Another Big Wolf Hunt.

There is another big wolf hunt scheduled for this part of the county to take place on next Monday. This hunt is planned to take in a radius of five square miles, surrounding Murray; commencing just south of Mynard on the north. It is desired if possible to have 500 men out on this hunt, all with shotguns only, and make the grand round-up a genuine winner. The wolves are becoming quite numerous in the country, and these voluntary hunts are about the best way to get rid of them. There was a hunt held out in the Schaffer neighborhood Tuesday that resulted in the killing of four, and many others were seen. Let every one that possibly can join in one this occasion, and see that a wholesale slaughter is made of the coyotes.
