

LAST SAD TRIBUTE TO NOBLE YOUNG MAN

Hundreds of Sympathetic Friends Attended the Last Sad Rites Over the remains of Mr. Hiatt.

From Friday's Daily.

The Methodist church yesterday afternoon was filled to overflowing capacity when the residents of the city gathered there to pay their last token of respect to the memory of Charles Hiatt who met his death so tragically Wednesday afternoon. The feeling of grief that the event had occasioned among the many hundreds who had known Charley Hiatt in life was reflected in the hundreds that thronged the church to pay a silent tribute to his life.

Rev. F. M. Druliner, pastor of the church, spoke very feelingly on the life of the departed friend who had been a member of his flock and who had been associated with the active life of the church since he had united with the faith. The pastor took as the subject of the sermon "Character" and pointed out the many virtues that formed the character of a true man or woman and in this paid a tribute to the brother just passed on whose life has been one that has served to aid his fellow man and not to harm man or woman, but to give a cherry word wherever possible to lighten the load of those more unfortunate than himself.

The choir composed of Mrs. E. H. Wescott, Miss Florence Balsler, Mrs. R. B. Hayes, Mrs. Charles Jelinek, D. C. York, W. G. Brooks, F. A. Clويد and Jesse Perry gave several beautiful and appropriate numbers during the services that served to soften the grief of the sorrowing ones with the thought of the blessed future which was opening for their loved one as he passed from their side into the valley of the shadow.

The services throughout were most impressive and beautiful and filled with a deep feeling of profound regret that the friend and neighbor was taken from his home so suddenly but it was a thought to comfort and sustain the members of the family that the departed had been ready to go and was at peace with his Maker and firm in the faith and teaching of the church he had accepted. The members of the Men's Bible class of which Mr. Hiatt was a member occupied seats at the front of the church during the funeral services and shared with the family the grief of the loss that had befallen them. The floral tributes were beautiful and the tender blooms of the lily and rose spoke of feeling of regret at the death of the well beloved friend who had been stricken by the hand of death while in the full enjoyment of life and health.

The interment was had at beautiful Oak Hill cemetery where, as the day was dawning to a close, the body was laid to its last long rest.

BIG A. O. U. W. PICNIC AT NEHAWKA ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 5TH

From Friday's Daily.

The big Ancient, Order of United Workmen picnic at Nehawka has been set for Saturday, August 5, and on this date the good people of our neighboring town will throw open their doors in entertaining the visitors from all over the county. The committee composed of C. D. Keltner, John A. Whiteman and John Whiteman, jr., were in the city last evening and closed the arrangements for securing the Burlington band of this city to furnish the music for the occasion and also secured the Tulene merry-go-round as one of the attractions. A big program will be prepared for the occasion and a royal time may be depended on in that fine little city when the picnic comes off. A great many from this city will be in attendance and take part in the joyous event which the Workmen of that city will have full charge of. The picnic will be held in the Sheldon grove.

C. J. MEISINGER PURCHASES A FINE STUDEBAKER CAR

From Friday's Daily.

C. J. Meisinger, one of the progressive young farmers of the county, was in the city yesterday afternoon for a few hours and made the trip from his farm in Eight Mile Grove precinct in his fine new Studebaker touring car. This is the first trip that Mr. Meisinger has made in the car and he is delighted with the running of the machine and feels that it is the right car for general use. He greatly surprised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Meisinger by driving up in the machine as they were not aware he had purchased the new auto. This is the third Studebaker in the family as Mr. Meisinger's two brothers, George P., jr., and John each have one of the fine machines.

ALUMNI BANQUET DURING THE "HOME COMING" WEEK

From Friday's Daily.

One of the features that is being strongly urged by a number of the former graduates of the Plattsmouth High school, is that of an alumni banquet to be held during the "Home Coming" celebration in this city. This would be a very happy one and would be right in keeping with the spirit of the occasion as it would bring the visitors who are graduates of the school in close touch with their old friends and be the means of renewing a great many of the friendships formed during the happy school days when all were students at the old Plattsmouth school. Such an event should be started at once and members of the older classes of the school should get busy on the proposition and see that it is put through. The members of the classes of the last ten years are willing to get into the alumni banquet and the members of the classes of the eighties and nineties should take it in charge and boost it to a successful conclusion as it will be the older graduates who will be here to enjoy the "Home Coming" week and they would appreciate greatly the delights of a visit with old school friends and the best possible way would be to bring all together at a banquet. The class of 1912 of the local school has often held these pleasant little gatherings and they are the only class that has kept alive the old school day ties by an association of the membership of the class.

