U. S. NOW READY TO BUILD FORCE OF 2,000,000 MEN

Ten Days After Bill is Signed Township Clerks Will Begin Registry.

Sites for Camps and Arrangements For Troops Are Decided Upon.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—With enactment of the selective draft bill apparently assured, the war department is preparing to set machinery in motion without delay to produce under the measure within two years a trained army of 2,000,000 men.

Within ten days after the bill is signed, every township in the country will begin registering its young men for duty, and work will have begun on the sixteen training cantonments or camps where preparation of the forces for war will start in August or September. Sites for the contonments have been selected tentatively, and all arrangements made for the concentration of the troops assigned to each.

Decentralization of administrative work will be sought by the department in every move it makes. Details will not be disclosed until the bill has passed, but it is known that registration will be carried on through sheriffs and other county officials, aided by postmasters or other federal agencies where that seems desirable. Instructions and forms already have been prepared and will be forwarded to the state adjutant-generals for distribution among county officials.

No Excuse for Slackers.

Wide publicity is planned, so that no man liable for registration will have a good excuse for failing to respond. On a date to be set every citizen affected by the act will be required on pain of heavy penalty to present himself at the nearest registration place, where machinery will be provided for classifying the recruits and eliminating those exempt. Doubtful cases will be referred to higher authority.

When the rolls of those liable for service is complete, the task of selecting the men to go in the first increment of 500,000 will begin. It has been suggested that this be done by means of the county jury wheel. The first man whose name is drawn would go, and that plan, with the first 500,000 men to be called out for training within a few months. The second drawn would go with the second increment, to be called six months later; the third with the third increment, with duty a year off, and so on.

Regulars Are Nucleus.

Meanwhile the work of building the cantonments will go forward. Regular troops and national guardsmen will be assigned to them with each arm of the service so represented as to provide the framework of a complete army division at each point.

The guardsmen will be selected from the territory covered by the training district so far as practicable. Police duty at the cantonments will become part of the responsibility of each district commandant, and he will make such assignment of his forces as he may deem wise. Meantime, both regulars and guardsmen will continue recruiting to war strength.

Starts Rigorous Training.

With the new regiments assembled, a rigorous course of training will be undertaken. The officers' training camps to be established within a few days in each district will begin at the end of three months pouring new officers into this organization and the enlisted men selected from the ranks of the regulars for commissions will be given special instructions to fit them for officers.

Until the army of young men presents itself at the camps in August or September the regulars and guardsmen also will pursue a vigorous course of training.

The plans call for the transfer to the first 500,000 men obtained by draft of from 150,000 to 200,000 noncommissioned officers trained in the regular and national guard regiments. It is here that the opportunity lies for men who volunteer now as enlisted men in the ranks of the two services.

On them war department officials, even to a greater extent than upon the commissioned officers, will depend the efficiency of the new armies. The backbone of any military organization is its noncommissioned force, and in the months that precede the calling out of the first 500,000 officers of the general staff hope there will be found in the ranks of the regulars and guardsmen such a supply of men competent for these positions that the future o fthe later armies will be assured beyond doubt.

NEW POINTS CARRIED BY BRITISH

And Germans Fail to Dislodge Haig's Hosts From Heights on Arras Front.

French Gain Some Ground—Turks Retreat Further in Mesopotamia.

Desperate efforts of the Germans to drive the British from the captured heights on the Arras front have failed after four days of the bitterest fighting that the world has seen since the bloody days of Verdun.

Military critics expect the attacks will be renewed if the German manpower can stand the awful drain as the retention of General Haig of the hills crowning the plain of Doual spells almost certain doom to the Wotan lines, the last protecting barrier between Doual and Cambrai.

In the fighting important positions between Roeux and Gavrelle and others near the Arras-Cambrai road have been captured by the British, the war office announces.

The French have captured several trenches on the heights around Mononvilliers and have also gained ground near Hurtebise and Cerny, the war office announces. One hundred and thirty cannon have been captured since April 16.

A further retirement of the Turks in Mesopotamia for a considerable distance north of Samara, recently captured by the British, is reported by General Maude. The Thirteenth Turkish corps is entrenching in the foothills of the Jobel Hamrin range between the Tigris and the Diala, where the British are in touch with it.

Hindenburg Fooled.

Paris, April 27.—Under the caption, "Why We Attacked," a writer in the Matin points out that before the present forward movement began, the German plan undoubtedly was to escape from the grasp of the allies. He continues:

"To frustrate this plan the French and British widened the front of their attack so as to overlap the front on which the Germans were retreating. The result was that the enemy found both his wings involved. He decided to fight on the first line and the French plan was altered to suit.

"The result of the first and second days' fighting was that the Germans lost fully 100,000 men and what was more important, were obliged to engage thirty-three out of their forty-three reserve divisions. The dearly bought but valuable operations are thus:

"First, the enemy was prevented from carrying out his own plan, thus disposing of the famous Hindenburg scheme which was to be followed on the conclusion of the retreat from Noyon; second, the enemy was obliged to order his troops to hold out on the first line, but the whole line has been captured, a tactful success to which must be added heavy losses in men, material and guns."

