

OFFICERS CAPTURE THE RIVER THIEVES

Dewey and Carl Huston Are Taken in By Chief Barclay and Sheriff Quinton for Theft of Fishing Tackle.

From Saturday's Daily.

Yesterday afternoon Sheriff C. D. Quinton and Chief of Police William Barclay made a trip to the residence of Mrs. Ella Huston, near the electric light plant, and as a result of their visit Dewey Huston and Carl Huston are languishing in the county jail to answer to the charge of stealing the fishing tackle and quite a large amount of fish belonging to George Barr and Floyd Richardson. The arrest was made after a careful investigation of the matter by Sheriff Quinton in tracing up the suspicious fixed on these two young men and seems to have resulted in securing the right parties wanted. The first intimation of the complicity of the two men in the affair was when the sheriff discovered that a check had been received by one of the brothers from a man named Johnson, residing in Nemaha county, for a consignment of fish, and this, followed up, disclosed that a large part of the fishing equipment belonging to Barr had been disposed of to parties near Peru and a part at Nebraska City. A search warrant was issued yesterday morning and the sheriff, chief of police and county attorney, accompanied by William Grebe, who has been assisting in the case through his acquaintance with the fishermen, and the authorities, on entering the house, found the two men there and also unearthed a trawling net and a seine which, however, were not the ones taken from Mr. Barr but were identified as belonging to a man named Nickerson, who has been engaged in fishing along the river near this place.

The men were brought uptown and lodged in jail for safekeeping and were separated so as not to get together on any sworn statement. Last night Carl Huston weakened in his attitude and a confession was secured from him as to the taking of the fishing tackle and its disposal to different parties.

The men were examined this morning before County Attorney A. G. Cole and a complaint will probably be filed against both of the men in the county court today on the charge of stealing the fishing tackle from the ferry landing near this place. Mr. Barr is at Peru, where he is looking up the part of his stuff which was disposed of in that locality by the two men.

JUDGE BEESON MOVES TO HIS NEW HOME NORTH OF TOWN

From Friday's Daily.

The call of the springtime and the farm has at last reached the Cass county court house and one of the officials, County Judge Allen J. Beeson, has moved with his family out to their farm just west of the city and will spend the summer there in the enjoyment of the rest and quietude of the country side. The judge has spent the winter months in pleasant anticipation of this event, and a careful study of the raising of the Kohl-Rabi, watermelon and oyster plant, as well as others of the leading vegetables common to this section of the country, and will at once get busy in putting his ideas into action. The court house has another budding farmer in the person of "Rosy," the efficient deputy county clerk, who has recently acquired a small farm in the south part of the city and is stocking it with several assortment of seeds and plants which he is keeping a very close eye on, and long before the sun is up each morning he hastens out to the farm to look after the growing crops. With the farming bug loose in the court house, we are wondering who will be the next to take up the pursuit of agriculture.

GRADING FOR FIFTH STREET SIDEWALK IS COMPLETED

From Friday's Daily.

The grading for the new permanent sidewalk along South Fifth street in front of the residence of Adolph Giese has been completed by the city and as soon as the grading settles it will be ready to allow the laying of the new sidewalk, which will fill a long-felt want and make complete a permanent walk on both sides of the street from Main street to the top of the hill. Chief of Police Barclay has had a permanent walk in front of his property for the past year and the new walk will join up with this and be a great accommodation to those residing along that street as well as a good improvement to the city.

M. S. BRIGGS HAS CLOSE CALL FROM A SERIOUS INJURY

From Saturday's Daily.

Yesterday afternoon M. S. Briggs met with a very painful accident and one that came near having a serious ending for this estimable gentleman. Mr. Briggs was engaged in papering some of the rooms at the farm home of Henry Eikenbary, a few miles southwest of the city, and was rushing the work along in fine shape at the time he received his injuries. Having hung several strips of the ceiling paper Mr. Briggs found it necessary to get down from the table or scaffold upon which he was standing and, placing his hand on the edge of the table, jumped to the floor a few feet below. As he descended a pair of steel paper shears which were in an upright position in the pocket of his apron, caught on the edge of the table and with the force of the body of Mr. Briggs descending to aid in the driving of the shears, they penetrated his body on the left side near the short ribs and inflicted a wound of some two inches in depth, striking one of the ribs and deflecting somewhat from their course. The force with which the shears were forced into the body of Mr. Briggs may be imagined when it was found necessary to use both hands to get the shears out of the wound. He was brought to town in an auto by his son, Leland, and taken to the office of a physician where the injured member was dressed and the patient made as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. It will be several days before Mr. Briggs will be around in his usual active manner and he will find it necessary to rest at home until some time next week. The greatest danger from the accident was that the wound might have been infected from the shears, which were rather dirty with particles of past, and the dye from the wall paper, but every effort has been taken to avoid this.

SALE OF HOTEL RILEY IS FINALLY CONSUMMATED

From Friday's Daily.

