BULGARIANS ARE DRIVEN BY THE FRENCH TROOPS

Hard Fighting Marks Attempt to Occupy Strategic Defiles of Babuna.

Paris, Nov. 3.—Announcement was made by the war office today of the repulse of a Bulgarian attack on French troops in southern Serbia. Near Krivoak, in the region of Strumitsa, the French troops are advancing on the mountains near the frontier.

According to dispatches from Saloniki, says a Havas dispatch from Athens, the Bulgarians advancing beyond Veles occupied part of the defiles of Babuna after desperate fighting, but the Serbians still hold the principal part of the defiles near Perlepe.

The evacuation of Monastir by the Serbians is denied.

A French man of war yesterday bombarded a Bulgarian supply train between Xanthi and Dedeghatch.

Bottle Up Fort.

Udine, Nov. 2.—(Via Paris, Nov. 3.)—Fort Hansel, center of the Austrian system of fortifications around Malborghetto dominating the road from Pontafel to Tarvis, has been "bottled up" according to Italian official reports, as all surrounding heights have been occupied with Italian heavy guns, rendering the fort powerless.

Italian Report.

Rome, Nov. 2.—(Via Paris, Nov. 3.) The following official statement was issued at the headquarters of the Italian general staff:

"In the Ledro valley the enemy, powerless to drive us from the Bezecza basin, opened a violent and intense artillery fire on the villages. Bezecza and Becca were damaged and Menzumi was burned.

"In the upper Sexten valley (Drava) enemy troops which were seen in Inrichriedl and Knuth were shelled by our artillery. In the valley near Ludera, south of Lusnitz, an enemy detachment which was attacked and dispersed by our troops abandoned a quantity of rifles and munitions.

NO BREAK SEEMS POSSIBLE IN THE WESTERN ARMY

Armies Deadlocked So Tight That None Can Gain Decisively. Again Shown.

HALF MILLION BRITONS READY

New York, Nov. 3.—The most significant revelations made by Premier Asquith in his explanation of the progress of the war and due to the fact that Sir John French had nearly a million British troops under his command during the recent offensive in Artois and the frank admission that the financial burdens of the war are becoming serious.

If, with nearly a million British troops ready for action, the German lines could not be pierced under conditions that existed six weeks ago, it is difficult to believe much hope can exist that the deadlock in the west will be broken by military pressure. Sir John French's report on the Artois offensive made public this week shows that a large gain might possibly have resulted if the arrival of British reserves had not been delayed in the crucial moments during the struggle for Hill No. 70.

But the dominant circumstances of the Arois engagement is not the failure of the reserves to arrive in time; it is rather the meagerness of the gains compared with the immense force under Sir John French's control. There can be no possible question of the bravery and tenacity of the British troops. But the more their soldierly qualities are emphasized, the less hope must remain that it is humanly possible to overcome the western deadlock by force of arms.

Efforts to destroy the deadlock cannot continue indefinitely because of the approach of financial exhaustion. Mr. Asquith has made this clear. He has told the house of commons that even British financial strength is not capable of bearing the burdens of war unless there is much greater public and private economy. By urging economy, Mr. Asquith means that the people of Great Britain must save more money in order that they can be taxed the heavier and can subscribe to future war loans as well.

Mr. Asquith's criticism applies to all the belligerents alike. If the prime minister of the world's richest empire is compelled to take a gloomy view of the financial situation of his own country, the plight of the other warring nations is without doubt equally as serious. Under this condition, it is becoming more and more probable that peace will be enforced by gradual exhaustion of the belligerents' supply of silver bullets.

From Wednesday's Daily. Yesterday Gus Kopp, one of the employees at the Burlington shops, received a rather severely mashed index finger on the right hand while he was engaged in changing the water from an engine on which the boiler-makers were working. ## SUFFRAGISTS BADLY BEATEN IN NEW YORK

New York Also Defeated the New State Constitution by a Big Majority.

DEMOCRATIC GOVERNORS IN MARYLAND AND KENTUCKY

New York, Nov. 3.—Woman suffrage was beaten by a majority of 210,000 and the revised state constitution rejected by approximately 300,000 in the statewide election yesterday, returns today show.

The legislature will be virtually the same complexion as it was this year. Politically the senate, to which only one member was elected yesterday, remains unchanged. The assembly which contained ninety-nine republicans this year, will have ninety-eight next year. One progressive, a socialist and fifty democrats will complete the body. It has been three years since there was a socialist in the assembly.

A majority of the mayors elected in the state were republican. Albany, Amsterdam, Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Rochester named republicans. Troy, Utica and Mount Vernon elected democrats. Theron Akin, a former congressman, ran as an independent in Amsterdam and was defeated by James R. Cline. George R. Lunn, former socialist mayor of Schenectady, was returned to that office.