POLICE SHOULD NOT LISTEN TO PARENTS OF NIGHT PROWLERS

From Friday's Daily.

The police of the city have had considerable trouble for sometime with the young people of from ten to fifteen years of age loafing on the street long after the time they should have been home and especially with several young girls who have been down town much longer than they really should be at night. The efforts to look after the welfare of the young folks who run wild on the streets, made by the police, are not appreciated as they should be by either the parents or the young people, as in a great many cases when warning have been heeded there has been much trouble saved for both the parents and the youngsters. It is really not a part of the policing of the city to have to round up the boys and girls of this age every evening, as if more properly lies in the province of the parents themselves but in a number of cases it is clear that there is very little attention paid to where the young people go or what they do until some trouble develops as a result and then a howl goes up over the way the kids turn out. Several times the police have been jumped on by indignant parents for ordering their children home late at night and with this encouragement given it is little wonder that there is so much of the loafing going on late at night on the streets.

FORMER CASS LADY KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

The Unfortunate Lady, the Wife of T. J. O'Day, Former Editor of Nehawka Register

The following from the Pullman, Washington, Herald gives the details of the death in that state of Mrs. T. J. O'Day, who with her husband made their home for a number of years at Nehawka in this county, where Mr. O'Day conducted the Nehawka News. The death of this estimable lady will be greatly regretted by the large number of friends throughout eastern Nebraska:

The many Pullman friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. O'Day were terribly shocked and grieved last Saturday evening by the arrival of the news that Mrs. O'Day had been killed in an automobile accident near Kennebec. Only that morning Mr. and Mrs. O'Day with their son, Ray, had started from this city to spend a long anticipated vacation in a drive across the state to visit their eldest son who, with his family, resides at Port Angeles. They made an early start and had a most enjoyable ride until within three miles of Kennebec. Not being familiar with the roads they were following another machine bound for that city. This machine was setting a fast pace and suddenly made a sharp turn. Ray O'Day, who was at the wheel, did not expect the turn and was unable to quite make it. The automobile left the road and crashed into a tree. Mrs. O'Day was thrown out by the shock a distance of about ten feet, striking upon her face. Mr. O'Day was thrown about thirty feet, but escaped with a few scratches and bruises. Ray held on to the steering wheel and was not hurt at all.

The accident occurred close to a house and one of the family living in it at once telephoned to Kennebec for a doctor, who arrived on the scene within three or four minutes. The injured woman was rushed to Kennebec and an examination showed that no bones were broken, but she had sustained internal injuries which resulted in two hemorrhages and she passed away in a couple of hours.

The heart-broken husband and son returned to Pullman with the remains Sunday evening and at Rosalia were joined by Lester, a younger son, who was working at Malden, another son, Ingle, was working for C. H. Barclay and the eldest son, with his wife and child, arrived from Port Angeles Monday. The funeral was held at Kimball's undertaking parlors Tuesday morning. Rev. C. H. Harrison officiated. The numerous and beautiful floral tributes bore mute testimony to the esteem and affection in which deceased was held. The remains were interred in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

Abbie Bailey O'Day was born in one of the first frame houses built in Nebraska. She was the daughter of D. P. Baily a pioneer freighter on the plains, and who later became one of the pioneer ranchers of the west. Her mother's name was Matilda Elsey, who belonged to one of the prominent pioneer families of western Virginia, which later became a part of the new state of West Virginia. She was married in April, 1887, at Nebraska City, Neb., to T. J. O'Day who was a young law student. Five children were born to the union, one of whom died in Missouri in 1894. The other boys, Wayne P., Ray M., Ingle, and Lester survive her. She united with a Baptist church in Missouri in 1894 and lived in the hope of a true Christian, her happiness being marred only by the death of their second son. She would have reached her forty-eighth birthday the morning after the fatal accident. The last day of her life was one of the happiest, as she enjoyed every moment of the trip and was looking forward with keen anticipation to the visit with her eldest son. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community in their sudden and crushing sorrow.

