

STUDEBAKER! STUDEBAKER! STUDEBAKER!

We have just received a car load of Studebaker automobiles and are in a position to make your delivery at once which is certainly gratifying to a purchaser to not have to do the monotonous task of waiting for delivery.

We can show you a car that can not be surpassed in finish, room, seating capacity and "power" for any where near the price.

Our 4-cylinder, 40-horse power, 7-passenger body, 34x4 wheels, 112 inch wheel base at

$875.00 f. o. b. Detroit

—and—

Our Six Cylinder, 50-horse power 7-passenger body, 122 inch wheel base, 34x4 wheels at

$1085.00 f. o. b. Detroit

are values which no one can match. Our representative will be at Plattsmouth during the Home Coming week and anyone wishing a demonstration with either the four or six are invited to call at Amick garage at 6th and Vine where Wolff & Ault have opened temporary sales quarters.

The buying public are not doing themselves a justice without first seeing our product and seeing the performance of these cars built by the soundest corporation in the U. S. A.

We have just closed a contract with the Studebaker corporation of America for new territory. To eight mile Grove precinct we have been fortunate in adding Plattsmouth precinct, including Plattsmouth city and Rock Bluff precinct, also including Murray. Any person wishing a demonstration other than on Saturday can bring a 4 or 6 to their door by dropping a post card to Wolff & Ault at edar Creek, Neb.

You are not in any way obligated to us by reason of a request to call at your home for a demonstration. All we can ask is to "show you" even though you are not from Missouri. If we can not convince you in our efforts to prove the "power," "room" and finish as we claim them we have at least done our part.

IN PLATTSMOUTH FORTY YEARS AGO.

The storm last night carried away the foot bridges in front of Wm. L. Wells' and Mr. Graves', and injured the bridges on Washington avenue so that they are not safe to cross teams on.

Dr. Schildknecht's kitchen and dining room were also flooded, about six inches of water covering the floors.

Eugene Mayfield, Typographical engineer of the Louisville Chronicle was in town over Sunday.

James H. Wintersteen, of Wahoo

once a typo in this office is married. So says the Independent. A Miss Hart caught James, as MacDonagh says, most "h(e)artfeltdely."

As the evening grew older, hosts of home friends dropped in and soon the chairs and tables were covered with valuable, curious and beautiful presents; a very handsome spoon holder, far removed from tin except in color, an opeigne ornamented with most beautiful flowers, a bed room set, an exquisite pickle dish. Among the curious were, some pressed sea moss, an elegant specimen, framed in tin; picture of Mr. and Mrs. MacMurphy in street costume, framed elaborately in tin; A tin neck-tie (was that a hint, Cap?) and tin studs, with masonic emblems thereon; A tin watch chain and locket; Some tin brackets and a card receiver.

OUR TIN-TIN-NAB-U-LA-TIONS.

Mr. and Mrs. MacMurphy of the Herald, had a Tin wedding at their house Monday evening, November 26, and two more surprised people you never saw. Wishing to make some note of the flight of time, on the 10th anniversary of their wedded life, and having no toddlers to space off the years as they roll, it struck them that it would be a good way to get a few of their neighbors and friends together and make merry on tin, not dreaming of the beautiful things those same kind neighbors and friends would lay up in store for them. On the day mentioned the early express began to bring them things in from Chicago and abroad. The afternoon mail brought a remembrance from Lincoln and a telegram from Massachusetts told them they were not forgotten even in old and far away New England.

ANOTHER PIONEER OF CASS COUNTY

From Saturday's Daily.

Jasper M. Young of this city, has been very much interested in the "Come Coming" plans, as he has the distinction of being one of the early residents of the city, and his parents are numbered among those that made the present conditions in the west possible by coming out to this section of the country when it was still the domain of the wild Indian and gradually winning it to civilization.

The Young family came originally from Virginia. L. H. Young, the father of J. M., was born in 1824, in Kentucky, where the family had removed to from their earlier home, and in 1841, they came to Missouri, where they located on the land known as the Platte purchase, in Platte county, Missouri. In 1844 they moved again to Nodaway county, Missouri, where they resided for a short time, when L. H. Young enlisted for the Mexican war and remained in the army until 1847. After a search for gold in California in 1849, the father of J. M. Young returned to Missouri, to find that his family had moved to a location near Greenwood, Ia. He followed the family to Iowa and here, on March 19, 1853, Jasper M. Young was born. When but an infant of a year old, he was taken to Bellevue, on the west side of the Missouri river, where the treaty of the confederated tribes, the Omahas and Otoes, ceded all their lands to the United States, and Nebraska was then ready to be thrown open to settlement, and the Young family were witnesses to the signing of the treaty that was to mean so much to the residents of this section of the world.

It was in 1854 that the Young family secured a claim in Cass county, near old Kenosha, and here the father labored in a most diligent manner until a rude log house was erected, and then the family came from Iowa and occupied the home in the locality that was for many years known as Three Groves. During the long years of the residence of Jasper M. Young in the county he has been given the opportunity of witnessing a great many changes in the country and its gradual development from a wilderness into one of the finest agricultural countries in the world. While the parents of Mr. Young have both vanished from the scene of life, their work as pioneers still lives, and it is a great pleasure to their son to contemplate the important part they had in the making of Nebraska. The life of Mr. Young has been filled with a great many exciting incidents, and at the "Home Coming" gathering he hopes to be able to relate many incidents of life in the pioneer days in this state, covering a period of sixty-one years.

Those who need anything in the bakery line should see Mr. Herger.

HAS STORE FRONT PAINTED.

From Saturday's Daily. Herman Spies has just had the front of the building in which he has his cigar store and factory located, painted and put in first class shape for the "Home Coming," and its inviting appearance hint of the store of pleasant smokes that are within. The painting has been looked after by Gideon Archer, who is achieving considerable fame as an artist in these parts.

SAYS MIDNIGHT STARTS PERIOD OF REST SLEEP

12:00 o'clock midnight.

This should be the hour of soundest sleep. It is claimed by good authority that one hour of sleep at midnight is worth five hours of sleep at any other time.

We go to bed tired in mind and body, and if our sleep is good, we arise refreshed and rejuvenated. Even cares that seemed as mountains at night are as nothing in the morning. Truly, good sleep is the repair shop for the body.

Miserable, indeed, is the person who cannot sleep. Sleeplessness weakens the nervous system. It upsets the digestive organs, it influences the blood circulation, and every other function.

When a man lies in bed and hears the clock strike one, two, three, four, his nervous system is shattered.

Thousands tell how Tanlac has brought them sound, healthy, refreshing sleep, strengthened their nerves, and given them good appetites.

It makes new rich, vitalizing blood and more nerve force. If you are pale and thin and lack vitality the rapid building up action of Tanlac will surprise you.

Tanlac is being specially introduced in Plattsmouth at the Mauzey Drug Company.

Tanlac may also be obtained in Springfield, at H. Fiegenbaum's store, and in Weeping Water at the Meier Drug Co.