Democrats Gain.

Democrats generally were successful in Greater New York. Alfred E. Smith and Edward Swann, democrats, were elected sheriff and district attorney respectively, in New York county by majorities estimated at from 40,000 to 50,000. In the other four counties James Crojsey, district attorney of Kings, was the only republican elected to a high county office. The board of aldermen in the city is overwhelmingly democratic.

In republican circles the defeat of the constitution was taken philosophically. All of the leaders were well pleased with the showing of the party made in the assembly race.

William S. Bennett, republican, was elected congressman from the Twenty-third congressional district.

Democratic Governor in Maryland.

Baltimore, Nov. 3.—State Comptroller Emerson C. Harrington, the democratic candidate for governor, was elected yesterday to succeed Governor P. L. Goldsborough, republican. At 8 o'clock this morning his plurality over O. E. Weller, republican, was estimated at 3,500. Albert C. Ritchie, democratic candidate for attorney general, ran ahead of Harrington considerably, and Hugh A. McMullen, candidate for comptroller, ran about evenly with the gubernatorial candidate.

Harrington was elected by the vote given United States Senator John Walter Smith one year ago. The democrats will retain control of the senate, through holdover members, and probably will have a reduced majority in the house of delegates.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Meisinger and son, Clyde, drove in from their farm home yesterday morning to attend to some business matters and to meet P. M. Meisinger and family, who were coming in from Benson, Neb., for a few days' visit at the L. A. Meisinger home. While here Mr. Meisinger took time to call at this office and have his subscription to the Daily Journal extended for another year.

CURED BOY OF CROUP.

Nothing frightens a mother more than the loud, hoarse cough of croup. Labored breathing, strangling, choking and gasping for breath demand instant action. Mrs. T. Neureuer, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar cured my boy of croup after other remedies failed." Recommended for coughs and colds. Sold everywhere.

Louis McDaniel of Council Bluffs, who was here visiting with his mother and sisters, Mrs. J. E. and William Tuey and families, for a few hours, returned yesterday to his home. He has just returned from a summer's vacation on a ranch near White Sulphur Springs, Montana.

DEMOCRATS ARE FEELING GOOD OVER RETURNS

Makes Great Gains in All the States and Feel Very Greatly Encouraged.

Washington, Nov. 3.—A statement issued tonight from the headquarters of the democratic national committee commenting on the results of yesterday's election, said:

"The results of yesterday show that while the republicans and bull moose have gotten together in some states, the democracy has made large gains from the progressive ranks. This is notably true in Massachusetts, from which state the first official returns are available. The democratic gubernatorial candidate, Governor Walsh, made a wonderful race. He polled the largest vote ever given a democrat in the state, while Mr. McCall, the republican candidate, ran way behind the normal republican vote given party nominees in recent years. The boast of the republicans in Massachusetts that they would carry the state by from 25,000 to 40,000 majority remains unfulfilled. The total vote given Walsh yesterday was 229,312, while McCall received 235,916 votes. The vote for Governor Walsh was nearly 20,000 greater than he received two years ago and 37,000 more than he received in 1912. President Wilson received only 173,400 votes as against 208,175 for Taft and Roosevelt. Taft received 265,966 votes in 1908, which is 30,000 more than the vote given McCall yesterday.

"In this connection, the important fact should not be overlooked that Massachusetts is one of the old line republican states. It has elected republican legislatures and republican United States senators for generations. The democratic party, which has always been the minority party, is stronger in the state today than it has ever been before.

"There were three state election results yesterday where governors were chosen. The democrats elected their state tickets in two of these states. While they lost the governorship in Massachusetts, a heretofore strong republican state, they elected a democrat to replace the present republican in Maryland. In Kentucky the democrats elected their candidate for governor, A. O. Stanley, whose election was opposed by a number of republican spellbinders of national reputation, including former Vice President Fairbanks. The victories in two of these closely-contested states and the very remarkable race made by the party leader in the other is highly gratifying to the national democracy, for all of these states have been in the republican fold during the past few years.

"The results yesterday are full of encouragement to democrats, demonstrating conclusively that it is the constructive and gaining party, while the republicans have failed signally in their effort to force back into the rank progressive and independent republicans."

Such elegant appearance is difficult to obtain in many other shoes. The secret of this graceful fit is in the fact that Utz & Dunn Co. Shoes are modeled with unusual care and precision.

And this trim, neat look is unimpaired by long wearing because, due to the quality and strength of the materials which enter into them, these shoes hold their shape until discarded.
