VETO MONEY TO EXAMINE ALL SELECTS

PROPOSAL TO SUMMON ALL REGISTERED MEN KILLED FOR PRESENT IN CONGRESS.

CONFEREES REJECT THE ITEM

Plan Submitted by Crowder so Listed Persons Would Know Their Status.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—The proposal to examine for military service all men registered for the army draft and not yet called was killed for the present, at least, today when the house and senate conferees rejected an appropriation for the purpose from the war deficiency bill, the conference on which was promptly accepted by the senate.

The plan was submitted by the provost marshal general's office in order that every registered man might know whether he was liable for service and if so the actual order of his liability. The war department asked for expressions of opinion from the governors of states and only two signified disapproval.

Secretary Baker said recently that the department had reached no decision in the matter and would not until congress acted upon the proposed appropriation to defray expenses and thereby expressed its will. In passing the deficiency bill the house included the appropriation and the senate added an amendment limiting the men to be examined to the number soon to be needed. The conferees eliminated the whole provision. Their report will be adopted tomorrow by the house.

SAY COAL PRICE FIXED TOO HIGH

IOWA AND ILLINOIS COAL CONSUMERS APPEAL BEFORE FUEL ADMINISTRATION.

Show Statistics to Prove Present Prices Higher Than Year's Average.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Representatives of public utilities companies in Iowa and Illinois, headed by Clifford Thorne appeared today before the fuel administration to protest against the coal prices fixed by the government. The fixed prices, they contend, while lowering the marked prices obtaining at the time, in almost every instance are higher than the average prices for the last year.

Affidavits and receipts of the Iowa Railway and Light company were presented to show that the company bought within the last six months approximately 100,000 tons of coal at prices ranging from 45 cents to $1.45 less than the price fixed for coal produced in Iowa. It is contended that prices prevailing throughout that state before the president's order went into effect were exorbitant and that the action of the government did not relieve the situation, but rather made it worse. Sworn statements of Charles Webster, Iowa state fuel administrator, Ed. Sweeney, state mine inspector and C. O. Ingersoll, purchasing agent of the Iowa Railway & Light company, were presented to support that contention.

Regarding the situation in Illinois, evidence was produced to show that the fixed prices on August 21 reduced prevailing market prices on free coal in Illinois from fifty-five cents to $1.30 per ton but the average price was 50 per cent higher than the average price on all coal sold in Illinois during 1916, which was $1.25 at the mines. The average price in 1916 was said to be the highest in ten years.

Slack Coal Higher.

It was argued that the price established in Illinois on screenings or slack coal, which is used by public utilities and factories, is 100 per cent higher than a year ago, as ascertained by representatives of the Tri-city (Moline, Rock Island and Davenport) Railway & Light company, operating in more than fifty Illinois cities and towns. The maximum price last year for screenings in Illinois fields, it is said, was 85 cents a ton, while the president has fixed the price at $1.70.

Frank G. McAllister, attorney general for Missouri, told that in his investigation at St. Louis recently, sworn statement of coal operators showed the cost of production in southern Illinois fields to range from $1.04 to $1.40 a ton while the prices fixed by the government range from $1.70 to $2.20, allowing coal producing companies a dividend on their capital stock of from 50 to 80 per cent as war profits.

Sworn statements of the Illinois Central railroad were introduced to show that the prices established by the government are more than 30 per cent higher than that company was able to contract for the entire output of more than a dozen Illinois mines this year and about 70 per cent higher than the Illinois Central itself reports as the cost of production in mines it controls in Illinois.

It was contended that the federal trade commission's investigation accountants in ascertaining production costs did not conduct as thorough an investigation as they should have conducted. Operators were not required to take oaths as to the figures on their books, it is said and were not required to go on the witness stand to present their figures and face cross examination and evidence in rebuttal.

