JUNK DEALERS' PROBLEM.

At the meeting of the city council Monday night it was the sense of that body, that an observance of the ordinance be enforced which deals with the buying and dealing in junk. In the first place the ordinance requires a payment of $25.00 per year as a license, for conducting the business. The ordinance forbids the purchasing of goods from a miner, and imposes a fine of from five to fifteen dollars for the first offense, and a revocation of the license for a subsequent one. The matter of the buying of junk from a miner has caused the delinquency a number of the boys in this city. At this time there is a case in which a boy has been guilty three times and each time he has been apprehended, and each time turned loose. Since that time he has been guilty of breaking up property in order to get something to sell. He had kept the goods for a long time but finally disposed of them to a junk dealer, who turned him in. He will be arraigned again soon, and this time perhaps punished severely. When the dealers know the law, they will probably comply with it as they will only be so doing by keeping themselves on safe ground. To the junk buyer we will say if you do not know the law get wise at once, for it will save you an endless amount of trouble.

METHODIST S. S. PICNIC.

The annual picnic of the Methodist Sunday school was held yesterday in Garfield park, at which there was a large attendance, and where all who were in attendance enjoyed themselves. Among the things to entertain were two ball games, one for the elder boys and another for the younger, and both were fully enjoyed. There were swings for the children, and all kinds of diversions. During the evening there was a tug of war between the girls and boys, but the girls outnumbered the boys, and in that manner were about able to match them in the test of strength. The rope was not broken, although the pulling power of these youngsters was somewhat startling. All partook of supper at the park. Everyone took a paper plate, serving themselves to a fine lap supper which was enjoyed after the strenuous exercises which had been indulged in. It was a pleasant company of friends that enjoyed the afternoon and evening together.

ARE VISITING FRIENDS.

From Tuesday's Daily.
Mrs. Mary Shaffer, mother of A. J. Schaffer, living some fourteen miles southwest of this city, who with two nieces, Misses Anna and Christine Schaffer, of Columbus, Ohio, have been visiting at Burwell and Sargent with relatives and friends, returned home last evening over the Burlington. The young ladies, Misses Anna and Christine, will visit here for some time before returning to their home in the east.

VISITING FROM KANSAS.

From Tuesday's Daily.
Mr. H. R. Manspeaker of Garnett Kansas, came in this morning for a short visit with his father, Mr. M. E. Manspeaker. Mr. Manspeaker was accompanied by his son, Harold who will visit here also. Mr. Manspeaker has not been home for the last five years. He speaks flatteringly of his home now in Kansas, which is about three hundred and fifty miles south of this city. The crops there are fair, the small grain being good but a little lack of moisture for the corn.

PRESIDENT REJECTS THE POPE'S PEACE PROPOSAL

Permanent Peace Must be Based Upon Faith of All Nations, Including the People of the Empire of Kaiser.

TAKES ACTION NATURALLY EXPECTED AT THIS TIME

Text of President Wilson's Reply to Peace Proposal of the Vatican

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—The reply of President Wilson to the peace proposals of Pope Benedict follows:
Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—To His Holiness, Benedictus XV, Pope:
In acknowledgement of the communication of Your Holiness to the belligerent peoples, dated August 1, 1917, the president of the United States requests me to transmit the following reply:

Every heart that has not been blinded and hardened by this terrible war must be touched by this moving appeal of His Holiness, the Pope; must feel the dignity and force of humane and generous motives which that we might take the path of peace he so persuasively points out. But it would be folly to take it if it does not in fact lead to the goal he proposes. Our response must be based upon the stern facts and upon nothing else. It is not a mere cessation of arms he desires; it is a stable and enduring peace. This agony must not be gone through with again, and it must be a matter of very sober judgment that will insure us against it.