E. L. Wilcox departed this afternoon for Newport, Neb., where he will take up farm work there for a short time in that vicinity.

OF COURSE ADVERTISING PAYS IN THE JOURNAL

From Saturday's Daily.

That advertising brings to the minds of the public the value of the article advertised is clearly shown by the experience of Isy Rosenthal, the agent for Deleo lighting system that was shown here a few weeks ago. Mr. Rosenthal advertised his lighting system in the weekly edition of the Journal and as a result received a large number of favorable responses from the residents of Cass county, and 50 per cent of those writing him stated that they had saw the advertisement in the Journal. This shows clearly that the best way of bringing anything to the attention of the public is through the columns of a newspaper and the most successful advertiser of the county find the same result in placing their ads in the papers of the largest circulation and that covers an extended field.

LITTLE SON OF OSCAR DAVIS DIES FROM EATING CUCUMBERS

From Friday's Daily.

Last night Allen Davis, the little two and a half-year-old-son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Davis of Murray died at the family home after suffering for several hours most intensely from inflammation of the stomach and bowels. The little one was taken very sick about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and despite all that could be done to relieve his pain and suffering he grew steadily worse until death came to his relief. It is supposed that death was caused by the child eating too freely of green cucumbers early in the day and which caused the inflammation to start that in the end caused death.

DEHORND MANY CATTLE IN HIS CAREER IN CASS COUNTY

From Saturday's Daily.

S. L. Furlong, one of the old residents of the county was in the city today for the first time in three months, driving up from his home in Rock Bluffs, where he has been confined for some time suffering from an injury received from a cow at his home. Mr. Furlong while able to be up and around is compelled to use two canes to travel with, and finds it very inconvenient and disagreeable. He has also given up his work of dehorning cattle which he has been engaged in for a great many years and has left track of the number of cattle he has dehorned which reaches the astonishing figures of 13,335. This is a very large number and indicates that our old friend has been pretty busy in the past in the handling of cattle. He has been very successful and in all cases has been able to give perfect satisfaction in his work in every way, but his advanced years and feebleness will not permit him to longer engage in this work that requires a good deal of strength and activity.

Old Friends Visits

From Friday's Daily.

George W. Shrader came up yesterday afternoon in company with his daughters, Mrs. Georgia Creamer, Mrs. Lula Wolf and Mrs. Jennie Rhoden, to attend the funeral of Mr. Charles Hiatt. While here Mr. Shrader was a pleasant caller at the Journal editorial rooms and also called and renewed his subscription to the Old Reliable.

STRUCK BY TIMBER

From Friday's Daily.

This morning T. M. Scarbrough, one of the employes of the Burlington planning mill while he was engaged in handling a rubble car loaded with heavy timbers suffered quite a severe scalp wound when one of the timbers fell from the car and struck Ted on the top of the head. The injury required several stitches to close the wound, but Mr. Scarbrough will be able to be at work as usual despite the injured head.

FUNERAL OF MRS. JOHN ULICK THIS MORNING

The Funeral Occurred From the Rosary Catholic Church and Large Number of Friends Attended Services.

From Saturday's Daily.

The funeral of Mrs. John Ulick was held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Holy Rosary Catholic church in the west part of the city and the church was filled to overflowing capacity by the friends to pay their last tributes of love and esteem to the loved one now gone from their side. The beautiful and impressive requiem mass of the Roman Catholic church was celebrated by Rev. Father John Vleck, assisted by the members of the Holy Rosary choir. In the sermon Father Vleck paid his tribute to the memory of the departed lady who had been taken, while yet in the morning of her life, suddenly and without warning from the family circle. The sermon was delivered in Bohemian and German and was one filled with much beauty and brought to the sorrowing ones a message of hope and comfort in their hour of deepest grief. There were a large number of the members of the Woodman circle and friends of the family present both at the home and the church to attend the last sad services and the floral remembrances which were numerous and beautiful silently attested the deep feeling of sympathy felt by the entire community for the family in their loss of a loving wife, mother, daughter and sister. At the close of the services the cortage wended its way to the Catholic cemetery where all that was mortal of the beloved lady was consigned to its last long rest. The pall bearers were selected from the members of the Cigar-maker's union of which Mr. Ulick, the husband, was a member. Among those out of the city attending the funeral were: Emil Droege, wife and child, and Carl Droege of Magna, Utah; Mrs. Caspar Reitter and son of Deadwood, S. D., and Joseph Besthoff and daughter, Miss Gretchen, Mrs. Mat Spader and Mrs. Margaret O'Rourke of Omaha.

