

SHARP ASSAULT MADE ON LABORATORY MEASURE

Measure Removing State Bacteriologists to Omaha Up to Third Reading.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 14.—Removal of the state bacteriological laboratory from the state house to the medical college at Omaha is provided for in the Hoffmeister bill, which weathered a rather sharp assault in the lower house today, and was sent ahead to third reading.

An amendment providing that the bacteriologist shall be named for four years was tacked onto the measure by the committee and that as well as the balance of the measure received the approval of the house.

Fuller, Ollis, Greenwalt, Dafeo and Taylor all declared themselves against a separation of the bacteriological laboratory from the state health department at the capitol. It was stated by Fuller that the food commission calls on the laboratory for assistance nearly every day, which it could not do, of course, if they were not both located at the same place.

"You might just as well put the board of control and the railway commission under the university regents as this laboratory," said Greenwalt.

"The regents are willing to take over the supervision of the laboratory if that is what the legislature wants," interjected Mr. Peterson, "but if this is done don't charge it up to education because the work done therein is health department work and not educational work."

Criticism of the bacteriologist for failure to make examinations requested of him by physicians over the state were voiced by Messrs. Trumble, Stearns and other. In explanation of this, Mr. Rieschick said the bacteriologist, Dr. Wild had more than he could do.

Mr. Hoffmeister, one of the bill's sponsors, said Dr. Wild would be retained in his present position after the removal.

The Neilsen bill limiting banks of the state to payment of 4 per cent interest on time deposits, this, of course, applying only to state banks, is arousing much interest. National bankers have been interested, too, and were somewhat at sea as to what effect such a law might have on their business.

The author of the measure had the matter taken up with the United States treasury department. A letter from Deputy Comptroller Kans indicates that if the present legislature passes the measure, in his judgment "national banks would be amenable to such a measure."

In his letter he says:

"In reply to your letter of January 30, you are advised that the federal law provides that any national bank may take, receive, reserve and charge on any loan or discount made, or upon any note, bill of exchange or other evidence of debt, interest at the rate allowed by the laws of the state wherein the bank is located, and no more, and that when no rate is fixed by the law of the state the bank may take, receive, reserve or charge a rate not exceeding 7 per cent, and such interest may be taken in advance reckoning the days for which the note, bill or other evidence or debt has to run."

"As you are doubtless aware, there is no limitation placed by law upon national banks in regard to interest rates paid on deposits. The payment of high rates of interest, however, is very objectionable and is discouraged in every possible way. In case the legislature of Nebraska should pass a law limiting the payment of interest by any and all banks or other corporations, trust companies or individuals receiving moneys on deposit, to 4 per cent, it is believed that national banks would be amenable to efforts to correct this abusive practice."

Hutual building and loan associations were either "poor man's friend" or unscrupulous loan sharks, according to the side of the fence the speaker was on, in the senate committee of the whole today.

The bill under discussion was by Adams of Dawes, allowing actions against such loan associations to be adjudicated in the county in which cause of action arises.

The author maintained that associations violated contracts, knowing that poor people out in the state did not have means to come to other counties and prosecute. Senator Oberlies asked that the bill be referred back to the committee, so that companies could be given a hearing.

Objection was raised and Oberlies' motion was lost. Senator McMullen, after explaining the good that local associations were doing in lending the poor man money, introduced an amendment to make the law apply to foreign corporations. It was lost. The bill was finally passed to third reading. The judiciary committee reported favorably on a resolution to allow the Commonwealth Power Co. to bring an action against the state to recover $2,300 filing fees on power sites which were never used.

COUNTY CONVENTION OF THE MODERN WOODMEN

The county convention of the Modern Woodmen of America will be held in this city on Wednesday, April 4th, at the M. W. A. hall, according to arrangements now being made and Cass Camp No. 332 of this city will act as the host for the visiting delegates and woodmen who may be attending the meeting. The coming convention will be far from as exciting as that of two years ago when the order was in the tumult of rate adjustment, and will be a harmonious gathering in every way. The M. W. A. has a very large membership throughout the county and the attendance from the different camps is always quite large at meetings of the county camp. The county camp will select delegates to the state camp who will in turn pick the Nebraska delegates to the head camp.