LYMAN HOWE TRAVELOGUES AT THE PARMELE THEATRE

The attraction booked for the Parmele Theatre on Thursday, Oct. 11 is a great deal more than a mere amusement enterprise. It is an American institution. For Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival fills a place in the esteem of the public that it has created for itself. In a sense the new production reflects the spirit of America possibly more than any Mr. Howe has presented. First of all there is the official and exclusive feature from "Somewhere in the Atlantic" which shows the arms and armament of Uncle Sam's Navy alert for any contingency in sea and air, and the latest offensive and defensive devices and methods of naval warfare up-to-the-minute. Another distinctively American subject shows how our midshipmen are trained at the Annapolis U. S. Naval Academy to become commanding officers. Of American industrial life there are scenes of absorbing interest showing logging in Maine, and also many tense moments that occurred during a broncho-breaking contest in our real wild west in which the most fearless cowboys and cowgirls engage. Then, too, there is a delightful ride through the Cascade Mountains in Washington. But foreign lands also contribute their quota of film masterpieces in this new program. A notable example takes Howe travelers to the gorges, cascades and ancient ruins of Southern France while another opens up vistas of supernatural grandeur on Alpine heights. Freely interspersed with these and many other subjects are a legion of entirely new silhouette "cut ups" which will contribute much clever and wholesome amusement by their quaint and merry antics.

WASHINGTON HIGHWAY.

From Tuesday's Daily. C. V. Wilson, of Mitchell, South Dakota, representing the Washington Highway, which is an auto route from Seattle, Washington to Savannah, Georgia, was in this city over night, with his paint, and was embellishing the poles along the Highway with the 'W' initial in white, with a blue field, and a red border. This Highway crosses every other one crossing the country, whether from east to west or north to south. It is the intention of the promoters of this highway, to have it, one which will be the best in the country. Much of the Highway is to be paved, and the remainder to be placed in the best of condition. To get funds to make it the best road in the country, Mr. Wilson is soliciting the advertising privilege along the highway from the farmers, which would be worth nothing to them, but in the hands of the highway people becomes a great asset for the bearing of the expense necessary for placing the road in the best condition.

Come—See the Asbestos Sweat.

COPPER-CLAD WEEK

Next Week—October 8th to 13th

No matter whether you want a range now or next year or any other time, it will pay you to come and see the Copper-Clad Crank make the Asbestos Sweat.

He takes any piece of asbestos, puts it between two iron plates—heats it—and shows you the sweat. You can roll it up in drops with your finger.

Every good range must be lined with asbestos to cage and hold the heat. Every time the range cools off the asbestos takes moisture out of the fresh air circulating through the range like a blotter takes up water. When you fire up, this moisture, driven by the heat to the outside against the cold range body starts Sweats Rust on the inside where you can't get at it even though you know it rusts. Sweat Rust ruins thousands and thousands of otherwise good ranges every year. When the body is gone, the range is done for.

The Copper-Clad Idea Is "A Sheet of Pure Copper Between the Asbestos and Range Body"

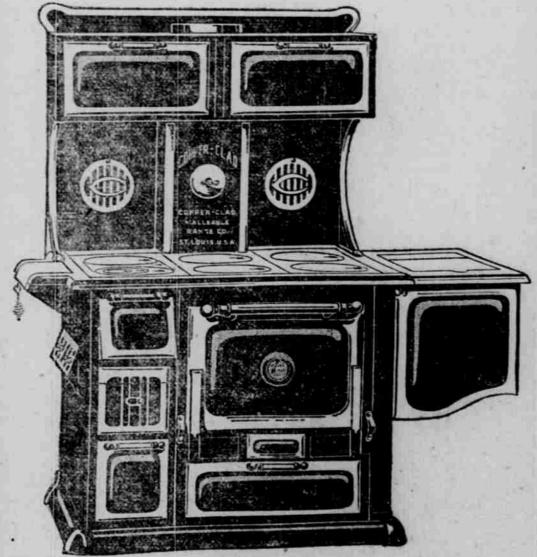

Copper never rusts. It may tarnish but it will last for centuries. There are Copper Domes that have been defying the elements for hundreds of years. So, when we say a "Copper-Clad can't rust out," we mean that the copper lining overcomes all internal rust. Your greasy rag will keep the outside free of rust—and there are no fussy ornaments full of rivets and bolts to skin your hands. The Copper-Clad wipes clean like a dish.

If these things are so—you should know it. Not by hearsay—but by the evidence of your own eyes. Remember, this Copper-Clad Crank is here to tell—to show—to explain. He delights in it. You won't "bother" him by asking questions. He has oodles of time to answer and he is here to "Show You."

THE RANGE BEAUTIFUL

The strikingly beautiful outlines of the Copper-Clad Range stops every woman. As she looks and admires, she finds that it is true beauty—the beauty of simple elegance and perfect proportions—of fine finish—the thoroughbred of the Range World.

Look for hinges on the above—two only on the oven door and they are long and smooth. There are six other doors, yet not a hinge in sight, not a catch, nor lock, nor latch. Built like fine automobiles, the hinges are all inside.
