

FIRE DESTROYS TRENTON NEW JERSEY FACTORY

Rope Plant Burns With Loss of One Million Dollars—Origin Unknown.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 11.—Fire early today destroyed a rope shop of the John A. Roeblings' Sons company, causing a loss estimated at half a million dollars. Occupants of a row of frame houses near the plant were compelled to flee in their night clothing.

The rope mill was 100 feet wide and 700 feet long. The fire started in one end and the building, because of its inflammable construction, was soon all in flames. The interior was open. The upper floors were of wood saturated with oil from machinery. Wire rope was being manufactured in this shop.

There were rumors the fire was incendiary due to the belief the company was making war material. Officials do not believe this.

There were about 650 men employed in the shop. Other branches of the plant will be affected by the closing down of this department. Rebuilding, it is expected, will be started immediately.

Last January the Roebling plant was destroyed with a loss of $1,500,000.

The building in which it was reported the Roeblings are planning to make gun barrels, is three blocks from today's fire. First reports that this had been destroyed proved untrue.

DIFFERENCES ARE DIFFERENT SAYS BRYAN

DOES NOT SEE HIS ERROR

Disagreement With President Wilson Not Like That of Taft and Teddy.

Washington, Nov. 14.—There are different kinds of differences, W. J. Bryan pointed out tonight as he departed for his winter home in Miami, Fla., and his differences with President Wilson are different from those between Roosevelt and Taft. They are not in the same class, he said, in fact. He reiterated that he and the president will continue "undisturbed friendship."

"I came to Washington," said Bryan, "two years ago last month at the invitation of the president because he thought I could render a service to the government. I was more than pleased with the opportunities offered and am satisfied that the work done in the negotiations of treaties and in cultivating better relations with Latin-American, will stand."

"I resigned only when I became convinced that the opportunities for service were larger outside of the cabinet. On nearly every question I found it possible to agree with the president, and in this matter it has given me pleasure to second his efforts. In the few instances in which we could not agree, I have stated my views with frankness and am willing to risk the judgment of the party and the country."

"The republicans must not put the differences between the president and myself in the same class with the differences between Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt had personal differences which led to a division in the republican party. The differences between the president and myself are differences of principle, and will not disturb the friendship between us. I rely upon my record during the last twenty-five years to prove my devotion to the democratic party and that devotion was never greater than today."

Miss Mary E. Foster came up yesterday from her home at Union and spent the day here with friends, departing this morning for Omaha.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; since cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

27 AMERICANS ARE LOST, SAYS THE ANCONA REPORT

U. S. Will Not Protest If Ship Tried to Escape After Being Overhauled.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—Of 496 passengers and crew of the Italian liner Ancona, 347 were reported saved and twenty-seven Americans lost, in official dispatches to the state department today.

The United States, before proceeding to protest the sinking of the Ancona, will determine whether the Ancona was warned before being attacked and whether the attacking submarine was German or Austrian.

Press reports that the Ancona tried to escape lessened the gravity of the situation. No protest could be made if it were positively established that the Ancona did not obey international maritime laws requiring submission to search after being overtaken.

On the other hand, a sharp, peremptory and immediate demand for disavowal and reparation will be forthcoming if the Ancona halted at command of the submarine.

These doctors are among America's leading stomach and nerve specialists and are experts in the treatment of chronic diseases and so great and wonderful have been their results that in many cases it is hard to find the dividing line between skill and miracle.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart, spleen, kidneys, or bladder, rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, bed-wetting, tape worm, leg ulcers, weak lungs and those afflicted with long-standing deep seated, chronic diseases that have baffled the skill of the family physicians, should not fail to call. If you have kidney or bladder troubles bring a two ounce bottle of your urine for chemical analysis and microscopic examination.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others may have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. GENERAL ATTACKS IN EAST BY RUSSIAN ARMY

But Little Change in Balkan Campaign—Vesles Not Captured by the Allied Troops.

THE SUBSEA ACTIVITY ALARMS

London, Nov. 11.—An acute revival of the submarine issue, chiefly in the Mediterranean, accompanied by a general offensive activity by the Russians on the eastern front, makes the war news read today like a repetition of history six months' old.

Along the southern extremity of the Russian line to the west of Czartorysk, where desperate battles have been under way for several weeks, the Russians claim a considerable success, which is said to have resulted in breaking the Austro-German lines and to have culminated in a retreat, during which numbers of fleeing soldiers were drowned and 2,000 taken prisoners.

In the Riga area the Russians maintain they are more than holding their own. West of Riga the Russians have consolidated the positions they recently won and claim to be the occupants of several villages which had been in the hands of the invaders.

Little Change in Balkans. Less change is reported from the Balkan front than at any time since the new campaign began. It is now definitely established that the French are not in possession of the Serbian town of Vesles, a daring cavalry raid, which apparently reached at least the environs of the place being responsible for the erroneous report that the town had been wrested from the hands of the Bulgars.

