THOUGHT FOR TODAY

America asks nothing for herself but what she has a right to ask for humanity itself.—Woodrow Wilson.

Rather cool for September.

There is a difference to most people as to whether you are tired or tire-some.

The trouble with the man who knows it all is that he can't keep it to himself.

The lurid life of the city is generally exaggerated. The town is seldom as red as it is painted.

In forty years the sugar per capita of this country has increased from eighteen to eighty-nine pounds.

More harm results from the narrow thinking of good people than from the wrong thinking of bad people.

A woman may be lucky to have no sense of humor, if she is compelled to associate with egotists of the male species.

Yes, it is true that a woman insists on two things. First, she wants a hat that is stylish, but it must not be like any other hat.

Notwithstanding we are right in the throes of a great political campaign, it has no effect upon business in Plattsmouth and building improvements and street paving goes on just the same.

This thing of opening political conventions with prayer does not satisfy some of our political leaders, who claim that the most enjoyable moments of their political opportunities was when they were opened with a cork-screw.

A Chicago judge says that a perfect human being would be a nuisance. Possibly they don't have that kind in Chicago. The judge should move to Nebraska, and he will get over that fit of indigestion and cynicism.

One good thing about being a bachelor, he is never awakened by a woman's snore.—Hastings Tribune. No doubt Adam Breede, the editor, is good authority on a subject of this kind, and under the circumstances, we are willing to accept his opinion as final.

Many voters in Cass county have expressed themselves favorable for the re-election of Hon. John Mattes because he has been tried and never, even in one instance, been found lagging in doing his duty in behalf of his constituents. A worthy public servant of the people.

It is reported from Buffalo, N. Y., that Arthur Schmale of Lincoln got his fingers burned to the tune of $160 by getting into a game where strangers matched dollars with him. He told the police. Reporters got hold of it and wired to his home paper. Schmale was on his vacation. Oh, what's the use of working with the "crop" so fine.

The most neat and tasty special edition issued from any print shop, is that devoted to Lincoln and issued from the office of the Omaha Nebraskan, of which Richard L. Metcalfe is the editor. Special editions when printed and gotten up with such fine taste are a credit to the city in whose interests it is published, and always brings forth good results.

HUGHES AND THE BOYS OF AMERICA.

Gifford Pinchot has written a letter to the editors of newspapers throughout the country giving his reasons for supporting Hughes for president, or, rather, his reasons for opposing Wilson. We quote from the letter as follows:

"Worst of all is this: When every principle of freedom and equity for which our fathers fought was at stake in the great war, when our whole country eagerly awaited the leadership of the president, Wilson dodged. He refused to take sides on the greatest moral issue of our time. He advised our people to be 'neutral even in thought,' undecided between right and wrong. While our friends abroad were fighting for the principles we held equally with them, he taught us that profits and ease were better than self-respect. President Wilson has done our nation the most serious injury that any leader can do to any people by making us flinch with him from a great moral decision. Thereby he weakened our hold as a nation on the principles which alone can make any people self-respecting, safe and strong."

In other words, the worst thing that Wilson has done as president, according to one of Hughes' most ardent progressive supporters, is that he has kept this country out of the world war.

We have too much respect for Gifford Pinchot even to suspect that he is not perfectly sincere in his conviction that millions of American boys ought to be fighting side by side with the boys of Great Britain, France and Russia in the blood-soaked, vermin-infested trenches of Europe.

We admire his courage in publicly stating his conviction—a courage in which his candidate seems to be sadly lacking.

If all the loose talk in which Hughes has indulged about a "strong foreign policy," "national honor," etc., means anything, it means that he believes with Pinchot that this nation should have declared war against Germany.

If Hughes does not mean this, then his talk is mere political bunk.

A good many of the issues in this presidential campaign are pretty well mixed up, but this issue of war or peace is beginning to be clearly defined.

Wilson kept the boys of America—your boys and my boys—out of the European slaughterhouse, where already upwards of 15,000,000 boys, just like yours and mine have been killed, maimed or are suffering the horrors of prison camps.

Pinchot says that this is "the worst of all" of Wilson's many crimes.

And Hughes, afraid to be as frank as Pinchot, lest he lose the German vote, talks glibly about the weakness of Wilson's foreign policies and the loss of our national honor.—Omaha News.

Hunt up your last winter's overcoat.

However, many of us are for any brand of reform that's fashionable.

Julius Pitz has made an excellent county commissioner, always attentive to his duties in every way, and deserves to be re-elected. Look over the roads in his district, and his other official duties, and see if he has not done well enough to deserve a re-election. No one could do better, and many not half as well. Remember that.

The voters want to keep their weather eye in the direction of John Murtey, the democratic candidate for the legislature from Cass county. He is a grand, good man, and should be elected, because he is abundantly well qualified to fill the position with ability, and after he has served his time there will be no disappointments in the good work of John Murtey. You can depend upon that.

The frost didn't get the corn.

Man is a mister, while woman is a mystery.

Hitchcock here Tuesday evening, October 3.

The frost is on the pumpkin good and plenty.

Girls will be girls—if they can't be married women.

It doesn't take the average honey-moon long to get ready for the embalmer.

Yesterday was an easy day for the bartender. Bond election, and the saloons were closed.

Even us democrats would not deny that Mr. Hughes has a nice smile—when posing for a picture.

It is all right to profit by your mistakes, but, say, old man, don't make making mistakes your regular business.

