TIME NOT ARRIVED TO TALK OF PEACE SO SAYS GRAY

British Foreign Secretary Sets Aside All Ideas—Negotiations Early Prospect.

"I care not how I say it, this war could have been avoided by accepting a conference. Why was the conference not accepted? Because there was no good will.

"I only wish the German and Austrian governments had published the reports of their ambassadors as to the part Great Britain played at the Balkan conference."—Sir Edward Grey.

London, May 24.—In an impromptu speech in the house of commons tonight on the question of peace and the propriety of "employing the American press as a platform," subjects unexpectedly raised by Arthur Ponsonby, liberal member of Stirling, Scotland, in a strong address attacking the government for allowing diplomatic etiquette to stand in the way of possible peace proposals, Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, set aside all ideas that peace negotiations were possible at the present stage, and plainly reiterated that the position of the allies in no way was changed.

Sir Edward declared that it was impossible to consider terms of peace without a previous agreement between the entente allies. Further he expressed the decided opinion that the hostilities had not yet reached a stage where it was possible to talk of peace as the German public was constantly being fed "with lies" by their ministers.

Mr. Ponsonby's reference to the use of the American press "as a platform" was the outgrowth of a recent interview with Sir Edward Grey.

Would Be Mere Pedantry.
Sir Edward in replying to this attack, while admitting that important disclosures of policy ought first to be made to parliament, argued that a crisis might arise during the war when considerations of etiquette should not be allowed to stand in the way. He contended that since German statesmen constantly were giving interviews and statements to the American press, it would be mere pedantry which would hinder British statesmen from countering these statements in the interests of their own country.

Mr. Ponsonby argued in favor of countenancing peace possibilities and against prolonging the war merely for the sake of obligations to Great Britain's allies. The speaker said that if the war had to be continued until Constantinople fell or until obligations to allies were fulfilled, the country ought to be told what those obligations are, if there was no essential difference between Germany and Great Britain, and no such obligations the government ought to take the earliest opportunity to press for a termination of the war.

Time Not Yet Arrived.
Sir Edward Grey in replying pointed out that the interview contained no new declarations. He had no prepared speech or statement to make, but he said that if he thought the German government or German opinion had reached the point where the allied governments could bring a peace compatible with their desires nearer by making speeches about peace, he would make dozens of them. The foreign minister added, the time has not yet arrived, and the allies were bound by common obligations not to put forward any terms of peace except by mutual agreement.

Mr. Ponsonby attacked the government's diplomacy. He said the peace of Europe would depend on the capacity of statesmen for surveying the great problems in a broad spirit. The insularity which had characterized British diplomacy in the past constituted the real danger. The government must recognize that the war had reached a deadlock and at the same time the superior position of Great Britain must be recognized. The latter was due to the spirit and valor of the people and not to statesmen.

MUNICIPAL MOVIES MAY SOON COME INTO VOGUE

One Kansas Town Already Owns the Nickel Theater.

Having rounded up 192 municipal lighting plants, 17 gas plants and more than 200 water plants, Kansas is now after municipal ownership of its motion picture theaters. One Kansas town already owns its motion picture house and refuses to let any private competitor come in. Three other towns are arranging for municipally owned and conducted movie houses.

Kansas believes in municipal ownership not because of any theoretical views, but because of actual experience, says the Kansas City Star. Community after community has entered the field of electric lighting, for example, and without exception they have lowered their rates and improved their service. All the publicity of utility monopolists avails nothing in the face of the concrete facts as Kansas has discovered them. You can't tell a Kansan that municipal ownership is a failure and get away with it when the city light plant which he patronizes has cut his bills in two and given him better service.

Kansas has a public utility commission, but there is no "certificate of convenience and necessity" provision, as in Wisconsin, which gives the private company in the field an everlasting monopoly and a perpetual franchise. Corporation "regulations" tried to tack such a provision on to the Kansas law at the last session of the Kansas legislature, but the municipal ownership people in Kansas proved too much for them.