It is unofficially reported that both wings of the Bulgarian forces invading Macedonia were menaced by the Anglo-French advance, while the Serbians are said to have resumed the offensive in the region of Babuna pass where they recently won an important success. The Serbians are making a stand there and it is also reported that they have established complete communication with the French. This report, if true, insures the temporary safety of Monastir, where a condition approaching panic has been prevailing.

Monastir has a large Bulgarian population and it was feared some of the inhabitants might join the hands of Bulgarian irregulars, which on several occasions lately has threatened the city.

Discuss the Ancona. London newspapers continue to devote much space to the sinking of the Italian steamship Ancona. Many of them editorially express the opinion that the attacking boat was a German submarine, and they arrive at the usual conclusion that the United States is more concerned in exacting reparation than any other nation.

Nothing New. Paris, Nov. 11.—The official communication issued by the French war office this afternoon was very brief, reading:

"There is nothing to add today to the communication issued last night."

Vienna Denies Report. Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—(Via London.)—A telegram received from Vienna denies the capture by the Italians of Coidi Lana and Monte Cief as announced in an official Italian communication. It is admitted that Coidi Lana was temporarily in the hands of the Italians Sunday, but the assertion is made that it was recaptured by a counter attack.

Distress in the Stomach. There are many people who have a distress in the stomach after meals. It is due to indigestion and easily remedied by taking one of Chamberlain's Tablets after meals.

Mrs. Henry Padgham, Victor, N. Y., writes: "For some time I was troubled with headache and distress in my stomach after eating, also with constipation. About six months ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. They regulated the action of my bowels and the headache and other annoyances ceased in a short time." Obtainable everywhere.

Settles for Large Sum. In the case of John A. Moore, an Omaha attorney injured in an accident on a Union Pacific train two years ago, the railroad company secured a compromise with the plaintiff by paying him $50,000 in settlement of the case. Mr. Moore secure a verdict for $68,000 at the trial of the case before a jury at Omaha. Matthew Gering of this city was one of his attorneys.

BANKRUPTCY FAR DISTANT IN ENGLAND

Lord Devenport's Fears Prompted by Fact That Rich Men Are Being Hard Hit.

ENORMOUS INCREASE IN TAXES

New York, Nov. 11.—Lord Devenport's warning in the house of lords that Great Britain may be approaching bankruptcy because of the war should not be taken too seriously. The financial situation in all the belligerent countries is disquieting, but chiefly because of the enormous increases in taxation that the accumulating debts will fix on Europe as a permanent blight.

Bankruptcy, for the British empire, is still far in the distance. Lord Devenport is the first to suggest the idea in an alarmist sense. It is probable his real fear is not that Great Britain will repudiate her indebtedness, but that the wealthy classes will be called upon to pay constantly increasing taxes to prevent national bankruptcy. Lord Devenport is regarded by labor interests as one of the leading reactionaries of Great Britain. As chairman of the port of London authority, which controls the docks of the British metropolis, he has constantly antagonized the interests of the workingmen and has sought to promote capitalism by every means in his power.

A few days ago, Lord Northcliffe cheerfully expressed the belief that his own income tax would be raised to 50 per cent before the end of the war and would not be lowered with the coming of peace. After the war, said Northcliffe, the poor in Great Britain would be richer and the rich poorer. It is probable that this new situation outlined by Lord Northcliffe is causing profound uneasiness in Great Britain to the class represented by Lord Devenport. The idea of permanently parting with this wealth to a far greater extent after the war than before the conflict began is abhorrent to the reactionary millionaires.

Under the spur of this disquietude, it is not difficult to understand that there should prevail an exaggerated sense of financial alarm among the reluctant millionaires. To couple uneasiness over a large permanent increase in taxation, which must be borne for the most part by men of wealth, with a warning about national bankruptcy, is but a millionaire's method of self protection.

Lord Devenport speaks for the money class when he expresses fear of bankruptcy. His plea not directly expressed, but implied, in all probability, is against piling up taxation for the future. To emphasize the seriousness of the situation, he uses the word bankruptcy.

A certain class of British millionaires is thus beginning to revolt because of the costliness of the war. These large taxpayers realize what the permanent consequences of the war may be to their bank accounts and they want to lessen the effect as much as possible. They may compel the introduction of government economy; at the same time their discomfiture may prove to be an important factor in the work of bringing about peace.

A TWICE-TOLD TALE

One of Interest to Our Readers. Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long lapse of time, even if we hesitated to believe it at first hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now. The following experience of a Plattsmouth man is confirmed after five years:

Herman Tiekotter, contractor, Ninth and Day streets, Plattsmouth, says: "My kidneys caused me much trouble and I had a dull, tired feeling across my loins. If I stooped or straightened, my back hurt me and in the morning I was all tired out. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills promptly relieved every symptom of the complaint." (Statement given June 8, 1906.)

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER, Mr. Tiekotter said: "The kidney trouble has never returned, so I can say I am permanently cured."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Tiekotter had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