His Holiness in substance proposes that we return to the status quo ante bellum and that there be a general condonation, disarmament, and a concert of nations, based upon and acceptance of the principle of arbitration; that by a similar concert, freedom of the seas and that the territorial claims of France and Italy, the perplexing problems of the Balkan states and the restitution of Poland be left to such conciliatory adjustment as may be possible in the promptest it, and must fervently wish new temper of such a peace, due regard being paid to the aspirations of the peoples whose political fortunes and affiliations will be involved.

It is manifest that no part of the program can be successfully carried out unless the restitution of the status quo ante furnishes a firm and satisfactory basis for it. The object of this war is to deliver the free peoples of the world from the menace and the actual power of a vast military establishment controlled by an irresponsible government, which, having secretly planned to dominate the world, proceeded to carry out the plan without regard either to the sacred obligations of treaty or the long established practices and long cherished principles of international action and honor; which chose its own time for the war, delivered its blow fiercely and suddenly; stopped at no barrier, either of law or of mercy; swept a whole continent within the tide of blood—not the blood of soldiers only, but the blood of innocent women and children, also, and of the helpless poor; and now stands balked, but not defeated, the enemy of four-fifths of the world. This power is not the German people. It is no business of ours how that great people came under its control or submitted with temporary zest to the domination of its purpose; but it is our business to see to it that the history of the rest of the world is no longer left to its handling.

To deal with such a power by ways of peace upon the plan proposed by His Holiness, the Pope, would, so far as we can see, involve, a recuperation of its strength and a removal of its policy; would make it necessary to create a permanent hostile combination of nations against the German people, who are its instruments; and would result in abandoning the new-born Russia to the intrigue, the manifold subtle interference, and the certain counter revolution which would be attempted by all the malign influences to which the German government has of late accustomed the world. Can peace be based upon a restitution of its power or upon any word of honor it could pledge in a treaty of settlement and accommodation?

Responsible statesmen must now everywhere see, if they never saw before, that no peace can rest securely upon political or economic restriction meant to benefit some nations and to cripple or embarrass others, upon vindictive action of any sort, or any kind of revenge or deliberate injury. The American people have suffered intolerable wrongs at the hands of the Imperial German government, but they desire no reprisal upon the German people, who have themselves suffered all things in this war which they did not choose. They believe that peace should rest upon the rights of peoples, not the rights of governments—the rights of peoples great or small; weak or powerful—their equal right to freedom and security and self-government and to a participation upon fair terms, in the economic prospects of the world—the German people, of course, included, if they will accept equality and not seek domination.

The test, therefore, of every plan of peace is this: Is it based upon the faith of all the peoples involved or merely upon the word of an ambitious and intriguing government on the one hand and a group of free peoples on the other? This is the test which goes to the root of the matter, and it is the test which must be applied.

The purposes of the United States in this war are known to the whole world—to every people to whom the truth has been permitted to come. They do not need to be stated again. We seek no material advancement of any kind. We believe that the intolerable wrongs done in this war by the furious and brutal power of the Imperial German government ought to be repaired, but not at the expense of the sovereignty of any people—rather a vindication of the sovereignty both of those that are weak and those that are strong. Punitive damages, the dismemberment of empires, the establishment of selfish and exclusive economic leagues, we deem inexpedient and in the end worse than futile, no proper basis for a peace of any kind, least of all for an enduring peace. That must be based upon justice and fairness and the common right of mankind.

We cannot take the word of the present rulers of Germany as a guarantee of anything that is to endure unless explicitly supported by such conclusive evidence of the will and purpose of the German people themselves as the other peoples of the world would be justified in accepting. Without such guarantees treaties of settlement, agreements, covenants to set up arbitration in the place of peace, if made with the German government, no man, no nation can now depend on. We must await some new evidence of the purposes of the great peoples of the Central powers. God grant it may be given soon and in a way to restore the confidence of all peoples everywhere in the faith of nations and the possibility of a covenanted peace.

ROBERT LANSING,
Secretary of State of the United States of America.
