A VIVID CONTRAST

Exists between the old, clumsy drenching method and the new easy Farris way of putting the medicine on the back of the horse's tongue by means of a medicine dropper which comes packed with the remedy. Farris' Colic Remedy is not an experiment. It cures colic. We are behind it and will refund your money if you do not get results.

400,000 ALLIED TROOPS IN SWING AGAINST ENEMY

Berlin Admits Violence of Offensive and Loss of Several Villages to the British.

THE ARTILLERY IS A BIG FACTOR

London, Sept. 17.—The greatest blow struck against the German lines north of the Somme since the British offensive began July 1, carried German positions on a six-mile front to a depth of from one to two miles, General Haig reported tonight, in a review of the operations since Friday morning.

Further progress was made between the Ancre and the Somme today and 1,700 more prisoners taken by the British.

In the two days of fighting, Haig's men captured 4,000 Germans, including 116 officers, and took as booty six guns, fifty machine guns and a considerable amount of other war materials.

Fifteen German aeroplanes were shot down over the British front, while the Teutons put out of action only six British fliers.

Advance Slackened. Though the British continued today to push down the slopes leading to Bapaume, now less than four miles away, the advance was slackened because of the necessity of further artillery preparation. To English military men the most encouraging feature of the day's operations was the fact that the Germans apparently were unable to rally for any effective counter attack.

The official bulletin from the German war office this afternoon conceded the violence of the British attack and estimated that about 400,000 Anglo-French troops were in motion in yesterday's offensive north of the Somme. Berlin also admitted the loss of Flers, Courcellette and Martinpuich.

The German position at Comblès is now so precarious that the surrender of that German point of support may be expected at any time. The British now hold most of Bouleaux wood, northwest of Comblès. Once Haig's men push on through the wood, the Germans will be forced to evacuate Comblès. The German war office statement this afternoon emphasized the point that the British attacks through Bouleaux were directed at Comblès, but declared that the British attempt to capture the town was frustrated.

King Congratulates Haig. King George telegraphed congratulations to General Haig today on the success of the new British drive and expressed confidence that "victory will ultimately crown our efforts."

The French pushed forward north of Bouchagesnes in today's operations and also captured a trench east of Berny in the fighting south of the Somme. German counter attacks south of the Somme were repulsed by French machine guns.

The French war office tonight reported successful air raids on the German furnaces at Uttingen, on the railway stations south of Metz, at Binsdorf, Spincourt and Longuyon. A German flyer dropped bombs on Rheims Friday night, killing two civilians.

Are You Looking Old?

Old age comes quick enough without inviting it. Some look old at 40. That is because they neglect the liver and bowels. Keep your bowels regular and your liver healthy and you will not only feel younger but look younger. When troubled with constipation or biliousness take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are intended especially for these ailments and are excellent. Easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.

Morgan Waybright returned this morning from Hastings, Neb., where he has been for the past few days, called by the serious automobile accident of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mauzy and in which Mrs. Mauzy and Mrs. T. B. Brown were badly injured.

Miss Pauline Oldham of Murray was in the city Saturday looking after some shopping and calling on her many friends in the county seat.

Prohibition and Increased Taxation

A Message from Governor Capper of Kansas

 "Kansas, in common with other states, has experienced in the last decade an increase in the cost of government and the burdens of taxation, far beyond the increase of population. In twelve years public expenditures have increased 68 per cent in the state; 77 per cent in the county; 153 per cent in the city; 119 per cent in the township; 132 per cent for schools."

This quotation is taken word for word from an official message from Governor Capper of Kansas to the Legislature of Kansas, 1915 session. The message is dated Jan. 12, 1915, is signed "Arthur Capper, Governor," and appears on pages 11-17, of the official Senate Journal, State of Kansas, 1915.

The attention of the reader is called to the fact that taxes have increased enormously in Kansas, a prohibition state.
