter, and in both places were treated royally. Mr. Rotter states that Powell is one of the most progressive places he has been in, as it is a young and growing town located in a fine country, and while only a town of a few hundred inhabitants two years ago, it can now boast of several thousand people, and is constantly growing each year. The products of that section of Wyoming brought back by Mr. Rotter certainly speak well for the agricultural future, as they raise sugar beets, turnips, potatoes and similar crops in great profusion, and one of the sugar beets size that would make the average person wonder what is the limits of the possibilities in that section, and the potatoes are as fine as can be produced. He spent two months on their trip and return feeling much improved in health and feeling that it has been an event of a lifetime and the country they have visited is a new wonderland just opening up.

ANOTHER GREAT SHOW AT THE PARMELE LAST NIGHT

From Saturday's Daily.
The usual enjoyable weekly appearance of the Empress Advance Vaudeville at the Parmele theater last evening was greeted by a good house and one that was more in keeping with the high standard of the show offered by the excellent company of performers who were placed on the bill last evening.

J. H. HALL, RETIRED FARMER, ELMWOOD, KILLS HIMSELF

From Saturday's Daily.
Another accidental shooting has cast a pall of deep affliction over the western part of Cass county in the death of J. H. Hall, one of the prominent retired farmers of Elmwood, as the result of the accidental discharge of a gun he was carrying. From reports received from Elmwood it would seem that Mr. Hall started out on a little hunting trip this morning, and was crawling through a wire fence and dragging his gun after him, when the trigger caught on a barb of the wire and was discharged, with the result that the unfortunate man was almost torn to pieces by the shot and death was a matter of only a few minutes after the gun was discharged. Mr. Hall was a man of in the neighborhood of 75 years of age and leaves a widow to mourn his untimely death. His death will be most profoundly regretted by his many friends and acquaintance throughout the county, and Elmwood is mourning the loss of one of her most highly respected citizens.

DEATH OF PIONEER LADY RESIDENT SUNDAY MORNING

Mrs. Lucinda J. Kinser, Aged 92, Died at the Masonic Home Early Yesterday Morning.

Yesterday morning shortly after the new day had dawned the spirit of Mrs. Lucinda J. Kinser, one of the oldest pioneer residents of this city, took its flight, and this estimable lady, full of years and after a lifetime of almost a century, sank gently into the rest that she had earned by a life filled with many scenes of trial and affliction and a period in her country's history filled with the most important events.

For the past few years Mrs. Kinser had resided at the Masonic Home, as her health had been very poor, she being a sufferer from heart trouble, and her advanced age of 92 years made her recovery a matter of grave doubt, and all that could be done for her was in the gentle ministrations to her last few days on earth, and there was nothing that anyone would not do for "Grandma" Kinser, as she was affectionately known by almost all of the older residents of this city, where she had made her home since 1870.

Mrs. Kinser was born in Roanoke county, Virginia, May 4, 1823, and there for a number of years she made her home, and was married there to George W. Kinser some sixty-five years ago. Shortly after this event the family moved to Tazewell county, Virginia, where they made their home until coming to Plattsburgh in 1870, and here the family have since made their home, and the family been reared, and the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Kinser was a very happy one, terminated only by the death of the husband and father twelve years ago, after which time Mrs. Kinser made her home with her son, John W. Kinser until her ill-health and increasing age made it necessary a few years ago to take up her residence at the Masonic Home, where she could receive the attention needed in one of her advanced years. Mrs. Kinser was during her lifetime a very faithful member of the Methodist church and kept faith in this church until the end. She leaves three sons, William M. Kinser of Carson, Grayson county, Virginia; John W. Kinser of this city, and Charles Kinser of Dubuque, Iowa, to mourn her death.

The funeral of this grand and lovable lady was held this afternoon at 2:30 from the First Methodist church, and the service was conducted by Rev. F. M. Druliner, and quite a large number of the older residents of the city were present to pay their tributes of respect to this worthy pioneer, who had been called away. The interment was had in Oak Hill cemetery beside that of the departed husband.

THE BALL GAME SUNDAY A ONE-SIDED CONTEST

Bourgeois Team of Omaha Defeated by Score of 12 to 1 in Presence of an Unusually Small Crowd.

Before a small bunch of auditors yesterday the Red Sox proved the winners in a long and tiresome game from the Bourgeois team of Omaha by a score of 12 to 1, and after the second inning the affair was more of a farce on the national pastime than a real ball game, as the boys from the metropolis were badly outclassed and at the mercy of McGuire, the husky slab artist of the Storz of Omaha, who was sent down for the occasion instead of Hayes, who has been doing the pitching stunt for the Sox in the last few weeks, and Pete was also to the good at all stages of the game, and eleven of the visitors succumbed to his fast upshoots and fanned the air. The visitors were a nice aggregation of young men and played a gentlemanly game throughout, but were hopelessly out of their class in going up against the Sox.

In the opening inning the locals began a bombardment on the representatives of the Omaha ornamental glass company which gathered them in two runs, and from then on the struggle was very uninteresting to the audience, as the Sox added five runs in the second, two in the third and three in the eighth inning, making an overwhelming lead that was out of question for the Omaha lads to overcome, and they were forced to return to the metropolis in a sad state of defeat.

The visitors gathered their lonely score in the seventh, when Hugh Gra-

Brandon Bros. Now.

From Saturday's Daily.
Beginning today it will be Brandon Bros. Lumber Co., instead of W. B. Banning's Lumber Yard. Mr. R. B. Tindall, or better known as Ross, will work for the firm here. As we have known Mr. Tindall for some time and we feel that he being strange to the people here it is no more than proper for us to say that he is a promising young man with a good future ahead. He is of the kind that you will like and he will be ready at all times to help you out of your lumber, lime and cement trouble. He was formerly with the Eclipse Lumber Co. of Sidney, Iowa.—Union Ledger.
