

MRS. STEIMKER PASSES AWAY

This Highly Esteemed Lady Died Last Night Following a Lingering Illness of Several Months.

From Friday's Daily.

Last evening Mrs. F. H. Steimker, one of the most highly esteemed and estimable ladies of the city, was called to her last long rest following an illness covering a period of the last seven months, during which time she had been suffering from cancer. During the long months of suffering Mrs. Steimker had borne her affliction with Christian fortitude, aware that there was no chance of recovery she awaited with patience the time when the voice of the Master might call her home to suffer no more. The husband and daughter during these months have ministered with tender care to their loved one to sooth her last hour with all that their willing hands could do to bring her relief. The death of Mrs. Steimker brought to the many friends throughout the city a keen sense of grief as during the long years of her residence here she had made a great many friends by her pleasant personality, that was always keen to the welfare of those she called by the name of friend. Since 1878 Mr. and Mrs. Steimker have made their home in this city and have each had an important part in the social and religious life of the community, and to the husband, whose years are now past the meridian of life, the death of the wife and helpmate comes as a very severe blow and leaves a vacancy in the home circle that cannot be filled.

Barbara Klaus was born in Hessel-Darmstadt, Germany, November 10, 1846, and her girlhood was passed in the land across the sea, where she was joined in the Presbyterian faith, with which she was a devout member until her death. In the spring of 1867, she came to America to visit her brother and sisters at Burlington, Ia., and the trip that was for a visit with the relatives was to mean that she was to remain in this country for her lifetime as she was married at Burlington on December 21, 1867, to Mr. F. H. Steimker. For a number of years Mr. and Mrs. Steimker continued to reside at Burlington, until the spring of 1878, when they came to Plattsmouth, where the husband entered the employ of the Burlington shops, and since that time they have resided here. To Mr. and Mrs. Steimker two children were born, Adelia, wife of Mr. W. A. Ackerman, who passed away June 7, 1893, and Elizabeth, wife of W. E. Moore of Lincoln, and who was present at the bedside of the mother caring for her when she passed away. Two grandchildren, Fred Hayden and Mrs. Harry Crittenden of Lincoln, are also left to mourn the death of Mrs. Steimker, as well as three great-grandchildren. One brother, Michael Klaus of Burlington, Ia., is the only other relative residing in this country.

To the family the deepest sympathy will be extended in the loss of this grand, good woman.

Saturday evening Lee Riggs and a young man named Rogers, who is employed on the farm of Oscar Gapeen, south of this city, became involved in an altercation in the alley near Fourth and Main streets and during the argument that followed it is claimed that Riggs drew a large dirk knife and made an onslaught on Rogers. ## FUNERAL OF LITTLE DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. WILL RICE

From Friday's Daily.

The funeral of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Rice was held yesterday afternoon from the home of the grandmother of the little one, Mrs. Dan Rice, and was attended by a large number of the neighbors and friends of the family, who gathered to share with the bereaved family their grief and sorrow. The services were conducted by Rev. Thomas C. Truscott of the Methodist church, who spoke words of comfort to the grief stricken parents and relatives, and in the brief words offered the pastor brought to the family the hope of another day, when once more the loved one might be with them to part no more. During the services several of the old beloved hymns were given by a quartet consisting of Mrs. C. S. Johnson, Miss Florence Balsler, Miss Truscott and C. C. Wescott. There was a large number of floral remembrances laid on the bier of the little one, whose death had come so suddenly and tragically while yet she was in the tender years of childhood, and expressed more than words the feeling of grief that the occasion had drawn forth from the many old friends of the family.

The death of this little one was caused by her being kicked by a horse at the home of the parents on their farm in Canada, when at first it was not thought she was seriously injured, but in a few days her condition became critical and she passed away as a result of the injury.

CARD OF THANKS.

To the kind friends and neighbors who by their assistance and sympathy aided us in the time of death of our little one, we desire to express our most grateful appreciation. May they meet with as kindly treatment in their hour of sorrow.

MR. AND MRS. WILL RICE.

ANOTHER SUIT TO GET MONEY RETURNED ON LAND NOT DELIVERED

From Friday's Daily.

As another chapter in the story of Cass county people who were taken in on the sale of land in Minnesota for which they failed to receive the land or their money back, a suit has been filed in the district court of Douglas county by Omar A. Coon, a former resident of near Manley, who is suing Oscar Lund, Hilmer C. Aamouth and the Lund Land company. In his petition the plaintiff, Mr. Coon, sets forth that he was fleeced out of his commission on the sale of lands and that his reputation has been damaged in a business way by the actions of the defendants, who had deceived and defrauded him, and for this he asks the sum of $15,000, as balm for his outraged feelings.

For twenty years Mr. Coon was engaged in farming in this county, near Manley, and handled a little real estate business on the side. In 1911, Mr. Coon alleges that Lund and Aamouth induced him to give up farming and go to selling farm lands. He claims that in 1911 he sold 2,080 acres. He further states that Lund and Aamouth represented themselves as worth $150,000 and to be owners of the land Coon sold. Subsequently he learned these statements were false and that they had no title for the land that had been sold. Mr. Coon has sued to compel the defendants to pay him the commission due him on the land he sold and for the injury to his reputation and standing among the old neighbors and friends in Cass county.

It will surely be a most comfortable and pleasing home in every way.

