WAR IS CHANGING OUR OLD CUSTOMS

Government Will Be Altered Greatly if Strife Lasts.

PATRIOTISM IS THE DRIVER

Those Who Stand In the Way of Enacting Laws Made Necessary by the War Are Quickly Brushed Aside. Measures Never Before Dreamed of Passed by Congress.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, June 18.—[Special.]—So much can be done in the name of war necessity that it is quite likely that our government will be considerably changed if the war lasts long. It is an old adage that "necessity knows no law," but that goes double when it is a war necessity and also when patriotism is the driver.

The man or group of men who stand in the way of what is declared a war necessity or a patriotic movement are run over or brushed aside. And so we are going to see important changes in our methods and we will undergo strange conditions, particularly if the war lasts any length of time.

Even in the enactment of laws we have seen rather strange innovations, large grants of power and propositions that have been rather startling. There have been protests and sometimes the legislation demanded has been defeated, but a new crop of measures keeps crowding forward, and it will be found that we have greatly changed the character of the government under the necessities of war.

Too Much Garrulity.

There has been too much talk in "higher circles." There has been too much discussion of the motives, moves, orders and actions of men and ships among those who are supposed to be "exclusive" in the world of official and social life. The spies have not been hovering about the byways and scanning the newspapers for military and naval secrets. They have been busy in the "salons," drawing rooms and at dining tables, listening to the tittle-tattle of women and men who have had knowledge of what orders have been issued by the departments affecting the movement of officers, ships and troops.

Topic of Discussion.

As long as Theodore Roosevelt is a presidential possibility he will be a topic of political discussion. Senator Stone of Missouri in his rapier-like manner of discussion took a turn at Roosevelt several weeks ago. Of course he started talk, and quite a number of the colonel's friends came to his defense.

The main subject of contention was in regard to what Roosevelt did before the capture of Santiago, when he had his rough riders with him. Stone returned to the charge after giving a hearing to one of Roosevelt's captains and printed a long extract from a book written by a woman who was rather unmerciful toward the colonel and his military record. And by way of sarcastic emphasis the Missouri senator showed that this book was largely purchased and circulated by Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee in 1912. But Stone did not add that Roosevelt was then bolting the Republican nominations of that year.

The Need of the Canal.

Congressman Frear of Wisconsin was making his annual fight against the river and harbor bill and hit the proposed interoceanic canal. "Mr. Madden of Illinois," he said, "discovered the only valid use for that interoceanic waterway. He says it is to take the seasickness out of the sea."

"Called Back."

Congressman Dan Stephens "called back" Dave Mercer for one issue of the Congressional Record by having a speech by Mercer printed in that organ of congress. The speech was delivered on the fiftieth anniversary of the admission of Nebraska as a state and was replete with the history of the state, the discovery and development of the territory from which it was carved, etc. Dave Mercer was an able member of congress along about the time of the Spanish war.

Prohibition "Inching Up."

The legislation for war purposes gives the anti-liquor people their opportunity to further restrict the use of liquors. It often happens, however, that the legislation which is enacted is not what many want. For instance, in making it more difficult to manufacture distilled spirits, but not entirely stopping their manufacture, the Prohibitionists insist that the government continues in partnership with whisky and is making money out of it. Although making gains, they do not get all they want.

Causes of Delay.

"One reason why it seemed as if we never would complete the revenue bill," remarked Senator Thomas of Colorado, "was this: We would agree upon a provision and give the statement to the newspapers. Then about midnight and continuously until morning our door bells would ring and messenger boys would deliver telegrams which would say, 'We are perfectly willing to bear our share of the expense of the war, but—' and then would follow a protest against what we had done. There ought to be a tax on messages protesting against the war revenue bill. It would have raised a large sum."

Eminent Russian Lecturer Now Touring America

MORRIS G. HINDUS, NATIVE OF RUSSIA, WILL TELL CHAUTAUQUA AUDIENCES THE STORY OF RUSSIA, HER PEOPLE, COSTUMES, ETC.

WE have seldom been more enthusiastic over a lecturer than we are over Morris G. Hindus, the Russian. He has made chautauqua audiences for the past four summers enthusiastic over the story of Russia, her people, government, customs, etc. Last summer Mr. Hindus predicted the revolution in Russia that has come to be a matter of history. This summer he will bring his lecture up to date and weave in all the great events that have transpired in Russia since a year ago. This thrilling lecture will be heard on the evening of the second day. Subject, "Russia Today."

Plattsmouth Chautauqua Begins June 28th and Ends July 4th—6 Big Days!

THE RED CROSS IS NOW GOING AT FULL SWING

Early Returns On $12,000,000 Campaign Show Generous Contributions.

Washington, June 19.—The nationwide campaign to raise a fund of one hundred million dollars for the Red Cross was in full swing today, with indications of generous contributions from throughout the country.

Campaign committees from many cities reported to Red Cross headquarters the raising of sums in excess of the amounts allotted and had set larger figures as goals. New York alone reported $12,000,000 had been pledged in the first twenty-four hours. A large clerical force was at work receiving and chalking up returns on the big bulletin boards at headquarters. No attempt was made to estimate the total amount already donated but Red Cross officials expressed confidence that the campaign would be a success.

