He had just eaten his breakfast, and retired, the little baby being asleep in the bed at the time, when Mrs. Welch, who was in an adjoining room, heard a noise, came running in to the room, to find her husband lying on the floor apparently dead. Summoning a doctor immediately, and who came at once, pronounced Mr. Welch dead, giving cause of death, apoplexy. Mr. Welch formerly lived in this city and was in business here two years, conducting a meat market. About fifteen years ago he removed to Omaha, and has since made his home there and at Benson.

Washington, Spt. 7.—Reports and disclosures made to officials here in connection with the seizure Wednesday of I. W. W. documents throughout the country indicate, it was said today, that there has existed for some time a nation wide conspiracy to hamper the government in almost every conceivable way in carrying on the war.

Opposition to the draft law, burning of crops, some of the so-called labor disturbances and attempts to curtail production in war industries, reports indicate, were all part of the same alleged conspiracy whose prime motive was thought to be the crippling of the government's activities in every way possible short of interference with military and naval operations.

The investigation begun by the federal grand jury in Chicago in connection with Wednesday's raids on I. W. W. offices throughout the country will go into all phases of the alleged conspiracy. Officials today said that it probably will be the most comprehensive investigation undertaken on behalf of the government since this country's entry into the war.

Tons Of Evidence.
Tens of thousands of letters, checks and other documents in the possession of federal authorities will be placed before the grand jury at Chicago or other grand juries which later may investigate ramifications of the alleged conspiracy.

It was intimated today that the government's theory is that the alleged conspiracy was entered into in Chicago, although its operations extended to virtually every section of the United States.

In the light of reports made recently to officials here, the numerous instances of opposition at widely scattered points to the draft law were part of the general alleged conspiracy and were prompted by virtually the same set of men in almost every instance.

Burning of wheat fields and attempts to burn spruce forests in the Pacific northwest, it was thought, were but another phase of the alleged general conspiracy directed by the controlling heads. Dozens of sporadic attempts to cripple war industries by strikes and acts of violence are regarded as a third phase of the general alleged conspiracy. Publication of articles designed to create anti-war sentiment or anti-alley sentiment, were a fourth phase it is thought of the same general movement.

One Executive Group.
Indications point, it was said, to a group of men considerable in number, who constituting what might be termed the executive force of the alleged conspiracy, directed all its activities through a large number of lieutenants.

Department of justice officials said today that the investigation probably would be prolonged. United States attorney Cline is to be assisted by Frank C. Dailey of Indianapolis and Frank K. Nebeker of Salt Lake City, and the entire investigation will be conducted under the personal supervision of William C. Pitts, assistant attorney general under whose direction the seizure of I. W. W. documents was made. Mr. Pitts will make daily reports to Attorney General Gregory.

Where the money came from to finance the manifold activities of the movement under investigation, is a subject into which the grand jury will delve deeply. Many evidences, it is said, point to a German fund from which money was lavishly supplied for work of the alleged conspirators. Heretofore the connection between German funds and activities of persons apparently hostile to the government had not been established.

United States attorneys in many sections of the country were today making a minute study of the documents taken in the recent raid. Mr. Pitts declined today to comment on the federal activities in connection with the I. W. W. raids, further than to say that reports from all sections were "very satisfying."
