EPISCOPALS MAY PRAY FOR NATION

10.93 Lower House Votes to Eliminate Special President's Prayer From. Book.

> St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18 .- The lower house of the general convention of the Episcopal church has voted to eliminate from the prayer book, the special prayer for the president of the United States and to substitute a prayer for the safety of the nation.

Water. Block Amt The proposed new prayer for the nation, requests that "the president and all others in authority" be given "the wisdom and strength to know and to do thy will." This new prayer makes no reference to long life, health, prosperity or eternal felicity.

Before this change can become effective, it must be adopted by the general convention, three years

The question of missions was under discussion today.

There is a possibility of a debate on the question of unction. The socalled "Catholic wing" of the conference is expected to bring the question before the house, if further action is taken on the revision of prayers.

The proposed changes in the ten commandment, which will probably be brought up for debate today or tomorrow, are as follows:

1. No change from present.

2. Thou shalt not make unto thyself any graven image nor the likeness of anything that is in heaven above or in the earth beneath or in the water under the earth; thou shall not bow down to them nor wor-

DR. GLADDEN, YEARS IN G. O. P. FOR WILSON

Columbus, O., Oct. 18 .- Dr. Washington Gladden, famous clergymar and author, who has voted for every republican president elected, will this year vote for President Wilson.

"My first vote for president was east for Abraham Lincoln in 1860," says Dr. Gladden, "In 1912, I voted for Roosevelt with the progressives. "It seems to me that the ideas and principles of progressive democracy are better represented today by the spring. democratic party and its leaders than by the republican party and leaders. "I rejoiced to see Hughes elevated to a seat upon the supreme bench.

"I have greatly admired directness, tact, persistence, and courage by which Wilson has led his party forward to large legislative achievements.

"It was inevitable that the most wanton attacks would be made upon the president; at a time when the na- No. 76. tion ought to be standing firmly together all the resources of party politics are drawn upon to discredit our national leader.

"I wonder if a debate, led by eminent men, in which such a record as Wilson has made for the past three years-and a half, can be reviewed by his opponents without a generous or appreciative word, is really good poli-
