THOUGHT FOR TODAY

There are things we must try to attain, yet it is not really the attainment that matters the seeking.—Gilbert Murray.

Stand by the president!

How about that garden?

Eggs and chickens both going up.

Easter eggs are bound to be high.

Plant plenty of potatoes and beans.

We told you not to be in a hurry about taking 'em off.

Keep right on smiling. It won't hurt you if you mean it that way.

The country needs men who can keep their feet on the ground while the band plays.

The world is filled with honest men, who, perhaps, never had a chance of being anything else.

Unless there is something in it for him, a man's interest in your proposition is purely functionary.

The tailors are the fellows that are great believers in the saying, that "it's never too late to mend."

Craze for backyard farms will lead many persons to learn with surprise that potatoes don't grow on trees.

Tom Smith, former warden of the state penitentiary, was elected mayor of York last Tuesday. He is a democrat.

There are fifty editors in the new congress, so hereafter there ought to be a little push in the Congressional Record.

Some people have so much money that their relatives suspect they are not capable of attending to their own business.

It has come to the point where haberdashers seem to believe men and women will wear any kind of a hat—and cheer do.

Oh, Lord! We are to be bothered and harassed by another week of the legislature. Adjourn and go home, where maybe you can do some good.

Jewelers in the eastern cities are displaying in their shop windows necklaces made out of potatoes, and they attract more attention than the display of diamonds. A string of navy beans would no doubt set the ladies wild with intense admiration.

There seems to be some uneasiness felt regarding the disposition of the prohibition law, or, as to whether the legislature will make any disposition of it or not. Something should be done with it, and in short order.

Billy Bryan is not spouting off so much these days. The people are not so confident that Billy is doing the right thing. They used to have great faith in the former citizen of Nebraska, but it would seem that he has run his race, publicly speaking, the same as his brother Charles has.

Senator Norris has made himself ridiculous in the eyes of the people of Nebraska, and should resign. He should not await any further ceremony. His most intimate friends in the west part of the state are calling upon him to step down and out. They should do the same by Bill Stone in Missouri, also.

Greens will be plenty.

The Dandelion crop promises good.

Carpenters are busy.

Plattsmouth should boom this season.

We are for the Stars and Stripes and Liberty.

Bread sometimes wins a war much quicker than bullets.

Job, with all his boils, had nothing on Uncle Sam for patience.

The man who keeps his bearings well oiled seldom gets a hot box.

Meet trouble like a man, and cheerfully endure what you can't cure.

The new federal bank at Omaha is already overwhelmed with business.

In some sections of Nebraska the wheat crop is said to be pretty fair.

It is said that every cloud has a silver lining. But how about the war cloud?

Thus this nation has seen that an eloquent tongue and a cowardly heart can go together.

A half-million postmasters, letter-carriers and field agents for various federal departments have been set on the trail of spies or conspirators against the United States, under government orders. These are in addition to the multitude of municipal police and detectives who are being organized into a single machine to gather information on agents of foreign governments.

Down south organized labor is at last going after the things that are most essential for the betterment of the laboring class. The South Carolina federation of labor has declared for state-wide compulsory attendance at school and the lengthening of the minimum school term to seven months; for forbidding the employment of children under 16 in textile industries, and for increasing the fine for violation of child-labor laws to $50; for forbidding the employment of women for more than ten hours a day or sixty a week, or after 10 at night, and raising the fine for violations of this act to $50; also, for increasing the number of factory inspectors; and for a state bureau of labor.

If you contemplate making garden get wise to the fact that the hotbed and the cold frame are the gardener's greatest aids in raising earlier crops. The hotbed enables him to plant seed and produce seedlings long before the seed planted out of doors has begun to germinate. The cold frame enables him to get the seedlings produced in the hothouse gradually accustomed to outdoor conditions and to raise these into strong, sturdy planting stock by the time the garden is ready for them. The cold frame is used in hardening the plants that have been started in the hotbed or in mild climates for starting plants before the seeds can be safely planted in the open. Resetting plants from a hotbed into the cold frame gives them a better root system and makes them stockier and more valuable for transplanting in the open ground.

Some Good Advice.

"Don't think too much of your own methods. Watch other people's ways and learn from them." This is good advice, especially when bilious or constipated. You will find many people who use Chamberlain's Tablets for these ailments with the best results, and will do well to follow their example.

HISTORIC REMARKS IN SENATE.

"We are about to do the bidding of wealth's mandate," said Senator Norris in his attack on the war resolution. "I feel that we are about to put the dollar sign upon the American flag."

"Would the senator regard it as a reflection if I were to say that he is trying to put the kaiser's picture on the flag," interrupted Senator James, who also declared that Norris' words "grazed the edge of treason."

"There is no other way except by war to save these things, the nation's honor and integrity, without which national existence is a mockery and a sham," said Senator Lodge.

"Which would you rather do, fight Germany now with France and Great Britain and Russia, or fight her alone later?" asked Senator Williams in an arraignment of Senator La Follette.

"I tell you if Germany does win the fight on the continent of Europe she will begin building and getting ready to whip us unless the English fleet prevents it."

"We alone of all nations will spend our treasure and sacrifice our lives without the possibility of material gain," said Senator Hitchcock in his remarks on the introduction of the war resolution.

"We are going to war to vindicate our honor and our independence as a great nation. We are going to war, as the president has stated, in defense of humanity. Such quarrel as we have with Germany was not of our making. We did much to avoid it."

SHOW THE COLORS.

Nebraska City and Otoe county is loyal and patriotic to the core, but it isn't advertising that fact through such display of the colors as there should be. Numerous business houses and institutions are abreast of the demand, but there is not such a showing as there should be, especially in the residence districts.

