FOR YOUNG FOLKS

A Sleepy Time Story That Is Both Interesting and Instructive.

DISCOVERY OF TREE PRUNING.

How a Wise and Hungry Old Animal Performed a Good Deed and at the Same Time Acquired a Square Meal. Interesting Items For Small People.

I am going to tell you tonight, said Uncle Ben to Polly Ann and little Ned, a story about

THE WISE DONKEY.

There was once a farmer who had a donkey, and, like most people who own donkeys, his master did not have a great deal of respect for his wisdom. One day the donkey showed him that he knew a great deal more than he was given credit for. At any rate, after this occasion the farmer thought him far wiser than a whole forest full of owls, who have ever been regarded as the wisest of feathered folk. But to begin at the beginning:

The hero of this tale—the donkey—was very hungry. His master, thinking him only a donkey, thought he did not know the difference between eating prickly thistles and something better. The donkey was very tired of thistles, and his stomach felt like the "old scratch" because of them. He gave a loud bray and before he got to the end of it—not farther than b-b-r, in fact—he saw the gate into the orchard was open. The donkey had always longed to go into this forbidden place, but the gate had been kept securely locked. His master could not lock the smell of the apples and pears from reaching the donkey's nose, though, and this smell made the donkey long more and more after the good things which grew there.

The donkey could scarcely believe his eyes or nose either, but the second glance showed him that his eyes had not deceived him. The gate was open; consequently the donkey was invited into the orchard. Once inside, he lost no time in sampling the fruit of a fine apple tree. You know how fond your pet pony is of a nice juicy apple. Well, you can imagine how a donkey who had been raised on thistles would regard a tree full of them. He ate and ate until no pig would have recognized him. Branch after branch came off the tree in Mr. Donkey's attempt to get the delicious apples. All went well until his master returned. When he saw what the donkey had done, poor donkey got the worst whipping that he had ever received in his life. The master almost cried, for his tree was ruined, and the apples were the finest ones he owned.

The year following, what was his surprise to see that the tree he had looked upon as ruined bore double as many apples as any other tree in the orchard. Besides this, the apples were finer and larger than any he had ever grown. He was ashamed of the way he had treated the donkey for his part in the scheme. He gathered a large basket of the apples and himself carried it to the poor donkey. Ever after this the farmer pruned all the trees in the orchard, and from so stupid an animal as a donkey the valuable process of pruning trees was discovered.

"Oh," said Ruth, "I know what we will have at grandma's. There will be papes, knippup and cenni pies; yet-ruk, of course, with plenty of gyarv; reely and skiecoo, with oetefe and drice to drink."
Answer.—Apples, pumpkin, mince, turkey, gravy, celery, cookies, coffee, cider.

ATTENTION WOODMEN OF THE WORLD.

On Sunday, July 23, at 2:30 p. m., the Executive Council of the Woodmen of the World will unveil two monuments at Glendale cemetery, 10 miles west of Plattsouth, on Louisville road. These men come from all parts of the United States and there will be good speakers in the event in large cities, have an opportunity to have the Executive Council present at a Woodmen gathering and we expect to have an extra large crowd to greet them. All members are expected to meet at our hall at 1 o'clock.
W. B. Rishel, District Deputy.
7-18-5td1twkly party. It is seldom any community. The Journal delivered at your door for only 10 cents a week.

Prof. George W. Brown, head of the department of rural education, gave an address in the church at Oakdale, last Sunday.

FROM PERU NORMAL.

At the chapel period Friday we were delightfully entertained by the Normal orchestra under the direction of Prof. Kies. It is a pleasure to note the finished and artistic quality of the work done by the musical organization of the school.

The Misses Dunn, Hanthorne, Tut-hill and Palmer spent the week-end in the home of Miss Dunn at Syracuse.

The new engine installed by the students in the manual training department was used for the first time Wednesday. This engine and its dynamio will furnish a day current for the domestic sciences, manual training and science departments.

The mid-summer commencement will be held July 27 at 11 a. m. Hon. John L. Kennedy will give the address and there will be musical numbers by Prof. Kies and Miss Meyer. At this time seven degrees of bachelor of education, fifty-one diplomas and thirty-two elementary state certificates will be issued. While this is only a small part of the total number issued during the year, it is a larger number than many of the normal schools of the United States have in their total for a year.

Picnics seem to be quite the thing just at this season and as the members of the Cass County club are not slow. They decided to entertain themselves in this fashion. Accordingly on Tuesday July 11, a merry bunch of students and faculty members gathered at the south end of the athletic field and had one of the times of their lives. Several pictures were taken of the bunch and all are hoping to send some home as proof that Peru is not "All work and no play." A vote of thanks was extended to the committee in charge and at dusk the jolly party was ended.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals will be received by the City Clerk of Plattsouth, Nebraska, up to 5 o'clock p. m. on the 14th day of August, 1916, for furnishing material and constructing 472 feet of 54 inch storm sewer on Chicago avenue in Plattsouth, Nebraska, and publicly opened by the City Council and Mayor at the Council Chamber at 8 p. m. on the same day, and the contract awarded or refused.
