MRS. GALT'S BUYER BARRED BY PARIS

French Dressmakers Refuse to Sell Gowns to German From the United States.

Paris, Nov. 19.—The Paris dressmakers' syndicate has blacklisted two American customers of German origin one of them a man named Kurzmann, reputed to have been commissioned to buy gowns for Mrs. Norman Galt, who is to be the bride of President Wilson, according to Gustav Tery's newspaper l'Oeuvre.

The newspaper avers Kurzmann has threatened to raise a diplomatic question because of the modiste's refusal to accept orders from him. L'Oeuvre declares, however, that each house from which he ordered gowns has offered to supply them with its compliments to Mrs. Galt without having them pass through the hands of an intermediary.

Paul Poiret, president of the dressmakers' syndicate, is absent from Paris. His confidential secretary, however, confirmed the statement that Kurzmann has threatened to raise a diplomatic question over the declaration of the modistes to fill his orders for gowns which he maintains are intended for Mrs. Galt.

Syndicate Stands Pat. "You may declare that no members of our syndicate will deliver gowns to Kurzmann, or through Kurzmann or any other German house," said the secretary. "At the same time each or every member of the syndicate would be proud to be honored with a commission to make a gown for President Wilson's fiancée and would be most happy if permitted to present it with its compliments."

Rue de la Paix and other leading houses refuse to take orders for gowns which he maintains are intended for Mrs. Galt.

A Paris dispatch early this month said Charles Kurzmann of New York was there to select gowns for the wedding of President Wilson and Mrs. Galt. He was quoted as saying that while it "would be indiscreet to talk about clothes ordered by the Wilson family before obtaining permission from the White house," he felt that "Washington can look forward to a brilliant social season after the wedding."

HUSSANE HAS MET THE BEST OF MAT MEN SINCE COMING HERE

Chicago, Nov. 21.—(Special.)—When one looks over the record of this fellow, Hussane, the wonderfully proportioned Turk, who is to meet Joe Stecker in the big Lincoln match on Thanksgiving afternoon, one is impressed by the fact that he really is one of the really good foreigners sent to this country in the last seven or eight years. There have been a flock of them at different times, but only a few of them amount to much.

As a matter of fact the names of Zhyzsko, Mahmood, Hackenschmidt and Hussane stand out prominently. The remainder of them—and there were dozens—never amounted to more than posing good. They didn't even stand up for one season.

It is not generally known that Hussane never lost two straight falls during his entire career, and the single falls that he did have declared against him were lost to some great men.

In 1910, when George Hackenschmidt, then the practically undefeated "Russian Lion," was touring the country in a kind of triumphal manner and challenging Frank Gotch, the champion, right and left, he dropped into Dallas, Tex., one night for a bout with some man that the promoter there had picked out for him. Never scenting danger in any way, Jack Curley, then managing Hackenschmidt, had wired that he didn't care whom they picked as an opponent.

When the "Lion" walked onto the mat he discovered Hussane in front of him. They went to it at once and, to the great surprise of everybody, the Turk gave the famous German-Russ the fight of his life. The first fall went two hours and three minutes before "Hack" was able to pin the swathy ones shoulders to the canvas. And then it was said that Hussane wrenched one of his knees or otherwise they might have been wrestling yet.

Hussane matched himself with Zhyzsko, the elder, one night in Louisville. He believed he could win. They went on the level, but it took over an hour before the Turk was convinced that he was up against it. He weighed but 185 pounds at the time against the terrible 235 pounds that the famous Pole hurled against him.

SERBIANS BATTLE IN LAST HOPE OF SAVING COUNTRY

ALLIES MUST COME SOON

Berlin Believes the Beginning of the End at Hand—Still Time to Aid, Says Minister.

Berlin, Nov. 21.—(Via London.)—The Serbian army is fighting tonight for the last time. Doubtless there will still be guerilla engagements. The Serbs are at the beginning of the end, however, so far as further resistance in an organized body is concerned.

What will inevitably be the final encounter opened between the Austrians and Serbs at the foot of Koponik plateau, southeast of Raska. The Germans are at Raska, which is thirty miles north and a little west of Kosovo, where the Serb main army is encamped. On this field Serbi lost its liberty to the Turks centuries ago.

The Austrians were at Golija, thirty-five miles northwest, but pushing forward more rapidly than the Germans, and passing to the southeast of Raska, were first to encounter the Serb outposts.