It is time for our people to give a visible expression of their patriotism. The town from now on should blossom with the national colors. We are practically at war with a foreign foe. There is, therefore, no reason why we should any longer conceal our feelings, or fail to blazon them to the world. The flag for all that we hold dear, for all that is challenged by the Prussian autocracy. It is the symbol of that liberty that has been so impudently challenged by the Berlin despotism. We are standing today, as we ever have stood, for the rights of man, and the dignity of humanity. By all means let us say so. And we can't say it more dramatically and patriotically than by flying to the breeze the banner of liberty.—Nebraska City News.

Money in Eggs.

Eggs are not bankable but the money from their sale is. This money is yours for the effort. How do you treat the hen that lays the Golden Eggs? Dr. B. A. Thomas' Poultry Remedy will keep the poultry in good condition and increase the yield in eggs. We guarantee this and refund your money if not satisfied.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved.

"I have used Chamberlain's Liment for pains in the chest and lameness of the shoulders due to rheumatism, and am pleased to say that it has never failed to give me prompt relief," writes Mrs. S. N. Finch, Batavia, N. Y.

Milk in Winter.

Why do your cows give less milk in winter than they do in summer? Just because nature does not supply them with grasses and green food. But we have come to the assistance of Dame Nature with B. A. Thomas' Stock Remedy which contains the very ingredients that the green feed supplies in season, only, of course, in a more highly concentrated form. We guarantee that this remedy will make your cows give more milk, and better milk with the same feed.

NICHOLAS IN TEARS.

That is a pathetic picture the Associated Press correspondent draws of the former emperor of Russia in his confinement at Tsarskoe-Selo. Describing the daily life of his charge, the commander of the guard said:

"The former emperor is not under detention, but in all respects is a prisoner and he is treated accordingly. He is in good health and fairly good spirits. When he is with his own entourage he has fits of crying."

Poor Nicholas Romanoff! How different the figure he makes from that of the gloomy old captive eagle of St. Helena a century ago! One cannot fancy the exiled and ruined Napoleon weeping in the presence of his family. Still one scarce expects Napoleonic fortitude in the fallen czar who never exhibited Napoleonic strength or anything like it when strength was the greatest need of his whole life.

This is not, however, by any means the first time that Russian soil has been moistened with tears. Nicholas Romanoff will never live long enough to compensate for a millionth part of the tears that Russian despots have forced to the eyes of their oppressed people.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WINTER-KILLED WHEAT.

Farmers in the southwestern part of Nebraska report many fields of winter wheat that have been winter-killed. This has caused the grain men of this state to rush car loads of seed wheat into Nebraska that the farmers may plow up their fields and sow spring wheat.

But the question now arises whether or not the farmers should plow up their wheat fields. Some say yes. Others say no. We say, use your own judgment.

But specialists from the United States department of agriculture hand out information to the effect that if the crop is not more than half killed, it may be advisable to let it grow and depend upon natural stooling or tillering of the remaining plants to produce a crop. Even fields in which a majority of the plants have been killed may give a profitable yield. In other fields the stand may be so thin that it is not advisable to depend upon the few surviving plants for a crop, while in still other cases all the plants may be killed. The question is then whether or not to sow spring wheat either with or without plowing. If the farmer is in a locality where he knows spring wheat is sometimes grown and he can get good seed of an adapted variety, it may be well for him to sow this. The seed can be sown sometimes in the winter wheat field without plowing, thus adding to the plants of winter wheat that remain. However, if the winter wheat is almost entirely killed, the land should be at least disked, or perhaps plowed before seeding.

It is also recommended that where winter wheat is killed and spring wheat seeding is not advisable, corn would be the best crop to be planted. It would seem that the potato would also prove a gold-getter.—Hastings Tribune.

Constipation and Indigestion.

These are twin evils. Persons suffering from indigestion are often troubled with constipation. Mrs. Robert Allison, Mattoon, Ill., writes that when she first moved to Mattoon she was a great sufferer from indigestion and constipation. Food distressed her and there was a feeling like a heavy weight pressing on her stomach and chest. She did not rest well at night, and felt worn out a good part of the time. One bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets corrected this trouble so that she has since felt like a different person.

WILL SPEND EASTER HERE.

A most unique Easter dinner will be held at the home of Mrs. Jacob Valley tomorrow, Easter Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. George Valley will arrive in this city tomorrow morning in their private car, and will bring the Easter dinner all prepared. This will no doubt be most enjoyable to the immediate family and especially to Mrs. Valley.

A VERY DISAGREEABLE DAY

One of the most disagreeable days of the spring season visited this locality today in a combination of snow, rain and sleet that kept the conditions very difficult to get around in. The weather had a tendency to keep the usually large crowd of farmers and their families from coming in to do the weed-end shopping, while the town people to a large extent kept very closely to their homes unless compelled to get out and fade the storm.

ANOTHER NEW TOWN

DEAVER, WYOMING

IN THE BIG HORN BASIN

Deaver is the new town for the 20,000 acres of the Government's irrigated lands in the Basin on the Burlington's main line just east of the model irrigated locality about Powell, Wyo. Deaver will be the trading center for over 300 farms and will prosper from the start. It offers business chances that are common to any new and growing town. The first unit of 12,000 acres of Government irrigated free homestead land will probably be offered July 1st.—20 year payment plan, no interest for water rights.

Place your name and address through my office, on file with the Government Reclamation Service in the Basin so you may be currently informed about the granting of these valuable farms and be given the opportunity to secure one of them.