WATSON LONG LOSES TWO FINGERS IN CORN SHELLER YESTERDAY

From Friday's Daily.

A very serious accident occurred at the farm of Allen Land west of Mynard, and which resulted in the loss of two fingers of the right hand of Watson Long, one of the well known farmers of that locality, as the result of having them lacerated in the cog-wheels of a corn sheller. Mr. Long had just started up the sheller preparatory to starting in on the shelling for Mr. Land, and was engaged in oiling up the machine, and to protect his hands was wearing a pair of gloves, and while he was oiling the cog-wheels the glove caught in the revolving cogs and before the machine could be stopped the hand of Mr. Long was drawn down in the cogs and badly lacerated and crushed. As soon as the hand of the unfortunate man was extricated from the sheller, medical assistance was summoned from this city and the very serious condition of the hand was such as to cause great apprehension as to saving it, and the injured man was taken by auto to Omaha, where he was placed in the Immanuel hospital, and after an examination it was decided to amputate the first and second fingers of the right hand, which were torn and lacerated very severely. The operation was performed with most satisfactory results. Reports from the hospital this morning state that Mr. Long is feeling as well as possible following the severe ordeal and it is thought he will suffer no further trouble from the injured hand. The family and friends while regretting greatly the accident, feel that it was fortunate that he did not lose his entire hand.

HOUSE OF CHAS. CLARK BURNED TO THE GROUND

From Saturday's Daily.

The home of Chas. Clark residing about two and one miles north of town was destroyed by fire early Friday morning with all its contents. Mrs. Clark and the three children barely had time to get up alive. One of the little ones was asleep upstairs and the mother had to make her way through the smoke in order to rescue the little fellow who was almost suffocated by the dense smoke when it was brought to the fresh air. As the family have no more of this world's financial goods than is necessary for a livelihood, they have the sympathy of their many friends in their loss.—Union Ledger.

REPUBLICAN BUGBOO OF THE HARD TIMES EXPLODED

Democratic State Committee Has Issued Hand Bills Pointing Out Great Advances in Products and Bank Deposits.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 29.—The much overworked republican bugboo of democratic hard times is exploded in the four years of the Wilson administration and the two years which the democrats have had control of the state government in Nebraska, the democratic state committee points out in a handbill which is being printed for general distribution.

The handbill compares the records of the two parties.

It first gives the prices paid for farm products in 1912, the last year of the Taft administration and what the same products are bringing now. The difference is shown as follows:

Wheat, four years ago 69c; now $1.50.
Corn, four years ago, 48c; now 75 to 85 cents.
Oats, four years ago, 31 cents; now, 50 cents.

Hogs, four years ago, $7; now, $10.78 and $11.75.

Deposits in state banks are taken for the next comparison of democratic and republican prosperity. In 1912 these aggregated $85,695,151. The total amount now is $151,121,071, the ratio of gain being almost 90 per cent.

The handbill shows that the last state tax levy made by a republican board of assessment in 1914, was 7.8 mills, whereas the levy this year, made by a democratic board, is only 6.1 mills, the reduction in state taxes being 1.7 mills, or 22 per cent.

"Republican rule in ten years placed the state hundreds of thousands of dollars in debt," the circular reads. "Democracy in two years has wiped out the debt made by republican misrule and lowered the state taxes more than one million dollars."

The old-time republican slogan of "Let well enough alone" is quoted along with "Safest First" and Democracy means efficiency, prosperity and economy."

It is believed that democratic state headquarters that this handbill will give republican managers and speakers enough to keep them busy explaining and excusing for the rest of the campaign.

This will be a great opportunity to meet Senator Hitchcock, who has had a great part in bringing Nebraska to the front at Washington, where he has been one of the leading advisors of the president on the great matters of state he has had to deal with during the last four years. Senator Hitchcock is proud of the state he represents and his record in congress is one in which his people can well feel proud.

RED SOX WIN BY A SCORE OF 13 TO 8 IN GAME YESTERDAY

Yesterday afternoon under very disagreeable weather conditions, the Red Sox won a hard fought battle at the local base ball park from the Omaha Gas Company Stars, by the score of 13 to 8. The high wind blowing made the game one very disagreeable for the ball players, and in this respect the visitors suffered more than the locals as their throws to the bases were decidedly poor and the stolen base record of a number of the Sox crew was fattened considerably. The locals while laboring under a handicap for the first portion of the game took kindly to the pitching staff of the visitors and after four innings made the fielders of the All Stars run themselves to death trying to handle their hits. Peterson of the Holly team opened the game for the All-Stars, but was touched up lively in the fourth and was succeeded by Newt Shaffer, but Newt was unable to stem the tide and was replaced by Cleve Hull, the pilot of the Omaha team, but the boys soon made thing merry for Hull by their hits, and the high wind blowing prevented the fielders from working at their best. In the stolen base record McGrath, the Sox short stop, added to his laurels by stealing home off Hull. The visitors scored five runs in the first inning and made things look decidedly blue for the Sox, but in the batting rally that followed the Sox simply overwhelmed the visitors. Stevens did the pitching for the locals and while scored upon quite heavily, was steady toward the last of the game when the Sox were on the way to victory.

Bill Mason divided the features of the game with McGrath, as Bill was at bat five times and secured one hit and made an onslaught on Rogers. McGrath stole home while Hull stood in the box holding the ball.

With the weather being so unfavorable this will be the last game of the season. The box score of the game was as follows:
