VILLA NOT HURT WHEN SHELL FIRE WRECKS HIS CAR

Big Car Abandoned by Bandit Chief
During Operations Before
Chihuahua City.

Chihuahua City, Nov. 25.—(By Way of Courier to Marfa, Tex., Nov. 25.—Francisco Villa's automobile, which was being used by him to direct his campaign against the Carranza troops, was struck by shell fire today and was abandoned near Fresno, southwest of the city.

The shell holes and bullet marks were plainly seen on the sides of the big automobile when it was found on the battlefield after Villa abandoned it and rode away, uninjured, on horseback.

The battle today started soon after the telegraphic communication with Juarez was cut. The wire went down at 10 a. m. and the battle started shortly before 11 a. m. and was raging by 11:30 a. m. The bandits' attack covered the entire southern front from east to west, with flanking operations to the east and west.

Fighting in the City.
The most desperate fighting occurred on Zarca avenue, within the city. The bandits threw their best equipped forces against the entrenchments which had been thrown up across this street and street fighting followed. The Villa forces made every possible effort to take these entrenchments, which were the key to the defenses of the city proper.

The de facto infantry met these charges with counter charges and the battle raged back and forth in this narrow adobe-lined street until the Villa bandits were driven out of the mouth of the avenue onto the plains, where they were raked with machine gun fire from the house tops, and the artillery fire, which had supported effectively the infantry efforts.

Ready for Attack.
General Trevino is prepared for another general assault, although the indications today were the enemy would not attack again. However, General Trevino is not relinquishing his vigilance and he is prepared for a surprise attack from any one of the four quarters. At the time this message was dispatched by courier there were no bandits to be seen west of the city. General Carlos Ozuna's cavalry charges in this direction completely freed this sector of the Villa forces, which have been driven off to the southwest a distance estimated at five miles. The Villa troops attacked repeatedly and with great daring, but were driven off by the de facto forces and the force of their blows were spent against the first line entrenchments.

The losses on both sides are reported to be heavy, as the fighting during the past twenty-four hours has been much closer in range and some of it has been almost hand-to-hand encounters, as in the Zarca avenue assault.

In "No Man's Land."
The wounded who fell outside of the city could not be rescued from the "no man's land" beyond the first line trenches because of the firing by both the bandits and the government forces. It is expected to send rescue parties out under cover of night tonight to bring in the wounded and bury the dead. The wounded who fell within the city are being cared for at the municipal hospital, which is in command of Colonel Martinez, the staff surgeon of General Trevino. Women are serving as volunteer nurses in this and other hospitals of the city.

The troops on both the bandit and government sides appear very tired after three days of almost constant fighting. The government forces, however, are in good spirits and eager for more fighting. They celebrated the victories which they claim over the Villa bandits during the past fighting as they huddled around their camp fires in the first line trenches. A force of cavalry has been sent out from Guerrero, west of here, to pursue Rodrigo Quevedo and Murguina brothers, who have been operating in the country west of Chihuahua City.
Associated Press "Scoop."

Juarez, Nov. 26.—The Associated Press furnished the Carranza commanders in Juarez tonight with the first information they have had for thirty-six hours of the battle in Chihuahua City.

EXPECTS THAT GERMANY WILL HURRY THEIR REPLY

Washington, Nov. 26.—The administration believes that Germany probably will complete next week its replies to American inquiries about recent submarine attacks. Her answers to date, so far as revealed, defend the attacks and fail to show violation of her pledges. Meanwhile, authorities continued to insist there is thus far no "crisis."

The Berlin embassy notified the department Saturday afternoon that the state department may soon expect Germany's answer in the American representations relative to deportations of Belgian laborers.

Officials say it is unbelievable that the allies will object to safe conduct for the new Austro-Hungarian ambassador and his staff to America.

Official reports are lacking, but the state department said diplomatic custom and courtesy would undoubtedly be followed in this case. The United States has made no specific request for safe conduct for the new envoy, who replaces the late Dr. Dumba, who has notified the allied governments that he is coming, which virtually amounts to the same thing.

WOODMEN CIRCLE NOTICE.