The sale of the Hotel Riley property in this city has finally been consummated after negotiations covering several months, and Mr. Z. T. Sutley has secured the hotel from W. F. Kinslow, the present owner. Mr. Sutley has been here for the past three months arranging for the transfer of the property and yesterday afternoon the deal was closed by the parties and their attorneys, and gives Mr. Sutley one of the best and handsomest hotel buildings in that part of the state. Mr. J. E. Grippen, the present manager of the hotel, will be retained and will give his time to further improving the hotel in every way, and this fact will be very pleasing news to the citizens here as well as the traveling public, as he has made the hotel a success in every way and greatly increased the business of the establishment by his clever handling of all the details of the institution. As we have stated before, Mr. Sutley comes here from South Dakota, where he was very active and prominent in political and business life, and will make a splendid addition to our city with his estimable family.

ELMWOOD BOY TO BE SENT TO NEBRASKA CHILDREN'S HOME

From Friday's Daily.

This morning in county court a young lad from Elmwood was brought before the court charged with committing a number of petty offenses as well as growing up in condition which were not the best for his future welfare. The case was one that was certainly most regrettable, as the boy is only a little more than ten years of age and already has been mixed up in a number of offenses, which will sooner or later, if continued, result in his getting into the most serious difficulties. From his birth the boy has carried a burden laid upon him by his parents and has been cared for by his grandfather who, however, is not in a position to care for him further, and it is up to the state to take some steps to benefit the boy if it can and save him for a useful citizen.

Under the law the judge would be compelled to send him either to the state school at Kearney or place him in some other institution for safekeeping and to try and give him a chance to grow up with the proper education and training as a good citizen. County Attorney Cole was interested in the case and secured the promise of the Nebraska Children's Home association to take the boy and try and do the best possible with him, and it is very probable that the young lad will be sent there to reside. This would be a much better place, it is considered, than the state reform school for one of such tender years, and would give the boy the chance he is so much in need of and which cannot be found in this county. The authorities, in dealing with the case, have done their utmost to provide for the best interests of the boy, as he certainly is in need of the proper training and opportunity.

SUNDAY, MAY 14, IS MOTHER'S DAY

From Friday's Daily.

The time for the observance of Mother's day is drawing near, as the second Sunday in May has been set by act of congress as the day when the nation honors the memory of mother, those fortunate enough sharing the day with them, and for those gone to their rest a tender dedication of the day to their memory.

The day is one that is universally observed throughout the United States by the wearing of a flower by men and women in honor of mother, white carnations for those who are with the children no more, and colored flowers for the living mother. It is a beautiful custom and is filled with the most tender significance to everyone, for there is no one who does not cherish the warmest affection for the mother whose tired and wearied hands have smoothed their way in early days and labored that they might have life.

Miss Anna Jarvis, the originator of the day, secured recognition of the day when in 1914, by a resolution of congress, the second Sunday in May was set aside as Mother's day and President Wilson issued his first proclamation calling on the people to observe the day by wearing the flowers of memory.

All who can on this event should gather with the mother and assist her in the observance of the day and remind her that her work and efforts are fondly remembered by the children. Bear in mind that the second Sunday in May is Mother's day and be on that day all that the loving mother might desire.

A VERY PLEASANT GATHERING AT THE GOBELMAN HOME

From Saturday's Daily.

A joint meeting of the Home Auxiliary and the Queen Esther societies of the M. E. church, was held yesterday afternoon at home of Mrs. F. E. Gobelman. The early hours of the afternoon were given to a business session of the auxiliary, at which time officers were elected and installed for the ensuing year and the mite boxes were opened. Several new members were taken in, which was most pleasing to the members. At 5 o'clock a plate supper, served in cafeteria style, and a social hour was enjoyed by some thirty ladies present. At 6 o'clock the meeting was addressed by Miss Mildred Glaze, conference organizer of the society and at the present time working in the Tecumseh district. She outlined the work under five heads—immigrant, cities, the colored race, the mountain white, the Chinese and Japanese people. The talk was very interesting and instructive and all present felt that they had been well paid for the afternoon thus spent. With a vote of thanks to the hostess for the use of her home and her kind hospitality, the evening closed with the hope that more ladies would become interested in the work and have the privilege of enjoying such meetings.

JOHN CORY RESTRAINED FROM TRESPASSING CITY PROPERTY

From Friday's Daily.

This morning another chapter was added to the long standing controversy over the right of possession to the land east of the Burlington right of way and extending to the Missouri river when the city of Plattsmouth filed a suit in the district court against John Cory and secured a restraining order from Judge Begley to prevent the defendant, Mr. Cory, from trespassing in any way on the property claimed by the city.

