

DEATH OF HON. ISAAC POLLARD

Passed Away at the Advanced Age of 86 Years, After Residence of Sixty Years in Cass County.

Last evening at his home in Nehawka where for more than sixty years he has made his home, Hon. Isaac Pollard, one of the early residents of the county and one of the men who has had a great part in the development of the state, passed away as the immediate result of an attack of acute indigestion from which he has been suffering for the past week and which added to the other complications due to his advanced years proved too great a strain and resulted in the death of this worthy man. Mr. Pollard for the past ten years has been a sufferer from hardening of the arteries, which has gradually grown worse with the passing of the years. He was eighty-six years of age and during this long period of time has been one of the builders of Nebraska and in his death Cass county loses one of its most useful men and the loss will be one felt keenly by the entire state.

It is a matter of history the part that Isaac Pollard has had in the forming of the great state of Nebraska and the future generations will long honor the memory of this good man as one of the hardy pioneers who had forged a great agricultural empire out of what was long considered a part of the great American desert. Isaac Pollard was born in Ludlow, Vt., July 11, 1830, and here he was reared to manhood in the usual hardy New England life and was taught by his parents the great principles of life along the simple inspiring lines laid down by a long line of hardy ancestors and which was to have a direct bearing on the future of the young man. In 1851 Mr. Pollard in company with his boyhood friends, Lawson Sheldon and Perry Walker, came west to the California gold fields, making the trip to the coast by way of the Isthmus of Panama, but on arriving there found the opportunities not as flattering as they hoped for and returned to the Green Mountain state. In 1855 Mr. Pollard and Mr. Sheldon again came west to take up a home in Kansas but on arriving at the village of Omaha decided to locate in Nebraska and accordingly selected a homestead in southern Cass county where they have since made their homes and where they have made the land to blossom with the fruits of the earth.

One of the greatest orchards in the state of Nebraska was planted by Mr. Pollard at his Nehawka farm and during his lifetime he has taken a keen interest in the horticultural life of the state and his contributions has given the state a great ranking among the other commonwealths of the nation in this line.

Never a seeker after office, Mr. Pollard repeatedly refused to be a candidate for the public service and aside from several terms as county clerk in early days did not take any part in political life although always deeply interested in the advancement of his community and state.

Surviving the loss of this good man there are three daughters and two sons, Mrs. Harry Wills and Mrs. Lotte Shotwell, of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. A. J. Hilborn, Long Beach, California, former congressman E. M. Pollard, of Nehawka and Raymond C. Pollard, of Nehawka.

WASHINGTON AVENUE PAVING IS MOVING ALONG RAPIDLY

The paving of Washington avenue is rapidly drawing to a close as the last few days has allowed the Monarch Engineering company to go ahead with the work in very rapid order. The company took advantage of the good weather yesterday to push the work of laying the brick and a great deal was accomplished during this time. It is thought that it will be possible to complete the work by Wednesday night, with all the brick laid from Seventh street to the Missouri Pacific right-of-way.

FUNERAL OF SAMUEL WARSTAT YESTERDAY

The funeral services of the late Samuel Warstat were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the German St. Paul's church of which he was a very devout member during his lifetime and a large number of the old friends and neighbors gathered to pay their tribute of esteem to the memory of this worthy man and to share with the sorrowing family the grief of parting from the one they loved. The services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Steger, pastor of the church, who spoke briefly of the life and work of the departed and paid a tribute of respect to his memory as well as words of comfort for the family and friends who had been left behind to mourn his passing. The choir of the church gave several selections that were very well appreciated and consisted of several of the old loved hymns of faith. At the conclusion of the church service the body was taken to Oak Hill cemetery where it was laid to rest in the family burial lot. There were a large number of very handsome floral remembrances laid on the bier of the departed as a token of the kindly feeling held for him in this community.

SELLS HIS SHOES FOR TWO DOLLARS

This morning the good people of the city were greatly astonished to view Frank Vallery, the genial land man, of Murray, in the act of walking up Main street in his sox feet and without the usual covering of shoe leather and this fact led to a great many inquiries as to why and wherefore of the imitation of the barefoot fad that has been sweeping over the country. The truth of the matter is that Frank is a man that will take no cares and when he agrees to do a thing he delivers the goods. He was engaged in conversation with Mart Williams and of the talk Mr. Vallery alluded to his shoe as being lucky. Mr. Williams asked how much he would take for them and Frank stated $2. The money was at once put up and the exchange of the shoes for the coin carried out and Frank attended by two friends and followed by Mart carrying the famous $2 shoes proceeded up the street to the Fetzer shoe store where Frank proceeded to purchase a $5 pair at the low price of $3 as Mart's two silver dollars went to make up the difference. The joke of the matter however was that the procession was witnessed by several parties that Frank did not care about seeing his barefoot parade but he was game and carried the stunt out to the finish.

ANDREW J. M'KINNEY PASSES TO HIS REWARD

Andrew J. McKinney, one of the aged residents of this city, passed away at the home of his daughter in this city Saturday after a few hours' illness that was caused by an acute attack of stomach trouble. Mr. McKinney had not been in the best of health since sustaining very severe injuries in a runaway accident two years ago, but his condition had not been thought dangerous until Friday afternoon, when he was taken very suddenly ill and continued to grow worse until death came to his relief Saturday morning.