If he doesn't like the way the public utility corporation does business the Kansan demands as an inalienable right that he be free to tackle the business himself. The welfare of a whole community is more to him than the fictitious "right" of any eastern capitalist to bleed a people indefinitely merely because he has an investment made originally for that purpose.

If the individual capitalist can do business on the same basis as the city—and he usually can if he is forced by competition to do so—he is welcome to continue in operation. If he can't he may seek other investments in other states, where there is greater reverence for "widowed and orphaned" stockholders and the divinity of 7 per cent.

HOGS ABOUT 5c HIGHER

Lambs About Steady, Market Pretty Slow; Moderate Supply.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Neb., May 25, 1916.—The receipts of cattle for Wednesday were fairly liberal, some 240 loads or 6,000 head. The demand for both shipping and local dressed beef men was strong, and the market was active and higher for cattle of good weight, also for the best yearlings. Prime heavy beaves sold up to $10.25, making a new high mark for the year, and choice yearlings brought $10.20, also a new high mark for yearlings. Anything good enough to attract competition brought 10@15c higher than Tuesday. Bulk of the fair to good 1,000 to 1,350 lb. beaves went at a spread of $9.50@9.90. The yearlings that were not choice and fat were slow sale, as there was a good supply of them on sale the prices were around $8.75@9.75.

Quotations on cattle:
Good to choice beaves, $9.85@10.25; fair to choice beaves, $9.50@9.80; common to fair beaves, $8.50@9.40; good to choice heifers, $8.00@9.00; good to choice cows, $7.75@8.50; fair to good cows, $6.75@7.75; canners and cutters, $4.50@6.50; veal calves, $9.00@12.00; bulls, stags, etc., $6.50@8.50.

The hog receipts for Wednesday showed quite a drop, against Tuesday's large run. The market was active at the start, prices being about 5c higher than Tuesday. Shippers bought a few hogs, and some of the packers having urgent orders, hogs went at about 5c higher figures at the start. Sellers wanting early prices. Bulk of the sales brought around $9.60@9.65. Some of the heavies bringing $9.75, the top.

The receipts for sheep and lambs were about the same as Tuesday, estimated supplies being 17 cars, or about 4,000 head. Owing to the liberal receipts and the easier prices at Chicago and other points, made the local buyers somewhat bearish, although the run here was so moderate, and the first lambs moved at about the same prices as Tuesday. The earlier sales included more light clipped lambs at $10.90, yesterday's record. A couple decks of native spring lambs made $13.00, some more California spring lambs sold at $12.85. The supply of ewes was fair, the best selling at $8.25.

Quotations on sheep and lambs:
Lambs, woolled, fair to choice, $11.00@12.00; lambs, clipped, heavy, $10.25@10.90; lambs, clipped, handy, $9.50@10.00; lambs, spring, $11.00@13.00; yearlings, fair to choice, light, $10.00@11.00; yearlings, fair to choice, heavy, $9.00@10.00; wethers, fair to choice, $8.75@9.50; ewes, good to choice, $8.75@9.50; ewes, fair to good, $8.00@8.75; ewes, clipped, $7.00@8.50.

COULD NOT WALK

And For Four Years, Could Not Stand Without Support.

Chillicothe, Ohio.—"Nothing pleases me more than to speak a word of praise for Cardui, the woman's tonic," says Mrs. Ed Davis, of this town, "for I firmly believe that it snatched me from the grave.

I have been married 14 years, and had two children. After the youngest was born, I was not able to walk, and for four years, I was not strong enough to stand on my feet five minutes at the time, without something to support me.

Nothing seemed to do me any good, until, finally, I commenced using Cardui, the woman's tonic. I only used about four bottles, but, today I am well, can do my work, and walk as far as I want to.

I can never praise Cardui enough, and my neighbors cannot get done wondering at the change in me."

You, too, can depend on Cardui, because Cardui is a gentle, harmless, vegetable tonic, that can do you nothing but good.

Prepared from vegetable herbs, Cardui has a specific effect on the womanly constitution, and puts strength where it is needed.
