THOUGHT FOR TODAY

God bless thee with blessings beyond hope or thought, with blessings which no words can find.—Alfred Tennyson.

Vice President Marshall come and gone.

There is nothing in the world that fails like failure.

Before long peace is going to be regarded as a great adventure.

Many turn out and meet second lady of the land—Mrs. Marshall.

The man who makes a fool of himself is always a self-made man.

Overcoats come handy this kind of weather, especially if you use your auto very much.

Rather than patch up an old quarrel, some people find it less trouble to make a new one.

Even the fellow who gambles that the unexpected is going to happen may have to hedge.

It matters not how you may be dressed, your manner and character should speak for you.

You never can tell. The early bird sometimes merely scratches up the worm for the late riser.

Omaha has a wider spot on the map than she ever had before, all because she knows how to entertain the big men of the country.

What do you think of having Thanksgiving a week earlier this year? Have it come on Thursday, November 23, instead of the 30th. That's the move now.

There is something very much like ingratitude in some big business opposing the re-election of President Wilson just because he does not allow them to dictate the policy of the American government.

The Hughes republican managers in the east are worked up over the magnificent reception President Wilson received at Omaha, and all along the line to and from Nebraska: The greatest on record, decidedly.

If there ever was a time in the history of Nebraska politics when the democratic party invites the support of all parties, that time is right now. With such men as Keith Neville, Edgar Howard and Willis E. Reed at the head of the state ticket the party has cause for their enthusiasm.

The New York Tribune, which can boast of its long and unbroken record of republicanism, in a special dispatch from Omaha, describes President Wilson's reception as a "phenomenon which, in the opinion of observers, has seldom if ever been equaled in this or other sections of the country."

Will we send strong men to the legislature, who will stand for what the people demand in the way of good laws, or will we send weaklings who will simply be something—something that will just be tools in the hands of men who want them personally, and will control them in their acts during the session of the legislature? Think of this matter now, before it is everlastingly too late. John Murty is the right sort of man to send to the legislature, and he is just the kind that will do something for Nebraska in the legislature.

WILL CANDIDATE SUTTON EXPLAIN?

The extremely interesting legislative record of Abraham L. Sutton, republican candidate for governor, offers many demands for explanation, for "by their fruits ye shall know them," and this record seems, until explained away, to mirror the character of the man who wants to be made governor.

An investigation of that record discloses that in 1893, when a measure was introduced to forbid railways giving free passes, Mr. Sutton was one of thirty-three members voting against it. Time has disclosed that the railroad pass was the lever through which corporation control in state and nation was long maintained so rigidly that it was impossible to secure any legislation in behalf of the people.

In those days legislators were cheerfully provided by the railroads with passes for themselves and others.

Will Mr. Sutton explain in his speeches to voters why he voted against that bill, and whether or not it was because it would deprive him of a railroad pass for himself?

In the session of 1895, the law shows, Mr. Sutton voted against a bill requiring railroads to give free transportation to shippers of live stock, so that they might accompany their shipments and care for such stock.

Will Mr. Sutton tell the farmers and stockmen whose votes he is asking, whether or not the record is correct as to his votes on these two measures, both so meritorious that they have since become the law of the state?

Will he explain to these farmers and others why he voted against a measure that would deprive him of a pass, and then voted against a measure that would provide a railroad pass for the live stock shippers of the state to whom they should of right go?

Will the farmers and live stock men of Nebraska ask Mr. Sutton to explain these votes of his while in the legislature?

And while doing it, will they ask him why he voted for the railroads and against the people in voting against the Newberry bill for the establishment of maximum railroad rates?—Lincoln Star.

The truth may be mighty, but sometimes it has to leak out.

Never hit a man when he is down if you want to strike him favorable.

Even success must be handled with care. Don't rest on your laurels unless you are prepared to see them wither.

The average man marries only after he has tried every other adventure in the search for a thrill, and suddenly discovers that matrimony is the only real novelty left.

The fact still remains that by no possible juggling of the figures can it be disproved that the democratic administration of Nebraska affairs has been wise, business-like, economical and efficient. Nor, can it be doubted that the election of Keith Neville and his associates on the state ticket will guarantee a continuation of just that kind of administration.

The voters of the First congressional district know Hon. John A. Maguire, and they know, too, that while he was in congress the interests of his constituents were well looked after. He was faithful and studious in their behalf, and should surely go back to the place which he so well filled. All members of congress have a good word for John A. Maguire.

Come again, Mr. Marshall.

A half loaf is better than nothing all the time.

It's what you don't know that keeps you guessing.

Attorney General Willis Reed is a captivating speaker.