Made Rapid Progress. The Germans and Bulgarians, however, had made unexpected rapid progress at the southern extremity of the plain.

They have entered the Pristina basin from the northeastward, tonight's official reports stated. Pristina is twenty miles south and a trifle east of the plain.

Thus the Serbs are already at grips with the Austrians on the north, are about to be attacked by Bulgar-German forces in the south and confront a solid body of Germans, Austrians and Bulgars to the eastward.

To the west of them, twenty miles away, is the Montenegro border. The Berlin war office believes them practically certain to be, not only defeated, but surrounded and captured in a body. In any event, officials said, there is no chance for them better than flight from the country into Montenegro.

There is Still Time. London, Nov. 21.—"By coming to the rescue in sufficient force within four weeks the allies can yet save Serbia," declared Serbian Minister Boskovich tonight. "She is not lost forever," he added, "and will not be lost if the allies help us."

Official advices fully confirming earlier stories of the massacres and the devastation wrought in the territory they have traversed have just reached the minister.

"I am not so much concerned as to the military situation," he said, "for that, I have already explained, can be retrieved, as over the pitiable plight of the wretched Serbian people."

"Those who have found refuge in Greece are receiving protection and organized aid under the direction of Princess Demidoff, wife of the Russian minister at Athens, but the condition of those in Montenegro and Albania is hopeless unless relief comes to them speedily from the outside world."

A want ad in the Journal will bring results.

VILLA ROUTED AND LOSES 600 MEN IN BATTLE

A SURRENDER IS DEMANDED

After Retreating Offenders and May Capture Entire Force.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 21.—Villa's retreating army lost 600 dead and 900 wounded in one of the bloodiest engagements fought since the battle of Agua Prieta, when it was attacked yesterday afternoon at Alamito, Sonora, by Carranzista forces under General Manuel Dieguez. Alamito is twenty miles north of Hermosillo.

The battle lasted for five hours, according to a report today from General Alvaro Obregon. The Carranza leader also claims the capture of two cannon, six machine guns, 400 rifles and several carloads of provisions and other war supplies. The Carranza losses are 150 killed and wounded.

Villa forces of General Jose Rodriguez have broken through the cordon placed around Cananea by General Obregon and are rushing to the assistance of Villa.

The retreating Villa forces are being hotly pursued by General Dieguez, Carranza defender of the capital. Some of the retreating troops had reached as far north as Imuris by railroad and General Obregon has diverted his troops attacking Cananea to the west to cut off the escape of Villa's men to Nogales.

General Obregon today sent a courier from Del Rio with a message addressed to General Jose Rodriguez, commander of the Villa forces in Cananea, demanding his surrender.

If a reply is not received before tomorrow noon General Obregon threatens to cut off the water supply of the town.

According to Carranzista officials here General Villa himself is moving eastward from his headquarters at Magdalena with 3,000 men.

According to Major Demetrio Sylvan, an officer of Villa's body guard, Villa several days ago gave orders to the 3,000 men in his picked body to "bring in General Obregon, dead or alive."

"Until you have captured or killed Obregon you will not return to the main army," was Villa's final injunction.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 21.—To prevent the main Villa army, reported retreating from Hermosillo, from reaching Nogales, General Alvaro Obregon, Carranza commander in northern Mexico, has bridge burning squads operating along the Hermosillo-Nogales railway line. A skirmish today at Labota, eight miles east of Santa Cruz, on the Del Rio Nogales branch of the Southern Pacific, is reported in advices reaching here tonight to have resulted in checking Obregon's westward movement temporarily. Obregon reports, however, indicate that the Villa forces withdrew after an hour's fighting.

General Obregon reported to General Carranza today that Cananea had been garrisoned, following the flight yesterday of the Villa forces under General Jose Rodriguez. Rodriguez left several pieces of artillery and his wounded, it was said. General Carranza telegraphed Obregon today that reinforcements will leave Piedras Negras tomorrow, in bond of Naco, traveling through United States territory.

Advices to Mexican consul Lelevier stated that 1,800 men and 400 cavalry horses will constitute the first detachment.

The railroad between Naco and Cananea was opened tonight for traffic, according to Lelevier. The Cananea Consolidated Copper Co. today purchased all food supplies available at Naco for shipment south to relieve those left destitute by Rodriguez.
