WORK AND PRAY FOR END OF WAR POPE'S MESSAGE

Christmas Day One of Anguish for Pointiff—Exhorts America to Help Stay Slaughter.

ASKS UNIVERSAL PRAYERS

New York, Dec. 26.—Christmas was a day of anguish to Pope Benedict, who sent a message to America through the United Press, urging universal prayers for an early ending of the European slaughter. The pope's exhortation was received by cable as follows:

"To the United Press, New York: 'Rome, Dec. 25.—While the hymn of the angels resounds glory to God in the highest heaven and peace on earth, good will to men, the slaughter in Europe, of which there is no example in history, continues.

"All men are brothers because they are sons of God and specifically are Christians and Catholics. All, moved by this feeling of spiritual brotherhood, must work and pray for the speedy ending of this terrible war, which has dishonored Europe and plunged all humanity into mourning.

"This is the exhortation that the Holy Father, His heart filled with anguish, sends forth to the world.

(Signed) "Pietro Cardinal Gaspari, 'Papal Secretary of State."

DEATH OF LITTLE DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. COOLEGGE

A message was received here yesterday by friends of the family announcing the death of little Helen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Coolegge, who passed away at an early hour Saturday morning at Rosalie, Nebraska, where the family has resided for the past few years. The message did not give the cause of the death and it came as a great shock as it was only two weeks ago that the family were in this city to attend the funeral of Mrs. Washington Smith, grandmother of the little girl, and at that time she seemed perfectly well and not a sign of illness was shown. The sympathy of the many friends of the family will go out to the bereaved parents in the loss of their darling little daughter, who after two years of life is taken from their midst.

"THE FRAME UP" AT THE GEM TUESDAY EVENING

The next Broadway feature which will be shown at the Gem theater on Tuesday evening next, will be that of "The Frame-Up," a stirring play of American politics, introducing George Fawcett, America's most famous actor, in the role of this kind. The story in brief is of a mayor who could not buy and a woman who would not sell. The story in brief is as follows: Luke Simms, a charitable and honest politician, is elected mayor with the assistance of Sears, a corrupt political boss. Simms meets Florida, Sears' mistress, while alleviating distress in the slums. They fall in love with each other and marry. Florida, however, does not reveal her past to Simms.

Sears, attempting to force Simms to sign a crooked bill, threatens to expose his wife's past, and Simms, angered at Sears' covert threat, goes to the latter's home to demand an explanation.

Sears has ruined his stenographer, Nell, who gives birth to his child. Her brother, Ned, learns of her shame, and, enraged, steals into Sears home to kill his sister's betrayer. He extracts the cartridges from Sears' revolver.

A moment later Simms enters the house and Sears comes into the library to talk with him, not knowing that Ned is secreted there. Sears tells Simms of Florida's past and threatens to publicly expose her. Simms, mad with rage, attacks Sears, and when the latter attempts to stab him snaps the latter's revolver. At the same instant Ned shoots Sears dead and Simms believes he has killed the corrupt boss.

At Simms' trial Florida confesses her past and the sympathetic jury frees Simms. Later Ned is trailed by a young patrolman and when fatally shot confesses that he killed Sears. Simms and Florida are reunited.

MR. AND MRS. E. G. HILL CELEBRATE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hill of this city celebrated their fifteenth wedding anniversary, and in honor of the happy event some seventy of their friends gathered to assist them in seeing that the event was properly celebrated, and the occasion was one filled with the rarest of enjoyment to the host and hostess, and the members of the jolly party. A very pleasing informal program was given during the evening by the different members of the party and included two very pleasing readings by Mesdames A. J. Beeson and William Baird, which were given in their usual finished manner and was enjoyed to the utmost by everyone present. The Plattsmouth Male quartet, composed of Messrs. Brooks, Cloidt, Seivers and York, gave several selections of more than usual merit, and Mr. D. C. York contributed a most delightful vocal solo to the enjoyment of the evening. Mrs. Charles Jelinek and Miss Alta Spencer of Beemer, Neb., a sister of Mrs. Hill, were heard in a duet of much charm and beauty, which added greatly to the pleasure of the happy event.

The rooms of the Hill home were very prettily arranged with decorations of the holiday season in streamers of red and green and with holly festoons in evidence throughout the general decorative scheme, while red carnations added a touch of beauty and charm to the scene. At a suitable hour very dainty and delicious refreshments were served by the young ladies of Mrs. Hill's class, under the direction of Mrs. L. C. Copenhaver and Mrs. D. C. York. The guests of honor of the evening received a great many very handsome gifts in cut glass in remembrance of the occasion, and on departing their friends extended to them their wishes for a great many years of married life and that they might have the opportunity of assisting in the celebration of other wedding anniversaries in the future.