Mr. Kiser has been suffering for the last thirty days from blood poisoning and now is laid up with an injured knee caused by the kick of a cow which is a very painful injury, but his friends will be glad to learn that he is now feeling much better.

Miss Mathilda Vallery was a passenger for Hastings, Neb., this morning, where she will attend a ball this evening and tomorrow evening, given by Adam Breede, editor of the Tribune, in the new ball room of the Clark hotel, which has recently been remodeled. Miss Vallery will remain over Thanksgiving.

Paul Heil returned to Omaha today after an over Sunday visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Heil, at their farm home in Eight Mile Grove precinct, and will resume his studies in school in that city.

A VERY MODERN COUNTRY HOME

For several years we have admired the beautiful farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tritch, about three miles west of Plattsmouth, it being what we have always considered one of the most beautifully and conveniently located of any in this part of the county, but have never had the pleasure of visiting the home until on invitation of Ed Tritch we called at his home Saturday a. m. to look at the new light plant recently installed there. We had intended to mention this as a mere item of news—but after noting the simplicity of operating this plant together with its efficiency and economy of running, we became as enthusiastic over the results furnished by this little machine as Mr. and Mrs. Tritch were, and concluded therefore to make this an article on illumination as applied to the modernization of homes in the country.

Entering the house we for a moment imagined we were in town, for here were fine electric light fixtures in each room, which at the touch of a button gave light, running water in the kitchen and bath—in fact every convenience of the city home. Upon asking where all this power and light came from we were conducted to the basement, where we were again enlightened as to the origin of all this. Upon being shown this modern "Aladdin" we could hardly believe that such a small piece of machinery (less than half the size of a kitchen range) could do all that we saw it accomplish. Touching a lever, awoke the self-starter which started the thing going. The starter by the way is the same make as we have on our Buick car.

The plant consists of a single unit, air-cooled gas engine, generator and switchboard all in one, with 16 glass cell batteries, in which enough juice is stored to last them three or four days. The engine will run about five hours on a gallon of gasoline—it runs equally as well with kerosene—a little ball in the pilot cell tells when to run the engine and a clock hand on the meter on the front of the plant keeps time with the generator so that when the batteries are full the engine is automatically stopped.

In addition to furnishing light and pumping water we were told this plant would furnish power to operate a milking machine, churn the butter, wash the clothes, run the sewing machine, vacuum cleaner, in fact any small piece of machinery around the farm. In this way it actually can be made to do a good many of your chores.

After inspecting the modern heating plant, Mr. Tritch took us into his cave, which is made of brick and is about fifteen feet under ground. Needless to say it was electric-lighted and when we gazed around at the bins of potatoes, apples, cabbage and other supplies, together with the hundreds of jars of good things to eat, earned during the summer, we could only remark surely the farmer has us town folks bested in every way.

Mr. Tritch showed us through his barn, which is about 100 yards from the house, also lit up by electricity. We then inspected some elegant red hogs, with short noses and straight tails, housed in a modern sun-lighted hog house. Also looked at some very fine seed corn for next year's planting.

Driving back to town we mentally compared the farm of the past with the up-to-date present farm we had just left. Where the house-wife may equip herself with all sorts of electrical equipment which can be attached to any electric-light socket, all sorts of utensils for toasting bread, making coffee, she can sweep with an electric vacuum cleaner, iron with an electric iron, on hot days an electric fan will keep a cool breeze circulating through her house, a motor can be attached to cream separator, churn, washing machine, etc., and relieve her of much dreary, back-breaking work.

Conveniences on the farm? No town house can beat that and the farm house wife no longer need envy the luxuries of her town friends. The city woman visiting in the country finds comfort and luxury, all the conveniences to which she is accustomed to at home, in addition to those provided by nature.

The children in the modern country home do not seek to escape it,—they are proud of it, for they know there are none better.

We almost forgot to mention the name of the plant Mr. Tritch is so proud of, it is called "Deleo-Light" and is made by the Domestic Engineering Co., Dayton, O., and sold by Isy Rosenthal, 538 So. 25th Avenue, Omaha, Neb.