The man who has to be humored isn't much of a man.

Every section of Cass county was represented here to hear Vice President Marshall.

"Take your choice. Vote for Wilson and peace, or for Hughes and war," says Vice President Marshall.

President Wilson is growing stronger every day. Pray, tell us, what is there to prevent him?

You, too, Governor Morehead, and bring Attorney General Reed, John Maguire and Edgar Howard with you.

If Villa had been buried every time he was reported dead it would take several square miles of cemetery to contain his graves.

Those who heard Vice President Marshall speak Tuesday afternoon were mighty well pleased with it. He certainly is a fine speaker.

"Things will never be the same again," says one—in fact, more than one—of the innumerable writers on the war. But this need not disturb anyone. Things never were the same.

Mrs. Marshall failed to accompany the vice president to Plattsmouth, on account of illness, which was a great disappointment to the ladies of the city who had made arrangements to entertain the second lady of the land.

During the past sixteen months state bank deposits in Nebraska have increased 40 per cent. And yet some of our republican friends would make it appear that the present administration is harmful to the state's prosperity.

One month yet till the election. We will all be glad when the battle is over, and the country is again settled down to a routine of business again. Politics is aggravating to everybody but an editor, and he is about the only person that enjoys a lively political campaign, and he does not like it so well as some people think.

VIEW ON EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

Republican politicians who want to defeat Wilson regardless of the fact that he has made the best president since Lincoln are not mad because President Wilson settled the railroad strike. They are mad because he did settle it. They wanted him to do the wrong thing so they could use their old slogan of strikes and hard times. They hoped and prayed that the president would insist upon impossible arbitration so that the strike could go on.

They condemn the overworked railroad men because they wanted an eight-hour day instead of ten hours. They never said one word about the railroad presidents who receive from $25,000 to $100,000 per year, the high salaried superintendents, etc. Their sympathy all seems to be with the poor railroads, and yet investigation has shown that the real value of all railroads in the United States is about $6,000,000,000, and that they are capitalized in the enormous sum of $17,000,000,000; that is, there $10,000,000,000 of water in their stock, all of which has been brought about by these angelic railroad presidents who prefer strikes and general anarchy rather than consent to pay men a fair and decent wage for their labors.

What they are mad at is that they know Wilson has made a good president and because they know that thousands of good republicans all over the country are going to vote for Wilson. Therefore they act like men who are in the losing game. Led by Mr. Hughes, they scold and swear at the achievements of President Wilson and attempt to pick flaws in minor matters but never say a kind word concerning his successes.—Chicago Herald.

SUTTON'S ATTITUDE TOWARD LABOR.

What has been the attitude of the republican candidate for governor toward labor?

The record is not prolific of acts of friendship. Where he has had to go on record he has not evinced any decided partiality for the working man.

While he was in the legislature there was a strike of the union printers of Lincoln in progress. It affected certain newspapers that are now lending their support to Candidate Sutton. A resolution was introduced in the legislature whereby it was sought to have that body record its sympathy for the striking printers. Mr. Sutton voted against that resolution.

In the same session a measure was introduced to outlaw the employment and importation of Pinkerton detectives as deputy sheriffs in time of strikes and industrial troubles.

Mr. Sutton voted against that measure, which was one earnestly sought by the representatives of organized labor.

Viewed from the union labor standpoint it was an important piece of legislation, as it had been customary in time of industrial trouble to have outside detective agencies sent into the state a lot of irresponsible men to be made deputy sheriffs.

There is a provision now in the statute requiring the bonding of detectives operating within the state, and another that forbids the employment of persons as deputy sheriffs who are not residents of the state. These fulfill the purpose of the measure against which A. L. Sutton as a legislator voted in 1893.

But while Mr. Sutton was voting thus to defeat the wishes of organized labor, he was not hostile in his votes to all labor.

When a resolution was introduced to strike from the state payroll the names of all extra legislative employees "not needed by the house," he offered a substitute providing that no one be discharged except two janitors and two clerks.

And when a resolution was introduced forbidding employes from carrying away the property of the state at the close of the session, a republican practice that had long been a scandal and disgrace, Mr. Sutton valiantly cast his vote against it. Those who recall how, under the old republican regime, members and employes of the legislature used to carry away to their homes the desks, chairs, cuspidors, waste baskets, typewriting machines and other movable state property, will discern the merit in this exhibition of solicitude for state employes.

It is conceded that time enough has intervened for many moral reforms on the part of Mr. Sutton. Ask him if he has experienced them.—Lincoln Star.

Corn husking is now on. Young man, do you want a job?