Miss Mabel T. Boardman of the Red Cross, today appealed to the women of America to do their part in the campaign. "As women we must give quickly our share of the fund," she said.

MAY DELAY THE CALL FOR TROOPS

Washington, June 19.—The war department is considering plans to keep the national guard of the northern states in their home states until about September 15.

The question of climatic effect of sending them to southern camps in the middle of summer has been raised. This will not affect the time of calling out the guard.

Another important phase of military matters is that the calling into camp of conscripts may be delayed until October 1 or 15.

The war department cannot provide all the equipment by September 1. Moreover, states like Iowa are urging that it would be wise to leave men at home as long as possible to complete the season's farm work.

Leslie M. Shaw's discussion of the present world war is worth the price of the Chautauqua ticket.

TREASURY RECEIPTS ARE ABOVE A BILLION FOR THE FISCAL YEAR

Washington, June 19.—For the first time in American history, ordinary receipts of the treasury have passed the billion-dollar mark in a fiscal year. The great sum has been anticipated, however, in the plan of raising war revenues and it does not alter the administration plans for taxation, as all the available money from all sources will be needed.

Up to today the total was $1,015,381,817, as compared with $660,400,653 a year ago today, an increase of approximately $355,000,000.

The bulk of the huge increase is due to increased income taxes and earlier payments. A total of $294,966,278 has been collected thus far this fiscal year. The next largest item is from other internal revenues totaling approximately $425,000,000, an increase of about $60,000,000 over last year.

Customs receipts show a total thus far of $217,578,408, an increase of approximately $14,200,000.

During the last twenty-four hours approximately $41,500,000 was received at the treasury, the largest day of the year thus far.

WOMEN PLEDGE HOOVER SUPPORT IN SAVING FIGHT

Washington, June 19.—Heads of the principal women's organizations of the country, meeting here with Herbert C. Hoover today, promised their full support for the food administration. About 150 societies were represented.

Mr. Hoover said the success of the food administration's plans depends largely on the co-operation of the country's housewives. Women, he declared, are as much a part of the national army as are the men fighting at the front.

After the women are enrolled, bakers, butchers and members of trades having to do with food distribution will be asked to register for service.

Dr. R. L. Wilbur, one of Mr. Hoover's assistants, said if the war lasts long enough Americans may be forced to wear unstarched clothes to preserve the starch supply for food.

Gabriel R. Maguire, African Explorer, Lecturer, Evening First Day

CHAUTAUQUA PATRONS TO HEAR THE GREAT IRISH ORATOR RELATE IN A HUMOROUS MANNER HIS EXPERIENCES IN AFRICA.

GABRIEL R. MAGUIRE, the great Irish orator who spent a number of years in the heart of Africa, comes with the humorous story of his experiences. He is wonderfully entertaining, and at the same time his address is full of information about the country and people of Africa and makes one of the most delightful evenings you have ever experienced. The big audience at the Epworth Assembly two years ago voted him one of the most acceptable speakers that ever appeared on the platform for that big gathering. Dr. Maguire will have with him a very valuable collection of curios that he gathered during his six years' sojourn in Africa. "Through the Jungles of Africa With an Irishman" will be the subject the evening of the first day.

CROWDER MAKING READY FOR DRAFT; FIGURES NEARLY IN

Washington, D. C., June 19.—Pro-vest Marshal General Crowder is completing draft regulations while waiting for final registration returns. With Wyoming the only state yet to report, figures at General Crowder's office tonight totaled 9,611,811. A telegram from Wyoming tonight promised complete returns within twenty-four hours.

The regulations, soon to be given to the public, will cover the questions of transfer of registration to a different locality and the physical examination of registrants who have moved from their place of registration.

In a statement issued tonight, General Crowder warns registrants who are absent from their homes that the burden of ascertaining whether they have been drafted rests entirely upon themselves.

The statement calls attention to the fact that the draft will be made for the army alone—not the navy—and that choice as to branch of service cannot be guaranteed to those conscripted.

DANCE, JUNE 23D.
The Woodmen of the World will give another of their pleasant social dances Saturday evening, June 23d, at the M. W. A. hall, and to which the public is very cordially invited to be present. The music will be furnished by the Plattsmouth orchestra.

TWO FARMS FOR SALE.
The Beins homestead and the Bill Sayles place, 3 miles south of Plattsmouth. Inquire of E. W. Beins, or call Phone 4211. 6-19-trd&w

John Renner, who has been spending the winter at the Soldiers' Home at Leavenworth, Kan., is in the city to enjoy a short visit with relatives and friends.

A patriotic program that you will never forget, by the "Old-Fashioned Girls," the afternoon on the third day.

Hear the humorous Irishman, Gabriel R. Maguire, the first evening of the Chautauqua, and be glad all your days.

Mrs. C. A. Rawls and Mrs. C. C. Westcott departed this morning for Fremont, where they will attend the state chapter of the P. E. O., which is meeting there this week.
