POLLARD WOULD PUT BAR ON THE LIQUOR QUESTION

Candidate for Governor Says Dry Amendment Is Separate Issue—Is for Prohibition as an Individual.

Omaha, Jan. 30.—Following is the statement with respect to the prohibition amendment and his candidacy for the republican nomination for governor made by E. M. Pollard here Saturday:

"The constitutional amendment, adopted a few years ago, providing the initiative as a means of submitting questions to the people, had for its purpose the eliminating of all moral questions from politics. The legislature that convened following the adoption of the amendment, enacted a law which specifically stated that no political party should endorse any matter submitted under the initiative. The law further provided that any question submitted under the initiative, should appear on a separate ballot. It is apparent that the people in adopting the constitutional amendment and the legislation in providing the machinery for carrying it into effect, safeguarded the initiative in every way against political interference.

"I believe that a man who aspires to become governor of the state ought to have the highest regard for not only the letter, but the spirit of the law. In this instance it clearly estops him from becoming active either in support of or opposition to the prohibition amendment. As an individual, I expect to vote for the amendment. Should I be elected governor, I will be required to take an oath supporting the constitution and the laws as I find them. To me this oath will be a solemn obligation. Should prohibition carry at the election, whoever is elected governor, will, when sworn into office, take an oath that will make it obligatory on his part to carry out the spirit of the new constitution. To be true to his oath, it will be necessary to sign a bill submitted by the legislature to make effective the constitutional amendment.

Will Enforce Laws.

"I will enforce all existing laws, under my oath, to the best of my ability. This has been my attitude on the question from the beginning. In my travels about the state, I find that the people generally, whether they favor the amendment or whether they oppose it, accept my position as being right. In fact, the only position a conscientious man can take. During the three or four days I have just spent in Omaha, I find that among certain business men who are handling many of the great industrial enterprises of the city, and for the most part, temperance men in their private life, are insisting that a candidate for governor to be acceptable must oppose prohibition. This simply means that a candidate for governor who is acceptable to them must be a person who will oppose the carrying out of the will of the people should prohibition carry.

"It is well known that the governor has no voice in the adoption of the amendment. That question is to be settled by the people at the November election. The governor can neither approve nor veto the will of the people as expressed in the election. A man's views on the temperance question ought not to be material to the opponents or proponents of prohibition, because he has nothing to do with it. The only excuse for bringing this matter into the primary campaign on the part of the friends of the liquor interests is to secure the nomination of a man for governor who is known to be opposed to the enactment of legislation for carrying into effect prohibition should it carry and who will stultify himself by winking at the law in his failure to enforce it. To my mind, this is one of the most contemptible and disgraced situations imaginable.

Qualifications for Governor.

"For my own part, I have always lived in the country where I have been surrounded by nature and lived in a wholesome atmosphere, where ability, high character and fidelity to duty is the rule by which men are measured. I find a great many men, in the class referred to, who consider these accomplishments a bar to political preferment, especially in so far as the candidates for governor are concerned. I do not mean to intimate that this situation is universal. I know personally a great many men throughout the city associated with great industrial enterprises who have no sympathy with this idea. I also know that there are thousands of people in Omaha who want a man of high character and recognized ability elected governor of the state. To all those who share this belief, I wish to sound this warning.

"The friends of the liquor interests are forcing their issue by their action in this matter. I wish to appeal to all the good people in Omaha and throughout the state to rebuke any such effort. There is no reason why the liquor question should be drawn into the gubernatorial campaign. It is perhaps not material to the people of the state whether I am nominated or elected governor or not. In my opinion however, it is of the utmost importance that a man be elected governor that is known to be a man of recognized ability, of high character and who will conscientiously perform the obligations of his oath in enforcing the constitution and laws of the state regardless of whether prohibition carries or not."

THE REMAINS OF ALBERT N. LONG TAKEN TO GRETNA

Yesterday morning the body of the late Albert Newton Long was taken from his home in this city to Gretna, Nebraska, the former residence of Mr. Long, where he had resided for close to forty years, and laid to rest there yesterday afternoon in the family burial lot in the cemetery at that place. The members of the family accompanied the body of the husband and father to the old home for final interment. A large number of the old friends and neighbors were present there to take part in the last tributes of love and esteem.

MISSION AT ST. LUKE'S OPENED LAST EVENING

The mission at the St. Luke's Episcopal church in this city was commenced last evening, and despite the stormy and cold weather, a large number of the members of the parish were present to take part in the first of these great meetings which will be held in every parish of the American church and which is tended to awaken in the church a clearer conception of this church and its mission as the standard bearer of Christ's teachings in the new world. Father W. S. Leete, rector of the church in this city, will serve as missionary at the services during the coming week, and a growing interest has already been felt among the parishioners that the church was calling with its stirring message to the American people. A nation-wide preaching mission is designed, not to revive for a brief space a gospel ministry; it is designed to place a fresh and permanent accent upon the lofty ministry of the pulpit. If it is to be effective in reviving the spiritual life of the church and through it the spiritual life of the nation, it must not be spectacular or sporadic. It is not a movement, it is a re-affirmation of principle.

The sermon last evening was one filled with the deepest meaning on "The Greatness of God," and its inspiring words found an echo in the hearts of the members of the parish. The instruction given was on "Prayer," which gave the church's position in regard to this part of the religious structure. The missionary will have a question box during the mission when different questions pertaining to the teachings of the church will be taken up and explained.

The general committee of advisors who will assist in the work of the mission and to help the missionary in the general work will be: Dr. J. S. Livingston, C. W. Baylor, Miss Barbara Gering, Mrs. Eva Reece, Mrs. J. H. Kuhns.

The committee for calling and distribution of literature consists of George Dodge, Mrs. Dodge, Dr. T. P. Livingston, Mrs. J. H. Thrasher, Miss Barbara Gering, Mrs. Eva Reece, Mrs. R. A. Bates, Mrs. J. H. Kuhns, Mrs. R. F. Patterson, Miss Marie Donnelly, Dr. J. S. Livingston, Guy Reece, Miss Verna Leonard, Madame and Mrs. W. S. Leete. Services will commence each evening at 7:45.

Lewis in his Dunbar exhibition is scheduled to play a game of 14-2 balk line of 100 points, after which he will play the best four local players. One of these contests will be a handicap of 50 to 25 points in favor of the locals, while the professional will play the game with his "long nose" as a cue. The visitor expects to put on some fancy shots in which the nose and fingers will be prominently used.

LARGE HOMESTEAD BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—The house of representatives has passed the Ferris grazing-homestead bill, which would permit one person to homestead 640 acres of land which shall have been designed by the secretary of the interior as stock raising lands. The designation will be based on his opinion that the surface is chiefly valuable for grazing and raising forage crops, does not contain merchantable timber, is not susceptible of irrigation from any known source of water supply, and is of such a character that 640 acres are reasonably required for the support of a family.

Congressman P. D. Norton of North Dakota tried to obtain amendment of the bill that former homestead entry of agricultural land shall not be a bar to entering enough to make up 640 acres in all.

The bill is promised a stormy passage in the senate, where a number of western senators defeated it at the last session.