Mr. McKinney was born August 4, 1830 in the state of Illinois, and there spent his early boyhood, later moving to Iowa, where he resided. At the outbreak of the civil war he enlisted in Company A, Thirty-fourth Iowa infantry, and served throughout the great struggle in behalf of the Union army. After the close of the war Mr. McKinney returned to Iowa and continued to make his home there until fifteen years ago, when he came to Plattsmouth, where a number of his children resided, and had since made his home here. Thirteen months ago today death removed from Mr. McKinney his helpmate and wife and this bereavement had a great deal to do with the failing of this splendid gentleman, as since that time he has been patiently awaiting the summons to join the wife in the better world, where there will be no bitter parting. He leaves to mourn his death seven children, James McKinney, Leslie McKinney, Mrs. W. J. Black and Mrs. Will Newland of this city, A. J. McKinney of Omaha and Will and Tom McKinney of Silver City, Ia. Since the death of his wife Mr. McKinney had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Will Newland, on North Eighth street.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Christian church and was conducted by Rev. C. E. Perlee, pastor of the church. The body was laid to rest in Oak Hill cemetery beside that of his wife.

VILLA CONTINUES EFFORT TO TAKE CHIHUAHUA CITY

Saturday's Desperate Assault Gains Foothold for Bandit—Hand-to-Hand Fighting in Streets.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 26.—In a desperate assault on Chihuahua City Saturday Poncho Villa had gained a foothold in the city and hand-to-hand fighting was in progress in the streets, United States department agents learned late in the day. The last message that came over the wire to the border stated that Villista forces had entered one side of the city. Late in the evening no further information as to the outcome of the battle for possession of the city had reached the border.

In United States official quarters here it is thought improbable that Villa had cut the wires, which were severed early in the day, because during the two days' fighting preceding Saturday's assault, when his men dominated the situation, the telegraph and railway lines were not severed.

On the streets of Juarez rumors were circulated that the Villistas had occupied Chihuahua City and that Trevino had been routed, but United States department agents stated there was little foundation for these rumors.

The presence of 200 Villistas, commanded by Sylvester Quevedo, eighty miles south of the American border on the Juarez-Chihuahua City railway line caused General Gonzales, commander of Juarez, to order one hundred Carranzista troops out to guard the bridge a few miles outside Juarez. Attempts to get supplies of ammunition to General Trevino were abandoned.

Report to Washington. Late in the day a United States government official, transmitting reports to Washington, said:

"Until 10 o'clock today, General Trevino had been able to repel every assault of the bandits upon Chihuahua City. In only a few instances had the bandits been able to get any distance into the city. Each time they were forced out. But we have authentic information that Villa had succeeded in penetrating into a portion of the town and had been holding it for hours. Then the military wire failed. Whether he has been able to maintain his ground is a question."

Other officials of five departments obtaining reports from the United States government believed that the ammunition supply of the defenders began to dwindle in the morning. Until Saturday, they said, Villa's movements indicated that he had surrounded the city and his only effort was to force the Carranzista garrison to expend as much ammunition as possible before starting the real assault.

Unusual precautions were observed in Juarez by General Gonzales, after obtaining reports of the nearness of Quevedo's band of Villistas, and another small body of bandits twenty-five miles southeast.

Water Supply Cut.

Villa has cut off the entire water supply to Chihuahua City by severing the aqueduct leading to the capital, according to a report obtained by United States department agents here. The aqueduct conveys the water supply of the city from a reservoir several miles away. Such action would cause suffering among the civilian population immediately, men familiar with the situation declared.

A big shooting match for forty turkeys will be held on Monday, November 27th at 1:30 p. m. at the home of E. R. Queen, eight miles south of Plattsmouth and four miles east of Murray. A fine chance to secure a fine turkey.

ALLEGED CORNER ON FOOD PROBED

Chicago Officials Begin Active Campaign Against Cold Storage Houses.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—City officials began their fight to break up the alleged corners in food and produce Saturday when fifty investigators went into the cold storage houses, tagging eggs and provisions believed to be held in violation of city ordinances.

The raiding squad worked under the direction of Health Commissioner Robertson, who led them to the pens of the Monarch Storage and Warehouse company, where James E. Wetts, the "egg king," is said to have immense quantities of eggs stored. Several other warehouses were visited during the afternoon.

Dr. Robertson is seeking violations of the "forestalling" ordinance, which regulates the time food can be held in storage and provides penalties for holding up of provisions to corner the market.

Meanwhile Morris Eller, city sealer, served notice on twenty grocers, butchers and hucksters for giving short weight and using faulty scales and measures. All were summoned to appear in court Monday.

Government Active.

This activity on the part of city officials was begun on advice of federal officers who said there was no possibility of prosecuting the commission men under federal statutes, as no evidence of conspiracy could be obtained.

Charles Clynne, United States district attorney, announced today he would send investigators to Engin, Ill., today to probe rumors that the board of trade there met each Saturday to fix prices for butter throughout the United States. Despite the announced plan, investigators did not appear in Engin, it is said, and the price of butter was boosted to 42 cents, and advance of 2 cents over the price of a week ago.