WOULD COW THE STRIKERS WITH TERROR

Hollweg Advises German States to Adopt Policy of Ruthlessness Toward Them.

Hunger and War Weariness Continue to Work Ferment in German Masses.

Amsterdam—(Via London)—April 27.—Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg has addressed a letter to the governments of the different German states denouncing the recent strikes.

He urges the authorities to punish strikers and strike agitators as severely as possible.

Copenhagen, April 27.—(Via London)—German newspapers today indicate widespread apprehension of a possible May day strike.

A proclamation from Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, addressed formally to the federal states, but really to labor, contains both appeal and a stern warning against further interference with the munitions work.

A manifesto from the four big miners' unions warns their members against reckless and regretable action because of unsatisfactory food conditions. "Don't permit yourselves in these grave times to be dragged into rioting and strike," is the key sentence of the manifesto, showing that not merely an orderly demonstrative walkout, but actual violence is feared in the great mining and manufacturing districts of Westfalen and Silisca.

Finally, there is another official announcement that a great combing out of the war industries is necessary to secure men for the army. This gives the government any needed justification for sending to the front munition workers who yield to temptation.

American Business Man's View.

All in all, a strong ferment is evident among the laboring masses, cursed by food conditions and the extreme cost of living and weariness of war. This view is confirmed by an American business man, who has just succeeded in leaving Germany and who, though ignorant of the indications given by the German newspapers of yesterday and today, told the Associated Press correspondent that Berlin was still seething with strike feeling and that the impression was widespread that there will be another strike outbreak on May day.

Persons here familiar with conditions in Germany, however, express the belief that the German authorities will be able to cope with the situation.

Socialists Refuse to Sign.

General von Stein, German minister of war, admitted before the reichstag military affairs committee yesterday that field post letters from soldiers at the front showed a certain amount of discouragement, but that in general the spirit of the troops was good.

The committee then sent assurances of solid support to the army which the radical socialist members of the committee alone refused to sign. The committee rejected a radical socialist proposal to establish a committee of parliamentary control to supervise the conduct of the war. Herr Stueckelein, a socialist, complained that men were sent to the front as a punishment.

The Celebrated Stallion

ULYSSE, 6605

Will make the season of 1917 at my home, three and a half miles west and one mile south of Murray. Ulysse is an extra good Belgian draft horse, weighing 2200 pounds, a beautiful dark bay in color, age seven years. Ulysse is well known in this section of Cass County, and has the reputation of being an excellent foal getter.

Terms—$15.00 to insure colt to stand and suck. When parties dispose of mares or remove them from this part of the county service fee becomes due and payable immediately. All care will be taken to prevent accidents, but owner of horse will not be held responsible should any occur.

E. M. AVERY, REPRESENTING THE LYCEUM ASSOCIATION, IN THE CITY

From Saturday's Daily.

Yesterday afternoon E. M. Avery, of Lincoln, representing the lyceum association that is to furnish the attractions for the coming chautauqua to be held in this city, came down to look over the field and prepare the preliminary plans for the handling of the different attractions. The forthcoming series of entertainments will be held in this city during the week of June 28th, and will offer to the people of Plattsmouth an opportunity of enjoying some of the best and most pleasing attractions that can be secured in an entertainment of this nature. The committee in charge of the handling of the chautauqua will get busy at once in perfecting the preliminary plans and to start the ball rolling for the successful handling of the entertainment that will be one of the best ever held in Cass county. The program as printed in the Journal some time ago will be carried out in its entirety and on it can be found some of the most pleasing musical organizations on the road today, as well as some of the leading lecturers and entertainers and public speakers. Wherever these kind of entertainments have once been held there is seldom any question about repeating them, as they represent the very highest type of public entertaining and high-class people are secured to handle the different features. Plattsmouth has never held a chautauqua, although others of the nearby towns have found them very successful and pleasing, but this year they will have one that will be a winner in every way and one that will make the people wonder how they came to do without a feature of this kind during the years past.

CHICAGO AVENUE PAVING BIG STEP FORWARD

From Saturday's Daily.

The definite action of the city council upon the petition of the residents along Chicago avenue to have that thoroughfare paved during the coming season is something that means a great deal to the city and its people and marks another long step in the way of improvement to the city streets. This avenue is one of the principal streets of the city and the main entrance through which the trade from the south and west comes in, as a rule, and its paving to almost the city limits means that in the future the farmers will have no kick on the city over the condition of the street. It will complete a line of pavement on both avenues of almost two miles and it is work that is going to last through several generations as a monument to the spirit of progress shown by the people of Plattsmouth. The success of the paving on Washington avenue has shown just what a great difference can be made in the appearance of a street when it is paved and made fit for travel in all kinds of weather. The cost falls heavily at first, but in the end the cost is more than repaid in the conveniences that the paving brings and the increasing value it gives to property situated along the sections paved.

The pavement on Chicago avenue will commence from the ending of the present paving on Pearl street and extend south to Holdrege street, a block south of the Louisville road, and this will furnish the city with one of the most pleasing drives that it would be possible to find in any city, and over the best of roadways. The plans and specifications will be prepared at once and as soon as possible the work of putting in the paving will be commenced.