In its petition the city sets forth that the federal government conveyed to Wheatly Micklewait as mayor of the city in 1855, a patent for section 18, township 12, north range 14, and lots 1 and 8 of this tract were riparian. In 1889 the Missouri river began to change its course and gradually added a large tract of land to the property of the city. Only a portion of lots 1 and 8 were ever platted by the city and the remaining portion of the land has never been transferred by the city to anyone but is retained for the benefit of the city. In September, 1869, the Burlington & Missouri river railroad was granted a right of way of 100 feet wide through the property of the city. The petition further recites that in the territorial legislature of 1866 an act was passed fixing the boundary of the city as that of the center of the channel of the Missouri river and this was further confirmed by the ordinance of 1887 fixing the boundaries of the city. The city further states that in 1911 the land in question was cleaned up by the city and all debris and rubbish was cleaned away in order to beautify the land for the city's use. On May 1st the lock on the gate to said land placed there by the defendant was removed and he was notified not to trespass on the property of the city which they claimed and had several times trespassed on the land, therefore a restraining order was prayed for and a temporary injunction was granted by the court.

STRIKING GREEKS IN CITY TODAY FOR SOME TIME

From Friday's Daily.

This morning there were a large number of Greeks in this city, who attracted considerable attention by their appearance. These men have been employed by the Burlington as a special gang engaged in ripping and other work along the right of way of the company near Bellevue and have struck for higher wages which they were unable to get and therefore they struck, and with the foreman, Mr. McAllister, arrived in the city this morning to be sent back to the points from which they had come, and the work will be suspended until a fresh force is secured to replace the striking men. The warm weather seems to have had its effect on the men and developed a bad case of the wanderlust, which they propose to gratify.

SOME TIMES A JOKE MAY BE CARRIED ENTIRELY TOO FAR

From Saturday's Daily.

Last evening there was a report circulated on the street of an automobile accident which had occurred in the west part of the city in which an auto had blown up and several parties had been seriously injured, and to this there hangs a very long story. It seems that one of the residents in that part of the city had a very sick cow which had been eating something that did not agree with her and as a result was badly bloated up. The lady decided to call a veterinarian and telephoned to one of the livery stables to try and locate one. She spoke very broken English and this is where the mixup occurred, as the lady stated over the phone that "the car is all blown up" and the man receiving the message gasped with horror as he understood her to say that "the car is all blown up," and he at once put in a hurry call for one of the physicians of the city and dashed to his residence, dragging the good doctor away from his supper with his wild story and they madly drove to the scene of the supposed accident with visions of dead and wounded autoists in their mind, but lo and behold, on reaching the scene of the supposed accident there was nothing doing and inquiry developed the fact of the sick cow and the telephone call for the "cow doctor" and it is a good thing that the party reporting the call to the physician was not present when the truth was discovered.

Clayton Rosencrans motored out to Nehawka yesterday to join his wife in an over Sunday visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wunderlich, returning home last evening. Judge Newell Somewhat Indisposed.

EMIL HANSENS OF OMAHA ARE HERE AGAIN

A Very Fair Crowd Witnesses Their Defeat By a Score of 6 to 1.

The Emil Hansen team of Omaha journeyed down to our peaceful little burg yesterday afternoon and had another large chunk of gloom added to their spirits when they were trimmed by the Red Sox by a score of 6 to 1 and Mr. Lacy, who presided on the mound for the visitors, was submerged in the eighth inning when the Sox proceeded to fatten up their batting average at his expense.

The game was a fast one throughout and only consumed an hour and a half in the playing. There was nothing doing in the scoring line until the fifth spasm when both teams were very active with the big stick. With one man on in the fifth Lacy, for the visitors, rapped out a three-bagger, scoring one run, as Munsky, the runner on third was able to reach the plate in time to register the first blood of the battle. In the Sox half of the inning Greko and Craig both fanned the air on the slants of Lacy but Beal was able to secure a pass to the first sack and succeeded in pilfering second from Munsky; Parriott followed with a drive into second base territory that was safe and Beal started for the home station. On a wild heave of the visitors' to the third sack he was able to score and tie up the contest. Fahnestock hit to third safe and Parriott came home with the much needed score that gave the red hosed boys the lead in the game. Herold was hit by Lacy and the inning was closed by a double out by Huff and Fahnestock.

In the sixth another run was registered for the Sox as Connors put a safe one to the right garden and when Greko rapped one to right field Connors hastened to third from where he scored when Craig secured a safety over third base. The inning was ended by a fly by Parriott to center field.

In the eighth inning was when the big ascension of Lacy occurred, and he was batted all over the lot by the strong armed members of the Smith aggregation. Connors was out, third to first and was followed by Mason with a safe one through third base. Greko jabbed the pill in the nose for a three-bagger that scored Mason and shook the confidence of the mound artist of the Hansens. Craig followed with a two sacker to the Storz sign that registered Bobbie; Parriott later rapped one to right which brought Craig in safely. Fahnestock closed the agony with a grounder to first base. After the visitors had tried their hand in the ninth they silently packed their bats and stole homeward, defeated but not discouraged.

Walter Connors, the old timer, was doing the hurling for the Sox and was in his old time form with lots of stuff on the pill and played a good, heady game throughout.