There are many servant girls who want $12.00 a week as salary, not wages. If they get it, there are many wives who would like to change places with them.

A man may be awfully absent-minded and forget where he lives and what his name is, but he never forgets that you borrowed a dollar from him and didn't pay it back.

Less taxes is pretty close to the pocket book of every voter in the state. That's what we get in Nebraska under a democratic administration. Don't you think it should be continued?

The more that Keith Neville travels the more votes he makes. His personality is one the people like, and his record as a gentleman, citizen and business man is one on which there is no discount. And the more you know him the better you like him. He will be a governor of whom we will all feel proud.

A FEW QUESTIONS.

In sixteen years of power during fourteen years of which it wielded absolute control of both houses of congress, what did the republican party do toward tariff reform.

What did it do with the currency problem?

What did it do with Alaska and its resources?

What did it do with child labor?

What did it do with workman's compensation.

What did it do with rural credits?

What did it do about preparedness?

What has the democracy done in three years and a half with these problems?

Who are the leaders of the republicanism today—the men who nominated Hughes and are managing his campaign?

"On the Other Foot."

The Fremont, Neb., Tribune (Rep.) says: "Not in the legislative history of the country has there been another such spectacle as that of the congress of the United States meekly bowing to the dictates of a set of men who ordered it to pass an act or they would cut the throat of the commercial industry and paralyze the entire business of the country. More than that, they would starve the people."

But what about the railroad presidents? They were so anxious for the strike that they anticipated it by putting an embargo on freight. They, too, were willing to "cut the throat of commerce." They were willing to paralyze business and starve the people. They were willing that the people should suffer or die in order that unionism might be destroyed.

These railroad managers have always been able to use congress for their own selfish ends. This is the first time when congress has hardened to any other voice. And the republican press that has always pointed to the corporation leanings of congress as "maintenance of national honor" is horrified, now that congress has dared to give a little help to workingmen.—Omaha Nebraskan.

Hon John A. Maguire should be re-elected to congress, because his years of service was crowned with success, and his record was one that any man should be proud of. The people have a chance to choose between C. F. Reavis and John A. Maguire, and we are decidedly in favor of the latter, because he works in congress for the good of his district.

Henry Ford, author of the Ford car, millionaire peace advocate, who carried his home state of Michigan for president on the republican ticket, also this district of Nebraska, has announced himself for President Wilson. He thinks, as we do, that the democrats went too far on the preparedness business, but the republicans would go still farther and he isn't in favor of it. As we said before, the only difference between the editor and Henry is his millions, his think tank seems to run along about the same lines as ours.

THAT JOKER A MYTH.

Partisan assaults upon the child labor law, in which charges were made and are being made by Hughes stump champions, have encountered a rebuff. They set out that the child labor law contains a joker that destroys its value.

Owen B. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child Labor committee, with offices in New York, sends out a statement endorsing the measure, and suggesting that "the child labor problem is too serious a one to have its issues blurred by political differences," and appealing to friends of child labor legislation to "help keep clearly before the people the facts of the child labor campaign."

"The National Child Labor committee," says Mr. Lovejoy's statement, "has issued today a protest against current statements to the effect that the recently passed federal child labor law is a 'fraud and a joker.' We hope no one will be misled by these rumors. The bill was carefully drawn and thoroughly considered. It was not jammed through congress, but has been pending three years."

He directs attention to the fact that only two republicans, Penrose and Oliver, voted against it, and ten democrats, all from southern states.

"If the law is a gold brick," says Mr. Lovejoy, "both parties made the brick, and the attempt to use it as campaign material is absurd. The law is as air-tight as a law can be. It was framed by the best constitutional lawyers in the country."

Mr. Lovejoy says that the thirty days clause, which has occasioned the charge that it contains a joker, does not relate to shipment in interstate commerce, but to removal from the factory, and was intended chiefly to prevent evasion of the law by the storage of child-made goods in a warehouse. He did not believe that anyone could attempt to use it as a means of evading the law.

Exit, a well-worn campaign, roor-back.—Lincoln Star.

GREEN FEED IN WINTER.

Why don't your hens lay when eggs are high? They do not get the chemical ingredients that the grasses and green feed supply in season. B. A. Thomas' Poultry Remedy supplies these very ingredients, only in a more concentrated form. We sell it and guarantee you to get eggs.

HOW CATARRH IS CONTRACTED.

Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the colds which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucus membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic tatarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. Obtainable everywhere.

MARRIED AT NEBRASKA CITY.

Miss Lydia V. Opp and John G. Hansen were married at Nebraska City Monday, September 25th, at 10 o'clock by the county judge of Otoe county.

These young people were born and raised in this community, where the fathers and mothers of both of them were raised. It seems fitting that these old pioneer families should be united in more than neighborly bonds and friendship. The groom's grandfather settled on the farm where John was born in 1855, and the grandfather of the bride settled on the farm where she was born in the early sixties, so they came from old pioneer stock on both sides.

The families of both sides are well known and highly respected citizens.

honest, thrifty, law abiding and an honor to any community. We wish the world was filled with such people. The young couple have been sweethearts since their school days, so their marriage was not such a surprise as it would have been under other circumstances.

The bride is a singer of note in this community and there are very few who have not heard her sweet and bird-like tones on many occasions.

A 6 o'clock dinner was served at the bride's home to the immediate families only. For the present the newly weds will be at home with the groom's family. We know the whole community will join us in wishing the young people happiness, health, long life and prosperity.—Nehawka News.
