THE IDENTITY OF RALPH MILLER IS NOW IN SANTO DOMINGO

The identity of Ralph R. Miller, the young man who has been with the United States marines in Santo Domingo, has been revealed, and the young man is a son of Mrs. Levi Miller of this city and a brother of George Miller, who resides at Eighth street and Fourth avenue, in Nebraska City. The fine showing that the young man is making in the marines is very pleasing to his relatives and friends in this city and they will watch with interest his further advancement in the service of his country. Ralph has sent home a number of interesting letters in regard to his service and has been around a great part of the coast line of the United States in his service on board the battleships of Uncle Sam. It is the work of such young men that is keeping the navy of our country up to its high standard of efficiency and whenever they are needed the boys of the marine corps are right on the job in the work of defending their country. The letters of this young man to his mother are very interesting and the Journal expects to be able to publish one in the future.

REV. DRULINER HOLDS A SPLENDID MEETING LAST NIGHT

Last evening Rev. F. M. Druliner, pastor of the Methodist church held a short evangelistic meeting on Main street near the Bank of Cass county corner and this meeting was attended by quite a large number who enjoyed thoroughly the delightful musical program of the old familiar hymns as well as the able remarks of the minister. The choir was assisted in their work by an orchestra composed of the children of the pastor which aided greatly in the pleasures of the music. These open air meetings gives a much more pleasant atmosphere than the hot interior of the church building and bring a greater number in touch with the teachings of the Master. The meeting will be continued during the month of July and August and should receive the support they well reserve as a means of bringing religious teachings closer to the people.

THE FOURTH OF JULY AND TETANUS

Back in 1905 there were 104 deaths in the United States from Fourth of July tetanus, this figure representing about the average annual mortality. In 1914, as a result of the institution of better prophylactic treatment by physicians and the widespread agitation for safe and sane Fourth, the number was reduced to 3. A year ago the United States Public Health service expected and predicted that every youngster in the United States would be safe from disease, basing its estimate on what had already been accomplished. When the returns came in it was found that a boy down in Maine had been injured, developed tetanus and died. That single fatality was only one among several hundred thousand occurring in the United States during 1915, but resulted from Fourth of July tetanus or lockjaw, a preventable disease, and was therefore an unnecessary death. The loss of this boy makes it necessary to again disseminate information regarding this wholly avoidable infection.

The blank cartridge wound is the great cause of Fourth of July tetanus, but injuries from crackers and firearms are at times responsible. When driven into the tissues the wadding carries with it innumerable bacilli. If these be tetanus bacilli the poisonous products are toxins resulting from the multiplication produce the disease. Tetanus bacilli thrive only in the absence of oxygen. It is for reason that the physician enlarges the wound of entrance and after removing all foreign material dresses the injury in such manner that development of the organisms is inhibited. In order to accomplish this it is usually necessary to administer an anaesthetic. Antitetanic serum is of great value as a prophylactic and it should invariably be given in injuries of this character. Parents should realize that Fourth of July tetanus is easy to prevent, but extremely difficult to cure, the disease being attended with mortality of more than 95 per cent. No blank cartridge wound is too trivial to receive careful medical attention. However slight the injury may appear summon a competent physician who will at once institute the necessary prophylactic measures. Reliance upon home treatment may prove disastrous and result in the needless sacrifice of life.

The west side of the grandstand will be protected from the glare of the sun by lattice work of boards that will not shut off the breeze, but will protect the spectators from the sun. The refreshment stand will be moved back several feet by removing a panel of the fence and making the booth on this space making it much more convenient and giving more room for the seats in the grandstand.