It is now up to the candidates to get busy and keep on getting busy till election day, and then get out and work till the polls close.

Elihu Root says that universal military service is "essentially democratic." And everybody knows what a valiant champion of democracy Elihu Root has been.

As Lieutenant Governor Pearson, who claimed the populist nomination for re-election, has withdrawn from the race, leaving Edgar Howard as the democratic and populist candidate for lieutenant governor, let us put our shoulders to the wheel and boost the Howard wagon right along to victory.

It is looking dark for the democrats. With the California astrologer predicting a landslide for Hughes, on advice he is receiving from the stars, along comes Chairman Beach of the republican state committee with what he claims is a letter from Senator Wiltse, bringing equally cheerful Nebraska news for the republicans. Inasmuch as Senator Wiltse was gathered to his fathers about two years ago, this combination of occult omens is a little discouraging.—Lincoln Star.

Tanlac, the Great New Medicine, Sweeps Over Nation; Merit Wins and Multitudes Give It Praise

"Made Me Younger"—"Put Me Back on the Payroll"—"Gave Me New Life"—In the Thousands of Endorsements Given Master Medicine

This is Tanlac Week.

More than seven million five hundred thousand bottles of Tanlac have been sold in the United States in the two years since the first bottle was sold.

That fact alone is sufficient explanation why Tanlac Week should now be celebrated in cities throughout the United States. The tremendous and unprecedented success of Tanlac could not have been achieved without true merit. The 8,000 druggists who are giving Tanlac their renewed endorsements by special displays this week know that they have behind them the unqualified endorsement of Tanlac by millions of satisfied customers.

No other medicine has ever had the same success that Tanlac has won as a tonic, appetizer, invigorant and revitalizer. Its fame was instantaneous and it spread through the country until today it is known everywhere as The Master Medicine.

TRUE WORTH EXPLAINS SUCCESS!

Tanlac's success is easily explained—true worth. The tens of thousands of men and women who have endorsed it praise it because they are grateful for the relief Tanlac has given them.

To suffer from sleeplessness, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, belching and bloating from gas, dizziness and biliousness, kidney and liver troubles, pains in the stomach, the back and the head for years, and then to get relief through a tonic that is pleasant to take, gentle and gradual in its results, renewing the appetite, aiding assimilation, and restoring health, vigor, ambition and strength, is enough to make people grateful.

Tens of thousands of people have said that Tanlac is The Master Medicine. Tanlac Week therefore means something to them.

ENDORSEMENTS ARE REMARKABLE

Some of the endorsements of Tanlac are remarkable. They show that taking Tanlac was a profitable investment for sick, weak, nervous, run-down men and women—profitable in more than one way. Some of the praise of Tanlac is in phrases that are written over and over.

"I feel like a new man"—"Tanlac has put me back on the payroll"—"I never lay off from my work since I took Tanlac"—"I do twice as much work as I used to"—"Tanlac has made me feel twenty years younger"—"I wake up in the morning feeling fine now."

Many women have written, "I have my natural color back since I took Tanlac"—"I feel like a girl again"—"My neighbors ask me what have I done to look so young and my answer is Tanlac"—"I feel like a different woman, my housework is a pleasure since I took Tanlac"

Those are some of the expressions which tens of thousands of men and women have used, in statements praising Tanlac.

TANLAC MEETS A NEED

Prepared from a secret formula, purely vegetable and absolutely free from mineral taint, Tanlac has met the need of a great reconstructive tonic to feed while it heals sick, sore stomachs, to promote digestion, aid assimilation, induce healthy and normal function of the digestive apparatus, and to build up health and strength in a natural way.

Throughout the vast world Nature has placed remedies for the healing of the nations. In Tanlac the best of them are merged for a sensible, reliable remedy. In Tanlac nature offers the great natural remedy for the everyday ills from which millions of men and women suffer.

The ingredients or medicinal elements which make Tanlac come from far separated sections of the globe. It is as though Nature, planting her gardens in every zone of the vast world, permitted man to select the best for compounding into a great remedy. Man has spared no expense or labor to get these best ingredients.

NOW A HOUSEHOLD REMEDY

Roots, herbs and barks best suited to a great tonic are used in the making of Tanlac. They are selected scientifically and blended with care. In order to insure a supply of them for Tanlac, The Cooper Medicine Company bought large amounts of certain ingredients. Ten tons of one ingredient were bought on one order.

Tanlac success, starting so quickly, is lasting. It has become a household remedy and is in two million homes because it is the great medicine which Nature offers from her best products.

Millions of people know this and Tanlac therefore is praised everywhere as the National Tonic—the upbuilder of health and strength through the stomach, blood and nerves.