In the death of Mrs. Ulick the community in which she was reared to womanhood, has felt a great loss as to those who had known her during her lifetime she was very dear and her life, filled with good deeds and a devotion to home and family, that certainly could be an inspiration to those left behind. Taken without warning from life into the valley of the shadow of death she passed prepared to face the Maker of all things and to enter into her reward in another world where suffering and grief are never known.

ENTERTAINED IN HONOR OF MISS MILDRED STEWART

From Friday's Daily.

Last evening a very pleasant time was enjoyed at the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Roberts on High School hill when Mrs. Roberts together with the members of the High school class of 1912 entertained in honor of Miss Mildred Stewart of St. Joseph, Mo., a former member of the class. The evening was spent very pleasantly in visiting and renewing old acquaintances among the members of the class, a great many of whom had not met for some time and the few hours thus spent will long be very pleasantly remembered by everyone present and the old school days discussed with the greatest of enjoyment by everyone present. At a suitable hour dainty and delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Roberts and daughter, Miss Helen that added greatly to the delights of the happy event. The members of the class all appreciated the pleasant opportunity that had been afforded them to meet their former classmates and to renew the ties of school friendships.

FINE ST. BERNARD DOG POISONED AND DIED

From Saturday's Daily.

The family of H. N. Dovey are mourning the loss of the fine large St. Bernard dog that was presented to them some time ago by T. J. O'Brien of Omaha as a gift to little Helen Jane West, the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dovey. The animal was one of the largest dogs ever brought to this city and one of the purest strains of the St. Bernard in the west. The dog was poisoned by someone and was found by members of the family lying in the yard dead. This is a very mean trick for anyone to poison a dog and especially one of the value of the fine animal of Mr. Dovey's. The dog had been a great favorite with all of the family, and especially of the little mistress, and its loss was keenly felt as it was a very docile animal and one that it was perfectly safe for anyone to be with.

CHARMING DINNER PARTY AT THE G. H. FALTER HOME

From Saturday's Daily.

A very charming dinner party was given last evening at the cozy home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Falter in honor of Miss Bonnie Hufey of Hastings, Neb., who is a guest at the home of Miss Edith Dovey. The rooms of the Falter home were very prettily arranged in a color scheme of pink and white which proved a most pleasing touch to the happy occasion and on the dining table pink roses were used in the decorative scheme. The dinner which consisted of three courses, was served by Mrs. Falter, assisted by Mrs. R. F. Patterson. The occasion was held on the anniversary of Gretchen Donnelly, and in honor of the great event a large handsome birthday cake occupied the place of honor on the table and its brightly burning candles added to the beauty of the scene. After the close of the dinner the members of the party enjoyed a very pleasant automobile ride out through the country for a few hours which proved a most delightful diversion of the evening, and was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. Those who were participants in the delightful occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Falter, Byron Arries, Leonard Meisinger, Misses Gretchen and Marie Donnelly, Charles Dovey, Miss Edith Dovey and Miss Bonnie Hufey. State Senator John Mattes of Nebraska City, accompanied by A. P. Young and Engineer Johnson, of Wahoo, were in the city for a few hours this morning and while here the Senator was a caller at the Journal office for a few moments.