Last evening the members of Cass Camp met to select the delegates and alternates to the county convention and the following were selected: Delegates, Dr. E. W. Cook, F. J. Libershal, John Hallstrom, H. F. Goos, A. J. Beeson, John Ledgway, Percy Field, H. S. Barthold, John Cory, G. W. Fahlson, A. F. Braun, J. E. Schutz, Frank Sebaska, Jr., William Hassler, Fred Wagner. Alternates: George Luschinsky, F. H. Smith, Don York, F. A. Fricke, George Gobelmann, Thomas Skoda, A. J. Snyder, F. A. Cloidt, H. A. Schneider, C. W. Kunnsmann, H. M. Wilcox, B. A. McElwain, Mike Hild, George Farley, Lewis A. Lee.

THE LARD IS FOUND BUT THE THIEF IS A MYSTERY

Chief of Police Barclay for the last two days has been busily engaged in trying to ferret out the mysterious finding of several hundred pounds of lard hidden just north of the Missouri Pacific stock yards and a short distance from the depot. The first known of the fact of the lard being hidden was when a man giving the name of Folich appeared at the Johnson & Gartleman meat market and offered to sell them the lard at the price of 12 1/2 cents a pound, when the prevailing market price is 18 cents a pound. This aroused the suspicion of the proprietors of the meat market and the chief of police was informed of the matter, but in the meantime the man had succeeded in disposing of the lard to John Cory at the Perkins hotel and had received a check for the same. The man was located by Mr. Barclay and examined, but denied all knowledge of stealing the lard, stating that two men in Omaha had told him of where the lard had been hidden and he had then come on down to this city to try and dispose of it as the men told him it was their property and that it was perfectly all right for him to dispose of it. This morning a special agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad came down to look into the matter as the company has had several cars robbed of late. So far there has been no complaint filed against the man selling the lard.

THINK GERMANY IS INCITING MEXICAN-CUBAN ROW

Washington Officials Believe Kaiser Is Aiding Rebellion and Raids.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—German influence was seen today in Cuban and Mexican troubles, officials declared.

Officials think it more than likely that Germany is stirring up trouble there to keep the United States engaged in nearer home affairs so she would pay less attention to German acts on the ocean.

Evidently German pressure on General Carranza has already had the effect of forcing British consideration of landing troops at Tampico to protect the oil wells supplying England's big navy, according to intimations in diplomatic quarters.

As for Cuba, the situation may become such that American interference will be necessary, though as the revolt there stands now, intervention is not yet required.

Border activities, with unofficial reports of killing of three Americans, accentuate the Mexican problem. The war department is keeping an extra careful watch on the boundary for fear trouble involving the United States will again break out.

It was recalled today that a German embassy agent was in almost constant touch with the American-Mexican peace commission when it sat at Atlantic City.

It is known, too, that some of General Carranza's followers have felt that German and Japanese support was with the constitutionalists.

While cabinet members have expressed doubt that Great Britain will land troops to protect British oil interests at Tampico, it is more than a certainty that England will not look idly on, if Carranza carries out any plan of stopping her oil supplies.

In these circumstances, it will be up to the United States to take a hand, or else England will undoubtedly do the task herself. The possibility of such foreign interference in the new world constitutes a source of perplexity here.

There can be no mistaking that government officials here feel that Germany is behind General Carranza's recent anti-ally activity, and while they do not take his embargo suggestion seriously, they fear for what he might stir up in favor of Germany and against both the United States and the allies.

DOINGS IN THE DISTRICT COURT YESTERDAY

The case of the Charles E. Waters Co. of Council Bluffs, Ia., against George E. Dovey, which was on trial in the district court yesterday, was given to the jury shortly after 7 o'clock last night and the members of the jury retired to deliberate on the facts in the case, returning shortly before 11 o'clock with a verdict in favor of Mr. Dovey.

This morning the case of the Sovereign camp of the Woodmen of the World against Eliza Beverage, et al. was called for trial in the district court. This case is one in which the Woodmen of the World is seeking to establish the rights of the heirs of the late George W. Beverage to the insurance policy carried by the deceased with the order. The amount of the policy has been paid over to the clerk of the court by the head camp of the Woodmen of the World, and will be turned over to the parties who are found to be the heirs under the policy of the deceased. The payment of the policy has been contested by one of the children of the deceased, and the Woodmen seek to establish the rights of heirship in order that they may be able to pay the policy over to the ones that the courts determine are justly entitled to the insurance money.
