CENSORSHIP FIGHT REVIVED IN CONGRESS

Espionage Bill Conferees Still Deadlocked Over Section Insisted on by Wilson.

Compromise Measure Believed Acceptable to Wilson May Be Agreed on.

Washington, D. C., May 23.—The newspaper fight was reopened in congress today following President Wilson's action in personally intervening to insist upon inclusion of some form of press regulation in the administration espionage bill.

The president's desire for censorship power of some sort was emphasized today to senate conferees on the espionage bill, who were called to the White House for the purpose. Surprise over the step was expressed generally at the capitol, where the belief had grown that the administration had accepted the senate's vote as final.

Whether the administration will attempt to force through a censorship authorization was said tonight to depend upon soundings being made by leaders among the house and senate membership, especially the former. The conferees held another meeting today, but were unable to break their deadlock over censorship and adjourned until Friday to sound out sentiment again.

Should the leaders find that there is a reasonable prospect of acceptance by the house of modified censorship, it was stated tonight that the conferees had agreed tentatively to adopt and present a compromise measure which would be acceptable to the president.
