GOVERNOR NEVILLE ISSUES MOTHERS' DAY PROCLAMATION

Lincoln, Neb., May 2.—Governor Neville today issued a proclamation setting aside May 13 as the date for Nebraska to observe its Mothers' day. The proclamation follows:

"There are certain words in the language of all nations that have a peculiar charm. The words 'home' and 'mother' are especially dear to every heart. There may be here and there a mother who will forget her child, but they are exceedingly rare. Our mothers love us with an unflinching devotion there is no sacrifice that a mother will refuse to make for our safety and comfort. She watched over our cradle in infancy, directed our footsteps during the days of our youth, and in manhood and womanhood she has been the first to smooth out the wrinkles of care, to bind up our hearts when broken and surfeited with grief, and pour on the oil of consolation.

"All through the history of the past she has been last at the cross and first at the sepulcher. She not only loves her offspring, but loves her country, always ready to offer herself for both. This is strikingly evidenced in the troublous times that now confront us as a nation. From every standpoint of duty and affection we are compelled to acknowledge the value of our mothers, and I feel that we are glad there has been by custom a day in the year set apart in which we may especially show our loyalty to her.

"Therefore, as governor of the state of Nebraska, I, Keith Neville, take pleasure in naming Sunday, May 13, when we all may, by wearing a flower or other appropriate badge, do honor to our best and purest earthly friend."

TO ATTEND OFFICERS' SCHOOL OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY

Among the Nebraska boys who have been selected to attend the school for officers of the United States army that is to be conducted at Fort Snelling, Minn., during the summer, is Samuel C. Windham, son of Hon. R. B. Windham of this city. Mr. Windham has had some experience in this line of work, as he was at West Point for some time, until ill health compelled him to give up, and he will be in a position to advance very rapidly at the officers' school. It is expected that the school will be opened the coming week and the work of training the special officers for service will be commenced at once. There has been several hundred applications for places in the school and those who are chosen feel very well pleased.

FUNERAL OF MISS ANNA CATHERINE SCHROEDER WEDNESDAY

The funeral of Miss Anna Catherine Schroeder was held yesterday afternoon from the Glendale church, near Cedar Creek, and the services were attended by a large number of the childhood friends of the deceased young lady, whose death had come so suddenly. The services were in charge of Rev. J. H. Steger, pastor of the German St. Paul's church of this city, and the pastor spoke to the bereaved family and friends the message of comfort that the Savior had brought to the world and through whom mankind has their hope of the future life everlasting. The burial was in the Glendale cemetery, near the old home of the departed.

Anna Catherine Schroeder was born February 26, 1900, near Bellevue, Neb., and when a child of tender years came with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Schroeder, to Cedar Creek, where the family has since made their home. The departed lady was one who was greatly beloved by all those having the pleasure of knowing her and her death cast profound grief over the community where she had, made her home. Miss Schroeder was ill only about a week, suffering from a severe case of appendicitis, and gradually grew worse until death brought her relief from her sufferings on Monday morning, April 30th. To the family who have lost their loved one the deepest sympathy of the community will be extended in this, life's darkest hour of grief, and they will bear with them the gentle memory of one who had spent her years upon the earth in devotion to the Christian life and to those she held dear.

ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF MRS. JESSE WARGA

Mrs. Joseph Warga, sr., entertained a few lady friends at a charming 1 o'clock luncheon yesterday, at her cozy home on West Main street. The occasion was in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Jesse Warga, and a few of her friends had been invited to assist her in celebrating the happy event in the proper manner. Covers were laid for six. At the appointed hour the hostess served an elegant luncheon, the table being filled with many good things to eat, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the guests. At the guest-of-honor place at the table was to be found a number of packages containing beautiful birthday remembrances, which denoted the high esteem in which she is held by her friends and which will assist her in remembering this delightful entertainment. The afternoon hours were very pleasantly whiled away in social conversation, interspersed with various amusements. As the evening hour drew near the guests expressed their warmest thanks to the hostess for her kind hospitality and splendid afternoon's entertainment afforded them, and then dispersed, wishing Mrs. Jesse Warga many more such happy birthdays.

TWO MORE PLATTS- MOUTH BOYS WILL SERVE IN THE NAVY

The spirit of patriotism among the young men of this community is still increasing, as was demonstrated this morning when two more of the young men of this city departed to take up their work in the navy. Mike Hula and Frank Ptacek were the young men who decided that they desired a part in the defense of their native land against a foreign aggressor, and accordingly entered their names at the naval recruiting office in Omaha for service. Mr. Hula enlisted two weeks ago and has been awaiting orders to go to the front, while Frank Ptacek is entering the service today, with the hope that he may be allowed to accompany his comrade to the sea-coast and be assigned to one of the nation's fighting craft. This brings the list of those joining the navy from this city up to twelve, including Clyde Kaufman, James Persinger, J. E. Brown, Cyril Janda, Harry Wilson, Charles Dovey, George Rennie, Glen Neill, Ben Windham, Joe Smetena, Mike Hula and Frank Ptacek.

MORE LITIGATION ON THE WASHINGTON AVENUE PAVING

The Washington avenue paving litigation between the residents along that thoroughfare and Elm street and the city of Plattsmouth has again appeared in the line light. An appeal from the action of the city council, sitting as a board of equalization, has been filed in the district court by Attorneys D. O. Dwyer and A. L. Tidd as representatives of Edward Fitzgerald and others, the plaintiffs in the cause of action. The grounds set forth as reasons why the tax should not be levied on the property of the plaintiffs, is practically the same as offered in the first trial of the case under the petition for an injunction against the city and in which action the injunction was denied by Judge Begley. The plaintiffs charge that the district was not created according to law, that the letting of the contract was not legal, that the paving is a general improvement to the city and not a special improvement to the property along Washington avenue and Elm street, and also, that the assessment of the taxes for the paving is excessive against the property of the plaintiffs in the case.

CONDITION VERY SERIOUS.

The condition of James B. Tipton, custodian of the auto and wagon bridge north of this city, remains very serious as the result of a paralytic stroke which he suffered a week ago. Mr. Tipton has showed little improvement during the past week and his condition has given his family a great deal of apprehension as to his recovery. It may be found necessary to have the patient removed to the hospital in Omaha if he does not show improvement in a short time.
