HUGE ATTACK AIDS IN RESCUE OF ROUMANIA

London, Dec. 3.—Russian and Roumanian armies are striking terrific blows at the German allies in an effort to check the invasion of Roumania. They are engaged in a great offensive along the whole of the line from the southern Carpathians to the Black sea and have made gains at several points.

Petrograd reports that in the Carpathians and on the Transylvania frontier the Russians are slowly pushing ahead in the face of bitter opposition. In southeast Roumania, Russians have captured the western end of the great Carnavoda bridge. In Dobruja the invaders were forced to give ground.

The Roumanians before Bucharest, reinforced by Russians, have driven the enemy from the villages of Komona and Gostinari to the south of the capital. The official statement issued in Petrograd today asserted that all enemy attacks had been repelled in the fighting south of the capital. The statement admitted, however, that the defenders to the west of the capital had been driven back to the Arges river.

The flanking movement directed by the Russians at the Jablonitz pass in southwest Bukowina is the most serious menace to German positions in Roumania.

Surrender of the Austro-German forces at Kirslibaba would not be surprising in view of the Russian claims of domination of this important strategic position and railroad center through control of the heights about it.

Berlin (Via Sayville Wireless) Dec. 3.—Fighting between Teutonic and Russian and Roumanian forces in the Carpathians and on the Transylvania frontier is still in progress, with the enemy suffering heavy losses, the war office announced today.

On Field Marshal von Mackensen's front a big battle has developed. The great Roumanian army, which offered an engagement southeast of Pietsi, has been broken through and defeated, the statement declared.

"Russian and Roumanian attacks in the forest of the Carpathians and along the Transylvania frontier mountains continue," the report continued. "Yesterday's attacks were especially directed against our positions on Bahadovca, Gueraruca and east of Dornavatra and Trotsu, and also in the Oytos valleys. The attacks were without success. The enemy suffered heavy losses.

The German troops at one place in their advance in the forest of the Carpathians made more than a thousand prisoners.

"Engagements around Halsech have developed into a large battle. The army wing which left the mountains southeast of Campulung gained ground by fighting in the forests and mountains on both sides of the Dam-mobita sector.

ARRESTED IN TRYING TO REACH WILSON AT BANQUET

New York, Dec. 3.—A man giving the name of Jacob Aeks, 29, who said he was an Austrian by birth, but had lived in this country for eighteen years, was arrested at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel Saturday night when he tried to make his way into the banquet hall where President Wilson was dining. The man insisted he had a "letter to deliver to the president."

The arrest was made by Lieutenant Ragan and another officer assigned to duty outside the hall. The president and none of the diners knew of the incident.

Aeks appeared first about 9:30. He was turned away, but returned and told those at the doors that he must see the president. Questioned closer he said he had a letter he wanted to give him, and finally started such a disturbance that he was quickly arrested and taken down a back stairway to avoid attracting any attention.

He was taken to the second branch detective bureau, where he was questioned after midnight. He said he was a manufacturer and gave his home as 610 East 140th street.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR MEETING

The Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church enjoyed a very interesting meeting last evening at the church parlors and one that was quite largely attended by the membership. The meeting was led by Miss Eda Marquardt and the topic for the discussion was that of "The consecration of Business Life" which was participated in by a number of the members with interesting remarks in keeping with the topic. During the services a quartet composed of Miss Marquardt, Mrs. H. G. McClusky, L. O. Minor and Rev. McClusky, gave a selection that added greatly to the interest of the meeting. These evening meetings are growing in favor with the young people and the attendance is constantly growing as the interest increases. Topics of interest along the lines of christian teaching and inspiration are given each Sunday evening and always brings out many helpful thoughts along the lines of uplift.