ADAM MEISINGER AND MOTHER

RETURN HOME FROM PEKIN

This morning Adam Meisinger and mother, Mrs. J. H. Meisinger, returned home from Pekin, Ill., where they were called last Sunday by the death of Adam Saal, a brother of Mrs. Meisinger. While at Pekin Adam took advantage of the occasion to visit the old home farm which he had not seen since his parents removed from that locality forty years ago, and while only a child of six at the time of leaving Illinois. Mr. Meisinger had little difficulty in recognizing the old home although many changes have occurred since that time. The visit on a sorrowful mission detracted from the enjoyment of the trip, but Adam and his mother met a great many of the relatives and friends still residing in that locality.

CARD OF THANKS.

We take this method of returning our most sincere thankfulness to the many friends of this community for their kindly assistance in our hour of sorrow and bereavement, in the loss of our dear husband, son and brother. Especially do we wish to thank the Knights and Ladies of Security, the Choir of the Methodist church, the Men's Bible Class, Elks Lodge and The J. L. Barton Hardware Co. Mrs. Charles Hiatt, Mose Hiatt and Family.

UNVEILING MONUMENTS TO DEPARTED MEMBERS

Emil Meisinger and John Nesson, Who Sleep in Glendale Cemetery.

Yesterday afternoon the members of the Woodmen of the World from Plattsmouth, Weeping Water, Louisville and Cedar Creek, gathered at Glendale cemetery, ten miles west of this city where they dedicated and unveiled two monuments to the memory of Emil Meisinger and John Nesson, in that beautiful city of the silent. The ceremony was one of beauty and impressiveness as the members of the supreme council carried out the ritualistic work of the order in unveiling these monuments. The Woodmen of the World mark the graves of every one of their departed members with a handsome monument and insures that the last resting place will always be remembered by those who are left behind and over the grave the flowers of remembrance strewn by the members of the order.

The supreme council of the order composed of Hon. W. A. Fraser, Omaha, sovereign commander; B. W. Jewell, Omaha, sovereign advisor; John T. Yates, Omaha, sovereign clerk; S. A. Ferrell, sovereign escort, Johnstown, Pa.; Dr. E. Bradshaw, sovereign watchman, Little Rock, Ark.; C. D. Mills, sovereign sentry, Jacksonville, Fla.; J. E. Fitzgerald, Kansas City, Mo.; E. B. Lewis, Kinross, N. C.; T. E. Patterson, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Ed D. Campbell, Port Huron, Mich.; William Ruess, Cleveland, O.; Rainey T. Wells, Murray, Kentucky; W. M. Crawford, Birmingham, Ala.; Dr. I. W. Porter, Mobile, Ala., supreme physician; arrived in the city near the noon hour and after paying a short visit at the Masonic Home they departed for Glendale to take part in the unveiling ceremonies.

The Plattsmouth camp headed by E. C. Ripple, commander and W. B. Rishel, clerk acted as escort for the supreme council to the cemetery, where the shafts of granite to the memory of the two members of Evergreen camp were formerly unveiled. Sovereign Commander W. A. Fraser gave a short address explaining the principals of the order that has attained such high rank among the fraternal societies of the nation and the custom of honoring those who had gone before and seeing that the widow and orphan children were protected from want. Sovereign Escort S. A. Ferrell of Johnstown, Pa., also gave a short address during the unveiling ceremonies and assisted the overgreen commander in the ritualistic work. He quartet from the Louisville camp assisted with the musical numbers and several beautiful and impressive elections were given during the course of the ceremonies.

In addition to the members of the executive council of the Woodmen of the World, Mrs. Emma B. Manchester, supreme guardian and Miss Dora Alexander, supreme clerk of the Woodman Circle were present to take part in the ceremonies.

The attendance was quite large at the cemetery as the residents for miles around had assembled to witness the services and they were beautiful and inspiring in every way and did much to bring before the public the great underlying principals of the Woodmen of the World. The supreme officers made the trip from Omaha in automobiles and returned at the close of the exercises. This is the first time that this city has been honored with the presence of the head officers of a great fraternal order and the local camp appreciated the distinction that has been given them.

CANNING DEMONSTRATION

There will be a Canning Demonstration held at the Barton Hardware store on Saturday, July 29, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m. at which time the Government Cold Pack system will be demonstrated. 2td2twkly

Hans Tams, one of the traveling capenters of the Burlington, returned to Omaha this morning after an over Sunday visit here with his family.
