HAS ANOTHER CROP OF THE "EVERBEARING" BERRIES

From Saturday's Daily. J. C. Petersen, who has been one of the most successful fruit growers in this locality, brought into the Journal office this morning a very unique bouquet in the shape of strawberries in all stages from the flowers down to the ripened fruit, which is some record for this time of year in Nebraska. The berries are of the new "Everbearing" variety and are of good size and delicious flavor that is not surpassed by any we have seen this season. Mr. Petersen expects to have plants of these for sale to be delivered next spring, and those who desire may secure the same by applying to Mr. Petersen.

Miss Mary E. Foster of Union was here for a few hours today en route from her home to Omaha to look after her business interests.

FUNERAL OF P. H. MAHONEY AT HAVELOCK LARGELY ATTENDED

Another of Havelock's Highly Respected Citizens Passed Away This Week.

Patrick Henry Mahoney died at the home of his son, J. E. Mahoney, in Valley Junction, Iowa, early Tuesday morning, after having been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years. He had started a week or ten days ago for a visit with relatives in Council Bluffs and Valley Junction, Iowa, and Chicago, Illinois, and was taken suddenly ill when he arrived in Valley Junction. His daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Mitchell, were sent for Sunday and were with him when he passed away.

The remains were brought to Havelock Tuesday evening and taken to his late home, 1808 O street, and this afternoon taken to the M. E. church where funeral services were held. Rev. J. H. Wilcox conducted the service and the remains were interred in Wyuka cemetery by the side of those of his wife, who died about four years ago.

P. H. Mahoney was born in Canada on March 12, 1854, and was 61 years, 6 months and 27 days of age at the time of his death. When two years old he came to the United States with his parents and located in Alnakee county, Iowa, and later in 1876 moved to Plattsmouth, Neb., with the family. On July 21, 1880, he was united in marriage with Miss Mary Thayer. For a number of years they lived in Plattsmouth, where he was employed in the Burlington shops, and when the boiler shops were moved to Havelock came here as an employee. Later he resigned his place in the shops and for some time conducted a meat market and was afterwards city water commissioner for some years. Failing in health, he retired from active business life and devoted his time to the care of his properties.

He is survived by four children, Mrs. Jessie Hawksworth of Chicago, J. E. Mahoney of Valley Junction, Iowa, H. P. Mahoney of Chicago, and Mrs. Ross Mitchell of Havelock. His wife passed away about four years ago.—Havelock Times.

VERY SECLUDED SPOT BUT MORTAL COMBAT IS FURIOUS

Last night the residents on South Seventh street were attracted by the noise of what seemed to be a mortal combat, and ever anon the sound of blows struck was heard, as well as the muttered conversation of two young men who had met in this secluded spot and were doing battle after the manner of their cave men ancestors for the hand of the lady on whom both had cast their love-lit orbs, and from the reports the battle waged fiercely for some time until one of the young men was put down by a well directed blow and the victor proceeded to put the boots to his fallen foe in a manner tended to discourage him from further efforts to win the affections of their lady love, and with victory resting on his brow the successful youth continued on his way to woo the lady of his choice, while the fallen foe retired in disorder back to the trenches, as the war correspondents would put it.

SOX SHOWER GIVEN BY THE COSMOPOLITAN CLUB SATURDAY

Saturday evening Cyril Kalina was made the recipient of a very pleasant farewell and sox shower, given by members of the Cosmopolitan club at their rooms, and the event was one thoroughly enjoyed by the jolly party, although it was with regret that they were called on to part with their friends, who is soon to leave the city with his bride for David City, where they will reside and where Mr. Kalina has an interest in a roller skating rink. There were some seventeen young men present and the guest of honor was showered with a great many pairs of sox as a remembrance from his friends. A very dainty "feed" had been prepared for the occasion, to which all did ample justice, and a number of very pleasing responses to toasts made by the members of the party.

THE DISTRICT COURT IN SESSION TOMORROW

District Judge James T. Begley will be here tomorrow morning to hold a session of the district court and to pass on the injunction in the Dovey estate matter, which will probably take up the greater part of the day, as the case is one of much importance and will be given extensive argument by the attorneys. On Wednesday the judge expects to take up the divorce case of Mrs. Grace Rhoden vs. Gaile Rhoden, and this case will probably be hard fought by both sides.

SENTENCED TO PENITENTIARY HEINOUS CRIME

For Which Hadsell Took Is Given a Term of Five Years in the Penitentiary.

CRIMINALLY ASSAULTS SISTER

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 17.—Hadsell Trook was Saturday morning sentenced by Judge Stewart of the district court to imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary for a period of five years. As the sentence was pronounced the prisoner's countenance assumed an ashen hue and in a moment he staggered as though about to fall. He was supported by Guard McManaman, who stood at his side.

Trook was convicted by a jury at the present term of court of criminal assault upon his 11-year-old sister. The jury recommended him to the mercy of the court and asked that he be paroled if such a thing were possible. Under the law a parole from the bench is not allowed in cases of men convicted of rape, nor does the indeterminate sentence law apply in such cases. The court must definitely fix the term of imprisonment, which is not less than three years nor more than twenty.

When Trook was asked by Judge Stewart if he had anything to say why the sentence of the court should not be pronounced against him, he declared that he was innocent and did not know why his sisters had testified against him as they had. He said that he had always been a law-abiding citizen, but it was impossible for him to prove his innocence. He is 19 years old and was married to a 17-year-old girl a week before he was placed on trial. She swooned when the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

DON'T FORGET THE COMING OF "THE PRINCE OF TONIGHT"

From Saturday's Daily. Indications point to a record-breaking house for the engagement of the gorgeous musical spectacle, "The Prince of Tonight," at the Parmele theater on Monday night, October 25. This popular musical fantasy has been meeting with such marked success that the desire to see it is the same everywhere, and this city is no exception to the rule. The production is a Le Comte & Flesher offering, and one may expect much in the way of good music and clever people, especially when the splendid baritone, Tom Arnold, heads the cast. THE COMMERCIAL COURSE IN PLATTSMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL

From Saturday's Daily. The class in business methods of the commercial course of the Plattsmouth High school yesterday afternoon, under the direction of Miss Flossie Bute, their instructor, visited the First National bank to inspect the working of that institution and gain an insight into how the affairs of an institution of this kind is conducted. The work of the officers and clerks were carefully examined by the young people who are taking up this line of work in their studies, and many very valuable ideas were gathered relative to the general banking methods and the books and equipment used in conducting a modern bank. The commercial course is proving one of the most popular that has been installed in the school in recent years, and the work is such as to be most valuable to the students in the years to come in their life in the business work and practical lessons will be given of the actual methods used in commercial work. Miss Bute, who is looking after the teaching of the course, is well qualified and her efforts for the young people are certainly bringing forth splendid results.

The Hiber home rang with merriment for several hours as the young ladies participated in the fun of the evening, and real amusement was derived from the playing of games of all sorts. One of the principal amusements of the evening was a test of the ability of the ladies to construct a bridal dress from pieces of muslin and mosquito netting and the finished costumes caused a great deal of merriment.