FORMER CASS COUNTY PEOPLE IN MONTANA DOING WELL

We are in receipt of a communication from Mrs. Alva Osborn, who resides near Jordan, Mont., in which she encloses subscription money and says:

"We have had some snow, but not very cold, only 10 below zero. The people in Nebraska think it very cold until it reaches 35 below. The crops were good here this year, especially small grain. There were several threshing machines in operation this year, where only a few years ago we had none. The good homestead land is going fast. The little town of Jordan is growing into a city when there used to be only one store. Also, they have built a High school during the past year and there are about fifty scholars enrolled, and grades with three teachers, where there used to be no sub schools there are about ten now, with an average of ten scholars enrolled, and teachers are scarce. Miss Ethel Thomas, a former Cass county girl, will receive the honor of being the first to graduate from the Jordan High school. Miss Thomas is a niece of Mrs. D. O. Dwyer of Plattsmouth; her home was at Elmwood. Miss Hazel Lamphear, a former Plattsmouth girl and Cass county teacher, who is teaching in one of the sub schools, gave a program and box social the 11th of December at the home of her uncle, J. I. Osborn, which was a complete success, both socially and financially, realizing the neat sum of $226.50. There were 115 grown people, not including the children; only forty-four boxes were sold. I will send you a copy of the Jordan Gazette."

Mrs. Osborn's former home was Plattsmouth, residing here about ten years, and she has resided in Montana six years.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE J. G. HORN SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The funeral of the late J. G. Horn was held on Christmas day at 2 o'clock in the afternoon from the St. Paul's Evangelical church, and was attended by a great number of the friends of the deceased, who gathered to pay their last tribute of love and respect to this worthy pioneer citizen. The choir gave two beautiful German hymns during the services and Rev. Steger spoke on the message of the angel, "Fear Not."

It was a very pathetic occasion when all the old friends bid their last good-bye to the deceased friend who had experienced with them the troubles and privations of pioneer life in the young western country. The pall-bearers at the funeral were: Mr. C. Vallery, Leonard Born, Jacob Tritsch, John Hinz, Theodore Stark-john, John Bauer, sr. The children left to mourn the death of this good man are: Fred Horn, Mrs. M. J. Rummell, Beaver City; Mrs. George Kunzmann, John Horn, Welltona, Colorado; Miss Clara Horn, Beaver City.

The following sketch of the life of the father has been prepared for the Journal by the children:

John George Horn was born in Darmstadt, Germany, May 26, 1836, and at the age of 22 years he left his native home and came to America to make his home in the land of the free and located at Pekin, Illinois. Here, at the age of 30 years he was married to Miss Margaret Anna Nickel, and to this union were born seven children, Fred J., Peter, who died in infancy, Louisa M., Rose M., George P., who died at the age of 19 years, John G. and Clara C. In the year 1885 he moved with his family to Plattsmouth and resided here until 1905, when he moved to Beaver City, where he spent his last days.

Our Savior called our beloved father John George Horn, to his eternal rest on the 21st day of December, 1915, at the age of 79 years, 6 months and 24 days, he dying from a complication of diseases. Although he had been ill for several months, his disease did not seem fatal until December 9th, when he became bedfast, and his last days were full of suffering, but he bore it so patiently. He told the children he could see in vision the heavens open wide and the angels were with him in his last hours.

It's only the paper line that will be found at the Journal office, but this line will be found complete. Come in and see.

A want ad in the Journal will bring results.

ALL THE CHILDREN RECEIVED SUBSTANTIAL PRESENT CHRISTMAS

On Christmas day there was a very pleasant gathering at the home of J. H. Meisinger, near Cedar Creek, and the children and grandchildren gathered to celebrate the day in the proper spirit with the parents, and the day was one of pleasure and enjoyment to everyone of the family. A big old-fashioned Christmas dinner was served, to which the eight children and their families joined, and after disposing of this feast the children were most pleasantly surprised when the father presented each of his eight children with a $100 bill as a Christmas present to spend as they saw fit, and which was received with a spirit of gratitude by the children as a token of the love and esteem held for them by their father. The day was spent in rare enjoyment in visiting with each other, and it was late when the members of the family departed for their home, expressing their thanks a thousand times to the father for his remembrances. The children present with their parents on this happy occasion were: Adam Meisinger and family, G. L. Meisinger and family, J.
